ENEMIES OF CANAL.

Railroads Trying to Kill Treaty.

Senator Spooner Makes Reply to Extended Remarks of Mr. Morgan.

President's Itinerary for His Western Trip Nearly Completed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The direct statement was made today that representatives of the transcontinental railroads in Washington are at the last moment trying to defeat the Panama Canal project, either by getting a sufficient number of votes against it to prevent its ratification next Tuesday, when it is voted upon in the Senate, or else by having an amendment put on, which can be done by a majority vote, amending section 23 in such a way as to give the United States perpetual ownership of the strip of territory through which the canal will run. It is claimed that an amendment of this kind would be fatal to the treaty, as it would not be accepted by the republic of Colombia.

Whether the railroads are trying to kill the treaty or not, there was an enormous crop of opposition reports in Washington all day today. It was declared that Senator Aldrich had forsaken the treaty and that he would take over with him a considerable number of Republican members who would kill ratification.

Senator Aldrich himself would not say whether he had deserted the treaty or not, but his friends in the Senate said he had done no such thing, but would vote for its ratification without amendment.

Then there was a [illegible] treaty, on the plea that their route offers better advantages and ought to be thoroughly investigated before the United States commits itself to any canal policy. These men, who are attorneys for the most part, were, it is said by Panama folk and denied by the attorneys themselves, here representing the Southern Pacific, the Union Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad companies, and that their sole object is not to have the Darien route investigated, but to kill canal legislation.

Republican leaders in the Senate heard these rumors and they sized the matter up this way: That if the Republicans in the Senate will stand together as they have practically agreed to do, for the ratification of the treaty without amendment, it can be accomplished, but if any Republicans show wavering on the question of amending the treaty, it will be fatal, and the Democrats will muster strength enough to put on an amendment that will make the treaty distasteful and unacceptable to Colombia, which will mean the end of the Panama Canal, so far as the United States is concerned. Some Republicans were emphatic in saying that the treaty can be safely ratified, while others, some of them warm supporters of any isthmian-canal project, have doubts.

FIFTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.
EXTRA SESSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Without transaction of any business in open session, the Senate today, went into executive session. Previous to the closing of the doors, the official stenographers and all the employés of the official reporter's office were sworn to secrecy, and when the doors were closed one of the reporters was invited into the chamber to make a detailed report of the proceedings, with the understanding that it should be published after the vote on Tuesday next.

Senator Spooner began his speech on the Panama canal treaty, in reply to Senator Morgan, as soon as the doors were closed. Departing somewhat from his usual directness, Mr. Spooner introduced his remarks with a series of complimentary allusions to Senator Morgan, in which he touched upon Mr. Morgan's great familiarity with all questions pertaining to an inter-oceanic canal, as well as his generally acknowledged interest in that subject. He spoke of the magnitude of the work of constructing a canal across the isthmus and expressed the opinion that the United States would soon enter upon the work which, he said, he believed would meet with the approval of a vast majority of the people of the United States.

Much of his speech was legal in its character and was devoted to sustaining the point of view presented by Attorney-General Knox in his report upon the title which the Panama Canal Company is capable of giving to the canal property and franchises. He expressed the view that there could be no doubt that this company has come legitimately into possession of the government concession, and he said that having so acquired the property, it has an undoubted right to transfer it in turn to the United States or another purchaser.

HERRAN'S CREDENTIALS.

Senator Spooner took issue with Senator Morgan as to the necessity of making inquiry into the credentials of Señor Herran, who was Colombia's representative in the negotiation of the treaty with this country, saying that such a proceeding on the part of one country in negotiation with another would be most extraordinary, and that it would certainly be resented. He contended that one country, in making a treaty with another, must recognize the de facto government of the other, and that it could not enter upon inquiry as to the origin and constitutionality of the other government.

NO RELIGION IN IT.

He also made reply to Senator Morgan's references to the religious affiliations of the Colombian government. Senator Morgan had contended that the United States had practically allied itself with the church party in Colombia, and that it had in effect committed itself to the terms of the concordat between Pope Leo and the Colombian government. This view Mr. Spooner characterized as entirely contrary to the facts. He said that under the treaty there would be no pretext for the interference of the Colombian authorities with the religious conduct or affiliations of Americans in the canal zone. He ridiculed the idea that by making a treaty with the government the United States could thus be accused of taking a position against the minority party, or the party not in power, with which the agreement was made, and said that if a stricture of that kind was applicable in the present case, it would apply to our relations with many other countries, whose people are adherents of the Catholic faith.

TITLE PERFECTLY GOOD.

In his discussion of the title to the Panama Canal Company, Senator Spooner traced the history of the proceedings concerning the canal concession in the French courts. Beginning with the transference of the original concession to M. De Lesseps, in 1879, he showed how, in 1888, when the company opposed to De Lesseps had been involved, the courts intervened, and after appointing liquidators, had authorized the organization of a new company, which is the company from which the United States secures its title.

Mr. Spooner contended for the regularity of every step taken, and therefore urged that the claim of title was perfectly good.

Senator Spooner claimed that the United States would have an indisputable right to fortify the canal under the general provision of the treaty authorizing its defense.

Toward the close of his address, Senator Spooner was questioned by a number of Democratic Senators, particu- [illegible] Spooner said that there were some features of the treaty which he would prefer to have otherwise, but that the terms were the best it had been possible to secure, and in view of the popular desire for an interoceanic canal he believed that expediency demanded that the treaty should be accepted as it had been sent to the Senate by the President.

DEPEW'S POINT OF VIEW.

Mr. Spooner closed at 5:05 o'clock, after speaking for just five hours. He was followed by Senator Depew, who read a written speech supporting the treaty as in the interest of the people of the entire country. He referred to the criticism that the canal would be injurious to the railroad interests of the country, and said as a railroad man and making claim to special knowledge on that subject, he was thoroughly convinced that such would not be the case.

DEMOCRATIC AMENDMENTS.

Senator Bacon offered the following amendments to the treaty, being a substitute for article 23, to which the Democratic Senators take exception:

"The government of the United States shall have and exercise the exclusive right to provide and enforce such means and measures as it may deem advisable and necessary for the regulation and management of the canal and for the safety and protection thereof and of the ships that make use of the said canal and the railways and other works within said zone, including all cargoes and freights and other property connected with the construction, maintenance and operation of said canal and the use thereof, and for the accomplishment of these ends and for the enforcement and maintenance of peace and order within said zone and for the protection of said property and of the lives and persons of those employed upon the canal, railway and other works or engaged in the use thereof, the United States shall employ such force as may by it be deemed necessary, and to this end shall have the right at all times and in its discretion, to furnish police and land naval forces for these purposes."

Senator Morgan then submitted a number of amendments in addition to those which he had previously presented.

At 5:40 o'clock the Senate adjourned until Monday.

MORGAN'S AMENDMENTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Senator Morgan, in executive session today, submitted a number of amendments to the Panama Canal treaty, in addition to those he has offered heretofore. Among the more important of Senator Morgan's proposed amendments, including those offered today, are the following:

Article III is amended so as to give the United States perpetual right to the canal tract, and the right to fortify the same. Article III as amended accords to the United States the right to fortify the group of small islands in the bay of Panama.

The amendment to Article XI provides that the United States shall have control of the admission of persons to permanent residence in the canal zone. Another amendment provides that the government of Colombia engage to protect, defend and fully indemnify the United States against all incumbrances and valid claims against the property to be conveyed to the United States under the treaty.

Article XXII is amended so as to provide that should it become necessary to employ armed forces for the safety and protection of the canal, the government of Colombia is to furnish the same when requested by the United States, but the United States is to have the right at all times to enter the canal zone and to occupy the same with its land and naval forces. Other amendments strike out the time limit for completing the canal, provide that nothing in the treaty shall be constructed as modifying the Spooner act, and that the concordat between the Vatican and Colombia shall not apply to citizens or agents of the United States.

PLANS FOR PRESIDENT'S WESTERN TRIP.

ITINERARY FOR LONG JOURNEY NEARLY COMPLETE.

Chief Executive Will Leave the National Capital April First and Remain in the West About Two Months—Preparing Speeches.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Plans for the President's western trip are rapidly assuming form. The party will leave Washington April 1, going straight to Chicago, which city they will leave at midnight of the 2d for Wisconsin points, which will be visited on the 3rd and 4th. These points include Milwaukee, Madison, LaCrosse and Waukesha. Then the party will visit Minneapolis and St. Paul, going thence to South Dakota points, including Sioux Falls, Yankton and one or two others. Thence the President will go to Omaha. The next destination will be Yellowstone Park, where the party will remain two weeks for a complete rest. There will no hunting, for hunting is not allowed in the park, and there will be no eavesdroppers, for newspaper men will be quarantined at Cinnibar. The President and Secretary Root will ride horseback through the park and climb mountain sides, with no correspondents or camera fiends to annoy. The speaking tour preceding entrance to the park will last for ten days.

It is not quite decided whether the party will make a tour of Iowa before going to Yellowstone, but it is hardly thought it will, for the Iowa itinerary stretches from Council Bluffs to the Mississippi River and includes some two dozen stops and two or three days' travel. Coming from the park, Nebraska and Kansas points will be visited, and the party will go to St. Louis, from which city they go via the Santa Fé to the Southwest and California, and thence up the Pacific Coast. The Puget Sound country will be reached about May 1.

In all, the President will be gone about [illegible] months. He is writing his [illegible] carefully and submitting them [illegible] political advisers. The speeches will cover the work of Congress, especially trust legislation, which will be fully explained. The administration plans as to the enforcement of the anti-trust laws will be mapped out and the public will be taken into the President's confidence regarding all programmes having to do with the Bureau of Corporations in the new Department of Commerce and Labor. The President will write about fifteen speeches to be delivered at appropriate points.

He will start for St. Louis in time to participate in the dedication of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition on April 30, from St. Louis going to the Pacific Coast, making many stops both outgoing and returning. During his sojourn in California the President will visit the Yosemite. It will be a long and arduous trip, but promises to be one of the most memorable ever made by a President.

OUTING FOR FAMILY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The President's yacht, Mayflower, arrived at the navy yard today for the purpose, it is said, of taking Mrs. Roosevelt and her children for a cruise. The exact date of their departure is not known.

RAISIN COMBINE.

NOT IN TRUST CATEGORY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Some time ago a report was circulated in California that United States District Attorney Woodworth had asked Atty.-Gen. Knox for permission to bring proceedings against the California Raisin Association on the ground that it is a combination in restraint of trade and therefore to be proceeded against in court. Senator Bard received some telegrams today about the report, and upon inquiry at the Department of Justice he found that Mr. Woodworth did some time ago ask for permission to proceed against the association, and that his application was rejected by Atty.-Gen. Knox because from papers presented to the department by Mr. Woodworth it was not shown that, whatever else it may be, this association is in restraint of trade or amenable to the interstate commerce laws.

COAST SURVEY WORK.

NAVY NOT DOING MUCH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The navy is doing very little survey work with naval vessels. There are now employed in West Indian waters the Eagle and the Yankton. It was intended that the Vixen should be assigned to surveying duty, and repeated requests for the use of that vessel have been made by the chief of the Bureau of Equipment, but so far without avail. The Vixen is now engaged as an errand ship in West Indian waters. On the Pacific station nothing at all is being done in that direction. It was intended that the Ranger should be employed in surveying off the coast of Southern California, for which work the Ranger is admirably adapted, but the vessel was added to the Pacific squadron, and has been on cruising duty. The commercial interests of Southern California justify completion as soon as possible of survey work in adjacent waters. The charts of that locality are inadequate and inaccurate.

POLITICAL.

ONE ISSUE IN SOUTH.

Negro Overshadows Everything.

But for the Race Question Dixie Would Desire no Change of Administration.

Senator Fairbanks Establishing Chain of Newspapers to Foster His Boom.

Bryan Likely to Be Skeleton at Feast of Brooklyn Democratic Club.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rev. Dr. Thomas R. Slicer, returning from a tour of the Unitarian churches of the South, having visited eleven States, said today he was much impressed by the evident prosperity of the South, and that the people of that section were so well pleased with the present industrial conditions that they would not want a change in the national administration if it were not for the negro problem.

"That problem," said Dr. Slicer, "is full of irritation and anxiety—irritation for the South, anxiety for us all. I found a curious political condition everywhere. The South is speculating with intense interest as to who shall be the Democratic candidate for President. I heard it stated by intelligent people, and I talked with a great many, that they would rather have no change in the national administration, in view of the value to the South of the present industrial conditions, if it were not for the race problem.

"An intelligent and prominent lawyer said to me: 'If Mr. Roosevelt would only appoint no more negroes to office, half the South would vote for him.'

"This was said with such conviction that it was hardly possible to doubt its sincerity. The South cannot appreciate the impossibility of the premise. They talk about the negro problem as an undebatable question. That the negro is entitled to office, social recognition or anything belonging to citizenship they regard as an untenable assumption.

"One cannot help feeling deep sympathy for both parties to the problem that confronts the South. The rapid and marked increase of the negro population since emancipation has exceeded all expectations of political prophets. In sections of the black belt of Alabama the proportion of negroes to whites is 35 to 2.

"I want to emphasize this as significant. I didn't see a single man in the South, and I saw a great many, who approved of the remarks made by Senator Tillman in this city, in which he said he wanted to see the face of the negro in the sand.

"I attended a remarkable meeting in Atlanta, where 2000 representative citizens, white and black, gathered in one of the churches. One hopeful Baptist minister said that the negro held the key to the door of opportunity. A clever negro replied: 'That is true, but the white man stands between the negro and the door.'

"This has the value not only of wit, but of truth.

"I must say that the negro population, as I saw it in traveling, seems better fed and clothed and more hopeful-looking than the poorer white class in the country districts, which does not seem to be touched by the prevailing industrial betterment."

TRYING TO WIN SOUTH.

SENATOR FAIRBANKS'S HOPES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RICHMOND (Va.) March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Prominent Republicans just back from Washington claim that Senator Fairbanks will announce his candidacy for President in a few days and attempt to capture the southern delegations. C. M. Bernard of North Carolina has returned to work for Fairbanks against Roosevelt. Col. J. Browning, one of the strongest Republicans of southwest Virginia, has been in conference with Senator Fairbanks at Washington, and comes home to start his boom in Virginia. Senator Fairbanks, it is said, will depend on the newspapers to push his boom, and where they do not exist, they will be established. The Elizabeth City Carolinan has been purchased and will be established at Raleigh as a Fairbanks organ. It is added that a paper is to be established at Greenville, Tenn., and another at Birmingham. Roscoe Mitchell, who has written vigorous editorials against President Roosevelt, will, it is said, conduct the Greenville and Birmingham papers.

SKELETON AT FEAST.

BRYAN MAY BREAK LOOSE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Eagle says: "In connection with the projected Brooklyn Democratic Club banquet, it is said to be quite as likely as not that William J. Bryan will be asked to speak. A very close personal friend of Edward M. Shepard said this afternoon:

"'Mr. Shepard has been asked to use his own judgment as to the advisability of inviting Mr. Bryan to make an address. Nobody can accurately judge at this time how Mr. Shepard will use his discretionary right. He is a very competent diplomatist, however, and he may be trusted to do exactly the right thing to advance the new harmony movement. His action will depend entirely on the frame of mind he finds Mr. Bryan in.'

"A color of truth is given to the report that Mr. Bryan may speak at the banquet, by the statement that Mr. Cleveland will not attend. While it is declared to be premature at this time to announce Mr. Cleveland's intentions, it is nevertheless understood that he will not be present.

"Mr. Bryan has publicly stated that he will not meet Mr. Cleveland at any political function, unless he is given the privilege of speaking on the theme, 'Cleveland's Democracy.' An address on that subject by Mr. Bryan would hardly promote harmony, it is believed. The Brooklyn Democratic Club must therefore depend upon Mr. Shepard to give and receive assurances of the most positive sort on the subject of Mr. Bryan's address, and Mr. Cleveland's intentions with respect to his invitation to attend.

"Some of the local Democrats profess to believe that Mr. Bryan will be easier to placate this year than he was in 1900. In 1900, it is recalled, Mr. Bryan's renomination was a foregone conclusion. He could therefore afford to be independent. This year the question of Mr. Bryan's nomination does not enter into the case, the Nebraskan having taken himself out of the race. Detailed reaffirmation of the Kansas City platform will not, therefore, in the opinion of those local Democrats, be imposed by Mr. Bryan as an absolutely necessary condition of harmony. Other local Democrats are of the opinion that Mr. Bryan will be fully as obstinate as he was in 1900, and that if he comes to Brooklyn at all he will improve the opportunity to make another noisy attack on the sound-money leaders."

RIVAL GRAIN CONCERN.

Opposition Corporation Formed to Buck Against Chicago Board of Trade. Fight to a Finish Begun.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Fight to a finish against the Chicago Board of Trade" is the motto of the George T. Sullivan Elevator and Grain Company, which is to be incorporated Monday under the laws of South Dakota.

This organization is launched to promote the interests of the Chicago open Board of Trade and to be a formidable competitor in cash grain business with the regular board. It contemplates controlling a string of elevators and will have a complete ticker service of its own.

Sullivan, the active factor, says the New York Produce Exchange will work in harmony with the concern, and intimates that large Wall-street interests will be behind the project.

"The Chicago Board of Trade has violated its agreements and has been guilty of various contemptible methods," said Sullivan. "It is dominated by certain men who lack the first principles of business honor and fair dealing. We are not making any bluster, but you may be sure that the old board will have a host to reckon with in this corporation before it gets through."

DISPLAYED SHAPELY LIMBS.

Lady Constance Mackenzie Creates a Sensation in Old Cairo by Appearing Barefooted at Masked Ball.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CAIRO (Egypt) March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lady Constance Mackenzie of London, who was lionized by New York society last year, has caused a sensation here by her appearance at a masked bal. in the Gezireh Palace, in bare feet and legs, from the knees down. She impersonated a Syce, or a Hindoo servant who runs beside the carriage of his master. Her costume, which was as handsome as it was scant, is partly accounted for by the fact that Lady Mackenzie, who is the most expert swimmer of her sex in all England, has beautiful feet. She was attended at the ball by Miss Bainbridge.

Lady Constance Mackenzie spent three months a year ago in the United States. Part of the time she was a member of a party which William C. Whitney entertained at Aiken, S. C. Her swimming while at some of the Florida resorts attracted considerable attention.

PACIFICATION HERO HOME.

Chamberlain Received With Great Acclaim.

Warns Country not to Expect Too Much from His Trip.

Warmth of Welcome Affects Him. He Looks Thin and Has Aged Considerably.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, March 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] "Southampton welcomes home Britain's Empire Statesman," in huge letters surrounded and intertwined with Union Jacks and Stars and Stripes, was the motto that first greeted Colonial Secretary Chamberlain and Mrs. Chamberlain on landing at Southampton today, from South Africa.

The travelers had a magnificent greeting. The quays were elaborately decorated, the ships were dressed rainbow fashion, rounds of cheering and the blowing of whistles and sirens greeted the liner Norman as she passed up Southampton water with Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain, accompanied by Lord Selborne, First Lord of the Admirality, standing on the promenade deck.

As soon as the steamer was tied to her dock, Mr. Chamberlain's family went on board the Norman. They were shortly afterward followed by the Mayor and corporation of Southampton, who welcomed the travelers. The Mayor's daughter then handed a bouquet to Mrs. Chamberlain and a procession was formed, with the Mayor and Mrs. Chamberlain leading, and Mr. Chamberlain and the Mayor's daughter after them, and walked through cheering crowds to the reception hall.

Mr. Chamberlain was bronzed, but he looked very thin, and appeared to have aged considerably. He showed evident pleasure at the heartiness of the welcome. The party then entered carriages and drove through the thronged and decorated streets to Hartley Hall, the scene of so many previous functions connected with the South African war. There an address of welcome was presented to Mr. Chamberlain, who, in the course of his reply, warned the country not to overestimate the results he had actually achieved. He was hopeful, and even confident, that the Dutch of South Africa would hereafter loyally take their places as members of the Empire to which they now belonged, but it could not be expected that the long record of vacillation and weakness which led to the war would be wiped out in the twinkling of an eye.

Subsequently, Mr. Chamberlain and his party took a train to London, where a large crowd awaited their arrival. Premier Balfour and practically the whole Cabinet were present at the Waterloo railroad station to meet Mr. Chamberlain. The greetings which he received were everywhere most cordial. Mrs. Chamberlain came in for a full share of the welcome. Special cheers were given for her, and in the greeting of the deputation from Birmingham, which went out to meet the Norman in the Solent, she was especially mentioned. Referring to this in the course of his reply to the Birmingham delegation, Mr. Chamberlain said:

"I thank you very much for including, as indeed you should, the name of my wife. It is indeed true that her companionship has been of the greatest assistance to me. Indeed, I hardly know how I could have got through the great task I undertook but for her cooperation."

EMPIRE'S COST BILL.

IT EQUALS UNCLE SAM'S.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, March 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Among the civil-service estimates for 1903-4 issued today, appears the sum of $150,000 as a grant in aid of expenses in the royal commission for the St. Louis Exposition. A note appended explains that any further contributions decided upon will be provided for in the estimates of subsequent years.

Today's final batch of civil-service estimates brings the total estimated expenditure for this branch of the public service up to $225,291,265. With the army and navy estimates, and the interest of the national debt, the total expenditure for the year will approximate $767,500,000, which is nearly $7,500,000 in excess of the revenue expected from the existing sources.

AGAINST ALDRICH BILL.

Chicago Bankers Glad the Measure Was Defeated—Claim Credit for Having Helped to Snow it Under.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In reference to the discussion in New York as to how far the failure of the Aldrich bill has been responsible for tight money, Dr. Forgan, vice-president of the First National Bank, makes the following statement:

"I was glad to learn of the defeat of the Aldrich bill. The bankers of Chicago helped to accomplish this result; hence they are naturally well pleased. We, before the vote on the bill, both myself and J. B. Forgan, favored the passage of the bill, but after we began to carefully figure up the results that would have followed its passage, we were quick to change our minds.

"The government should not expect national banks to carry their deposits at a loss, as would be the case were the bill to be passed with its present exorbitant exactions as to interest and security. The bankers of Chicago were a unit against the bill. The only bankers who finally wanted it passed were a few in New York, who were more interested in the stock market than in banking."

ROCKEFELLER DIVIDENDS.

Standard Oil King's Income Nearly Hundred Thousand Dollars a Day.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two of the profitable monopolies owned by John D. Rockefeller sent out yesterday dividend checks aggregating $21,500,000. The shareholders in the two corporations will receive them on Monday before the opening of the stock market.

Of the total amounts, $20,000,000 represents the Standard Oil dividend for the second quarter of the year, being $20 for each share of the $100,000,000 trust, while $1,500,000 is for dividends to shareholders of the Consolidated Gas Company.

John D. Rockefeller, who owns $40,000,000 of Standard Oil stock, will receive a check for $8,000,000, while his brother, William, who owns only $15,000,000 of the stock, will receive a check for only $3,000,000.

The declaration of the Standard Oil dividend shows that John D. Rockefeller's income from this source alone for the last ninety days has been $88,888.88 a day. If continued for the rest of the year at this rate he will receive in dividends from the Standard Oil for the four quarters, $32,333,331.20.

Just now Mr. Rockefeller is on the Pacific Coast, seeking health and recreation. His dividend check will not be mailed to him. The money it calls for will be loaned at current rates for call money to Wall-street speculators who can furnish collateral satisfactory to his bankers.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A shift of the wind to the northeast lowered the temperature in Chicago from 56 this morning to 32 deg. Threatening clouds filled the sky all day, and dropped a wet mist over the city tonight. Cold rains are promised for tomorrow. Below zero temperature is reported in the Dakotas and Minnesota, while in the rest of the Middle West, the mercury ranged about the freezing point. It is snowing tonight at Duluth, and raining at Milwaukee.

THOMAS ORCHESTRA FUND.

Subscriptions to the half-million-dollar fund to provide a home and endowment for the Thomas Orchestra now amount to $225,167. These include 647 individual subscriptions, and four from clubs. Several entertainments in aid of the fund are projected, and the trustees believe the necessary amount will be raised in time to avert the disbandment of the organization, which will be the case at the close of the present season, unless the money needed is forthcoming.

Mrs. Albert Breitung left town today to join her daughter, Mrs. Rudolph S. Biome, in California.

NEW SKY-SCRAPERS.

Two more sky-scrapers are planned for this city. One is to be erected across Dearborn street from the Monadnock building. It will be sixteen stories high, and will cost two millions. The other is to replace the First Methodist Church building, at Clark and Washington streets. It will house the Methodist interests of the city, will have fifteen stories, and cost something more than a million dollars. An auditorium for the church will be provided in the structure.

ABANDONS THE MINISTRY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SYCAMORE (Ill.) March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rev. George A. Sahlin, a popular preacher formerly of Benton Harbor, Mich., but for four years pastor of the Universalist Church here, announced today that he would sever his connection with the ministry, and become a life insurance agent. If successful in that work he expects to continue in it for ten years, in the meantime, preparing himself for the lecture platform.

BOTH LOVERS DEAD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BRAZIL (Ind.) March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Information was received here today that James King and John Gibbons, prominent young men of Brazil, killed each other in a duel with pistols near Lobdell, Miss. Both were in love with Miss Zora Cornell of this city, and the quarrel was on her account. Miss Cornell is distracted with grief.

NO HELL FIRE FOR HIM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BELOIT (Wis.) March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rev. Edward A. Loe, a graduate of Yale College and for four years pastor of the Bethlehem Norwegian Lutheran Church, has renounced the creed of his church, and will retire from the ministry. He believesv in universal opportunity for salvation, and not eternal hell fire. He says he wants to preach the old-fashioned gospel of hope and love—that or nothing.

NEW CITY WILL BE BORN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EAST ST. LOUIS (Ill.) March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A city of a thousand homes and with a population of fully five thousand will be established near the National Stockyards this summer. It will be called Armourdale, and will be built by the Armour Packing Company, a short distance from its large packing plant. The company intends to empoy a thousand men and will give them the opportunity to purchase their own homes at cost on small monthly payments.

PERDUE FRESHMEN FINED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LAFAYETTE (Ind.) March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fifteen of the Perdue freshmen who engaged in the riot Wednesday night were fined $12 each this afternoon. Galpin, West and Meyers, who were arrested as participants, were acquitted.

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) March 14.—The Golden State limited, on the Rock Island systm, due in Kansas City this morning, collided head-on just outside of Dwight, thirty miles west of Topeka, at 3 o'clock this this morning, with west-bound passenger No. 3, which left Kansas City last night.

Both engines were badly damaged and the baggage and mail cars and the smoker of the west-bound train were telescoped. None of the other cars on the west-bound train left the tracks. None of the cars on the limited was derailed or damaged, and that train continued on its trip eastward after a few hours' delay. Engineer Love of the west-bound train was killed W. P. Henry of Los Angeles had his neck sprained and was badly hurt.

The W. P. Henry mentioned is believed to be William P. Henley, a mining man residing with his family at No. 1012 South Alvarado street. Henley left here Wednesday afternoon on the Golden State limited for South Amercia. No confirmation of this report had been received by Mrs. Henley last night.

PRACTICAL HINTS ON HOW TO SWEAR OFF.

SELF-CONTROL CAN BE ACQUIRED BY AUTO-SUGGESTION.

Prof. Felix Regnault Tells People How to Cure Themselves of Bad Habits and Perform Miracles by Sheer Will Power.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. Felix Regnault contributes an article to the forthcoming number of La Revue on psychical gymnastics and education of the will, in which he deals lengthily with auto-suggestion, and gives hints of the practice thereof. He says it is necessary for success to withdraw the mind from external things, and to avoid noise and conversation, while such disturbing sensations as cold feet and headaches are fatal to achieving complete control by will.

According to Dr. Regnault night is the best time to engage in auto-suggestion, just when you are dropping off to sleep. The first thing to do is to think hard and engage in mental repetition. Those endowed with a strong will have obtained extraordinary results by this method, such as controlling the muscles, moving the ears and quickening or stopping the beats of the heart.

The writer cites well-known marvelous feats performed by Indian fakirs, which, he says, can be imitated by Europeans through auto-suggestion. It is possible when the will is thus completely exercised, to pierce the flesh without pain and without blood flowing, although when the will is not paramount the same experiment will suffer blood to flow.

Similarly misanthropic persons may become gay, lazy persons may become active and the passionate may became reasonable by education of the will.

Simpler and easier is to repeat aloud the suggestion you wish to obtain. Spoken prayers are equally as efficacious, even if pronounced without fervor, for they penetrate by the ears and are imprinted on the brain.

Some persons are strongly impressed by visual imagination.

Dr. Regnault says he cured a hypochondriac by advising him to write upon the walls of his bedroom every night with phosphorescent powder the words: "I am gay," so that he would fall asleep with them before his eyes.

He advises those fond of lying abed in the morning to cure themselves by indirect auto-suggestion. He says that if a person will place an interesting book by the bedside his eyes will hardly open before they will fall on it, and he will commence to read. The person will then be in full possession of his will, and rising will be easy.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SOMERVILLE (N. J.) March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A contest of the will of the late Joseph H. Olcott, of East Millstone, who left property valued at $30,000 to his daughter, Mrs. Josephine Kroff, to the exclusion of his three sons, has developd interesting evidence on the workings of modern spiritualism.

Olcott's sons, Frank, of New York; Sans, East Orange, and Frederick, Los Angeles; seek to break their father's will, alleging the sister and father were spiritualists, and Mrs. Kroff exercised influence over the father previous to his death.

Sands Olcott testified that he returned to the home of his parents after spending a number of years in the West, and found his father and sister spiritualists. He stated his father endeavored to convert him, to the same belief, and for this purpose he invited him to the library, where his sister, seated at a ouija board, acted as medium. "Under his sister's manipulation, the board worked out the message—"Go to see Stade."

The message purported to be signed by Edgar Allen Poe, and gave Stade's New York address. Sands testified that his father and sister, on the following day accompanied him to the address in New York City indicated by the ouija board. He found Stade awaiting them, and the spiritualist announced he had just returned from abroad that day, but he was aware of their mission.

The witness testified that many times there were seances at the Olcott home, at which the father, sister and others had communication with the spirit world.

RIO GRANDE CONFERENCE.

DENVER, March 14.—Delegates from the Order of Railway Conductors and officials of the Denver and Rio Grande have arranged for a conference during which a number of grievances are to be submitted. Among other things the men will ask for a 15 per cent. and 20 per cent. increase in pay, and for the reinstatement of a number of men discharged during the last two years.

Big Deal.

THE Chickering.

Nothing so strongly emphasizes the superiority of Chickering Pianos than to compare them with any other piano. The Chickering has a matchless tone and a touch and action that is perfect.

The Chickering is the recipient of one hundred and twenty-nine first medals and awards, including the Cross of the Legion of Honor, and the crowning American triumph — the greatest award at the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago.

The present Chickering Piano is the product of eighty years' experience in building pianos in the best way. It is the highest type of the piano of today.

ROWENA SURPRISE.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—The Bell Stakes for two-year-olds, at Oakland today, resulted in an upset, Rowena, the clever filly in the stable of Burns & Waterhouse, winning from Rapid Water, which, together with Precious Stone, his stable companion, was quoted at 1 to 4. Eight youngsters went to the post, but it was thought the Morris pair had the event at their mercy. The stake had a value of $2790, of which $2300 went to the winner.

Additional interest was aroused, as it was the first time the two-year-olds went five furlongs. Precious Stone got away well, but ran out at the head of the stretch. Rapid Water and Celebrant were fighting it out during the last quarter, when Rowena came with a rush and beat the Morris colt three-quarters of a length. Celebrant was third. J. Daly on Rapid Water, claimed a foul against Rowena, but it was not allowed. H. L. Frank, an added starter, was carried wide by Precious Stone. Aside from the stake, well-played horses won during the afternoon. The weather was fine and the track muddy. Results:

Six and a half furlongs, selling: Lansdown, 99 (J. Daly,) 3 to 2, won; Flamero, 105 (Powell,) 5 to 1, second; Dotterel, 89 (L. A. Jackson,) 30 to 1, third; time 1:24. Tommie Knight, Sea Lion, Pat Morrissey, Somenos, Alice Carey and Rinaldo also ran.

One mile, selling: Glissando, 109 (Bonner,) 18 to 5, won; Choteau, 109 (Kelly,) 3 to 1, second; Formero, 109 (Lewis,) 7 to 1, third; time 1:45½. Stella Perkins, Dagmar, Grand Sachem, Star Cotton, Mission, The Singer, Nilgar, Allabout, Cambaceres and Ring Master also ran.

Six furlongs, selling: Matt Hogan, 106 (Donnelly,) 7 to 2, won; Mino, 100 (J. Daly,) 6 to 1, second; Ned Dennis, 108 (Birkenruth,) 4 to 1, third; time 1:17. Mexicanna, Little Margaret, Quiz II and Solon also ran.

The Bell Stakes, five furlongs, value $2790: Rowena, 107 (Waterbury,) 11 to 1, won; Rapid Water, 115 (J. Daly,) 1 to 4, second; Celebrant, 104 (Donovan,) 15 to 1, third; time 1:04. Dr. Rowell, Selected, Libby Candid, Precious Stone and L. H. Frank also ran.

Mile and a sixteenth, handicap: Grafter, 105 (Waterbury,) 4 to 1, won; Grail, 98 (Bonner,) 7 to 1, second; Epicure, 105 (Donovan,) even, third; time 1:49. Eonice and Propellor also ran.

Mile and fifty yards, selling: Sam Fullen, 103 (Bonner,) 9 to 2, won; Ben Macdui, 108 (Jenkins,) 9 to 2, won; Ben Dunblane, 108 (Donovan,) 6 to 1, third; time 1:45¼. Houston, Galanthus, Diderot also ran.

WILD WEST SHOW.

LONDON, March 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The King and Queen, accompanied by Princess Victoria, Prince and Princess Charles of Denmark, and three of the children of the Prince of Wales, attended the Wild West show at the Olympia today. The royal party occupied an especially-constructed box, and seemed thoroughly to enjoy the performance.

The King conversed animatedly with Col. Cody, commenting on the various styles of horsemanship. At the center of the camp tiny Indians presented to the Queen big bouquets. She took the flowers, and kneeling down shook the little brown handds. The Indian children afterward presented to the young Princess clay pigeons.

King Edward asked for Baker, whom he knew when Prince of Wales. The King complimented Baker on his skill in shooting.

Don't Pay More

It is useless to pay more for drugs and patent medicines than "The Owl" charges for them, especially when you are sure of getting the best of everything here. What we actually do has given us our reputation as "dictators of drug prices." Once in a while we even cut our own prices. This week it will be

Hair Brushes One Quarter Off

Quick Delivery
Order by phone and one of our special bicycle messengers will deliver the package at once. MAIN 869.

Price signifies nothing except when compared with what the same class article has cost you before or will cost elsewhere. When we say one-fourth off of Owl prices, it means more than you realize until you prove it by going elsewhere and then coming here. Do that and you will know "The Owl" never advertises what cannot be proved when you want to save money on little purchases or big ones. This is only a hairbrush sale, but it will show you that it pays to read "Owl" advertisements. Every hair brush in the house, including all of the finest imported makes, will be sold at 25 per cent. less than the usual "Owl" prices, which are always below others. Give us a test on hairbrushes. Now notice a few other things in this ad.

SACRAMENTO.

LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS.

Session Compared Favorably With Predecessors.

Miserable Failure of Schemes of Laborite Members.

Western Pacific Railway Bills Fail—Many Measures in the Governor's Hands.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The thirty-fifth session of the California Legislature is now a thing of the past. There will be no extra session, and, therefore, at noon today, 100 legislators practically went out of office. Only twenty hold-over Senators remain with the assurance, that, Providence permitting, they will assemble two years hence and again participate in the deliberations of a legislative session.

On the whole, the session has compared more than favorably with the previous sessions.

There have been no open scandals; there have been no open charges of bribery; there have been no investigations into the conduct of any member, or set of members.

The session started under a handicap of an attaché steal from the State. The Senate took $20 per day per member, and the Assembly took $12 per day per member, but subsequent events have shown that that was really a blessing in disguise, for it had the effect of causing a careful watch to be kept upon the subsequent actions of those members who had voted for it in caucus.

The attention of the people was called to this attaché outrage, and the result was that those who were disposed to feather their nests in other directions were more than cautious. That money was used to secure the passage of certain measures is known, but it was not used to the extent that has marked other sessions.

On the whole, the session was clean. Few cinch measures were passed in both houses, and such as were, met with a veto from the Governor.

An instance of this was the effort of the Southern Pacific to grab the whole water front of Oakland. The bills to legalize such a grab were passed by both houses, but the Governor vetoed all of them.

The laborite members, who entered the Legislature practically with the announcement that they proposed to be the whole show, cut very little ice. In fact, they did not pass a single bill through both houses. The very viciousness of their manner operated against them, and the final result will not help the cause of walking delegates and others of their kind.

A number of measures were passed which never should have been considered, but they were of such a character that no general harm can come from them.

It has been a featureless session at best, and no legislation of extraordinary importance has been enacted.

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE.

THIRTY-FIFTH SESSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, March 14.—The appointments to State positions announced in a message to the Senate last night were concurred in this morning.

After a favorable report had been brought in by the Committee on Executive Communications, each name was voted on separately and ratified.

Shortly before noon presentations were in order. Senator Robert T. Devlin, on behalf of the upper house, tendered Lieut.-Gov. Alden Anderson a cut-glass punch bowl, while Senator J. E. Curtin presented a cut-glass berry set to President pro tem. Thomas Flint, Jr.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, March 14.—Filibustering tactics were again resorted to in the Assembly this morning to defeat the passage of Senator Lardner's bills giving the lease of a portion of San Francisco water front to the Western Pacific Railway.

Dunlap moved that the constitution be suspended for the purpose of reading the measures three times and passing them.

Allen objected to further consideration of the bills on the ground that they were blocking more important legislation, which should be enacted.

By a vote of 47 to 24 the House refused to adopt the resolution suspending the constitution for the purpose of considering the Western Pacific Railway bills.

Lawmaking gave way to a love feast at 3 o'clock. After congratulatory resolutions had been adopted, presentations were in order. Speaker Fisk was given a handsome silver set, and Speaker pro tem Carter a cut-glass punch bowl.

OIL FIELDS.

BILLS TO PROTECT THEM.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, March 14.—Two bills providing for the protection of the oil fields of the State are now before the Governor for his signature.

One of the measures, by Senator Emmons, makes it a misdemeanor to fail to fill up an abandoned well. Another bill, by Dorsey, requires the proper casing of oil wells, the filling of holes after they are abandoned, and that after operations have been ceased on a well the owner must notify the proprietors of the five nearest wells.

FAREWELL MEASURE.

EXECUTIVE CONGRATULATIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, March 14.—Gov. Pardee sent the following message to both houses of the Legislature today:

"Gentlemen: If you will permit me, I desire, at the close of the thirty-fifth session of the Legislature, to express to you my official and personal thanks for the many kindnesses and courtesies you have extended to me during the past seventy days. Our intercourse has been most pleasant; and I shall always carry in my memory the pleasantest recollections of the weeks that we have spent here together.

"The State, too, is to be congratulated on the results of your labors. Your earnest, conscientious efforts have, I am convinced, produced good legislative fruit. And while both the Legislature and the Executive have, of course, committed mistakes, both of omission and commission, still, I am sure the interests of the people of the State have not suffered at our hands.

"Gentlemen, in bidding you an official farewell, I do so hoping that our relations may continue in the same pleasant lines in which they have heretofore been cast. And I hope, also, to have your personal friendship. Believe me, I am at your service, and earnestly request your good offices at all times."

GOVERNOR'S HANDS FULL.

HUNDREDS OF BILLS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, March 14.—Gov. Pardee will be a busy man for the next twelve days. His work is cut out for him. There are in his hands 346 measures, which he must either approve or disapprove before the next ten working days shall have passed. The Governor is allowed ten days, Sundays excepted, to clear his desk of the business of the Legislature, and with the mass before him time will be held at a premium.

The following tabulated statement will give a clear idea of the work of the Legislature that has been passed up to the Governor:

Number of bills passed	496
Number of constitutional amendments passed	6
Number of resolutions adopted	34
Total number of measures	536
Bills signed by Governor	134
Bills vetoed by Governor	16
Total bills disposed of	150
Still in hands of Governor	346
Bills passed in 1903	496
Bills passed in 1901	412

GERMANY.

PAVING THE WAY FOR TARIFF REPRISALS.

KAISER'S GOVERNMENT HAS NICE LITTLE SCHEME.

When Cuba and United States Ratify Reciprocity Treaty, Germany Will Ask Each for Identical Privileges—Give and Take Policy.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BERLIN, March 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Germany, as soon as the reciprocity treaty between Cuba and the United States is ratified, will ask both the Cuban and the United States governments for identical privileges. It is also intimated that other governments intended to request the same treatment.

While annoyed at the prospect of the United States trade having lower tariffs in Cuba than that of Germany, no one purposes that even a collective protest on the part of the continental countries would cause the United States or Cuba to recede. But Germany's position is to be defined clearly, so that the United States may not complain when Germany gives other nations preferential treatment.

The principle which the Germans lay down in entering upon correspondence concerning new treaties is "give and take." The most favored-nation theory is really abandoned. Special conventions are to be drawn up to fit in the situations. This principle seems to be accepted by Rusia, Austria and Italy, and the trade policies are to rest upon the reciprocity idea.

What is the subject of some concern here is that should the Cuban treaty be accepted and found to work well similar treaties may be arranged, by the United States with Mexico, Brazil and Argentina, ultimately resulting in the United States obtaining a monopoly of all the South and Central American markets.

STATE LOTTERY.

SOURCE OF PRUSSIAN REVENUE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BERLIN, March 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Prussian Diet was engaged in a solemn debate this week over the addition of another class to the state lottery, proposed by Finance Minister Von Rheinbaden, who explained the intricacies and mathematical proportions involved in Prussia's great gambling institution, that yields the state something like $2,500,000 a year.

All the speakers opposed lotteries in principle, but only one advocated the abolition of the state lottery. Lotteries have a definite place in the finance systems of most of the German states, and the Finance Minister observed, if Prussia abandoned her lottery, the Prussians would spend just as much money on the lotteries of other states.

It is estimated that the various states take in $12,500,000 in this way.

DOGS OF WAR.

GERMANY USES THEM.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BERLIN, March 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] New instructions have been issued to the German army regarding the employment of dogs in field service. Every infantry company must have at least two thoroughly trained dogs, but every battalion is not to have more than twelve. They must be thoroughbreds, and of the best pedigree. Hitherto Airedale terriers have been used, but experiments are being conducted with German bird dogs.

Provision is made for the training of the dogs to begin at the earliest age possible indoors, and later in the field, where a dog must intelligently understand orders, like going forward to vidette post, or returning to headquarters; must give warning of the approach of strangers, and must keep absolutely quiet at a whispered command. The chief service of the dogs is in keeping up rapid communication between vidette posts, themselves, and also the posts and headquarters.

WHIM OF KAISER.

CAUSED LONG LITIGATION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BERLIN, March 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The long legal fight over the attempt to compel the Berlin municipality to contribute toward building churches has been ended with a decision of the civil court in favor of Berlin.

The case grew out of Emperor William's great church building campaign in the early years of his reign, for which he wanted the Berlin councilmen to make appropriations. The councilmen refused, which caused strained relations between the Emperor and the municipal government. The police president of Berlin took a hand in the controversy seven or eight years ago, by resurrecting an old consistorial decree dated 1573, which he interpreted to make it an obligation on the city to give money to build churches. The police president ordered the municipality to pay $50,000 for two churches, St. Marcus and St. Simons, then in course of erection. The municipality paid the money under protest, but brought suit to recover the amount.

The case involved an enormous amount of work. Assistant Burgomaster Kauffman worked himself to death in examining records since 1573, and in writing a bulky volume tending to prove that Berlin never appropriated money for building churches.

MADE MURDER HIS TRADE.

Digging into the Fiendish Record of Hossey.

Revelations of Startling Nature Promised by Police.

Scores of Graves Will Be Opened and Autopsies Held on the Victims.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, March 14.—The police for several days have been investigating the career of George Hossey, the negro "herb doctor," who was yesterday committed to prison with Mrs. Catherine Danze on the charge of causing the death of the woman's husband by poison. Mrs. Danze is said to be only one of a host of women whose object in consulting the "doctor" was not legitimate.

The District Attorney and police state that more arrests may be expected soon. Memoranda found in Hossey's house, will show, it is said, many cases of murder.

The District Attorney said: "The case is far from complete at present. More arrests will follow, but naturally we cannot talk about that phase of the case at this time. The developments of yesterday are only a small part of the case as far as Hossey is concerned. The detectives are still at work on the investigation, and will continue for several weeks."

ARSENIC HIS WEAPON.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, March 14.—Physicians in all sections of the city have reported cases to the District Attorney that will probably lead to the opening of many graves, and to the holding of as many inquests by the Coroner. In each of these cases the patient first appeared with a minor complaint, which grew worse, and which just before death manifested what are now recalled as the usual symptoms of arsenical poisoning.

Seven of these practitioners were closeted with Dist.-Atty. Shorer for several hours, during which time they went over their office records in the mortality cases, and frankly stated their suspicions. In each of these cases a thorough investigation was ordered, and the local managers of all life insurance companies were asked for information concerning the policies paid upon the risks in the cases.

The records of the Bureau of Health show that Hossey issued death certificates over his own signature as "George Hossey, M.D.," and the authorities are doing their utmost to discover how and from whom he obtained the blank forms.

HARRISON AGAIN.

Only Way Chicago Can Get Rid of Him is by Electing the Republican Candidate.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, March 14.—In the Democratic primaries, which were held today, Mayor Carter H. Harrison, who is a candidate for renomination, secured practically all the delegates to the city convention, and will without doubt be the candidate of his party.

The Aldermanic contest in the Twenty-first Ward excited the chief interest of the day. This is the same ward in which the Mayor and Robert E. Burke, the prominent Democratic leader, reside. The Mayor desired the nomination of Honore Palmer, and Burke supported John C. Dalton. Both factions worked hard, but Palmer won by a decisive majority, carrying the eleven primary districts, including the one in which Burke resides. The Mayoralty convention will be held next Monday.

NEW HAVEN RAILROAD.

NEW YORK, March 14.—President Hall of the New Haven Railroad authorized the statement that the directors refuse to meet a joint committee of trainmen and conductors. He said:

"The board of directors have always been willing to meet committees from the different branches of the road, but as matters now stand, we refuse to meet a joint committee of trainmen and conductors."

When asked what the consequences would be if, by the vote which will be polled Monday, the conductors and trainmen resolve to strike, the president said: "I don't know, but some measures will be taken."

Boschee's German Syrup.

We cannot understand why any person suffering with a cold or throat and lung trouble will neglect to purchase a bottle of German Syrup, sold in all civilized parts of the world, without a single case of failure. There are thousands of consumptives right here in Southern California that give Boschee's German Syrup the sole credit of their being alive today. Ask your druggist. Price 25 and 75 cents.

DIVINE HEALER VICTIM.

THINKS HE HAS A CALL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A peculiar and unusual story was brought to light today by John Westfall swearing to a complaint charging his son, William J. Westfall, with being insane.

Over a year ago the family moved to this city from Ione, and the two men secured empoyment with the railroad company. About two weeks ago the son ceased work and declared he had discovered he was to become a divine healer, as he claimed he had been cured of catarrh in a few days by one of a trio of alleged healers who are in this city.

The first of the week Westfall announced he had been told to fast for eleven days, and since that time he has refused food, and his father failed to persuade him to the contrary. As the young man has some money put aside, the father decided to take steps to restrain the youth, as the parent thought his son might be induced to turn his coin over to the healers.

When taken into custody, Westfall appeared rational. He denied that his mind was unbalanced, and asserted the trouble all occurred through the pastor of Cumberland Church, of which he was a member, wishing to keep him away from the divine healers, so the youth's contribution of $1 a week would not be lost to the church. The hearing will be held next Wednesday, and the case is attracting attention.

FAIR MAY BE POSTPONED.

Difficulties in Way of Holding St. Louis Exposition Next Year Appear to Be Insurmountable.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A postpohement of the opening date of the World's Fair until May, 1905, seems probable. The directors are convinced another full year is necessary to give the world-beating exposition they have planned. The question how to make the announcement to the public is being discussed. When President Francis returns from his European tour next week he will make the plea that foreign nations desire to make exhibits surpassing anything before attempted by them in this country, and they cannot get ready in the time limit.

The real reason for the postponement is said to be that the Westinghouse Company has advised the exposition officials that it cannot install its lighting, heating and power plant in time for the proposed opening in 1904. Moreover, the steel mills, burdened with orders for months, confess their inability to furnish construction material for buildings and intramural railway facilities.

Then there are certain legal formalities to go through with before St. Louis, as a municipality can furnish for buildings and improvements the $5,000,000 dollars it expects to give. There are still other phases of the unpreparedness which call for more time, and, although the spirit and enterprise of St. Louis are all right, it is considered the physical obstacles to a 1904 fair are too great to be overcome.

New Haven Railroad Ignores Men's Demands—Status of Wabash Litigation.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WATERBURY (Ct.) March 14.—An important move in relation to the trolley men's strike, which has been on since January 11, was taken today, when papers were issued for a temporary injunction, granted by Judge Elmer of the Superior Court, on application of the Connecticut Railway and Lighting Company, restraining the Trolley Men's Union, and most, if not all, of the unions in this city from acts calculated to interfere with the company's business, or its railways. The injunction, which is sweeping in its nature, enjoins the strikers and their sympathizers from boycotting the plaintiff, or its employés, or any other corporation or persons from in any way impeding the business of the railroad company, and from their cast of intimidation and violence under a penalty of $10,000.

In the complaint of the company, attached to the writ, an attachment to the amount of $25,000 is ordered placed upon the property of the defendants. The list of the defendant employés is headed with the name of W. J. Barrett, president of the local union of the Amalgamated Union of Street Railway Employés of America.

The complaint declares that men in the plaintiff's employ were abused and assaulted with clubs and revolvers, and that some persons in sympathy, or connected with the defendants, have murdered, or caused to be murdered, a policeman engaged in the performance of his duties, and that the business of the company will be ruined if the alleged conspiracy is continued. The complaint asks damages in the sum of $20,000. The injunction is made returnable the first Tuesday in April.

COLORADO MILLMEN.

WANT MILITIA RESTRAINED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) March 14.—Legal action in behalf of the striking millmen in Colorado City was instituted in the District Court of El Paso county by Attorney John P. Smith today. It is a general suit to restrict and define the authority of the military forces and to restrain them from infringing upon the personal and property rights of privavte citizens. The plaintiffs are W. B. Ennis, H. J. Ferrill and F. Norling.

The plaintiffs pray the court to take jurisdiction and cognizance of acts of the defendants and their subordinates, and ask that the court require the Sheriff to report to the court all of his doings, and that a decree be entered to prevent the misappropriation of public funds and the further invasion of and usurpation of rights of citizens of the county, and that the court will exercise its supervisory power over the officers of the militia.

This special application is requested to be given a hearing on March 23.

NOW WANT MORE MONEY.

UNITED RAILROADS CARMEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—This has been a day of conferences and committee meetings in the street car troubles, and at midnight a mass meeting of the employés of the United Railways began to pass upon the report submitted by the Executive Committee tee.

This morning a committee from the Carmen's Union visited General Manager Chapman and a little friction developed at the outset in the refusal of the railway official to receive one of the committee, Harry Knox, who had been suspended for refusing to sign a student's card. The difference between company and union were discussed at length without common ground being reached and the conference ended unsatisfactorily. Tonight each side issued a statement concerning the conference and in that of the Carmen's Union a new and important point made its appearance, to the effect that the employés propose to ask for $3 per day of nine hours.

Manager Chapman in his statement says that when the union committee called today, he agreed to reinstate the suspended employés provided they would sign students' cards. Objection was then made that the cards could be used for fraudulent purposes, and that men other than the certified students might be employed by the company. Mr. Chapman thereupon agreed to issue duplicate cards, one to go to the Union, each document to have attached a photograph of the student. Lastly, Mr. Chapman agreed, if a settlement could not be reached, to refer the controversy to W. D. Mahon, president of the International Carmen's Union and to Patrick Calhoun of New York, Patrick Calhoun of New York representing the company.

AGREE TO REFERENCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—At 2 o'clock this (Sunday) morning the meeting adjourned. The statement as given out to the press that the matter would be referred to Mahon and Calhoun. The union, would, it was stated, insist that the suspended men should be reinstated with full pay and without being compelled to sign students' cards. It was also stated that the union would, in the event of an agreement between Mahon and Calhoun, reserve the right to ratify or reject.

WABASH CASE.

NEXT HEARING TUESDAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. LOUIS, March 14.—Judge Adams of the United States District Court today overruled the motion filed by the Wabash Railroad attorneys to require the brotherhoods and employés to file additional minutes of their meetings, and additional letters and telegrams before arguments would be heard on the motion to dissolve the injunction issued by him recently.

The attorneys representing the brotherhoods and employés have agreed to bring into court such of the missing correspondence as they have.

As the matter now stands, the Wabash company's attorneys will be compelled to argue against the motion for dissolution of the injunction on Tuesday without the additional information sought unless it shall be filed in the meantime.

STRIKE BROKEN.

CANADIAN PACIFIC WINS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) March 14.—The members of the United Brotherhood of Railway Employés today announced their acceptance of the offer of the Canadian Pacific Railroad to arbitrate. The offer was made ten days ago, and was at that time declined. Now the company declares that as the offer was refused, it has since been withdrawn.

More of the striking clerks returned to work today, and the company announced that as permanent positions had been given to those who had replaced the strikers, no question of mediation or arbitration would now be considered. The company claims that the strike failed of its purpose.

Two Young Hoosiers Fight Duel Over a Girl and Kill Each Other—Young Lady Distracted.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BRAZIL (Ind.) March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Information was received here today of a fatal duel which was fought between James King and John Gibbons, two prominent Brazil young men, in the swamps near Sobdell, Miss. The young men were companions, but while residing here fell in love with Miss Zora Cornell, a beautiful young lady of a highly-respected family. They left the city together and joined a surveying corps in Mississippi, and it was in camp that they quarreled about the girl. King, who drew a weapon, challenged Gibbons for a duel, Gibbons accepted the challenge, and stepping a few paces from the camp, the two men opened fire at each other, and after several shots had been exchanged, both fell mortally wounded. Miss Cornell is distracted with grief.

RAILROAD RECORD.

TONOPAH FULL OF RAILROAD RUMORS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TONOPAH (Nev.) March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The town is full of railroad rumors and representatives of two roads are here now. J. Irving Crowell, general manager of the Los Angeles, Daggett and Tonopah Railroad, is here, accompanied by S. C. Freefield and E. A. Montgomery of the engineering corps. They have commenced the survey of a standard-gauge route from Tonopah almost directly south to Daggett, a distance of 300 miles. It will be a feeder to Clark's road. The survey will also start simultaneously from Daggett and grading be commenced as soon as possible. The promoters say they have contracts with well-known local mining companies for 400 tons of ore per day, and say they have been working on the scheme upwards of two years.

C. S. Lemon, chief engineer of the Rhodes and Tonopah Railroad, says the Nevada Legislature granted his company right of way Monday. The proposed route leaves the Carson and Colorado Railroad about two miles south of Rhodes, striking the Candelaria stage road near Crow Springs, skirting the northeast side of Columbus Marsh, thence follows the Candelaria road to Tonopah. The enterprise is backed by eastern capital and ample funds have been provided for the preliminary work. The road will be a narrow-gauge, on a standard roadbed, with standard ties, so that when the Southern Pacific widens the present gauge on this branch, a third rail can be added. Lemon states positively the road will be in operation September 1.

DANGER SIGNALS.

MUST BRING TRAINS TO STOP.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Orders have been issued by many of the local railway managements that in the future all trains must be brought to a full stop when a danger signal is displayed, and notice has been given that from this time on rigid discipline will be enforced.

The movement is one inaugurated by the general managers of nearly every important railway system centering in Chicago, with a view to preventing wrecks due to failure to observe and obey signals, and it will be supplemented by generous outlays to provide the best signal system and in organizing and maintaining efficient signal departments. Coupled with the movement will be an effort to keep engine crews and trainmen in the best physical condition.

Local officials were stirred to action in the matter on account of the numerous wrecks which recently occurred through failure of employés to either see or obey signals. The terrible wrecks at Plainfield on the Central Railroad of New Jersey and of the Limited train on the Southern Pacific in Arizona have brought home to railroad managements the fact that the discipline among trainmen and engine crews is not what it should be. Hereafter an engineer who runs by a "block," or simply slows down when a danger signal is shown, will do so at the risk of his position.

GIGANTIC SHOPS.

TO EQUIP BIG RAILROADS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Owing to inability to get new equipment as rapidly as demanded, many big railroad systems have decided to build their own locomotives and cars in the future. The Louisville and Nashville, now controlled by the Atlantic Coast line, is preparing to erect shops with sufficient capacity to meet all the requirements of the system.

The new plant will be built in South Louisville, and new repair shops in East St. Louis. Its purpose is to make both the manufacturing plant and shops the most complete in the country, at a cost of several millions. In the meantime the company has been obliged to give orders for seventy-five locomotives to cost over $1,000,000 and several thousand freight cars.

The Rock Island has let contracts for the erection of a monster locomotive plant at Moline to cost $300,000. There will be twenty buildings, the main one being a large machine shop. It is the purpose of the company to, in time, have a plant that will be capable of turning out allthe equipment needed by the system, now comprising nearly 18,000 miles of railroad.

MISSISSIPPI FLOODS.

LOSSES ALREADY HIGH IN MILLIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NATCHEZ (Miss.) March 14.—There were a few rays of sunshine today, but they were preceded and followed by light showers that only aggravated the situation and intensified the feeling of gloom which pervades this section. The reports from nearly all sections of the territory tributary to Natchez are of a more discouraging nature. The river end of Jefferson county for a distance of thirty miles and extending inland more than nine miles is covered with water, but despite this the Natchez gauge rose .25, and is now 3.6 feet above the danger line.

Gloomy reports come from the back part of Concordia parish, opposite this (Adams) county, where the cultivated lands along the Little and Black rivers are being flooded by water out of the Red and Ouatchie rivers, and hundreds of acres of unpicked cotton are being submerged. Black River from South Bend is running over its banks. Officials of the Natchez, Red River and Texas Railroad announced today that they must close the levee near Black River station, La., and move their terminal back several hundred yards, from which point they will transfer freight by boat to Jonesville and Trinity. Sycamore levee can stand about two and a half feet more, but the water is backing in from the river at a heavy rate. It is expected that some of the levees will not be high enough to stand the rise that is coming. All the lowlands from Vicksburg to Bayou Sara are under water, and some of the finest plantations around the delta are flooded. Even if the levees should hold, the damage already incurred will amount to millions of dollars.

BREAKS LAST FLOOD RECORD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) March 14.—The stage of the river at 6 o'clock is 37.2 feet, a stage equal to the maximum of the flood of 1897, when such widespread damage was done throughout the Delta. The rise since 6 o'clock this morning has been half a foot. The maximum of the present rise is expected to reach here about Wednesday, and officials of the Weather Bureau say they anticipate about 39 feet.

All levees in this vicinity are reported to be holding. There is grave apprehension, however, for the safety of the country beyond the levees. One of the greatest causes of fear is anxiety that the levees may be cut by some person who would be benefitted thereby.

TERRIFIC RAINFALL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW ORLEANS, March 14.—Though New Orleans experienced the most terrific rainfalls in many years, the river tonight is at the same stage as in the early morning, 14.3 feet, three-tenths under the record of six years ago. During the forenoon the work of mending weak spots in the levees along both sides of the river continued, and hundreds of sand sacks were placed in position, but the unusual precipitation, amounting to almost a cloudburst, suspended operations for a time.

All the embankments resisted the double strain, however, and tonight discloses no material change in conditions. No breaks up the river had been reported when darkness fell.

The rainfall here during twelve hours amounted to 7.92 inches, of which 5½ inches fell from noon to 3 o'clock. The drainage machinery was simply overwhelmed, and many streets were flooded, the lower floors of stores in many places being under water.

A Half Million People
Wrote Me and Got Well.

And I took the entire risk.

They simply gave me their address and stated which book they needed.

That is all I ask of you.

I will then mail you an order on your druggist for six bottles Dr. Shoop's Restorative. You may take it a month on trial. If it succeeds, the cost is $5.50. If it fails, I will pay the druggist myself. And your mere word shall decide it.

I have the records of nearly 550,000 sick ones who have accepted that offer. They were all difficult cases—some of them desperate. People don't write me about mild attacks. They buy one or two bottles, get well, and I never hear from them. Yet 39 out of each 40 who secured those six bottles paid for them gladly, because they were cured.

On Jan. 11, 1903, I published in the Chicago papers the names and addresses of one thousand people in that city alone whom I had cured of chronic diseases in just the past six months.

I need not tell you that no other remedy ever made a record like that. And no other remedy for chronic diseases could be supplied on an offer like mine, without ruining the man who made it.

The reason for it all is that my Restorative strengthens the inside nerves. It brings back the power that operates the vital organs. It is the result of my lifetime's work.

Common treatments fail because they aim to doctor the organ that is weak, and such results at best are but temporary. A weak organ must have more nerve power, just as a weak engine must have more steam. And that is all that is needed—all that medicine can do.

ANNOUNCEMENT

NEW CLOTHING HOUSE

Mr. Charles W. Ennis who has been identified with the high-grade clothing business for fifteen years, and whose efforts have met with the greatest success, has secured the store recently occupied by Christopher's Annex, where he will establish an exclusive clothing house for men and youths. Mr. Ennis has personally selected his stock in New York. The new store will appeal to those men who demand perfection in dress. The idea of an exclusive clothing house, dealing only in high-grade, fashionable clothing is a conception of Mr. Ennis, and most men in Los Angeles are already acquainted with his special ability in this line. Men who desire the most modern productions in clothing will be greatly interested in our announcement to appear next Sunday.

Gold Teeth or Bridge Work

This method does away with plates and while more expensive, is certainly much more satisfactory. You can bite and masticate with these teeth just as you could with natural teeth. We do so much of this work and save more time by the Schiffman Method that we are enabled to save you about 25 per cent. In delicate work like this, where practice is such an element in success, does it not seem reasonable to suppose that a dentist of natural ability, wide experience and unusual practice, can do better and cheaper work than others of less experience and small practice, even if they have the same natural ability? Reason answers for us.

I have had a great deal of crown and bridge work done by Dr. Schiffman and the work is perfectly satisfactory.
CHAS. B. LACHANCE,
Raymond Hotel, Pasadena.

Dr. Schiffman has done a very satisfactory and thoroughly up-to-date piece of crown and bridge work for me; also a number of fillings.
J. M. PINNELL,
129 S. Olive St.

Dr. Schiffman has put in almost an entire upper bridge for me. The bridge is perfect in every respect and I can use it as well as my natural teeth. The work was promptly and painlessly done.
J. F. WILL,
901 W. Twelfth.

Dr. Schiffman has put in a very satisfactory piece of bridge work for me and I cheerfully recommend him to anyone in need of dentistry.
F. FLORENTINE,
1532 N. Main St., Country and City Criminal Photographer.

I have had some bridge and gold crown work done by Dr. Schiffman. I find the work extremely satisfactory.
N. G. WEYMAN,

I have had work done by Dr. Schiffman, and I am perfectly satisfied with the work.
G. C. HARPER,
No. 552 Gladys avenue.

It is with great pleasure that I recommend Dr. Schiffman's method of painless dentistry, he having removed a number of my teeth and replaced them by bridge work, which is satisfactory in every respect.
WM. WAGNER,
With Union Ice Co., city.

The bridge work done by Dr. Schiffman is entirely satisfactory.
KATE M. HOGAN,
1102 E. Pico street.

Dr. Schiffman has extracted teeth for for me by his painless method and replaced them by bridge work which was painless, and I can cheerfully recommend his method to all in need of dental services.
C. K. KETCHAM,

I have had a bridge and gold crown put in by Dr. Schiffman. The work is satisfactory in every respect.
MRS. A. M. ZIKE,
Santa Barbara, Cal.

Dr. Schiffman extracted my teeth and replaced same by bridge work. He also treated and filled two teeth which I thought were too far gone to save. The above work was all done painlessly and is perfectly satisfactory.
R. A. POLLARD,
727 Central Ave.
Motorman on Electric Road.

It is with pleasure that I state that I have had several teeth filled by Dr. Schiffman, and that he killed and extracted the nerve and filled the root of one of my teeth and put on a porcelain crown which cannot be distinguished from a natural tooth, all of which was done without pain.
JUDSON R. RUSH,
Of Davis & Rush, Attorneys,

I have had porcelain crown work and some filing done, and also had ten teeth and roots extracted by Dr. Schiffman, and take great pleasure in recommending his method to anyone wishing dental work done without pain.
MRS. C. T. W. SCHRAMM,
Mother of Paloma Schramm, corner of Austin and Wadsworth.

On account of some unfortunate experience I had in the extraction of my teeth, I became a great coward in this respect. Today Dr. Schiffman extracted one of my very refractory teeth without causing me one particle of pain.

FESTIVAL OF ST. PATRICK.

To Be Celebrated With More Pomp Than Usual.

Religious Ceremonials and an Evening of Gayety.

Ancient Order of Hibernians Will Have a Banquet—Y.M.I. Musicale.

St. Patrick's Day, the feast of Ireland's patron saint, falls on next Tuesday, and it will be observed this year with more enthusiasm than has been the case for many years. The celebration will be both religious and patriotic in its nature, and will include functions by the well known Catholic clubs and private affairs. Appropriate services, with panegyrics of the saint of the Emerald Isle will be held in the local churches, and on the breast of every loyal son of Erin will be worn the bit of green or the shamrock, which betokens Erin's faith in the Trinity, and the abiding hope of her scattered sons in the final realization of freedom and prosperity for the "land of the auld sod."

AT THE CHURCHES.

There will be a solemn high mass at the Cathedral of St. Vibiana on Tesday morning at 9 o'clock, with a sermon on St. Patrick by Rev. M. Conneally, pastor of the Church of St. Francis de Sales at Riverside.

At the church of St. Vincent de Paul, corner of Grand avenue and Washington street, there will be a solemn high mass at 8 o'clock. Rev. Patrick H. McDonnell, C.M., will be celebrant; Rev. J. E. Green, C.M., deacon, and D. McHugh, C.M., subdeacon.

The Feast of St. Patrick will be celebrated at St. Mary's Church, Boyle Heights, with a mass at 9 o'clock, and a panegyric by the Rev. William Quinlan of the Cathedral.

The Church of Our Lady of the Angels will have a solemn high mass at 9 o'clock, and Rev. Fr. Sheeny of Pasadena will deliver the sermon, dwelling on the life and influences of St. Patrick. Rev. Thomas F. Fahey of the Plaza Church will go to San Diego to participate in the services of the day.

Rev. M. McAuliffe will celebrate a high mass at 9 o'clock in the Church of the Sacred Heart, East Los Angeles.

THE HIBERNIANS.

Probably the most notable social feature will be the banquet to be given by Los Angeles Division, No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians. This will be a "ladies' night," and the banquet will be at Levy's Café. County President T. J. Cunningham will be chairman of the evening, and Joseph Scott will act as toastmaster. Glenn's Orchestra will render a musical programme during the evening, and Eugene H. Roth and James P. Burns will sing Irish songs. Lawrence Hanley will give Irish recitations. The programme of toasts is as follows:

"The President of the United States," Hon. William Mead; "The Day We Celebrate," Hon. H. C. Dillon; "The City of Los Angeles," Hon. M. P. Snyder; "The Ancient Order of Hibernians," President P. P. O'Brien; "The Ladies," R. P. Vivian.

IRISH MUSIC FOR Y.M.I.

Montgomery Council, Y.M.I., will give an entertainment in its hall on Downey avenue Tuesday evening, in honor of St. Patrick's Day. It will be mainly musical, and many of the old Irish melodies will find place on the programme. Prominent musicians of the city will appear, and there will be a patriotic address.

SOME POINTERS ON PUBLICITY.

A FEW ADVERTISING AXIOMS.

[From an expert in advertising.]

Treat the ad solicitor with the same degree of politeness that you would any one else who holds out to you golden opportunities. Many a wise suggestion he's able to make.

The same advertisement run without change of copy is likely to fail even in attracting "unconscious influence"—except that a person may unconsciously tire of reading it.

The wonder is that so many advertisers stumble on success when one thinks of the average merchant's ignorance of the common rules of advertising.

The show wndow should be a mirror of the store and the advertisements, and it's not necessary that it be crowded with everything retailed. Simplicity in this respect is quite as necessary as a well-written ad.

The store and the ad reflect the man that's back of 'em. Hustling store, bright ad—bright and hustling man.

No man, no store, no ad can attain perfection; but any man can improve his store and his advertising.

A ready-made advertisement, like a ready-made suit of clothes, fits only the model for which it was originally intended. In all other cases it should be carefully altered, for no two stores are exactly alike.

White space wisely used frequently proves an oasis in the desert of crowded advertisements, and many of weary eye finds relief there.

Change copy daily, but seldom alter the typographical style, and then only to improve it. Folks will soon "unconsciously" recognize your advertisements and look for them if they be catchy.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY.

INDIAN CATTLE THIEVES.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, March 14.—Constable Dyche of Mesa Grande arrived this morning with an Indian, Clumait Juan, in custody, on the charge of grand larceny. Juan is the second Indian to be brought here for trial for stealing cattle on the Warner ranch reservation. The officer says that within a month thirty head of cattle have been unlawfully appropriated to the use of the Indians in that section of the county.

The County Surveyor is in the Imperial country, with Supervisor Jasper, doing surveying for some extensive road work.

C. L. Hubbs has filed a legal objection to Rev. Father Ubach's being appointed guardian of the Perales children. The trial will be had on the 26th inst. Father Ubach is at the head of the Catholic Church here.

The boys of the Russ High School rescued most of the furniture and did the greater part of the work of putting out the fire in Judge Sloane's house yesterday.

Admiral Schley has written the Chamber of Commerce that the reason he did not visit San Diego was because he had a severe cold.

Josiah Sessions, father of Miss Kate Sessions and Albert eSssions, died yesterday, aged 77.

W. E. Smith and H. E. Mills were among the speakers at this afternoon's meeting of the Farmers' Club. The subject was "Coöperation Among Farmers."

Florence Kirven, colored, has been held for trial for taking a shot at her husband, who, she says, was annoying her.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. V. Ray Bennett March 9. Mrs. Bennett, formerly Miss Rosa Belle Smith, is a graduate of the Los Angeles Normal School.

"If you want a thing well done do it yourself," is an old-time motto, but the latest is "Try The Times" when it comes to advertising. Telephone your wants to red 1042 and our San Diego agency will take your ad and send it to the main office.

No rain yesterday at Coronado.

Big Deal.

We bought Green-Marshall Co.'s wall-paper stock. Big bargains. Borders same price as paper. Best paint, $1.50 gal.; opaque shades, 25c; molding, 2c. Walter, 427 South Spring.

OPPOSITION TO LEATHER TRUST.

CINCINNATI, March 14.—A deal has been completed whereby the International Leather Company of Cincinnati with all its patents, has been taken over by Chicago capitalists. They purchased $5,000,000 worth of stock. They have already a plant at Ashton, Ky. They will have other plants at Kansas City, Fort Worth, St. Louis and two other places. It is the avowed intention to compete with the United States Leather Company.

The condition of Beriah Wilkins of the Washington Post was much improved yesterday. There is now good reason to hope for his recovery.

Two out of three of the partners in the firm of Martinez del Rio Bros. were naturalized British subjects, and the other was a Mexican citizen. In 1857 Colombia paid its 50 per cent., with interest to that time. No success has attended the efforts of the banking firm to collect from Venezuela or Ecuador. They brought action against the government of Venezuela, through the Supreme Court of that republic, but the country has been so torn by revolution and unrest, that they never have been able to press the claim.

Hon. Herbert Putnam, the Librarian of Congress of Washington, D. C., is in the city, accompanied by Octavius J. Bates, his assistant, having arrived on Thursday. They are stopping at the Iturbide Hotel. The gentlemen are here with the purpose of examining all publications in the Governmental Archives Bureau, and in the National Library of San Agustin, and other places, where are collected books and other material treating of the early history of Mexico. I met the gentlemen at the United States embassy, where they had gone on their arrival to consult with Ambassador Powell Clayton. This is the first time Mr. Putnam has come to Mexico, but Mr. Bates has been here before, and, in fact, has traveled extensively, especially in Southern Mexico. They will visit not only the big National Library, which, by the way, has 300,000 volumes, but will also look into other like institutions in other portions of the country, especially at Puebla and Oaxaca.

Superintendent Charles E. Cummings of the Cable Company, has just returned from a flying trip to the Isthmus of Tehuantepec. He says that the work is being pushed by Sir Weetman Pearson on the terminal harbors at Coatzacoalcos and Salina Cruz, and on the reconstructing roadbed of the Tehuantepec Railroad. In a short time steamers of the greatest draught will be able to unload on both sides of the isthmus.

F. R. Shipp, international secretary of the Railway Young Men's Christian Association, and Mrs. Shipp, left for St. Louis, Mo., two night since. He speaks enthusiastically over the success of the Y.M.C.A. in this city, which has now a membership of 400, and whose general secretary, Mr. Babcock, has done so well in the matter of organization and equipment. Branch associations are to be opened up at Monterey, San Luis Potosi and other places.

Negotiations are under progress for the sale of the mineral and timber rights of Popocatapetl to a company of Americans, whose representative, A. H. Smith, is here for that purpose. There have been many attempts to effect a sale of this prodigious giant of stone, and the owner has hitherto held out for the sum of $500,000. The owner is Gen. Gaspar Sanchez Ochoa, and what he owns is the right forever to mine the sulphur, collect the ice and cut the timber on the huge volcano. The mountain itself belongs, by right of eminent domain, to Mexico, and there is not power enough to remove it from its moorings to the United States, even if the Americans buy the rights of Gen. Ochoa. It is a huge industrial concession held in perpetual right by Gen. Ochoa and his heirs, assigns, etc., in consideration of services to the republic during the War of Reform and other critical times, but the mountain itself belongs to the government of the republic, or rather to the people. But it would be quite a feather in the cap of any company to own by usufruct one of the highest mountains in the world, a white-headed old giant who for untold centuries has sentineled the valley of Mexico.

An interesting land transfer has just been effected on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec. It was the sale of the Chivela and Tarifa property of 162,935 acres, located on the line of the Tehuantepec Isthmus Railway. It was purchased by Timothy Carrabine of Kansas City, representative of Wise & Stern of Kansas City and Sioux City. The purchase price was about $200,000 gold. The place is well under development, and has 4000 head of cattle. It formed part of the great estate donated in 1530 to Cortez, the Spanish conqueror by Emperor Carlos V. The entail being broken the estate was sold, and finally the ownership was vested in the old family of Maqueo, from whom the Americans purchased. The chain of title comes down unbroken through the centuries direct from Cortez.

Another transfer of real property was enacted this week; a tract of 27,389 acres on the line of the Vera Cruz and Pacific Railway, near the station of Acatlan. It was purchased by the Cerro Majarra Company organized under the laws of Illinois and capitalized at $275,000. The land was purchased from Rachel Millan, Miguel Macedo and associates. John H. Gaul, who has been selected by the company as the manager, left yesterday to take charge, and the secretaryship and general managership is vested in Dr. G. A. Vawter.

The successful growing of henequen fiber in the State of Yucatan, has stimulated planters elsewhere to essay its cultivation. Leonardo Gamez, owner of the haciendas Santa Cruz and La Poza in Sonora, obtained from the Department of Encouragement 3000 young henequen plants. He set them out at three metres distance from each other. They have developed so rapidly that in six months from planting they are covered with shoots as long as sixty-five centimetres. Probably in two years or so henequen will be grown elsewhere.

F. P. Flood, the engineer of the Mitchell Mining and Smelting Company, came up to the city to meet his wife who has arrived from San Francisco to join him. This is the largest mining property in Guerrero and the company is working out an immense body of rich copper ore. Mr. Flood, who is an ambitious and energetic man, says that his company has undertaken single-handed a very difficult task. They have just completed the survey of a road from the mines in Guerrero to the port of Acapulco, a distance of sixty-five miles. The grades will be comparatively easy. When completed it will be used to carry in the machinery for the mines, and will be the first time in the history of Mexico that machinery for mining purposes has been taken from the Pacific Coast to the State of Guerrero, although California has for years supplied the States of Sinaloa and Sonora with mining outfits sent out from San Francisco.

California mining men are scattered all over the Republic, and occasionally one hears of some man or bunch of men from the great Golden State at work quietly in some remote corner of this country, that is born to boom unseen. One of those centers of operation is the Bravos district in the State of Guerrero. A San Francisco man, W. V. Watson, and his brother, Nicholas Watson, are busy, even if they seem to be buried away from the great outside world. Their property is located 75 miles northwest of Acapulco, and is known as Sierra Madre del Sur, that being the district where they operate. They are developing a good property and have put up a five-stamp mill. The vein uncovered is 100 metres wide, of gold as yellow and as seductive as any they ever mined in California. It will run seventeen ounces to the ton. The brothers have been in there now about two years. They have associated with them another wide-awake man, James A. Ord, and a year ago were joined by Ed. Franklin, formerly County Clerk at Los Angeles, who is their bookkeeper. Mr. Ord is a Boston man. Nearby is the property of Baille Davidson, a Canadian, and just beyond, on an extension of the Watson and Ord Claim, is the claim of C. R. Stephenson, formerly of Denver, one of the oldest mining men in the country. Stephenson was one of the hardy set that grew up with Denver and Cripple Creek with men like Moffat, only Moffat grew quicker than he did, and now he is pounding away in a corner of Mexico and expects to strike it rich. He came to Mexico seven years ago, and is now merely developing, but says he has the lead, and it is gold, too, just the stuff that will help Mexico to a point of independence, and incidentally himself as well.

D. B. Smith, of Hampson and Smith, the great railroad constructors, started this week for Tuxpan on the Pacific Coast, to push work on the Colima extension of the Mexican Central. He was accompanied by Mrs. Smith and the family. Mrs. Smith had never seen the eruption of Colima volcano, and took advantage of this opportunity to go with her husband to the construction camps for that purpose.

Mary E. Brooke, half owner and active partner in the Hays-Brooke group of gold mines in Sonora, eight miles east of the station of Cacitas, on the line of the Sonora railway, is in the city on business in connection with her property. She is a remarkable woman, a thorough miner, and who for years has been engaged in the State of Colorado in that line of business.

The following are California arrivals: J. R. Taylor and family, Charles St. Pierre, H. Lyons, Miss A. Stretton, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Works, Rockford; W. L. Durpell, Mrs. G. Lengstrut, M. C. St. Morris, Los Angeles.

THE OIL INDUSTRY

SALE OF PARK CRUDE OIL WELLS PENDING.

FRANKLIN REFINING COMPANY PROSPECTIVE PURCHASER.

Developments Planned for the Local Field—Successful Tests of Standard's Long Pipe Line—Wilson Oil Company Loses Suit—New Midway Leases.

Negotiations have practically been consummated by the New Franklin Oil and Refining Company for the purchase of valuable producing property in the local oil field. By the deal, which, it is expected, will be closed this week, the company hopes to acquire the producing wells and holdings of the Park Crude Oil Company.

This property is situated in the old Second Street Park tract, and consists of a large acreage and a dozen wells. The present production of the plant is close to 2000 barrels a month, and if taken over by the company it will be almost enough to feed the stills of the refinery.

The New Franklin has also acquired two lots in that vicinity, and is now making arrangements for their development. The intention is to begin the drilling of several new wells on the Park property as soon as it comes into its possession. The plant will be overhauled and improvements made that should increase the production to 3000 barrels a month.

SUCCESSFUL PIPE LINE TESTS.

Recent tests of the Standard's pipe line connecting the Kern River field with Point Richmond have been entirely successful. Water has been used in the tests, and it has flowed through the 300 miles of pipe without the slightest difficulty, the line standing the pressure perfectly throughout its entire length. The pumping of the heavier oil is another matter.

Within a month, according to present expectations, the thick oil will be flowing steadily through the pipe line to tide water. In the water tests, the pipe has been subject to a pressure of 1000 pounds to the inch, and, although no breaks have thus far been reported, it would not be surprising if later they should occasion some delay.

The speed at which the oil can be moved will not be determined except by actual transportation in the regular course of business. The oil will be heated, and it is expected will flow as easily as a lighter gravity product.

Oil men in all parts of the country are following the test with interest, as the line is the longest of the kind in the world.

DECIDES AGAINST WILSON.

Judge Mahon of Bakersfield has delivered a decision in the two cases brought by the Wilson Oil Company of this city against the Famosa Oil and Development Company and the Kern River Mutual Oil Company, finding for the defendants.

The Wilson Oil Company sued to recover possession of certain oil property in the Kern River field, from which it claimed it had been unlawfully ejected by the defendants. The defendants claimed the property under the terms of a twenty-year lease and showed to the satisfaction of the court that, contrary to the allegations of the plaintiff, they had fully complied with the terms and conditions.

The property in dispute is valued at something in the neighborhood of $2,000,000.

NEW MIDWAY LEASES.

Several important leases have been closed by the Oriental Oil Company, which has secured valuable property in the Midway district. It has obtained from the Midway Oil Company on a ten-year lease on a fifth royalty the following sections: Southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 3, 32, 23; southeast quarter of southwest quarter of section 5, 32, 22; northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 5, 32, 23; southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 5, 32, 23; northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 8, 23, 32.

TO DRILL AT CHULA VISTA.

Having secured from the San Diego Land and Town Company a twenty-year lease of lands in Chula Vista, the Chula Vista Oil Company announces that boring for oil will be commenced immediately. The old holes will be rimmed out and made deeper. The drilling will proceed to a depth of 1000 feet.

OIL IN NORTHWEST.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VICTORIA (B. C.) March 14.—Dispatches from Vancouver tell of the discovery of oil and coal in South Kootenai and of large areas being staked. It is learned that the land in question is held in reserve by the government and that no licenses will be granted.

ENABLES DEAF TO HEAR AND DUMB TO SPEAK.

REMARKABLE INVENTION OF A YOUNG ALABAMIAN.

By Means of Transmitter, an Ear Piece and Small Electric Battery Sound is Projected into Ear Stimulating the Auditory Nerve.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, March 14.—By means of an invention of Miller Reese Hutchinson, a young Alabamian, who was recently decorated by Queen Alexandra for his efforts in behalf of the deaf, three children, deaf, dumb and blind, have been enabled to hear a pianist play Sousa marches, a phonograph produce the sounds and the sounds of their own voices, uttering the words "mamma," "papa" and "hello" in quavering childish treble.

The experiments were made at the laboratory of Mr. Hutchinson, and were witnessed by many persons.

The invention consists, primarily, of a transmitter, an ear piece and a small electric battery. By means of these instruments, sound is projected into the ear in a manner to stimulate the auditory nerve. The volume of sound has nothing to do with the action of these instruments. The penetrating quality of the electric sound wave apparently disregards the mechanism of the outer ear, and affects the inner ear direct.

The first patient brought out to try the effects of the invention was Orris Benson, who is blind, deaf and dumb. A physician tried to make him hear in various ways, but all his efforts were vain. The little instrument was then clapped on the lad's ear, the current switched on, and Hutchinson said in an ordinary conversation "Papa." The youth worked his fingers rapidly in the sign language.

"He says he can hear something, but does not know what it is," remarked Prof. Van Tassell, who was in charge of the children. The current was made stronger. The youth's eyeballs were raised, and he smiled. Then he tried to repeat the syllables, and in a weird treble voice cried shrilly "Pah pah." Noticing that the patient was becoming quite excited over his novel experience, Hutchinson suggested that one of the girls be brought into the reception room.

She could not hear a sound, no matter how loud, but when she had the ear piece of the instrument fastened to her head, and the pianist at the end of the room began to play a Sousa march, her cheeks flushed, and her fingers beat time on a table.

Another girl, born blind, deaf and dumb, clapped her hands in ecstacy when she heard her own voice cry "mamma," and reached out wistfully toward the piano, when the musician stopped playing, and the new harmonies died out of her ear, but lingered vividly in her memory.

DIVERSION FOR BANKERS.

Abandon Money Changing for Winchesters and A-hunting Go for Two Shrewd Swindlers.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SALIDA (Colo.) March 14.—Employés of the First National and the Salida State banks of this city, armed with Winchesters, have been scouring the country around Salida for two men who successfully victimized the banks by means of forged checks, securing $3300 in cash.

Two checks for $2000 and $1300, bearing the names and indorsements of local business men, were presented to the banks, and on telephonic identification were paid. It develops that a confederate of the man who presented the checks at the banks had answered the calls on the telephone. When the deceit was discovered a posse of citizens and bank clerks, headed by the cashiers of the two banks, heavily armed and mounted, started in pursuit of the guilty men, and later returned with two men who gave their names as Mendenhall and McFarland. Mendenhall was subsequently released, McFarland being held as an accomplice.

PRECIOUS WORKS OF ART.

NEW YORK, March 14.—At the continuation of the sale of the art collections of the late Clarence King, William Fuller, Theodore G. Weil and H. V. Newcomb, large prices were paid for many pictures, $108,095 being realized, which, being added to the amount of the previous sale, $30,205, brings the total up to $138,300. Representatives of Senator Clark and J. P. Morgan are said to have secured several of the offerings.

CUBAN SUGAR FOR EUROPE.

HAVANA, March 14.—The sale of 3000 tons of raw sugar from the English market has been closed at 1.55 cents per pound. This was the first sale of sugar for Europe in twenty-five years with the exception of 5 per cent. out of the output which formerly went to Spain, but which ceased at the time of the war between Spain and the United States. This new Europaen demand is said to be due to poor crops in Europe, and to the abolition of the European bounties.

WOMEN ARE ESPECIALLY LIABLE TO COLDS

Colds Invariably Result In Catarrh, Which Sets Up a Host of Distressing Diseases.

Pe-ru-na Both Protects and Cures a Cold---Read Proof.

MISS ROSALIE VON STRUENNING

MISS ROSE GORDEN

Miss Rose Gorden, 2102, Oakland avenue, Oakland Heights, Madison, Wis., writes:

A few years ago I caught a severe cold, which resulted in chronic bronchitis and catarrh. Our family physician prescribed medicines which gave temporary relief only. I began taking Peruna and improved at once. Two bottles cured me. I recommend Peruna to all sufferers, and am most graeful to you for your valuable medicine."—Miss Rose Gorden.

Washington, D. C., 609 H St., N. W.

Dear Dr. Hartman—

"I used to think that the doctors knew all about our aches and pains and were the proper ones to consult when sick. But since I have been sick myself I certainly had good reason to change my mind. During the winter I caught a heavy cold which developed into catarrh of the bronchial tubes and an inflamed condition of the respiratory organs. The doctors were afraid that pneumonia would set in and prescribed pills, powders and packs until I sickened of the whole thing as I did not improve. One of the ladies in the Home had a bottle of Peruna and she advised me to try that. Shortly after I began using it I felt that I had found the right medicine. I used two bottles and they restored me easily and pleasantly to perfect health. While my stomach was very delicate Peruna did not nauseate me in the least, but gave me a good appetite, and I wish to express my gratitude to you for restored health."—Miss Rosalie Von Struenning.

CATCHING COLD

There is no fact of medical science better established than that a teaspoonful of Peruna before each meal during the winter season will absolutely protect a person from catching cold. Now if this is true (and there is no doubt of it,) thousands of lives would be saved, and tens of thousands of cases of chronic catarrh prevented, by this simple precaution within reach of every one.

After a cold has been contracted a teaspoonful of Peruna every hour will shortly cure it, leaving no trace of it behind. After chronic catarrh has become established, or the first stages of chronic bronchitis or consumption have been reached, it will take much longer to effect a cure.

It seems strange that as well known and well established as these facts are that any one should neglect to profit by them, and yet no doubt there are many who pay little or no attention to them, and go on catching cold, acquiring chronic catarrh, bronchitis and consumption.

Catarrh May Permeate the Whole System.

Mrs. Mary E. Sampson, West Derry, Rockingham county, N. H., writes:

"I had terrible headaches, both ears run and I was nervous all the time, also had trouble each month, was deaf in one ear for thirty years. I took six bottles of Peruna and one of Manalin and am happy to say that it is the best merdicine that I ever used. I am not so nervous, my appetite is good, everything I eat agrees with me, and I am feeling better in every way. I think Peruna is a Godsend to women and a blessing to suffering humanity."—Mary E. Sampson.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

DIVED UNDER THE WHEELS.

Shocking Suicide on the Santa Monica Car Line.

W. C. Eaton Quickly Ground into Unrecognizable Mass.

Deliberate and Sudden Action Makes Prevention of Tragedy Impossible.

Deliberately and with such judgment as to render his act entirely successful, a well-dressed man of fifty—probably W. C. Eaton, according to a slip of paper on his person—threw himself in front of an incoming Santa Monica car on Sixteenth street near Western avenue at 9 o'clock last night, and was crushed and mangled into an unrecognizable mass of blood, bones and flesh.

If he had wished to destroy his identity entirely he could have succeeded no more thoroughly. But for the clothes and two hands, almost the only part of him that hadn't been converted into bloody pulp, one wouldn't have thought the remains were those of a human being.

Just before the car reached Western avenue Motorman H. E. Scott saw a man walking between the two tracks about 125 yards ahead in the direction of town. As the car bore down on him the motorman rang the bell and the man turned and half staggered away from the rails.

When the car was thirty feet away the man turned from his course away from the rails and dived in front of the fender.

The motorman caught a fleeting glance of him; knew that a human body was about to be ground under the wheels, but when he realized it the forward truck jarred and bumped. In the same instant the motorman applied the air brake and then the rear truck crunched and bumped. The car was stopped within fifty feet.

Along the rails for a cars length were spattered the remains of the suicide. Brains, blood, bone and bits of flesh were strewn between the rails, and fragments of the skull were found well away from the track. A strong odor of whisky permeated the air from the flesh mashed in the bag of clothes.

In a pocket of the coat were found several pairs of new socks, and in the trousers pocket was $5.20. There was nothing which might furnish identification save a slip of paper, which had evidently been given the man as a receipt for a watch, probably left to be mended. This bore the name of the jeweler, J. W. Fuller, No. 315 North Main street. On the same slip was the name, W. C. Eaton, probably that of the dead man. There is no W. C. Eaton in the City Directory.

The remains were gathered into a box and taken to Peck & Chase's morgue.

TRAFFIC AGENTS GUESTS OF PACIFIC ELECTRIC.

ENTERTAINMENT AND BANQUET ENJOYED AT LONG BEACH.

Large Party Goes to Seaside on Special Car by Moonlight—Ochiltree Unanimously Chosen to Succeed White as Chairman of the District.

The sixth regular meeting of district No. 3 of the Pacific Coast Traffic Association of Traffic Agents last evening was made the occasion for right royal entertainment of the railroad men by the Pacific Electric Company.

About sixty jovial spirits of the transportation world participated in the festivities. Aboard a special car the party went to Long Beach, leaving at 8:15, and returning at 11 o'clock p.m.

On arrival at the seaside the regular meeting was called in the bath-house, and the resignation of Charles H. White, chief clerk of the passenger department of the Southern Pacific, as chairman of district No. 3, was presented and accepted. Mr. White resigns to accept the higher honor of becoming secretary and treasurer of the general association, to which office he was elected at the meeting in Ashland, Or., February 21.

There was marked unanimity in the choice of the successor of Mr. White as chairman of No. 3. George B. Ochiltree, district freight agent of the Southern Pacific, was nominated, and on motion it was unanimously ordered that the secretary cast the ballot straight for him.

The traffic agents then turned to recreation, and spent an hour swimming and bowling, after which they sat down to a sumptuous banquet. On rising the aggregation marched in a body to the pavilion, where they enjoyed the dance. The excursion was in charge of H. F. Gentry, general passenger agent on behalf of the Pacific Electric Company. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Gentry and the company for the pleasant evening.

In the party were C. H. White, G. B. Ochiltree, N. R. Martin, H. E. Montague, R. A. Theilan, F. McGinnis, Leo L. Gibson, Allen Dodd, M. C. Abger, L. M. McLaughlin, Ben Pitman, W. Neimeyer, G. L. Travis of Pomona, F. M. Frye of San Diego, W. E. Benedict of San Francisco, Southern Pacific; F. J. Hyde, Don Fisher, H. E. Cole, Santa Fé; B. F. Coons, W. E. Fessenden, C. E. Smith, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; T. F. Fitzgerald, T. L. Rice, J. W. Walters, Texas Pacific; F. S. McCormick, C. E. Eccleston, F. M. Van Horn, Union Pacific; W. W. Elliott, A. M. Shook, Burlington route; Timothy Mee, George W. Bleck, Denver and Rio Grande; H. F. Gentry, F. Van Vracken, H. F. Stewart, L. R. Noble, Pacific Electric; Clarence Haydock, R. W. Clark, Illinois Central; W. D. Campbell, Chicago and Northwestern; W. H. Bullen, Grand Trunk; Malone Joyce, Colorado Midland; P. L. Sinclair of Seattle, Lehigh Valley; Jay W. Adams of San Francisco, Nickel Plate; Frank A. Valentine of San Francisco, Canadian Pacific; A. P. Massey of Boston, Boston and Maine; C. E. Johnson, Northern Pacific; C. O. Edwards, 'Frisco system; C. A. Hubert, San Diego and Otay; R. R. Foster, Frank Barnes and M. C. Fisher.

SAN PEDRO.

DEAD MAN IDENTIFIED.

SAN PEDRO, March 14.—At the Coroner's inquest today, the man whose body was found on the beach just north of Portuguese Bend, yesterday morning, was proved to be Patrick Farrell, a native of Dublin, Ireland, who came to San Pedro several weeks ago as second mate of the schooner Eva.

Farrell had been drinking heavily since his arrival here, and of late had shown signs of insanity. The belief is that he was drowned while swimming, and the verdict of the jury was to the effect that he came to his death by accidental drowning. There were no marks of violence on the body, and he had evidently been dead only a few hours when the corpse was found by a fisherman named Adams.

People here who were acquainted with Farrell say he was mentally unbalanced, they having observed him on several occasions when he imagined he was conversing with the moon. Farrell yas 25 years of age. He was a member of the Coast Seamen's Union, and will be buried by that organization.

TROLLEY IN OPERATION.

Electric cars over the new California-Pacific (the Hook) line commenced to run between this city and Los Angeles early this morning, and continued hourly until 6 o'clock this evening. The cars are large, new ones, and have been making the run in less than fifty minutes, which is considered excellent service, in view of the fact that the tracks are yet rough and the rolling stock has not had an opportunity to limber up. It is stated that there will be no service at night for a week or ten days. The railway company is employing Edison electric power, and at present that concern is not prepared to furnish the necessary voltage after the lights are turned on in Los Angeles.

DREDGING OPERATIONS.

Preparations are being made to remove "Olympian," the large suction dredger employed in deepening the inner harbor, from the mouth of the channel to a point near the Southern Pacific wharf depot. It is believed that the work of deepening the harbor can be prosecuted with greater rapidity by so doing, the intention being to work up to the channel's entrance. Since operations commenced a few weeks ago, the work has been badly handicapped, on account of the dredger's inability to remove the large rocks that are strewn along the bottom of the harbor entrance. There are no obstacles to hinder the work further up the channel, the bottom being almost entirely composed of loose sand.

SEAPORT NOTES.

The Seaside Water Company is sinking another well north of Wilmington, the water from which is to be piped to this city for domestic and other uses. The pipe used is fourteen inches in diameter, and the well is now down 210 feet. It is the company's intention to commence the construction of its new distributing plant and reservoir in San Pedro at once.

Members of the San Pedro aerie of Eagles will attend a "smoker," to be given by the Los Angeles aerie in Elks' Hall, Monday night. A special train will take the party to and from Los Angeles.

A. Holmes, superintendent of the Inca Mining Company of Peru, S. A., is visiting in this city.

D. R. Clay has purchased, through McDermott & Juinn, 60x100 feet at Tenth and Beacon streets, with two-story frame building; consideration named, $5250. Tilton & Kelly have purchased, through the same firm, the 60x100 feet on the southwest corner of Twenty-first street and Crescent avenue; consideration named, $2500. J. S. Scully of Pittsburgh, Pa., has purchased, through the same firm, 45x100 feet on the northwest corner of Sixth and Palos Verdes streets; consideration named, $5000.

A DUTCH DIVIDEND.

Three years ago, when the Nome boom in Alaska was at its height, there was established in Los Angeles a company known as the Nome Los Angeles Mining Company. It was soon found that misrepresentations had been made to the company by those from whom it had acquired its property. This, and an epidemic of claim jumping, brought the affairs of the company to a crisis, and George W. Parsons of this city was sent up to Alaska to try to save something from the wreck. As a result of these efforts, the company has just paid to its stockholders a second dividend of 2½ per cent., making a total of 15½ per cent. on cash subscriptions to the stock. Nothing has been paid to the president, secretary or directors for their services, and nothing whatever to any one as commission. This sets a good example to other mining companies who meet with misfortune, which they might do well to imitate.

DIED IN SALOON.

An unknown man of about 32, apparently a hobo and dope fiend, dropped dead in the California saloon at No. 106 North Main street at 9 o'clock last night. The cause of death is supposed to be heart failure. Coroner Trout ordered the body removed to Pierce Bros.' morgue.

FIRE DESTROYED DWELLING.

The one-story frame dwelling at No. 2326 East Eighth street, owned and occupied by A. Delucca, was destroyed by fire at 8 o'clock last night. The fire was caused by the explosion of a gasoline stove. The loss on the building and contents was $1000, with $500 insurance.

QUEER DISGUISED TRIO ROBS CAR CONDUCTOR.

THREE highwaymen wearing white handkerchiefs with eye holes cut in them and each with a good grip on a revolver, held up the train crew of car No. 221 on the Central-avenue line at the city limits at 12:20 o'clock this morning, and robbed Conductor Phelps of $35.

The car had just arrived at the Central-avenue terminus and Phelps was on the point of stepping to the telephone to report to the dispatcher, when the three desperadoes bobbed up.

One robber thrust a revolver into the motorman's face and told him to be quiet. The other two confronted Phelps and ordered "hands up!" He complied readily, and one of the two went through his pockets. They were not curious about the money in the motorman's pockets, so he was allowed to retain it.

It was rather a peculiar trio of desperadoes in that each wore an oil slicked buttoned up to his ears. After taking the conductor's money they ordered the motorman to start the car toward town. On the way in the crew of the first car met was told the hold-up story and then a report was made to police headquarters.

Several officers were dispatched immediately to the scene, but were unable to find anyone resembling a highwayman.

The Fear of Humbug

Prevents Many People from Trying a Good Medicine.

Stomach troubles are so common and in most cases so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pride themselves on their acuteness in never being humbugged, especially in medicines.

This fear of being humbugged can be carried too far, so far, in fact, that many people suffer for years with weak digestion rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims made of a preparation so reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine, no secret is made of their ingredients, but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure aseptic pepsin, the digestive acids, Golden Seal, bismuth, hydrastis and nux. They are not cathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any organ, but they cure indigestion on the common sense plan of digesting the food eaten thoroughly before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure indigestion and stomach troubles because they act entirely on the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after meals digest the food. That is all there is to it. Food not digested or half digested is poison, as it creates gas, acidity, headaches, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and appetite and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

They are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package.

MRS. HULL A WITNESS AT BURDICK INQUEST.

FIRE OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY DOES NOT CONFUSE HER.

Family Physician Was Anxious to Have Dr. Howland Declare it a Case of Suicide, but the Latter Found it Impossible.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BUFFALO (N. Y.) March 14.—Four witnesses were examined today, at the opening of the inquest into the death of Edwin L. Burdick. They were Dr. Howland, expert medical examiner, who was one of the first three to see the body of Burdick on the morning after the murder; Detective Holmgund, one of the headquarters men who visited the house on the same morning of the murder, and Maria Hull, Burdick's mother-in-law, and Maggie Murray, cook in the Burdick household, the two women who discovered Burdick lying dead in his den.

The most important witness was Mrs. Hull. She is a little woman with a nervous but resolute face, blue eyes and gray hair. She was dressed in black and wore a long mourning veil, fastened well back from her forehead. Although she is 64 years of age, she stood two hours under severe examination by Mr. Coatsworth with remarkable coolness. Her answers were given in a calm tone, excepting now and then, when her voice took on a peculiar ring. She took smelling salts occasionally, but never became confused.

Only one witness at a time was admitted into the courtroom.

Dr. Howland, assistant medical examiner, was the first witness. He handed to Judge Murphy the report of the medical examiner on the death of Burdick, which stated the cause of the death.

"Under the law we are compelled to hold this inquest," said Judge Murphy. "We charge no one with this crime. The purpose of this investigation is to lay this crime, if possible, at the door of someone."

Dr. Howland was examined by Dist.-Atty. Coatsworth. He said he had been summoned to the Burdick home by telephone on the morning of February 27. Dr. W. H. Marcy met him at the door and told him "that something had been going on there, and that Mr. Burdick was dead."

"I am not sure," continued Dr. Howland, "but I think he told me that he was not certain whether it was murder or suicide. He asked me to make it out as a case of suicide if possible, as there had been a good deal of gossip in the neighborhood respecting the relations existing between Mr. and Mrs. Burdick."

The witness said he then examined the body and told Dr. Marcy that it was impossible to entertain the suicide theory, for a minute. Asked to what further conversation he had with Dr. Marcy, the witness said the former told him of the divorce proceedings in the Burdick family.

Dr. Howland stated that he found a tuft of hair on the couch. He was of the opinion that it was longer than Burdick's hair. From the condition of the body he was of the opinion that Burdick was killed about 2 o'clock. This is regarded as important, as it would tend to nullify the statements made to the District Attorney by Officers Meyer and Reid regarding the "lone woman."

In reply to another question, an affirmative answer to which would have shown that a woman had been in the room, the doctor gave a negative reply.

Detective Holmgund described the scenes in the den, and related the conversation he had with one of the maids. The witness also had a talk with Dr. Marcy. The doctor, he said, gave him the impression that he wanted the matter kept secret.

Mrs. Hull, mother of Mrs. Burdick, was the next witness. She said that her daughter was at Atlantic City on the night of the murder. Mrs. Burdick was last at home on December 3 of last year, and left on that date for Niagara Falls, from where she went to New York. After the murder the witness telegraphed her daughter: "Come home; Mr. Burdick is dead."

At one point of the examination Mr. Coatsworth handed Mrs. Hull a photograph of the den, with the body of the murdered man lying on the couch covered as Dr. Marcy had found it. Mrs. Hull took the photograph without so much as the trembling of her hands, and looked at it intently and calmly. Then she discussed the picture, and pointed out the familiar objects.

Mr. Coatsworth's examination was conducted all through with the evident purpose of breaking down the witness. He kept the photograph before her for many minutes.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

The following marriage licenses were issued yesterday from the office of the County Clerk:

WESTERN UNION CODE 1901 EDITION

Los Angeles, Cal. March 15, 1903.

To Real Estate Investors:

The statement that all roads lead to Los Angeles, even if not literally true, shows the trend of travel in this direction. That Southern California is the world's greatest Mecca for tourists just now cannot be successfully disputed--and many of the visitors will become permanent residents. Others will return to their Eastern homes to come back to California next year for good.

People from the four corners of the earth are beginning to hear of our glorious climate, and of the wonderful possibilities of this old-new Eldorado; where the hand of nature rewards human efforts to a greater degree than in any other portion of the world; where eternal spring reigns, and where health and happiness are chronic the year 'round.

New hotels in course of erection and others being projected--here and in our sister city, Pasadena, where a new hostelry that will rival the Maryland in size and beauty is soon to be built. Even in this city of hotels, hundreds of visitors were put to serious inconvenience the past week, owing to lack of accommodations.

WITHIN THE CITY'S GATES.

Notable people from a number of Eastern States are here. Dr. Seward Webb, the New York Central and Rock Island Railway magnate, is sojourning at Pasadena--while John D. Rockefeller is dividing his time between playing golf and sizing up the derricks around the oil fields.

Commodore Mills of the Detroit (Mich.) Yacht Club, with Mrs. Mills, were guests at the Angelus last week, as was Ella Wheeler Wilcox, the noted writer.

Another railway man of importance is J. C. Stubbs, third vice-president of the Southern Pacific system, who is vacationing in Pasadena.

But Los Angeles has her magnates, too. One is the street railway magnate--Mr. Huntington. Says the local press, several more barrels of Huntington money is soon to be spent in extending Los Angeles electric railway lines and building new car shops.

This means that men of foresight see the future of our fair city. How many of you are sleeping over opportunities that you will regret hereafter? Awake! Look around you for profitable investments. You can hardly make a mistake, except by waiting. Let us help you.

Very cordially yours,

Erkenbrecher Syndicate (Ltd.)

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, March 14.—The market waited for the appearance of the bank statement today to show any clearly defined sentiment. Traders on the floor bid up prices smartly immediately upon the appearance of the statement on the tape, but no response was received from any outside quarter and the market closed dull and easier, with the momentary demand exhausted. It was only by reducing loans to the extent of over $15,000,000 and lessening the legal reserve requirement in proportion that the banks were able to prevent a deep inroad upon the legal reserve. It shows a surplus of barely a million still maintained. The statement conformed pretty closely to expectations as the cessation of calling of banks by the latter part of the week indicated that the losses of reserves had been made good by the loan contraction already effected. There was another deposit of $200,000 at the sub-treasury this morning for transfer to New Orleans. The week's imports of merchandise at New York were valued at $15,063,664, an increase over the previous week of $2,818,784, which shows the continued heavy requirements for customs payments. Today's large sub-treasury debit at the clearinghouse was due to the payment of an old Connecticut war claim. These are not hopeful symptoms for next week's influences upon the banking reserves. The disbursement on Monday of the $20,000,000 Standard Oil dividend is of better augury, but there has been an opportunity to anticipate this benefit which is not likely to have been neglected. A drop of 3¾ in Consolidated Gas and of 5 in Brooklyn Union Gas was due to the recommendation for a municipal street lighting plant for New York. Metropolitan Street Railway scored a sharp recovery on … to offer to submit its books for inspection in connection with charges of irregular accounting.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK.

The stock market has been feverish and unsettled in tone during the whole of this week. The fluctuations were wide and varying, but the price level settled down toward the end of the week to near last week's closing level and became difficult to move, while the volume of dealings shrank to small proportions. The covering operations of a large bear element played an important part in this net result, as there was a large and important liquidation effected and a number of unfavorable factors to contend with as well. The practical wiping out of the surplus reserve of the banks by last Saturday's bank statement brought heavy selling orders into the market as a matter of course, but the demand from shorts was very large, and Monday saw an actual recovery in the market. The stringency of the market here attracted large offerings of money from outside sources. There was a break in foreign exchange rates and foreign banking houses were large lenders in New York while New York exchange at Chicago jumped up to par and western banks placed funds in Wall street. The effect has been an equalizing of the money pressure, the relief in New York being offset … of money rates at interior points in this country and in the foreign money markets under the influence of New York's requirements. The drop in British consols to the lowest points in years was attributed to this money pressure in part, but the com… in their interest rate from 1⅛ to 1½ per cent., was an additional factor. Besides the additional offering of money attracted by the higher interest rate, there has been no betterment of the money situation here. The sub-treasury has continued to withdraw funds largely from New York money market. While the money scare was in force a report got abroad that the treasury department would draw on government deposits at the banks to meet the Panama Canal Company payment.

The presence in Wall street of the Secretary of the Treasury had a reassuring effect in its evidence of his special watchfulness of the situation, although his decision was against the necessity of any measures by the department to relieve the money market. It is recognized that some withdrawal of government deposits with the banks may be made necessary by the Panama canal payments. Unless the treasury itself is in abundant funds at the time, and any release of funds at this time will hamper the treasury in carrying through the operation without disturbance. So far as these payments are made by drafts on funds in the treasury itself it is clear that they will operate to release funds rather than to withdraw them. As to the effect of this operation of foreign exchange, there is the hope that its proceeds will be available for lending here, although this would be in effect for the account of the foreign recipients of the payments. It is generally supposed that some part of the recent heavy withdrawals of cash from the New York banks is being made by the New York trust companies to replenish their reserves in compliance with the new rule of the clearinghouse. The heavy exports of money revealed by the eFbruary foreign-trade settlement and the large reserves of corn in farmers' hands indicated by the government crop report, gives promise of the making of a good supply of exchange to meet the maturing indebtedness to foreign lenders.

An important influence in the week's speculation was the contest regarding the financial policy of the Southern Pacific, between the Harriman or Union Pacific control of that company, and a minority interest presented by the holdings of a speculative pool under the management of James R. Keene. The various developments in this contest have been accompanied by violent price movements and enormous speculative dealings in both Southern Pacific and Union aPcific, with important sympathetic effect on the whole market. Published charges of irregular accounting, although met by emphatic official denials, had a weakening tendency upon Metropolitan Street Railway. The dissension among stockholders of American Ice and the slump in the company's stocks was another disturbing influence.

A feature of the present market is the wide declines made from previous prices by high-priced inactive stocks which were forced to be marketed by the money stringency. Amalgamated Copper has been a subject of furious speculation based on the excited advance in the price of copper, both here and in London.

BOND MARKET.

The bond market has moved with sympathy with stocks. United States old fours, the fives and the threes, advanced ¼ and the three coupons and new fours, ½ per cent. The twos, registered, declined ¼c as compared with the closing call of last week. Government bonds closed: Refunding 2s, registered, 107½; do. coupon, 107⅝; 3s, regular, 107¼; do. coupon, 108; new 4s, regular, 134; coupon, 136; old 4s, regular, 108½; do. coupon, 109½; 5s, regular, and coupon, 103.

Financial Review.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The Financier this week says: "The official statement of the New York Associated Banks for last week showed a reduction in loans and consequently in deposits sufficient in amount to diminish the required reserve of cash against net deposits by a sum slightly in excess of the loss of cash, hence the surplus reserve showed a trifling improvement instead of having been wiped out as seemed probable early in the week. The loans were reduced $15,092,900, making $25,655,900 since the week ending February 28. The cash reserve decreased last week $4,761,400, which amount was a little more than the sum indicated by the traceable movements of money, these estimates showing a loss of $3,643,300. Deposits fell off last week $20,477,700, a reduction since February 21, of $47,057,230. The required reserve was diminished last week $5,114,425, by the decrease in deposits of $357,025 more than the $4,702,400 loss of cash as above stated, representing the increase in surplus reserve and making this item $1,024,000. Computed upon the basis of deposits, less $40,185,400 of those of the government, the surplus reserve is $1,070,250. The statement was probably made on rising averages for cash, and, therefore, the condition of the banks was most likely somewhat better in bank conditions can reasonably be looked for while the subtreasury continues so greatly to absorb money from the local banks through fiscal operations. Of the reduction of $23,542,700 in the bank cash since February 14, which has been the chief factor in the increase of $14,862,700 in surplus reserve in this interval, by far the largest part of the loss has been due to payment for customs. The disbursements for pensions are expected to be large during the current week, and for the remainder of the month, and this will tend to lessen the net loss to the banks on government operations. Still the treasury must, it would seem, absorb cash from the banks to the amount sufficient to more than offset the gain to these institutions, through the interior bank movement. The recovery in surplus reserve from its present low point, therefore, probably will be slow. That the banks have the situation under control would seem to be shown by the statement of last week, the institutions, in anticipation of the inevitable loss of cash, sharply contracting their loans and thereby they prevented the extinguishment of a surplus which might sentimentally, at least, have had a disturbing effect upon the money market. The statement shows that loans are $8,238,400 in excess of deposits; in the previous week this excess was $2,953,606."

GENERAL EASTERN MARKETS

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, March 14.—There was a moderate trade in wheat but the market lacked any distinctive features. May opened unchanged to ⅛c higher at 74⅝@74¾ on a good demand from locals, the early buying being due to rumors of colder weather and to the growing impression that the market was being manipulated by a prominent concern. After a small advance the market reacted on lack of support, May selling off to 74½. The strength at St. Louis started shorts to covering, and there was also some stuff taken for long account, and under these influences the price rallied to 75. Toward the end general liquidation set in and prices broke to 74¼. The close was ⅛@¼c lower at 74⅜@74½.

Corn ruled weak throughout the entire session on quite general realizing and the break in wheat added to the weakness. May closed ⅝c lower at 46⅞, after selling between 46⅝ and 47½@47⅝.

Oats were a shade higher at the start, but heavy selling by commission houses tended to weaken the market and later the decline received additional impetus from the weakness in corn. May closed ⅛@¼c lower at 34⅝@34½.

There was only a small trade in provisions. The decline in grains was responsible for much of the weaker tendency. May pork closed 2½c lower, lard was off 5c and ribs unchanged.

The leading futures closed as follows:

Charges Against Attorney.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Serious charges have been filed with the President against a practicing attorney-at-law, who formerly was an employé of the Postoffice Department, but they are of such a nature that at this time they cannot be discussed. It is understood that the burden of the charges is that the former received large sums of money from the turf-investment companies for preparing an opinion declaring the statement of such investment companies to be legitimate and for a promise of protection to be given to the companies by officials. When the matter was brought to the President's attention he regarded it as so serious that he ordered a sweeping investigation to be made. The President has directed that no means be left untried to develop the facts and to punish the guilty, if the guilt of any official shall be shown by the investigation.

Saws Are Buzzing! Hammers Are Clanging!

Nails are being driven and the sound of progress prevails. Our beautiful building sites are unequaled. They are destined to have the costly residences of millionaires built thereon. Witness "Nob Hill" at San Francisco, for example. Once upon a time lots could be bought there for a nominal sum, which today are worth many thousands of dollars.

Three Electric Lines Now Run Through the Pasadena Villa Tract

1. The Pasadena "Short Line"
2. The "Alhambra" Line
3. The "Morovia" Line

Rapid Transit
Broad Gauge
Double Track

Work has been commenced on the beautiful seven-room "Old Mission" style residence on hill overlooking the electric line. Others will rapidly follow. Our building sites are unequaled. Three electric car lines now running through the Pasadena Villa Tract, and two more under way. Only 15 minutes from business center of Los Angeles.

This seven-room house will be completed within sixty days at Pasadena Villa Tract. Preston & Seeborn, architects, room 308 Henne Block, Los Angeles, Cal.

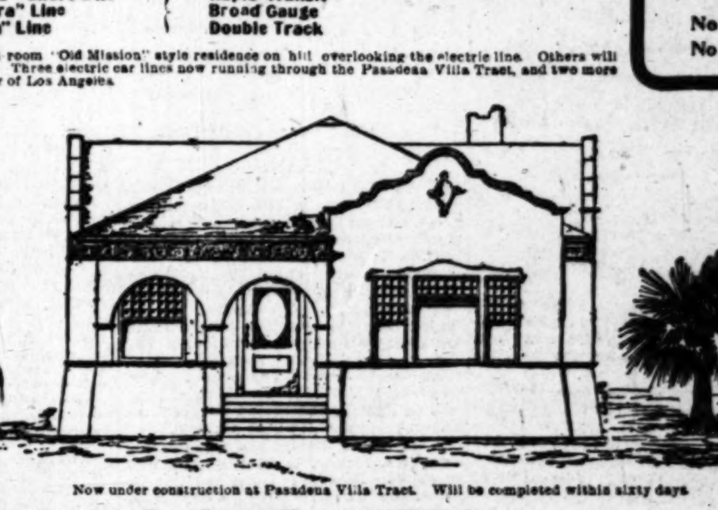
Pasadena Villa Tract.

The Coming Suburb of Los Angeles.

We Received $33,447.12 on January 17.

H. E. Huntington, Esq., paid us $15,534.87 and Ralph Rogers, the wide-awake real estate dealer, paid up $17,912.25 for their purchases in our 891 acres of land.

The title to the Pasadena Villa Tract is guaranteed perfect by the Title Insurance and Trust Co., in an unlimited certificate of title.



Now under construction at Pasadena Villa Tract. Will be completed within sixty days.

25 Per Cent. Guaranteed Increase . . . READ OUR GUARANTEES:

For $4.00 down and $4.00 per month until paid for, we will sell you a regular PASADENA VILLA TRACT LOT, full size, 50x150 ft., facing on 80-ft. avenue, subject to the following guarantees from us: If, at the expiration of one year from purchase, this $70 lot is not worth $87.50—or 25 per cent. increase—based on the price at which our corps of salesmen will then be selling similar lots, we will refund all the money you have paid us with 6 per cent. interest additional. If you should die at any time before payments have been completed, we will give to your heirs a deed of the lot without further cost. If you should lose employment or be sick you will not forfeit the land.

Our property is located immediately adjoining the city limits of Los Angeles. It is, therefore, a very significant fact when Mr. Sage says: "Buy real estate, especially acerage property in the outlying boroughs." Think of it! The PASADENA VILLA TRACT is only 15 minutes' ride by electric car to the business center of Los Angeles. Two electric car lines now running through the tract, and three more under way.

OUR GUARANTEE—Remember your purchase is made with the distinct understanding that we will refund all money paid us, with 6 per cent. interest added, if, after visiting Los Angeles within one year, it is found that we have misrepresented our proposition in the slightest particular. You will therefore run no risk whatever in sending us first payment to secure earliest selection and share from the start the increase in value.

Our Restrictions Are: No Saloons, No Shanties, No Factories.

Purchasers are not required to build, but if they do they must erect attractive looking houses, there being no "dollar" limit.

IF RUSSEL SAGE TOLD YOU

That you could make a fortune in suburban real estate (especially when it costs you only $4 down and $4 per month) wouldn't you be impressed? Well, listen! That is just what Mr. Sage did say in the New York World of September 28, 1902.

"Young man, buy real estate, especially acre property in the outlying boroughs, and then work hard at your usual vocation. Your real estate purchases will make your old age comfortable. RUSSELL SAGE."

PERSONAL.

Albert F. Crank left yesterday for a several weeks' visit in Mexico City.

Mrs. James R. Best and two daughters leave today for their homes in Portland, Or. They will sail from San Francisco on the steamer State of California.

James F. Keith, a Councilman of Beaumont, Tex., head of the Keith Lumber Company, and a wealthy oil man, is staying with his family at the Palms.

Edward C. Perkins, a mining expert of Boston, is registered at the Angelus.

J. R. Leonard, a mining man of Octavia, Ariz., and H. Heasley, a mining man from Pittsburgh, Pa., are staying at the Van Nuys.

M. C. Healion, president of the San Deigo Water Company is at the Van Nuys.

D. C. Heath, head of the Heath Publishing Company, Boston, is a guest at the Melrose.

Samuel F. Beardsley, a capitalist of Bridgeport, Ct., is visiting at the Angelus with his family.

POPULATION OF CHINA.

PEKING, March 14.—The board of revenue has completed the census of China, showing it to have a population of 426,447,000. The numbers of inhabitants in Manchuria, Mongolia, Thibet and Turkestan were only estimated.

BIG DAMAGE SUITS FINALLY COMPROMISED.

SANTA FE PAYS FOR COLLISION AT SAN BERNARDINO.

Charles F. Green Secures Twenty-five Hundred Dollars for Death of His Wife—Work to Be Pushed on New Trolley Line.

SAN BERNARDINO, March 14.—The big damage suits of Charles F. Green and Betsey Warren against the Santa Fé company have been compromised, Green accepting $2500 and Mrs. Warren $1500.

In March, 1899, a Santa Fé passenger train ran into a buggy in which were seated Mrs. Charles Green and her mother, Mrs. Warren, at the crossing on lower C street. Mrs. Green was killed and Mrs. Warren badly injured as a result of the accident.

Damage suits were instituted, and the cases were appealed to the Supreme Court, where Green was awarded $10,000 damages and Mrs. Warren $5000. A motion was subsequently granted to have the case reopened, and this was the status of affairs when the compromise was effected.

ANOTHER TROLLEY.

The San Bernardino Valley Traction Company will begin work Monday on the new branch line to Highland, following the route of the old motor line to Harlem Springs. The large stable building at Seventh and A streets will be used as the base of operations and supply center. It is hoped to have the new line completed not later than July 1. The generous patronage accorded the new trolley line to Redlands stimulates the company to get the proposed new line to Highland in running order in the shortest possible space of time.

ANSWER FILED.

The Traction company has filed an answer to the complaint in the $20,000 damage suit brought by Texas M. Paine and sister, Muriel Paine, for alleged damages sustained several months ago, as the result of a collision on Third street, betwen a trolley car and the buggy in which the women were driving. The answer denies that the women were injured as the result of carelessness on the part of the company's employés, and alleges on the other hand that the women were negligent and extremely careless.

BERDOO BRIEFS.

The W. H. Orr Company, whose principal business will be mining, filed articles of incorporation yesterday. The capital stock is fixed at $25,000, of which the modest sum of $25 has been subscribed. The directors are W. H. Orr, Thomas E. Collins, Val A. Deasy, F. L. Hall, San Francisco; Alex Murdock, Oakland.

The women of the Congregational Church tendered a reception last evening to the new pastor, Rev. E. K. Holden, and Mrs. Holden. The evening proved to be one of the happiest church gatherings ever held here.

The Central drug store of this city has filed articles of incorporation. It is capitalized at $25,000, of which $50 has been subscribed. The directors are Christine S. Chestnut, Chales S. Chestnut, G. A. Tyree, E. L. Hill, Redlands; G. S. Gardner, San Bernardino.

REDLANDS.

ALLEGED LIQUOR SELLER.

REDLANDS, March 14.—R. B. Meeks was again arrested yesterday afternoon by City Marshal Wallace, charged with the illegal selling of liquor. Meeks has just been convicted and sentenced under a similar charge.

Mrs. George M. Pullman and party visited Redlands yesterday in her private car "Monitor." Carriages were waiting to take the party over the Heights and about the city.

The Santa Fé crossing on Orange street seems to be the most dangerous point in the city. Twice in one day teams were caught there by the regular train when the gates had been lifted after the passing of a special. R. C. Cunningham's team of mules very narrowly escaped as they were shut in by the gates, when the gatekeeper noticed the regular pulling in just after the special had gone. Yesterday morning one of the gates in descending struck the top of a wagon, splintering the gate and tearing it from its fastenings.

Hon. J. H. Smith of Ukiah, the Sheriff of Mendocino county, and his wife are guests of Mrs. C. V. Reeves.

E. F. Knowles of Globe, Ariz., arrived yesterday to visit A. G. Dickson.

Dr. and Miss J. W. Coolidge have returned to their home in Scranton, Pa., after a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. A. Holgate.

A party of eight consisting of Mrs. T. T. Kinney and family and two maids have arrived in their private car, "The Grassmere," from Newark, N. J. They will spend several days enjoying the beauties of Redlands before continuing their tour through the principal California cities.

Clear sky at Coronado yesterday.

LONG ROLL OF BOULDER.

Tears Down Biler's Canyon, Wrecks House and Jars Man.

CORONA, March 14.—With the velocity of a half-spent cannon ball, and gaining momentum in every foot, a boulder weighing a quarter of a ton shot through Biler's Cañon yesterday and played smash after bounding and tearing down a quarter of a mile.

The rolling stone, which was loosened by excavations for a pipe line, and by the rains, hit the window of Samuel Biler's cabin as accurately as though fired by one of Uncle Sam's crack gunners.

Inside the house there was "something doing." The "niggerhead" crashed through the floor and sent the boards and the furniture flying in kindling wood. So hard was the jar that Biler's brother, who was in the cabin, was knocked senseless and did not regain consciousness for some time. Demolished furniture is the principal item of damage.

UPLAND.

POPULAR LIGHT SUBSCRIPTION.

UPLAND, March 14.—The residents of unincorporated Upland, by popular subscription have just raised funds for putting in electric street lights. The Ontario Power Company furnished lights for the main business street for one month, free of charge, during which time the question of providing for their continuance was brought before the people. The work of permanent installation commenced last Thursday. All the principal streets will be lighted, and Euclid avenue from Eleventh street down to Ontario.

A. T. Steese died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. D. Mahaffy, Sunday morning. Deceased came to Upland December 24, with his wife, from Dauphin, Pa. For twenty-five years he had been employed in the railway mail service, running from Washington to Baltimore.

About twenty-five Uplanders will go to Riverside Monday for the purpose of visiting lemon ranches and investigating the merits of the lath cover as a protection from frosts.

Walter Hathaway has sold his bicycle business to S. W. Carpenter of Riverside and A. Singer.

Heliotrope Rebekah Lodge of Pomona visited Silver Link Rebekah Lodge here last evening, and initiated seven new members, after which an elaborate supper was served.

Rev. C. M. Howard, who came here for his health about eighteen months ago, is in a critical condition.

Mrs. A. H. Konbeacher arrived from Phoenix, Ariz., Friday for an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. G. P. Sherwood.

LOMA LINDA.

SPRING GUESTS.

LOMA LINDA, March 14.—Miss Gertrude A. Bennett and E. E. Bennett, Pittsburg; O. Gray, Santa Monica; Mrs. Melville M. Johnston, Miss Johnston, New York; Miss A. K. Parsons, Los Angeles; Harvey Hall, San Francisco; C. H. White, Mrs. C. H. White, A. Herman and wife, Dr. J. E. Cowles, Mrs. J. E. Cowles, Mrs. Willett Dorland, Mrs. R. Wernigk, Los Angeles; Dr. J. H. Lindley and wife, Minneapolis; Mrs. Annie Coffman, Mrs. Milton Donley, Dr. Ralph Hagan and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dow, Mrs. W. M. Carpenter, Dr. J. H. Martindale, Mrs. W. J. McNeil, Los Angeles; Miss Scovell, Toronto, Canada; Alex Taggart, wife and son, Indianapolis; C. C. McCaul, Vancouver, B. C.; Walter Horgan, Mrs. Esther Isaacs, Miss Frances E. Jones, Los Angeles; Mrs. F. W. Johnson and child, Minneapolis; J. A. Allen, Riverside, Mrs. E. V. Van Norman, Los Angeles; R. Randel, New York; Mrs. J. A. Gibson, G. S. Holmes and wife, Charlotte and Dwight Holmes, Los Angeles, are among those who recently arrived.

ONTARIO.

DANGEROUS HOBOS.

ONTARIO, March 14.—Constable Glass notified four hobos, who were hanging around Ontario, to move on. Three went without a word, but the fourth told Glass he did not have to go. The scoundrel picked up a rock and hit the constable on the head. He became so furious that Glass threatened to use his gun. The hobo was arrested and taken before Justice Hardy, and given ninety days in the County Jail, from which place he had been out only a few days. Word came to Constable Glass yesterday, but too late, that $110 reward is offered for the three, who were not arrested.

LEMON PROTECTION.

A number of lemon growers are contemplating putting a portable covering over their orchards as a protection from the frost at a cost of about $300 an acre. A delegation from the Lemon Growers' Association will visit Riverside Monday and make careful investigations of the results of similar experiments there.

HERE AND THERE.

At a special meeting of the City Board of Trustees, Thursday morning, a resolution of intention to close Lemon, Plum and Cherry streets across the property of the Salt Lake Railroad was passed.

Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Whitaker have leased their new house at Laurel avenue and D street to the Ontario Family Club, and will spend the summer at the beach and in the northern part of the State.

T. L. Scoles, M. Bradford, M. Leonard and F. Bundy have been chosen delegates from the local Fraternal Aid Society to the next general council at Kansas City in May.

RIVERSIDE.

MARKSMEN FORM CLUB.

RIVERSIDE, March 14.—Thirteen sure shots assembled at Boyd Keith's store at Arlington last night, on the 13th of the month, and a Friday night at that, and showed their contempt for hoodoos generally by organizing themselves into what will be known as the Magnolia Gun Club. Officers were elected as follows: President, Boyd Keith; vice-president, Archie Sharp; secretary, Dr. J. H. Holland; treasurer, Benjamin Gaylord; Executive Committee, R. D. Tampson, H. M. Praed, Harvey Lloyd; Membership Committee, J. R. Cuttle, Mr. Crimmons, B. Sellers, H. M. Praed and Dr. M. E. Taber; Committee on Constitution and Bylaws, Dr. Taber, Fred Wise and Archie Sharp. The club has leased suitable grounds for a shooting range, near the end of the car line and will soon be fully equipped with traps and other necessary paraphernalia. It starts with a membership of about thirty, which, it is hoped, will be doubled within a short time.

RIVERSIDE RIPPLES.

Mrs. George H. Brown entertained at cards last evening, at her home on Fourteenth street.

There was a light downpour of rain here yesterday afternoon and last night.

Eliza A. Ruby has instituted foreclosure proceedings against William Miller and Ada L. Miller, to enforce payment of a note for $1500, executed March 19, 1901.

James E. Howell died here yesterday; aged 62 years.

"If you want a thing well done do it yourself," is an old-time motto, but the latest is: "Try The Times" when it comes to advertising. Telephone your wants to red 661 and our Riverside agency will take your ad and send it to the main office.

No rain yesterday at Coronado.

HEMET.

NEWS NOTES.

Edward Hyatt, County Superintendent of Schools, was here Friday, the guest of Prof. F. S. Hafford.

The play, "Among the Breakers," was creditably presented by amateur talent at the High School Friday evening, a large audience being present.

Henry Stark, head miller of a 1200-barrel flouring mill at Clinton, Mo., was a visitor at Hemet Thursday and looked over the milling plant here.

The Baptist Church gave a successful supper and entertainment Thursday evening.

Acacia avenue, one of the main thoroughfares of the Hemet tract, which was dedicated to the public use fifteen years ago, and has been kept up by the property owners ever since, has lately been established by the Supervisors as a county highway.

R. W. Weir, a coffee merchant of New York, accompanied by his wife, visited here.

Building is very active here, and contractors and carpenters have all the work they can handle. Improvements are going on at a rapid rate.

H. S. Dukes of Little Rock, Ark., is expected in a few days, to resume his residence here. Mr. Dukes purchased a home at Hemet two years ago, but was obliged to return to Arkansas to finish important legal business.

CORONA.

JENKINSON-HIVELY.

CORONA, March 14.—Miss Edith M. Hively, daughter of Mrs. W. E. Hively, and Thomas A. Jenkinson were married Wednesday afternoon by Rev. E. T. Sandford at the Baptist parsonage. The groom is a member of the firm of Leonard & Jenkinson, formerly of Corona, but now of Woodland, where he and Mrs. Jenkinson will live.

The Masonic Hall Association has organized with the following directorate: President, A. C. Wood; vice-president, George Brown; secretary, S. W. Lockett; treasurer, M. Terpepening; William Riddell.

Members of Circle Lodge, No. 377, I.O.O.F., have applied for a charter and will organize an encampment here.

Dr. E. S. Chapman will speak in the operahouse Sunday night.

The Throop Institute Mandolin and Guitar Club gave a concert this evening in the operahouse under the auspices of the Corona High School.

The curfew ordinance will be enforced on and after the 16th inst.

The demand for houses greatly exceeds the supply.

G. J. Kennedy of New York is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Bender.

Horticultural Commissioner R. P. Cundiff of Riverside paid an official visit to Corona yesterday.

SANTA ANA.

YOUNG FORGER SENT UP.

SANTA ANA, March 14.—Julian K. Duarte pleaded guilty before Judge West this afternoon to forging the name of H. R. Barcus to a $15 check on the First National Bank of this city, and of later attempting to pass the paper on the Reinhaus department store. In consideration of the boy's age, which was shown to be 17, the court ordered him committed to the Whittier Reform School during his minority. Duarte lived at Newport Beach for thirteen years previous to coming to Santa Ana.

ON VARIOUS TOPICS.

Fred Rafferty was appointed administrator of the estate of his father, the late I. N. Rafferty, today.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Santa Ana Hospital Association last night, arrangements were made for a $2000 addition to the building. The business of the institution during the past year has increased to such an extent that the present capacity is inadequate to the demands.

The temperance department of the First Baptist Church gave a largely-attended social at the church parlors, last night.

The middle B class of the High School enjoyed a straw ride into the country last night.

Addresses will be delivered at the county Sunday-school convention at Anaheim March 20, by Rev. F. A. Calvin, J. C. Galloway and Miss Addie Pendleton of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Smith entertained a number of friends yesterday evening in honor of Joseph Kilpatrick, who is soon to leave for his home in Walton, N. Y.

LOCAL SPORTING RECORD.

MORLEY GETS INTO GROUNDS.

Court Injunction Opens the Chutes Gates.

Chicago-Los Angeles Game is on for Today.

New Looloos Reach Town—Owner Hart Has Arrived. Minor Contests.

The warring baseball factions laid back on their benches yesterday, so to speak, and nothing was done in a belligerent way. Nothing will turn up in the sensational line for some days. The restraining order gotten out by Manager Morley against the Chutes managers will not be heard until next Friday and possibly nothing may develop then.

The Chutes ball park was nailed up tight yesterday morning, but when a Deputy Sheriff served a copy of the restraining order on the management the obstructions were removed and Manager Morley and his merry men went triumphant into their own. That closed the incident until next Friday.

Across the street the force of men and teams were working away on the grounds for the opposition league, without apparently a thought of the fight going on over the way.

CHICAGO EXHIBITION.

The Chicago players had a genuine afternoon of practice yesterday, for they divided themselves into two teams and played a fast, snappy five-inning game, with Manager Morley of the local club as umpire. The game, of course, was played in the Chutes grounds, which Morley had taken into his arms again, and was interesting to the fair-sized audience of fans and invited guests who watched the performance. Morley called one of the teams the Regulars and the other the Yannigans, and the former won by a score of 6 to 1.

Oscar Jones pitched three innings for the Regulars and the astonished Yannigans failed to make a hit off him. Hollingsworth played second for the Yannigans, and their pitchers were Lundgren and Weimer. Hardy took Jones's place in the box and finished the other two innings. The play was good in every way, many fine pick-ups and throws being seen.

James Hart, who is the proud papa of the Chicago ball club, reached here yesterday from the East and will be out to see the game today at the Chutes grounds.

CHICAGO-LOS ANGELES.

The Chicago National League Club and the new Los Angeles Looloos will make their first public appearance in a match game this afternoon at the Chutes grounds. Play will be called at 2:30 o'clock. The Chicagos are about the limit in this end of the country at present, and the Los Angeles team is what Morley expects to win the Pacific Coast pennant with. Something exciting will doubtless be given, for Hart, the owner of the visiting club, will be at the game, and his men will doubtless attempt to make Morley's players look like amateurs. The locals don't look at the game in that light, and promise to be in the game at all times.

The line-up will be as follows:

Chicago.		Los Angeles.
Menefee-Taylor	pitchers	Hall-Gray
Chance-Kling	catchers	Spies
Hanlon	first base	Dillon
Lowe	second base	Hollingsworth
Casey	third base	Wheeler
Tinker	shortstop	Toman
Dobbs	center field	Hoy
Jones	right field	Ross

It is not known who will do the pitching for the Chicago team, and it is more than likely that all of the club's six men will be put in the box at different innings, in order to get them limbered up.

MINOR BASEBALL.

MANY GAMES YESTERDAY.

At the U.S.C. grounds yesterday the St. Vincent College nine easily beat the U.S.C. club by a score of 9 to 1. The score shows that the contest was fairly good throughout, the hitting being light. The U.S.C. team made seven bungles, and to these is largely due the big score of St. Vincent. A big crowd of rooters watched the proceedings. The score was as follows:

High School Game.

The Los Angeles High School and the Commercial High School teams played at Fiesta Park yesterday afternoon, the Commercials losing by a score of 4 to 2. Both teams made plenty of errors, Gamble at third for the losers having five. The winners made enough hits to win two games, but needed all of them to win. This victory places the winners in the lead for the interscholastic cup. The score follows:

Throop Won.

The second Throop team played the second Harvard team yesterday and won by 12 to 8.

The Eighth Streets beat the Imperials yesterday by a score of 8 to 3.

Thacker Beaten.

The Thacher team came here from Nordhoff to beat the Harvard club of this city, but was sent back home last night ingloriously defeated by a score of 12 to 2. The game was played yesterday on the Harvard School grounds and a large crowd of college boys was on hand. The sport lasted only six innings on account of the rain, but the locals were too far ahead then to be beaten. The score was as follows:

ANAHEIM.

JERSEY BREEDERS MEET.

ANAHEIM, March 14.—The Southern California Jersey Breeders' Association held its annual meeting today, nearly forty members being in attendance. Two sessions were held at the Palace Hotel, and the programme was as follows: Review of the year's work, G. H. Miller, president; "Evils of Using Immature Animals as Breeders," J. A. Campbell; "Raising a Calf and Care of Dam at Calving," Prof. Majors of the State University; "The Large vs. the Small Cow," E. E. Moore; "Some Ideas on Type," D. G. Whiting; "Observations on Eastern Herds and Methods," G. E. Platt; "Type from the Dairyman's Standpoint," George Thomas; question box. The principal business in the morning was the discussion of whether it would be advisable to exhibit at the next State fair and the appointment of committees. Most of the members seemed to favor the exhibit at Sacramento. The report of the treasurer shows the association to be in a flourishing condition.

Guy H. Miller of Riverside was reelected president; E. E. Moore, Compton, was elected vice-president; C. W. Leffingwell, Whittier, secretary; George Thomas, treasurer; G. E. Platt, Los Angeles; W. J. Cole, Anaheim; J. C. Keefe, Orange, and C. S. Burgess, Arlington, were elected directors. Invitations were received from Santa Ana and Buena Park as the meeting place about the middle of March, next year. The ballot showed a tie vote, then a representative from the Park offered to serve Jersey meat and many other good eatables at his town and won by a good majority on the second ballot.

A bill was passed in the Missouri House yesterday appropriating $500 for a sword to be presented to Lieut. Arthur Lee Millard in honor of his having planted the first American flag on Cuban soil in the Spanish-American War.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow Charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form, or rather in the form of large, pleasant-tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal says: "I advise Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but 25 cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

The question of why one man succeeds and another fails, is a problem that has puzzled philosophers for centuries. One man attains riches and position, while his neighbor, who started with seemingly the same, and better opportunities, exists in poverty and obscurity. No man can win success who is suffering from an irritating and nerve-racking disease, and the man who has the qualities of success within him, would be quick to recognize this fact and seize the best remedy to eradicate the trouble.

A person afflicted with a serious case of hemorrhoids or piles is handicapped in the race for power and advancement. It is impossible to concentrate the mental energies when this dreadful trouble is sapping the vital forces. To show how easily this success-destroying trouble can be overcome, we publish the following letter from a prominent Indiana man:

"When I received the former letter and booklet on 'Piles, their nature, cause and cure,' I was in a critical condition. Ulcers to the number of seven had formed on the inside of the rectum, culminating in a large tumor on the outside resembling fistula. I suffered the most excruciating pain, could get no rest day or night. After reading the booklet, I sent to my druggist, but he happened to be out of Pyramid Pile Cure just at that time. However, I obtained a part of a box from my brother-in-law and began their use. Five pyramids completely cured me. I procured a box later, but have had no occasion to use them. I have been waiting to see that the cure was permanent, before writing you of its success. I believe Pyramid Pile Cure to be the greatest and best pile cure on the market, and ask you to please accept of my grateful thanks for this invaluable remedy. I take great pleasure in recommending its use to any sufferer along this line. You may use my name if you wish for reference to any one afflicted with this disease." J. O. Littell, Arthur, Ind.

You can obtain a free sample of this wonderful remedy, also the booklet described above by writing your name and address plainly on a postal card and mailing it to the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich.

MONROVIA.

SCHOOL MASS MEETING.

MONROVIA, March 14.—A mass meeting was held at the operahouse last evening for discussion of the question of voting bonds to purchase grounds and erect a school building. The present building, which contains six rooms, has become entirely inadequate to accommodate the number of pupils that are already attending school, to say nothing about the increase that will be necessary to provide for before the next term opens. After a thorough discussion of the question, a resolution was passed, instructing the Board of Trustees to proceed with the calling of an election, submitting to the people the proposition of bonding the school district for the sum of $30,000, more or less, in their discretion. It is desirable that the grounds shall occupy one complete square, so as to give ample room for play grounds, and that the building should cost at least $25,000. The present building would probably be used by the intermediate grades. The date for the election has not yet been set.

The City Council has declared the intention of improving Orange street from Myrtle avenue east to Shamrock, by grading the street and laying a cement sidewalk on the north side.

HOLLYWOOD.

SCHOOL-BOND ELECTION.

HOLLYWOOD, March 14.—Another meeting of the citizens on the school-bond question was held this week. The Trustees, through Gen. J. L. Beveridge, reported the selection of two sites for public school buildings. They had decided to hold an option on the old site, adding to it another acre, at a value of $1500. The action of the trustees was ratified by a vote of 741 to 32. One of the sites is the corner of Western avenue and Sunset boulevard, comprising an acre of land, and valued at $3500. The other, consisting of an acre and a half, near Cahuenga avenue and Sunset boulevard, is valued at $7000. The first is owned by William Beesmeyer, and the second by Mrs. P. J. Beveridge. The estimate of the cost of both schools, made by the trustees, is $32,000. It was thought best to issue bonds for this amount, giving a twenty-year limit for payment The trustees had issued a call for a school-bond election, to be held April 4. These bonds will be of the denomination of $1000 each, to bear 5 per cent. interest. They will be issued in thirty-two series. The first and second series will run five years, and each double series thereafter payable each year for the balance of the twenty years. W. C. Fay is appointed inspector of the election, and J. F. Grass and F. Z. Byram judges. It will require a vote of two-thirds majority to carry these bonds. There is some opposition to this, as it is held that the price of the property is too high; but it is to be hoped that the importance of the speedy completion of these buildings to accommodate the rapidly-increasing school population, will overcome this objection.

VALLEY ITEMS.

The Hollywood Memorial Methodist Church has probably secured a desirable location for the building for which the plans have for some time been prepared. This enterprising congregation has the funds raised for a fine building, which will be a credit to the community. The pastor, Rev. E. A. Stellar, has been untiring in his efforts to secure the speedy erection of the building.

C. C. Hodgson has begun building a fine residence.

H. J. Whitley is building a two-story brick block on the property adjoining the Lohman Block, which will be a fine addition to the business part of town. The two storerooms have already been rented.

H. J. Whitley sold a sightly lot to Col. J. J. Steadman, a wealthy cattleman of Iowa. Mr. Steadman will locate permanently in Hollywood, where he will build an elegant residence.

Mrs. S. L. Flood, wife of Rev. T. L. Flood, editor of the Chautauquan, Meadville, Pa., has been visiting at Hotel Hollywood during the week.

Mrs. M. C. Grower and sister, and Miss S. B. Croswell of Los Angeles were visiting Hawaiian friends here this week.

A. R. White and family have moved to Los Angeles.

Mr. Newton, who has been severely afflicted with pneumonia at the Hotel Hollywood, is able to be out.

Mr. Irving, organizer of the Order of Washington, will institute a lodge in Hollywood Monday night.

Rev. J. N. Marsh and sister of Los Angeles were interested visitors in Hollywood on Tuesday, looking at property.

G. W. Hoover and family of Los Angeles have become permanent residents of Hollywood. Mr. Hoover built and owns the new Hotel Hollywood, and he has also a beautiful home on Prospect avenue.

Mrs. Bartlett will entertain the Hollywood Monday Card Club at the home of Mrs. McKeebie, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Boyle will give an at home at her residence Tuesday evening, to eastern friends, who have been visiting her during the winter.

POMONA.

DEPOT GOING UP.

POMONA, March 14.—Work on the Salt Lake passenger depot here is carried on expeditiously, and the framework indicates that it will be commodious and well arranged. One end has been inclosed and fitted up as a temporary office. J. H. Burtner, the agent, reports a good freight business already. A number took advantage of the Saturday night theater train, which leaves Pomona at 6:15 and returns from Los Angeles at 12:34. This train service is an innovation in local accommodation, and bids fair to become popular. The foundation for the freight depot, east of the passenger depot, is being laid.

William Bebb and mother, who have occupied the Buck cottage a few weeks, went to Pasadena today.

Mrs. William Mead and daughters of Los Angeles are guests of Mrs. Mead's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Carter.

Miss Alice Jobson has resigned her position in the public school here to take a place in the schools of Los Angeles. Miss Lea of Los Angeles has been engaged to fill the vacancy.

COVINA.

HOBO LAW NO GOOD.

COVINA, March 14.—A. J. Morton, formerly a fireman on the Santa Fé, arrested Thursday for riding on the blind baggage of a Southern Pacific passenger train, appeared in court today with his attorney, John Suttenwhite, Esq., of Los Angeles, who obtained his client's release on a demurrer to the complaint on the ground that the law under which it had been drawn had been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. When this piece of welcome news becomes generally known to the "box-car tourists" there promises to be a considerable increase in this class of travel.

George E. Pillsbury, chief engineer of the Pacific Electric Railway Company, is here today inspecting the preliminary surveys made for the Covina extension east of the town.

The firm of Coleman & Middleton, bicycle dealers, has dissolved. W. D. Middleton assuming control of the business.

Charles F. Lummis will lecture for the benefit of the Public Library in the Opera Hall Monday evening, a week, on "The First Americans."

Mrs. M. S. Hamlin entertained about twenty Indiana people today at her home at "Highland Terrace."

SAWTELLE.

VETERANS' TOWN NEWS.

SAWTELLE, March 15.—Yesterday evening the Baptist women held an enjoyable fruit social at the church, with large attendance. Mrs. S. H. Wheeler gave readings, Miss Daisy Calhoun recited, Mrs. G. D. Loring and J. C. Ten Eyck and Wendell Taylor rendered as a trio "Nearer My God to Thee." Several other numbers were presented, such as charades, that caused much merriment. Fruit and wafers were served, and the evening closed with games.

Theodore A. Cox has sold half of his acre, at Colorado avenue and Seventh street, to Ross Cunningham for $250. The entire acre was sold in 1900 to W. C. Russell for $150.

Charles Whitson has sold to Sherman J. Eynard the westerly thirty-two feet of his lot at Ohio avenue and Third street for $350. This entire lot was sold in 1899 to Mr. Whitson for $100.

Among the other extensions of the business of the Pacific Land Company is to be noted the opening of a 400-acre tract between Sawtelle and Santa Monica, which will be sold in lots and acreage, with building restrictions.

SOLDIERS' HOME.

HONORS TO DEAD GENERAL.

SOLDIERS' HOME, March 14.—Official announcement of the death of Gen. William B. Franklin, for many years president of the Board of Managers, N.H.D.V.S., was received Tuesday, whereupon general orders, No. 7 was issued, directing that the usual honors be paid on the day of the funeral, last Wednesday. In accordance therewith business was suspended, the flag displayed at half-mast, where it will remain for thirty days, and officers will wear crepe on the left arm for a like period. This being the third death in official circles this year, the flag has been almost continuously at half-mast since January.

HIGHEST PENSION PERIOD.

Pensions were paid on Thursday for the quarter ended the 4th inst. The sum of $51,874.60 was paid in cash over the counter; $21,146.28 was sent by mail to members on furlough; $3500 was paid during the quarter to men obtaining an increase of pension, and $3000 awaiting claimants by mail, make a total of $79,520.88, being the greatest amount ever disbursed here at one time for a like period.

AMONG THE "BOYS."

By the courtesy of Surgeon H. E. Hasse, Prof. James H. McBride, dean of the faculty of the University of Southern California, and professor of neurology in the Medical College of that institution, together with his assistant, Dr. E. B. Hoag, and the senior class in medicine, visited the Home hospital today, held a clinic, and delivered a lecture on certain nervous diseases or affections. The twenty-two bright young disciples of Esculapius present gave close attention to the gifted professors demonstration on the topic, and expressed themselves pleased at the opportunity afforded them in this particular field.

Among recent changes is the appointment of Josiah S. Clark, late Co. A, Seventieth Indiana Infantry, to office of lieutenant of police, vice G. P. Clark, resigned; William W. Root, First United States Signal Service, appointed clerk in postoffice, vice Shea resigned; C. D. Scott, late Co. A, Thirtieth Wisconsin Infantry, appointed sexton of Union Protestant Chapel, vice McCoy, resigned.

At the meeting of John A. Martin Post, G.A.R., Tuesday evening, John W. Hoyt was installed as commander for the unexpired term, Commander Shea having recently resigned.

H. D. Lasher, hospital steward, who was the victim of a murderous assault by an insane patient in the hospital several months ago, will go early in the week on a thirty-day leave of absence. He will probably visit his former home in Wyoming. Lasher, though recovered from the several gunshot wounds received at that time, will always carry in his chest a reminder of that critical episode in the shape of a 32-caliber pistol ball.

Prof. B. R. Baumgardt, who has entertained the veterans on several occasions with illustrated lectures on astronomy, delivered a lecture in Memorial Hall Tuesday evening on the Martinique disaster. A number of lantern views added to the interest.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Union Veteran Legion will entertain their comrades with one of those delightful "box parties," for which they becoming locally famous.

LONG BEACH.

SEASON'S BIGGEST BASS.

LONG BEACH, March 14.—J. S. Pease of Des Moines, Iowa, who has been spending the winter here, had an exciting experience with a monster sea bass yesterday afternoon. Pease and Alvin Robbins were fishing in the Pastime and were having a fine run of whitefish, when suddenly their bait and hooks began to disappear. They knew it must be a bass that was after them, and, taking a large hook and heavy line, began fishing for him. In a very few minutes he took the hook and a two-pound whitefish with it, and then both of the anglers were busy. He gave them the battle of their lives, but fortunately their line held and after a lengthy struggle they managed to get two gaffs into him and bring him to the side of the boat. They pulled him in over the bow with a block and tackle, and his weight tipped the prow of the boat so low that the propeller would not catch the water. The bass was one of the largest caught here this year, weighing 205 pounds. With him they brought in sixty-two whitefish and rock cod.

SEASIDE NOTES.

The largest audience since the last Chautauqua gathered in the Tabernacle last night to hear the concert given by the orchestra of the Methodist Sunday-school.

Dr. L. A. Perce of this city received today his appointment as a member of one of the most important committees of the National Confederation of State Medical Examining Boards. The especial purpose of this committee is to frame a definition of the practice of medicine, to be used by the boards of the various States in amending old laws and enacting new.

The Johnsonian Club was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Yeomans at their home in Alamitos last night.

J. C. Lewis and Miss Jessie Garrison, cousin and niece of L. A. Bailey, who have been visiting here through the winter, leave tonight for their home in eastern Washington.

New teachers have been assigned as follows: Miss Lucy Libby, Pine-avenue building; Miss Abagail Baker, assistant at the Burnett and Signal Hill schools; Miss Ada Castle, to substitute for Miss Deacon during her illness.

Capt. C. T. Healey and George C. Flint have returned from an extended visit at Avalon.

The members of the B.Y.P.U. gave a social in the parlors of the Baptist Church last night.

The game of basket ball this afternoon between the girls of Whittier College and the local High School resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of 11 to 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Frazier of Bensonvill,e Ill., who have been spending the winter at Pasadena, are here for a visit of several weeks' duration.

The Long Beach Gas Company is installing new machinery, which will more than double the capacity of its works.

Public Administrator McGarvin has taken possession of the effects of Abraham Niklaus, the old man who died in a barricaded hut on the Anaheim road recently. It was common report that Niklaus was a miser and had thousands of dollars hidden about the place, but the strictest search failed to disclose more than 50 cents. The furniture and stock will be sold at auction.

Plans and specifications for the proposed sewer have been completed by the City Engineer and all that stands in the way of active operations is a little delay in securing rights of way. There are a number of important improvements awaiting assurance of connections.

"The times that try men's souls" come only when they have neglected to advertise in The Times. Telephone your wants to Central Office and our Long Beach agency will take your ad and send it to the main office.

Perfect weather at Coronado yesterday.

CLAREMONT.

COLLEGE PICK-UPS.

CLAREMONT, March 14.—Dr. J. K. McLean, president of the Pacific Theological Seminary, Berkeley, addressed the students of Pomona College last evening. Dr. McLean is one of the original trustees of the college, He was for twenty years pastor of the First Congregational Church of Oakland. His address was of particular interest, and he treated of the possibilities of a well-trained man in this new era. Dr. McLean's daughter, Mrs. Mary McLean-Olney of San Francisco, was the principal for young women in Pomona College in the year 1898-9.

The Claremont Pomological Club received this morning, through its president, a telegram from Assemblyman W. A. Johnstone which has caused rejoicing. It announced the passage of the farmers' institute appropriation bill, giving $12,000 for the aid of the State Farmers' institutes this and next year. It is the first appropriation ever made by the State for this purpose.

COLLEGE PROFESSORS Talk of Foods.

The New York papers recently contained a long account of the so-called discovery of a celebrated professor in one of the leading universities. The "discovery" related to a new and successful way of treating wheat and barley to prepare the starchy part by dry baking, so it would be made more digestible and nutricious. Thereupon Prof. Livingstone commenting on the discovery of the other Professor says: "A discoverer who was a business man first and a scientist afterward found that such foods could be made more digestible when cooked with dry heat instead of by boiling in water, and has already placed on the market the food which he discovered prior to Dr.——." This refers to Grape-Nuts the most scientifically made food known. Grape-Nuts can be easily digested by babies or anyone with a weak stomach and the food contains the most powerful rebuilding element known, particularly as relates to the rebuilding of the brain and nerve centers. It is a delicious food requiring no cooking but ready for instant service just as it comes from the package. A recipe book free in each package describes many delicious dishes made from Grape-Nuts

A Change for the Better

The Way Physicians Now Treat Catarrh.

Physicians who formerly depended upon inhalers, sprays and local washes or ointments now use Stuart's Catarrh Tablets because as one of the most prominent stated, these tablets contain in pleasant, convenient form all of the really efficient and reliable catarrh remedies, such as red gum, blood root and Hydrastin.

They contain no cocaine or obiate (so common in liquid catarrh medicines and cough syrups) and they are given to little children with entire safety and benefit.

Dr. J. J. Reitinger says: I suffered from Catarrh in my head and throat every winter and it would hang on clear into summer, with stoppage of the nose and irritation in the throat affecting my voice so that I was continually clearing my throat before I could speak plainly; it finally extended to the stomach causing catarrh of the stomach.

I bought a 50-cent box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at my druggist's, carried them in my pocket and used them regularly several times a day and the way in which they cleared my head and throat and improved my hearing and general health I consider little short of remarkable. I had no catarrh last winter and spring and know I am entirely free from any catarrhal trouble whatever.

Mrs. Jerome Ellison of Wheeling writes; I suffered from catarrh nearly my whole life, and last winter my two children also suffered from catarrhal colds and sore throat so much they were out of school a large part of the winter. My brother, who was cured of catarrhal deafness by using Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, urged me so much to try them that I sent to the drug store and bought a package and I am truly thankful for what they have done for me and my children. I always keep a box of the tablets in the house and at the first appearance of a cold or sore throat one or two of the catarrh tablets nips it in the bud and Catarrh is no longer a household affliction with us.

Rheumatism

Cured by a New Remedy.

50,000 BOXES FREE.

While an invalid from Rheumatism, which nothing in the world would even relieve me, I succeeded in combining five harmless ingredients into a compound which completely cured me contrary to the predictions of my doctor. I then tried this remedy on my friends and neighbors suffering from rheumatism, also on hospital patients with such wonderful results that even prominent physicians had to admit that my remedy was a positive success.

Since then the remedy has cured hundreds of decrepit persons who could neither clothe nor feed themselves among them persons of 70 and 80 years of age, who had suffered for more than 40 years. So positive am I what this remedy will do, that I have set aside 50,000 Boxes for free distribution so that other unfortunate sufferers may profit by my good luck. It is a wonderful remedy and there is no doubt that it will cure all cases given up by doctors and hospitals.

Remember that I ask you no money, simply send your name and address for free box, and should you need more you can have it at a trifling cost. It is not my intention to accumulate a big fortune out of my discovery, but what I want is to relieve misery and torture. Addr. John A. Smith, 1470 Germania Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis.

Vaccinating Bugs

The science of medicine has reached wonderful perfection. The microbe theory in certain diseases has been proven true beyond doubt. The inoculation of chintz bugs with the microbes of contagious diseases, in order that epidemics may spread among the little pests, is a practical method now in use. Dr. D. M. Bye, the eminent specialist for cancer, says that dosing with medicines, cutting with knives or burning with plasters to cure cancer is no longer to be recognized, but that he has discovered a combination of soothing, balmy oils which kill the cancer microbes and cure the most malignant cases. Those who read this will confer a great favor by cutting it out and sending it to a friend who is afflicted. Book sent free, giving particulars and prices of Oils. Address DR. D. M. BYE, Lock Box 467, Dept. H, Dallas, Tex.

OFFICE OF COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

WASHINGTON (D. C.) February 7th, 1903.

WHEREAS, BY SATISFACTORY EVIDENCE presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that "The Farmers' & Merchants' National Bank of Los Angeles" in the city of Los Angeles, in the county of Los Angeles, and State of California, has complied with all the provisions of the statutes of the United States, required to be complied with before an association shall be authorized to commence the business of banking; now, therefore, I, William B. Ridgely, Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that "The Farmers' & Merchants' National Bank of Los Angeles" in the city of Los Angeles, in the county of Los Angeles, and State of California, is authorized to commence the business of banking as provided in section fifty-one hundred and sixty-nine of the Revised Statutes of the United States. In testimony whereof witness my hand and seal of office this seventh day of February, 1903. (Seal: Comptroller of the Currency.) WILLIAM B. RIDGELY, Comptroller of the Currency. No. [illegible]

THE CITY IN BRIEF

BREVITIES.

Corsets made to order and repaired. Mrs. Suffern, 247 S. Broadway.

The ladies of Los Angeles will be given an opportunity to witness an exquisite style exhibition at the Grand Spring Opening of the "Ville de Paris," Nos. 221-223 South Broadway next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Their buyers have thoroughly searched the world's best markets for the very handsomest novelties for spring and as a result of their persistent efforts will be displayed here magnificent creations in Novelty Spring Silks, stunning new styles in Spring Tailor Costumes and Waists—excellent array of fetching new weaves in Dress Goods and Wash Textiles—rich exclusive novelties in Laces and Neckwear—clever effects in new White Goods, Ribbons, Veils and Hosiery fads and fancies. It will pay you to attend—you're always sure of the greatest courtesy at the "Ville de Paris."

The Drs. W. A. and Mary A. Boyd seem to be filling a very important and necessary niche in the medical profession, in their care of ladies during confinement. They have outgrown their first home on Twenty-eighth st., and now have a large and commodious residence at 1142 S. Flower street, where ladies during that trying period will have all the comforts of a quiet home, with good nursing, and competent medical service always at hand; and in this city where there are so many ladies in hotels, rooming-houses and limited quarters, such a home must be very much needed, and the Drs. Boyd are both competent and well equipped for such professional work.

Lower California. Dr. Wilder, manager of Evangelina Copper Mining Co., has just returned from the mines in Lower California and reports things booming on the Peninsula, it having finally dawned on the mining public that it is a rich mineral field worth cultivating, a fact he found out and took advantage of nearly four years ago, and is so well pleased at the showing made that the price of stock will be advanced to 50 cents April 1, when he expects to take down necessary machinery to enable him to continue deeper on the rich sulphide copper ore uncovered at the present time.

Auction Sale—Morse & Co. of San Francisco, now at 310 South Broadway, Bradbury building, Los Angeles, will sell their entire stock of Chinese and Japanese works of art—without reserve—consisting of Brasses, Bronzes, Porcelains, Cloisonnes, Ivory Carvings, hangings, embroideries, tapestries, brocades, Mandarin coats, skirts, Canton embroidered shawls, beautiful, embroidered Kimonos, Cut velvets, four and two-panel screens. Sale to commence Monday, March 16, at 10:30 a.m., and 2:30 p.m., and continue following days until disposed of. Thos. B. Clark auctioneer.

Don't forget to remember when planning your Eastern trip, that the Northern Pacific Railway, traversing the entire Northwest, affords a most pleasant and attractive route to all points in the East. Elegant trains, luxurious Pullman and tourist sleepers, romantic scenery and the best of service, render this line very popular. Fare as low as by any route. Tourist sleepers every day. The only all rail line to Yellowstone Park. Full information by C. E. Johnson, passenger agent, 125 West Third street, Los Angeles, Cal.

Mrs. Raynor announces the spring opening of "The Adele," 318 S. Broadway, opposite Coulter's, for Monday, March 16, at which time the latest modes in dress hats, toques, turbans, bonnets, street and tailored hats, also many choice and beautiful novelties in flowers, fruits and other dainty millinery materials will be shown. The ladies of Los Angeles and adjacent towns are cordially invited to call. No cards.

The opening buds of spring have come again, and so have my imported fabrics for tailor suits. The latest weaves are now all in—this week I will make to order ladies' gowns at one-half the regular price. This price clipping will give fashionably dressed ladies an opportunity to secure a stylish garment at less than ready-made suits. Fit and finish guaranteed. M. Berry, ladies' tailor, 322 South Broadway.

Notice is hereby given to the public that my photographic studio, located at 217½ S. Spring street, formerly known as the Imperial Studio, but now under my own name, Mushet, is in no way whatever connected with any outside enlarging or picture concern. In justice to my reputation and excellency of work, I make this declaration. Respectfully, Mushet, photographer, 217½ S. Spring street.

Miss Isabelle Robson, formerly with Miss H. Clarke, 222 W. Third st., and Mrs. C. E. Rowe announce to the ladies of Los Angeles and vicinity their Spring Millinery Opening, Wednesday, March 18. They will display the very latest effects in Parisian and New York stles. Swell street hats a specialty. Room 206 Grant Block, corner Fourth and Broadway.

Opening of fine millinery. Mrs. N. E. Smith of 445 South Broadway wishes to announce to her patrons and ladies of Los Angeles that on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 17 and 18, she will exhibit a very large and elegant line of imported Hats, Bonnets and Toques, also Walking Hats from all the Eastern markets. All are cordially invited.

Rev. Dr. Geo. Thos. Dowling will preach in Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, Flower street, corner Pico (Thirteenth street,) Sunday at 11 o'clock, on "Some Social Studies from Christian Standpoints:" No. 7, "The Ministry of a Sunny Soul." Both University and Pico Heights cars pass the door.

Ladies! Save your money by having your spring gowns and tailor made suits made by S. Horwitz. He can duplicate any fit, making you a $60 suit for $30. We also make up your own material. A trial will convince you that you will get a perfect fitting costume at 840½ S. Flower.

"Your friends buy here"—for the home beautiful. We have art materials, Japanese embroideries, fancy shirt waists for the socially elect, dainty garments for little folk. "Meet me at Beeman and Hendee's, where they have easy chairs for tired shoppers." 347 South Broadway.

CHILDREN'S NEW Coats, Dresses, Hats.

Such charming styles as we are showing this spring for children. The makers of our children's hats, dresses and coats have put more style and more beauty into them than you can imagine. White prevails in the wash dresses, though there are many colored ones here for service. The coats are mostly loose backs and light colors, trimmed in the nobbiest of ways. The hats are perfect creations, trimmed with ribbons and flowers. We devote more time and attention to the proper clothing of children than any other store in the city.

Easter Garments

Fresh Ones Shown Every Morning ....

With one of our own buyers in New York gathering up the cleverest productions of the swell Fifth avenue tailors as soon as they appear and hustling them off to us by express, we're meeting the demands of the women who are ever on the lookout for "something new."

And we have "something new"—in superb profusion of styles that are charming, individual, novel—styles for every taste.

Of the richest Easter novelties we get but one of a kind, and they're quickly picked up by lovers of exclusiveness. There's much to be gained by early choosing. There's disappointment for the women who delay.

Tailor Gowns Authoritative styles for Easter wear; mostly loosely woven stuffs, such as voiles, etamines, granites, mistrals, over foundations of silk. Napoleon blouse, Danton cape, and triple collar effects. Colors—grays, blues, modes, tans, white, black.

$20 to $75

Silk Waists New styles by the dozen. Some severely plain, some daringly extreme. The richest evening waists are in crepes, lace effects, jets and fancy silks, and there's only one of a kind—exclusiveness assured.

Wash Waists Everything from the plain percales at a dollar to the most elegant crash, linen and embroidered effects at fifteen dollars. These new beauties of crash are all the rage in New York. Wash silk waists are also here in abundance.

Spring Coats Extreme novelties in the new Oyster white materials—New York's latest craze. Monte Carlos of Etamines and Twine cloths with wide lace collars, silk embroidered collars, elaborately braided capes. Black silk coats, 27 to 42 inch lengths, in Monte Carlo, Louis XV and Blouse styles.

Silk Suits Many new arrivals in silk waist suits—taffetas and foulards in rarely handsomely checked and striped effects—remarkably handsome creations at $17.50 to $35.

Walking Suits Fancy weaves and mixed materials in Louis XV and blouse styles that have dash and swing. No custom tailor could better at twice the price.

Street and Dress Skirts.

Dress Skirts of Etamines, Voiles and Mistrals in the swell new tunic and shirred effects. Black, navy and white.

Walking skirts of all the smart mixtures and staple plain materials as well as the new alpaca skirts in blues and black.

It's Safe to Buy Hair Goods Here.

The large volume of our business in hair goods is mainly due to the personal recommendation of those who have bought and used hair goods from our store. If you have any intention of making purchases in this line we suggest that you speak to some friend, and we have no doubt that you will be warmly recommended to come here. We are able to match with perfect precision, every possible shade of hair while our prices are exceedingly moderate in all cases. Our stock of tortoise shell combs and ornaments includes many charming new ideas, which we shall be pleased to exhibit.

this spring in which several fabrics are neck-an'-neck. Silk-mixed Worsteds, Homespuns, Scotch Tweeds are in the lead—foreign and domestic entries.

Here's the handsomest collection that has ever been grouped together in Los Angeles under one roof.

That's saying something, isn't it? Fact, though.

Individuality in Trimmed Millinery

NEW hats—new in shape, new in treatment. Nothing commonplace about them. There's character, vivacity, originality in the most inexpensive sorts. There's a distinctiveness, an elegance of materials and an air of exclusiveness about the more costly ones that cannot be equaled elsewhere on the Coast at half as much again.

PERSONAL—

Mrs. Allyn, Palmist and Psychic.
Are you in trouble or doubt? Consult Mrs. Allyn. Do you wish honest, candid advice and want the truth with no illusions? Get a reading from this woman and be convinced that there is a divinity that shapes our ends. The superiority and reliability of her work is verified daily, and some of our best citizens have reason to see the wisdom of her advice. The purpose that places us here in this world demands that we do not spend our time in the sorrows and troubles of life, but that we ennoble our characters and master our fate. The time of uncertainty is past, and the soul demands an answer to the continual why and wherefore, and it is never satisfied until we recognize the divinity, within and that divinity never manifests itself without the results the Master said would follow. Readings daily. 904 SOUTH OLIVE NEAR 9TH. Fee 50c and $1. Hours 10 to 5. Tel. Hope 1624. 15

FOR SALE—
—A PIANO FOR $6—

With pardonable pride the house of Fitzgerald looks back upon their many years of uninterrupted progress and achievement in the piano business. Our visible success and constant expansion are convincing testimony for the results of our efforts. They prove more than we could say in ever so forceful terms. Our warerooms are supplied with nearly two hundred pianos from a dozen of the oldest and most substantial piano factories of the world. We are supplied with everything that experience and intelligent management could suggest, and ample capital could provide. Thus we are enabled to meet all requirements made upon us for the best pianos at the very lowest prices, and on the easiest terms offered by any concern in California.

We believe in our Pianos!

We positively know their intrinsic value and we recommend them to the public with with the assurance that it is safe to buy of the Fitzgerald Music and Piano Co.

Our enviable record of so many years of fair and liberal treatment of all our patrons sustains this assurance. Our competitors tell you that we do not sell our best grades of pianos at $6 first payment and $6 monthly. We tell you that we do

Six dollars is all you need pay us when you get the piano. We positively deliver it to your home with a handsome chair and drape for only $6. After that you pay us only $6 per month. We charge no interest. We advertise the truth.

FOR SALE—
ROOSEVELT MINING AND MILLING COMPANY'S STOCK bought at the present price of 50c per share will bring LARGE RETURNS, and you will not have to wait a LIFE-TIME FOR RESULTS.
The average QUARTZ MINE takes four to five years and lots of expensive work before you get any returns. THE ROOSEVELT VEIN, being simply a great body of porphyritic quartz, with talc and clay foot and hanging walls, requiring no expensive timbering or dead work, as the pay ore starts at 50 feet from the surface, can be mined and milled at a very small cost. The railroad now being completed will terminate on our property, affording easy communication with the outside world.
WE HAVE A BODY OF ORE AS GREAT AND FULLY AS RICH AS THE BAGDAD MINE, WHICH IS VALUED AT $1,500,000, AND WITH OUR SMALL CAPITALIZATION, WILL BRING LARGE RETURNS TO THE STOCKHOLDERS.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY FOR A MAGNIFICENT INVESTMENT.

I am receiving subscriptions for stock in a corporation now being organized under New Jersey laws to be under local control, which will participate in one of the world's most profitable commercial industries. The business has been running many years and is a practical monopoly and this company acquires interests that give it a GUARANTEED INCOME FROM THE START sufficient to pay good interest on the investment together with the surety of enormous future profits. The company has no debts and owns valuable rights and property free of all incumbrance. There is no watered or promotion stock and the proposition is absolutely legitimate in every way and worthy of consideration by the most careful investors. Particulars at personal interview only.

ALHAMBRA.

NEWS BRIEFS.

ALHAMBRA, March 14.—Residents in the northern part of Alhambra now take the Monrovia electric cars to Los Angeles. Alhambra now has two electric lines, as well as two steam railway lines running through town, which makes travel for all residents very convenient.

Mrs. Jane E. Harris and Mrs. Mary E. McClaughry and son, Lawrence, of Los Angeles, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Lawrence.

The U.S.C. Glee Club was greeted by a large audience at the Methodist Church last evening.

Main street has been much improved by grading, more of which is yet to be done. Cross streets in the center of town will be improved soon.

Rev. and Mrs. T. N. Lord announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Louler M. Lord, to Charles A. Bishop. The wedding is to take place late in the spring.

Mrs. F. B. Elwood, who has been at the Good Samaritan Hospital in East Los Angeles for the past five weeks, returned home this afternoon much improved in health.

"HOUSE AND LOT"—The Times' Weekly Review of Real Estate and Building.

FACT AND COMMENT.

FOR several years The Times has called attention to the fact that there are good opportunities in and around Los Angeles for the purchase, subdivision and marketing of tracts for residence purposes, building having gone on at a great rate since the subsidence of the big real estate boom, [illegible] few subdivisions had been placed on the market. Now it is time to utter a word of friendly warning against the possibility of overdoing the thing. [illegible] there have been indications to remind old-timers forcibly of the [illegible] times of sixteen years ago. [illegible] are being cut up into small [illegible] lots, and offered without any improvements, often on small monthly payments. These are held out to people of moderate means as a chance of [illegible] turning over a big profit. Some [illegible] purchasers are likely to be disappointed.

Lessons of the Past.

There are many lots in the outlying [illegible] of Los Angeles, within the [illegible] limits, for which the owners could [illegible] to get, even in the present [illegible] condition of the market, the [illegible] paid for them in 1887, leaving [illegible] account the cost of street improvements, taxes and interest on the [illegible], which, at 5 per cent., would [illegible] more than doubled the capital in[illegible]. It is true that today we have [illegible] larger population, with thous[illegible] of new home seekers coming in all [illegible] but on the other hand it must [illegible] remembered that the area of possi[illegible] residence sites has been greatly ex[illegible] since then, by the building of [illegible] railroads. Sixteen years ago a [illegible] man could not well think of [illegible] more than five miles from his [illegible] of business. Today he may with [illegible] facility live twenty miles away. [illegible] gives us 1600 square miles avail[illegible] residences, in and around Los [illegible] or allowing for the property [illegible] built on, and for land which [illegible] be built on, say 5,000,000 lots of [illegible] feet, or enough for a popula[illegible] 25,000,000, without allowing for [illegible] lodging-houses. Even our most [illegible] boomers will scarcely claim [illegible] Angeles is likely to have any [illegible] population very soon. Conse[illegible] those who are buying unim[illegible] merely to sell again should [illegible] they are doing, or they may [illegible] with a white elephant [illegible], when it comes to pay[illegible] and street improvements. [illegible] sort of thing be kept up, [illegible] reach the stage we were [illegible] of 1887, when almost [illegible] a would-be seller of un[illegible] estate. If a person needs [illegible] home, it is all right to buy [illegible] wishes to invest or specu[illegible] with safety, and the as[illegible] a reasonable profit in the [illegible] select any lot in a well-[illegible] subdivision, where good street [illegible] are made, and a build[illegible] in the contracts, so [illegible] of residences. [illegible] ready to de[illegible] real estate [illegible] to encour[illegible] in this line.

The Colo[illegible] to be the scene of [illegible] in the near future, [illegible] that the govern[illegible] into effect the na[illegible].

[illegible] Streets.

[illegible] visiting Los Angeles, [illegible] a number of years, [illegible] in The Times as [illegible] fact that Los An[illegible], bustling streets, [illegible] —Main, Spring [illegible] which he de[illegible] the cities of the [illegible] a certainty that [illegible] be added to these streets a fourth—Hill street—and perhaps later on the other thoroughfares between Hill and Figueroa, which last named street will probably, in course of time, become a grand business thoroughfare. That, however, will be some time in the future. With the blocks so short as they are from east to west, there is no reason why all the retail business of the city should be crowded on two or three thoroughfares. The fact that other streets are on the west, so near and convenient for business, should have a tendency to check unreasonable prices and excessively high rents, for a business man is not likely to care to pay $50 a month for an office at Fourth and Spring if he can get one equally good for $25 at Fourth and Hill. An instance of how excessively rents are being raised was recently brought to the attention of the editor of this department. A man who has been in business on a small way on Spring street between Sixth and Seventh, occupying a modest little storeroom, was paying six years ago $13 a month. Two years ago the rent was raised to $30, recently to $50, and again it has been increased to $100. This is a good way for Spring-street people to boom property on Hill, and other nearby thoroughfares.

Exchanging Property.

There is a general impression that when times are good and sales are being made for cash the business of exchanging is at a standstill. This is not the case, according to R. E. Muney, a real estate agent, who makes a specialty of exchanges. Mr. Muney recently gave The Times particulars of several exchanges recently made by him, to illustrate how these deals are often beneficial to both parties. He has just consummated an exchange of a good income business property on Central avenue, worth $10,000, where the owner was heavily encumbered, the property being mortgaged for $3200, and the owner unable to carry the load. He succeeded in interesting a bank in the north looking for investments in Los Angeles, in this property. The bank takes care of the mortgage, pays a cash difference of several hundred dollars, puts the property here into safe hands, puts the former owner out of debt, with some cash to work with, and a good clear farm to turn again. He recently exchanged twenty acres in the south part of the city, worth $20,000, mortgaged for $9000, the owner unable to carry it, for a fine half section of northern California land with good improvements. The party buying assumes the mortgage and loans back $250 on the half section. He then sold the half section for cash, subject to the mortgage, putting the Los Angeles man on his feet clear of debt, and putting the heavy mortgage onto a man who can carry it, and hold the property for an advance in price. He has just sold for cash a five and fraction acres on Vernon avenue, with good improvements, for $6000, to a party from Pennsylvania, who pays off the mortgage of $3000, and spends some money improving the place for a nice home. Mr. Muney says he would rather make one good exchange than three or four sales, not only because it pays better, but because it is easier to do.

—o—

Leasing Land.

A local contemporary says:

"The substitution of fifty years for ninety-nine, in the bill passed by the Legislature limiting the lease term of city lots, will be generally approved. The longer term is customary in eastern cities, but fifty years in Los Angeles is equal to a century in the average city, in the elements of progress and expansion."

This is correct, except that the term has not been changed from ninety-nine, but from twenty to fifty years. The change is a good one, as recently suggested in this department, and should stimulate the making of good improvements on high-priced land.

DOWN BY THE RIVER.

BIG SCHEMES ARE HATCHING.

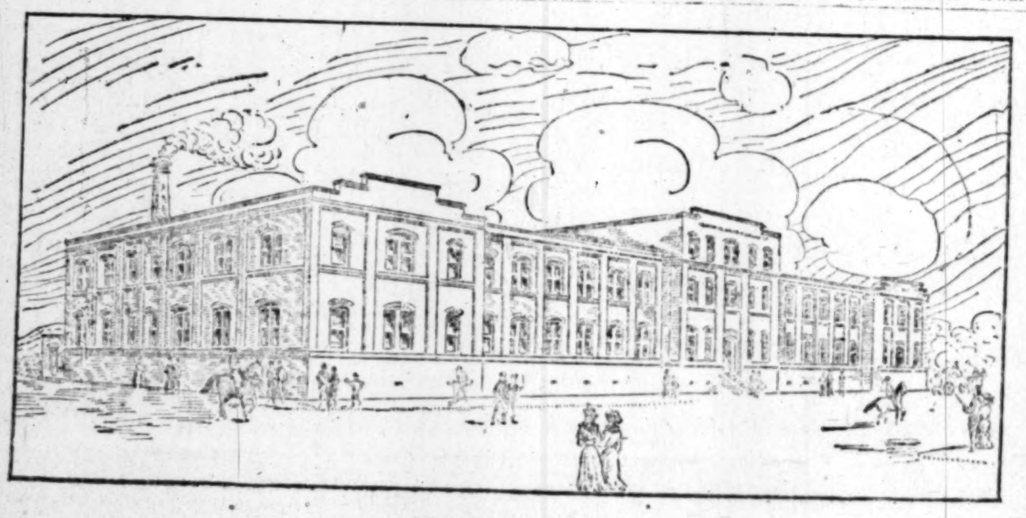
Almost all large cities have river flats, and there it is that the manufacturing district will be found. Los Angeles does not differ from other great cities in this respect, and that her river runs bottom up makes no difference. The locality is prosperous and is growing at such a rate that residents in Pasadena, nine miles away, can see the difference. Once a day now the inhabitants of the palatial homes of Orange Grove avenue are engulfed in a cloud of smoke, which is carried over there from this district by the first trade wind of the afternoon. This was not the case a few years ago and is due to increased activity along all manufacturing lines rather than to any change in the old reliable trade wind.

"Los Angeles is destined to be the foremost city of the Pacific Coast," Mr. Zinkand says, and a brief study of the ground which is to support the substructure of her manufacturing and industrial future shows wonderful progress today.

The Los Angeles River flats extend from Buena Vista street on the north down to the city limits on the south, bounded by Alameda street and the Los Angeles River on the west and east. This section, nearly five miles long by one-half mile wide, widening to three-fourths of a mile south of Ninth street, contains a majority of our foundries, planing mills, flour mills, gas plants, breweries, fertilizer works, canneries, smelters and other manufacturing establishments. The Southern Pacific company is making the most extended improvements in this section. Its new machine shops, situated on the east side of the river, south of Alhambra street, are progressing rapidly. The thirty-six-acre tract will contain five immense buildings, thirteen miles of tracks and one oil tank of 65,000 barrels capacity. The buildings are single-story structures, of brick, with steel trussed roofs of pitch and gravel, and are to be about thirty feet high. Four cars of steel arrived two weeks ago and seven more are on the way, having been ordered over a year ago. There will be used 3,500,000 bricks and 12,000 barrels of cement. The machine shops will be in a building 495x120, and the dimensions of the others are as follows: Car repair shops, 163x173; boiler shops, 250x120; car paint shops, 163x173. The roundhouse has a sixty-five-foot turntable and forty engine stalls and six locomotive paint stalls. Between the four shop buildings will run a six-pit transfer table, 700 feet long. The office, general store and oil room is 120x63, and is now completed. These shops will employ about fifteen hundred men. Three wells have been put down and stand a high test.

Just across the tracks north of this property and directly behind the Los Angeles Brewing Company, the Edison Electric Company is making preparations to put in a 7000-horse-power auxiliary steam plant. This plant will run a steam turbine, and the first of the turbo-generators will be installed within eight months. This company is also building a warehouse and testing shop on Redondo and Railroad streets, which is to cost $15,000. The building will have an electric traveling crane.

There has been great activity in the river section during the past week. Investors have been all agog, and property owners have been marking up prices. First came the information, published in The Times last week, that two large factories were to be built at Alameda and Seventh street, the Sperry Flour Company of Stockton and the Murray M. Harris Company of this city, having each acquired a lot 300x150 feet, on the east side of Alameda street, the flour company taking the corner and the organ company taking the lot adjoining. These two factories are to cost $60,000 and $30,000, respectively. A cut of the organ factory appears on this page.



AN ORGAN FACTORY.

The chief interest attaches, however, to things that are doing—and brewing—south of Ninth street, regarding which rumors have been flying thick and fast. The main interest centers in the recent purchase by Mr. Huntington of the 100-acre Nadeau tract, between Alameda street and Santa Fé avenue, about half a mile below Ninth street, at about $800 an acre. All sorts of rumors have been circulating in regard to what Mr. Huntington intends to do with this property, especially as he has been quietly securing, through agents, a considerable amount of other property, between Ninth street and the city limits, near the river. First, it was said that he intended the site for large additional car shops. Then it was reported, with some degree of circumstantiality, that he had bought five acres at the corner of Alameda and Fifteenth streets, where additional car shops would be built. This report has been denied. The most sanguine rumor has it that the property purchased is intended as a site for a union depot. At first thought, this suggestion appears rather far-fetched, but an examination of the map shows that the site would be an ideal one for a union depot, if, indeed, it is not the only feasible site for such purpose in the city. On the west side of the tract the Southern Pacific branches off to Santa Monica, on the east side the Santa Fé branchs off to San Bernardino, and just across the river the Salt Lake line turns off from the river toward Hobart, the junction for Long Beach and Pomona. The location may appear to be somewhat far out, but it is only a mile and a half from the corner of Fourth and Spring to the corner of Ninth and Alameda, and the site is relatively no farther away from the business center than was the Arcade depot when it was built. Those who were here fifteen years ago will remember the excitement attending the selection of a site for the Southern Pacific depot, and the big boom in local real estate prices that followed the choice of the old Wolfskill Orange Orchard tract.

Yet another story going the rounds is to the effect that the hundred-acre purchase of Mr. Huntington is intended as a site for a new race track, in place of Agricultural Park, which it is proposed to cut up into lots.

Anyhow, there is evidently something of importance under contemplation in the southeastern part of the city, and investors will be watching that section with much interest during the next few months. The Times has frequently called attention to the fact that prices in that section have been abnormally low, and offer good opportunities for profit in the near future. Lots—usually about 40 by 150—may still be picked up, on some of the leading improved streets, such as Mateo, and Ninth, and Santa Fé avenue, at ranging from $400 to $600, but they are becoming scarce. The price paid by the flour company for the 300 feet on Alameda street was reported at about $10,500, or $35 a front foot, a reasonable price for frontage on such a leading thoroughfare.

"If you want to make money in cheap real estate," said a leading real estate man of Los Angeles, "buy property in the river flats of this city or the wind flats of San Pedro."

Los Angeles is the cul-de-sac of the western coast, into which eastern capital and new blood will pour, and the river flats form the only channel of entrance. Gold has often been taken from river beds and the same may be done in Los Angeles in the shape of good profits on real estate investments.

AMONG REAL ESTATE OWNERS AND DEALERS.

HEALTHY ACTIVITY NOTED IN REAL ESTATE OPERATIONS.

Investors Active in Securing Anything That Resembles a Bargain—Local Climatic Advantages Becoming Even More Highly Appreciated Than Formerly.

While the number of purchases of business and prospective business properties is not greater than usual, anything that approximates toward being a bargain is snapped up with an avidity that shows the market to be closely watched by intelligent investors, who are anxious to get in on any proposition in the real estate line that commends itself to their judgment. Purchases of handsomely-improved residences by outside capitalists, who buy to have homes for a portion of the year in Southern California, show that the advantages of this city as a winter resort and as a summer resort also are beginning to be even more thoroughly appreciated than formerly by those able to make use of them. New tracts are still favorites with both home seekers and investors, and in some cases lots in tracts so far out as to be scarcely as desirable as might be, are eagerly sought by those with money to invest. Improvements on well-located lots, in tracts in which the street work is done, or is in progress, and which are within convenient distances of street-car lines, continue brisk, and are indicative of steady, continuous growth and expansion.

El Molino Rancho.

H. H. Mayberry, Edward L. Mayberry and George D. Blake have sold to the Huntington Land and Improvement Company an undivided two-thirds of part of lot 1, in block G, of the Oak Hill tract, containing 250 acres, together with a right of way for road over the 34.8-acre tract of Jacob Bean; consideration named, $80,000. The ranch was formerly known as the El Molino Rancho. It is located in the San Gabriel Valley, near Pasadena, just west of the Patton and Sharon ranches, north of the Jacob Bean, east of the Richardson, and south of Oak Hill and Rosenbaum ranches. The land is well supplied with water, ad is set out in fruit trees and ornamental shrubbery. A small cañon runs north and south, and numerous stately oaks add to the picturesqueness of the scenery. The Monrovia road passes through the southern portion of the tract, and it is said that the property is to be divided into smaller holdings and improved for residence purposes. The purchase, which was made about the middle of the week, and reported at the time exclusively in The Times, is apparently a part of a settled policy on the part of the company named to buy desirable Southern California ranch and other properties on or near the lines of the growing interurban system of the Pacific Electric Railway Company.

A Handsome Home.

One of the sales of residence property made about the middle of the week and noted at the time exclusively in The Times, was that from Dwight Whiting to Robert C. McCormick, through Schenck, Tatum & Schenck, of the handsome fifteen-room two-story frame dwelling, with lot 100x190 feet, on the northeast corner of Figueroa and Twentieth streets; consideration named, $25,000, cash. This is a fine piece of residence property, and at the consideration quoted is a fairly good bargain. The purchaser is a resident of Seattle in the State of Washington, and buys for a Southern California home.

Conveyance of Record.

The records show the transfer from the Los Angeles Land Company to the Pacific Electric Company of lots 1, 2, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 34, 35, 38, 39, 42 and 43, of block D, McGarry's subdivision; lots 20 and 21, block D, McGarry's tract; blocks A, B, and D, Estrella tract, commencing, etc., and part of block D, Mead & Dalton tract; consideration named, $49,794.55. The land conveyed comprises all the lots on the west side of Stanton street from Ninth to Fourteenth streets, averaging about 40x120 feet each, without valuable improvements; all the lots on the west side of Don Abel street from Fourteenth to Sixteenth street, of similar description; and all lots on the west side of South Avenue (which is a continuation of Don Abel street) between that and Washington streets; and thence from a point in the north line of Twentieth street, easterly 319.7 feet from the northeast corner of Twentieth street and Compton avenue, southward, through acreage property not yet subdivided, to the city limits. The property was secured from various owners by the grantor company doubtless for the use of the Electric Railway Company, to which it was recently conveyed; and it is used as a right of way for the Long Beach road of the grantee corporation.

In the Factory Section.

The growing interest in real estate down in the river section has led several agents to make a specialty of property in that part of the city. Among the latest to do this is J. A. Wright, who is establishing an office at the corner of East Ninth street and Wilson avenue, where he will make a specialty of property south of Sixth and east of Alameda streets.

To Enlarge the Hospital.

The California Hospital Company has purchased of Dr. Walter Lindley 145x183 feet on the west side of Grand avenue, 60 feet north of Fifteenth street, with a frame dwelling on the Southern portion; consideration named $15,000. The lot is just east of the California Hospital. The dwelling will be fitted up for the use of the company as general offices and nurses' quarters. The vacant portion of the lot will be improved with a four-story brick for an addition to the hospital. The improvements will be made under the supervision of Architect John C. Austin, and will cost between $50,000 and $60,000.

Orange Grove Place.

The Pioneer Investment and Trust Company has purchased of W. E. Chambers ten acres located about 660 feet south of Vernon avenue, extending eastward from South Park to McKinley avenues, and intersected by Forty-sixth street; consideration named, $13,500. The land is planted in citrus and deciduous fruit trees, and there is a dwelling upon the place, which the grantor has the privilege of removing. The tract is to be divided into fifty-six lots, averaging 45x137 feet. The streets are to be well improved; stone pillars, surmounted by electric lights, are to be placed at the entrances to the principal streets; water is to be piped to the tract, and the electrical connections made; all, it is said, at the expense of the company; and the tract is then to be placed upon the market. The tract is to be known as Orange Grove Place, and work upon the proposed improvements will begin at once.

Auction at San Pedro.

An auction sale of lots was held at San Pedro by F. J. Steele & Co., in the early part of the week. C. M. Stevens was the auctioneer, and from every part of the large tent, arranged for the accommodation of those who attended the sale, came spirited bidding. All the lots offered, 100 in number, were sold within two hours and a half from the time the sale began, at prices averaging $229 apiece. The greater number of the lots were secured by a local investor, but a goodly share were bought by eastern people spending the winter in Southern California.

At Riverside.

Mrs. Martha Davies has sold to F. P. Redman, C. McClure and G. H. Seaton of Uniontown, Pa., 100x157 feet, on the northeast corner of Main and Tenth streets, Riverside, with small frame buildings; consideration named, $15,000. Purchasers will improve with a three-story brick business building. Mr. Davies has purchased the lot, 30x157 feet, lying between the corner lot just sold and the Reynolds Hotel Block, and will improve with a substantial brick business building.

South Woodlawn.

The contract for the extension of the Maple-avenue car line has been signed by the parties in interest, and the survey for the extension was completed in the latter part of the week. Among the sales in South Woodlawn tract reported by Alex Culver are the following: 80x125 feet, south side of Thirty-fifth, 120 feet west of San Pedro street; 100x120 feet, west side of San Pedro, between Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth, and 150x140 feet, southeast corner of Wall and Fortieth streets, to William Dorn, $3800; 50x135 feet, northwest corner of Forty-second and Woodlawn streets, and same size lot, northwest corner of Woodlawn and Vernon streets, to O. Sassman, $1500.

Another Sale of Acreage.

Elizabeth McKinlay has sold to C. A. Sumne, for an English syndicate, through the agency of Henry B. Spencer, her forty acres on the east side of South Park avenue, opposite the park, and lying between Forty-eighth and Fifty-first streets. Mrs. McKinlay retains her residence; consideration named, $40,000. Land is set out in citrus and deciduous fruits.

Below Vernon Avenue.

It is reported that H. E. Huntington has secured from Elizabeth McKinlay a tract containing forty acres lying between Vernon avenue and Fifty-first street, and Stanley and McKinley avenues; consideration named, $40,000.

—o—

Valuable Acreage.

Post & Lockhart, owners of 2800 acres of the Loma Vista ranch, west of Howard's Summit, have sold to J. E. Higgins of Glenrock, Wyo., 160 acres just north of Moneta, on Cypress avenue; consideration named, $20,000; also to T. B. Hicks of Cheyenne, Wyo., 120 acres opposite the above, at the same rate. It is Mr. Hicks's intention to immediately install a complete water system upon this property, and place the land upon the market in small tracts to homeseekers. The same party has also purchased of George M. Beach, through Post & Lockhart, 160 acres, adjoining the above, all of which will be put in alfalfa as soon as possible. Post & Lockhart are installing a pumping plant to supply 200 inches of water to irrigate the 32 0acres now being put into alfalfa, adjoining the piece purchased by Mr. Hicks.

East Hollywood.

Alex Culver has purchased of F. R. Strong, C. F. Hale and L. W. Gray eighteen acres on the southeast corner of Vermont avenue and Benefit street, unimproved; consideration named, $13,500, and has entered into a contract with the Tryan Brain Company to grade, gravel, curb and cement, sidewalk the tract. Work will begin at once. Tract will be divided into sixty-one lots, averaging 50x165 feet, and be placed on the market in a few days. The tract is reached by both the Santa Monica and the Hollywod branches of the Los Angeles-Pacific Electric Railroad.

West Adams and Jefferson.

Sales of unimproved lots in the West Adams and Jefferson-street tract do not seem to drag. The number of such sales reported by Schenck, Tatum & Schenck, since the first week the tract was on the market, is twenty, at prices ranging from $385 to $485, and aggregating about $8000. The lots are each 50x125 feet, and are all level and well located. Among the sales reported are two lots, north side of Twenty-ninth street, 360 feet east of Cimarron, to Ralph Nowles, $850; one, south side of Twenty-ninth, 100 feet east of Cimarron, to Mary E. Skellman, $425; one north side of Thirtieth, fifty feet east of Arlington, to Charles Ashton, $410. Some of the other purchasers are Charles G. Robinson, James B. Reynolds, J. J. Duffil, Kate M. Hallock, J. W. Webster, Lila Brown, Mrs. R. Foos, Alice C. Gray and Richard Dobson.

West Adams Street Tract.

The West Adams-street tract was recently placed on the market by J. C. Kayes and associates, through Percy H. Clark. It is bounded on the north by Adams street, on the east by Budlong avenue, south by Twenty-seventh street, and west by Raymond avenue. It contains forty lots, averaging 60x135 feet each. The street work on the principal streets of the tract is finished. Among the sales of unimproved lots reported are: 200x135 feet, east side Van Buren avenue, between Adams and Twenty-seventh streets, to R. J. C. Wood, $4700. Purchaser will build three fine dwellings as an investment; 60x135 feet, west side Van Buren avenue, between same cross streets named, to H. E. Clark, $1500; buyer will build a $5000 home on premises. Other recent sales in the tract, most of which are to be improved, aggregate about $5000.

On First Street.

Mrs. S. E. Posey sells to S. S. Freeman, through A. A. Baird & Co., 21 25-100x67 feet, on First street between Main and Los Angeles streets, with three-story brick building; consideration named, $20,000.

—o—

Will Subdivide.

F. M. Rogers and F. E. Squires have sold, through A. A. Baird & Co., twenty acres on the northwest corner of Melrose and Center streets, to Strong & Dickinson and A. A. Baird & Co.; consideration named, $20,000. Property is located just outside the city limits on the Traction company's right of way, about midway between Los Angeles and Hollywood. Purchasers will subdivide into ninety-five lots and put in street improvements and water and put it on the market at once.

Brisk Sales.

Frank B. Harbert & Co. bought of the Hannon heirs twelve acres on East Adams street, between Compton avenue and the Pacific road. The tract was subdivided into eighty-nine lots, averaging 40x120 feet each, and was known as Harbert & Butterworth's Adams-street tract. All the lots were sold within ten days; consideration named from $200 to $400. Majority of purchasers will build. Among the purchasers are J. H. Clancy, W. A. Caldwell, Clara Monroe, Barton Darlington, Dr. W. T. Holiday, W. L. Goodwin, Mrs. A. C. Gregory, William S. Stevens, Alice K. Parsons, Sam S. Parsons, R. S. Canvin, Mark G. Bruce, N. D. Darling, F. P. Wilson, Robert S. Stearns, J. P. Yates, Ben Harvity, C. A. Barnes, Walter Holst, W. O. Welch, James H. French, R. F. Smutzlorf, George W. Parsons, C. H. Haney, F. M. Vail, W. H. Bryant, Horace Wheeler, Mrs. James Henry, Nettie Baldwin, Ida Rose, Hattie Bartholemew and Charles O. Goodwin.

In Highland Park Tract.

Ralph Rogers & Co. report the sale since the 17th of last month of 126 lots, unimproved, in the Highland Park addition, at prices ranging from $100 to $300 and aggregating $25,000. Lots are 40x140 feet. Among the purchasers are Robert Tease, L. J. Johnson, Hy Fisker, W. C. Hubbell, Charles S. Hoag, Emily Barber, James G. Cortelyou, C. A. Dickenson, E. Fraser, F. C. Mond, C. D. Bond and others.

At Pasadena.

Dr. Henry West Hughes has purchased of H. S. McKee, through R. B. Dickson, 75x109 feet, on the northwest corner of Fair Oaks avenue and Dayton streets, Pasadena, with a three-story brick business building, 75x85 feet, known as the Doty Block; consideration named, $20,000. Mr. McKee purchased the property about a month ago from J. S. Cravens.

—o—

Restored to Public Domain.

A recent decision of the United States Supreme Court will have the effect of restoring about 1,000,000 acres in Southern California to the public domain. The lands are located along the line of the Southern Pacific Railroad between Mojava and the Needles, on the Colorado River. They comprise all the acreage contained in sections numbered 3, 7, 11, 15, 19, 23, 27, 31 and 35, in every township falling within the conflicting place limits of the grant to the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad of July, 1866, except where the railroad company has in the past sold such sections or portions of sections. Notification was received by the local land officers from the General Land Office at Washington, in the latter part of the week, and within sixty days after the official notification to the public, the land will be subject to entry under the general land laws of the United States.

Palm Place.

The tract bounded by Eleventh and Pico, Alvarado and Hoover streets, which is to be known as Palm Place, is soon to be placed on the market by Edward D. Silent & Co. For the past three months, large numbers of men and teams have been employed there almost continuously. As a result, the tract, when placed on the market will be complete in every detail. The streets will have been graded, sewered, graveled, curbed and guttered; cement sidewalks have been placed in front of every lot, and water pipe, gas pipe and water and sewer connections brought to the property line. The lots have all been graded to a uniform height above the sidewalks, and building restrictions of the most rigid character, both as to cost and alignment of dwellings, will insure the erection of desirable improvements. At the main entrance pillars, surmounted by electric lights have been placed, and from these large palms align the streets. The lots are all desirable, and the location is a good one. Frequent car service, a good neighborhood, and a magnificent view will combine to

FOR SALE—
(Cut this ad. out and save.)
A RARE BARGAIN FOR SOMEONE. IMMEDIATE POSSESSION GIVEN.

Buy it. Live in it as long as you care to. Then sell it. You can't possibly lose anything on it. You can make a thousand or two dollars. Meantime you'll have a nice place to live in, rent free. The owner is going away. He is obliged to make an immediate sale, and will take about half what it is actually worth. He will let it go for $6750.

It is a beautiful place, beautifully equipped for solid comfort. It is on a fine 120-foot street, with a 5-minute car service and 5-cent fare.

The house is a nice one. It has gas and electric fixtures, porcelain baths, instantaneous heater and all that, and presents handsome appearance, with its wide veranda and large colonial columns.

The grounds are spacious—100x250 feet—and highly improved. There are two or three groups of fine old sycamores, the pride of the place, that money couldn't buy. There are trees in abundance of other kinds, fruit and ornamental—beautiful trees, large and thrifty. There are at least a dozen orange trees alone, Washington navels, loaded down at present with fruit.

There is a $800 barn, and a number of other neat, nice-looking outhouses, for the Jersey, the chickens and the dog; and a stylish carriage and horse, and Columbia bicycle—chainless and brand new—and about a hundred fine thoroughbred chickens—Silver Laced Wyandottes.

Connected with the house by a porte-cochere, in a sort of pagoda, is a billiard-room that is a gem. It was designed and built for the purpose. In it is a fine new Brunswick-Balke-Collender billiard table and equipments, all of the very best, and corresponding with the elegant room.

The house is furnished throughout, tastefully and abundantly and "everything goes," carpets, furniture, silverware, book cases, bric-a-brac, china, Remington typewriter and roll-top desk, and fine library, worth in the neighborhood of $600.

This is the way the thing figures up:

Ground is worth, at least	$3500
Buildings, including barn, etc.	$4000
Furniture, including things in barn	$3500

The trees themselves should add another thousand dollars to the value of the place, and the horse, carriage, chickens, bicycles, tools, and other things unclassified, $500 more. There is more than $10,000 worth of value, as we can easily demonstrate to anyone who will take the trouble to call at our office and examine the inventory.

WE HAVE AN OPTION ON THE PROPERTY AT $6750. The house and its contents are insured for $5000. The ground is insured—against any possible flaw in the title—for $3200. Both policies will be assigned to the purchaser.

CRICHTON, SMITH & PERRY, 200 CURRIER BLDG.

It is a question the responsible business man frequently asks himself, "How can I acquire a home with my limited means, for when my 'rent' is paid and other daily necessaries are met, what surplus is left?" It is the adjustment of this "rent" money that we propose to show you how, by fair and honest methods, you can purchase a home by means of the "Rent Installment System."

The corporation whose interests we represent, are men of responsible standing and we simply ask a fair and impartial inquiry. Should you possess a lot, clear of incumbrance, investigate what our plan is, and if you decide to build, we will find the money at a fair rate of interest, furnish just such plans and specifications as you may require, and attend to the construction from start to finish. You have no trouble, no anxiety, or if you prefer your own contractor, that is your business. Will you call upon us?

We are sole agents for the following houses and many more. They are built by us, and every caution has been taken to make them conform to what is now required in a "strictly modern home."

$1600—With large lot, this cheerful 4-room cottage, porches, pantry, bath, hot and cold water, hard finish, everything new and most comfortable; lovely view of mountains; two miles nearer town from Hollywood; country air; 20 minutes' from heart of city; 5-cent fare; easy terms.

$2000—Two acres and a good ranch cottage of 5 rooms, city water, also flowing well; outbuildings and many bearing fruit trees. The whole is in excellent shape and well adapted for chicken raising; 25 minutes from Third and Spring; 5c fare; it is a splendid bargain.

$2850—Thoroughly modern 6-room house, just completed; large verandas, fine, airy rooms, cold closet, marble washstands, porcelain tub, linen closet, mantel, sliding doors, best of finish, electricity, delicately tinted walls; a great bargain in desirable location; southwest; easy terms.

$3250—Would like to show a prospective buyer what we consider the most up-to-date, new and modern, full 2-story, 7-room house, with large hall, finished in yellow pine, with many closets and conveniences, large bathroom with porcelain tub and washbowl, balcony, elegant hall, two sets of sliding doors, handsome sideboard and mantel. The house is well worth $4000, and no greater bargain is offered in this city today. Terms; southwest; fine location.

$3500—This lovely, 2-story, 7-room house, with large porch, fitted throughout with every modern contrivance and finished with the best of yellow pine; is in every way a most desirable home. Terms if necessary; southwest; fine location.

FOR SALE—

A WOMAN'S OPPORTUNITY.

For $8000—The equipment and good will of a well established select family hotel, in an aristocratic part of the city, full every day in the year and paying handsomely. It has cleared for its owner more than $20,000 in the past four years. The furnishings are all of an expensive kind, such as befit a first-class place. The opportunity, without any bonus, to step into a flourishing and extremely profitable business, is unusual. It isn't necessary that the payment should be all cash. Any reasonable terms would be conceded. Or any good city real estate, at a cash price, would be taken.

FOR SALE—

"If WE advertise it, it's so."

ALVARADO TERRACE.

WE HAVE STILL A FEW, A VERY FEW, LOTS LEFT FOR SALE IN THIS BEAUTIFUL TRACT AT THE ORIGINAL PRICES, AND TO PROSPECTIVE HOME OWNERS WE WOULD LIKE TO IMPRESS VERY STRONGLY A FEW OF THE MANY ATTRACTIONS OF THIS BEAUTIFUL TRACT.

FIRST, THE STREET WORK IS DONE AND PAID FOR. EVERYTHING USED IN THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE STREET FROM THE GRAVEL TO THE CEMENT WAS OF THE VERY BEST THAT COULD BE OBTAINED. THE IMPROVEMENTS WERE CONSTRUCTED IN A FIRST-CLASS MANNER AND NOTHING WAS LEFT UNDONE TO MAKE THIS A TRACT OF HOMES.

THE LOCATION IS AN IDEAL ONE, REACHED BY FOUR CAR LINES, BUT 12 MINUTES FROM THE CORNER OF SECOND AND SPRING STS., LYING BETWEEN PICO, 16TH, ALVARADO AND IOWA STS. IT IS IN THE HEART OF THE BON-TON RESIDENCE SECTION.

ALVARADO TERRACE, WHICH IS THE FEATURE OF THE TRACT, AND FROM WHICH IT TAKES ITS NAME, IS ONE OF THE HANDSOMEST STREETS IN THE CITY, LAID OUT ON A GENTLY-SWEEPING CURVE. IT REACHES FROM PICO TO THE JUNCTION OF ALVARADO AND HOOVER STS., AND IS UNIQUE IN ITS ATTRACTIVENESS.

WE MIGHT GO ON AND USE COLUMNS IN DESCRIBING THE BEAUTIES OF THIS TRACT, BUT WE WOULD STRONGLY URGE INTENDING PURCHASERS TO INVESTIGATE THOROUGHLY BOTH AS TO THE LOCATION ADVANTAGES AND THE PRICES BEFORE PURCHASING A HOME SITE. LOTS FROM $1500.

FOR SALE—

HIGHLAND PARK

2 LOTS, 75x200 EACH.

On beautiful Monte Vista ave., two short blocks from the electric line on Pasadena avenue; street graded, cement curb and sidewalk; all improvements paid for; gas, electricity; 5c carfare.

PRICE $800 EACH.

THIS IS ONLY ONE

of the many snaps we offer. Anything in Highland Park is a 100 per cent. bargain at present prices.

THERE ARE MORE MEN

at work in Highland Park, building good houses and grading streets, than you will find in the same area in any other part of the city.

THE REASON IS PLAIN.

No other part of the city offers such inducements to build good homes; the view is distinctively superb; the climate is incomparable; the neighborhood is exceptionally desirable; the complete equipment of modern conveniences is unsurpassed.

To buy intelligently, where you have access to all the best opportunities all the time, see

Real Estate.

LINERS.

FOR SALE—
City Lots and Lands.

FOR SALE—

TEN DOLLARS.
TEN DOLLARS,
TEN DOLLARS.

The above amount seems a small sum to base a fortune on, but remember, it is not always the amount invested, but the actual start that counts.

A well-known millionaire, with a national reputation for conservatism, said, "IF I WERE A YOUNG MAN, ANXIOUS FOR INDEPENDENCE, I WOULD INVEST MY SMALL SAVINGS IN A SMALL PIECE OF GOOD REAL ESTATE. WHEN I HAD IT PAID FOR, I WOULD PUT AWAY THE DEED AND FORGET I HAD IT. THEN I WOULD BEGIN PAYING ON ANOTHER."

WHY DON'T YOU BEGIN NOW?

Perhaps you have lacked a sufficient sum to commence on, have not been satisfied as to the investment offered. If those are your reasons, you are the person who ought to read this.

WHAT WE OFFER.

For $10 cash and $10 per month, until paid for, we offer you a choice, level building lot, 50 feet by 130 feet to an alley, fronting on a 60-foot street.

The price of lots ranges from $200 to $250 for inside lots, $30 additional for corners.

You are under no additional expense for interest or taxes, during the time you are paying for your lot.

FOR INSTANCE, you desire to purchase a $200 lot; you pay $10 cash and nineteen consecutive monthly payments of $10 each, at the conclusion of which you receive a deed and an unlimited certificate of title by the Title Insurance & Trust Co., showing your lot to be free and clear of incumbrance.

Your payments after the first are all made to a bank, which acts as trustee for you, thus insuring the delivery of your lot upon the completion of your payments.

THE LOCATION OF THIS PROPERTY.

The lots are located between Santa Monica and Melrose aves., Vine and Gower sts., in the Hollywood section, and in the exact center of the beautiful Cahuenga Valley, commanding a fine view of the mountains and the sea.

On Santa Monica ave., the north boundary of the tract, is the Los Angeles Pacific electric cars, running from Santa Monica to the center of the city.

Along Vine st. and Melrose ave. is the private right of way of the Traction Company, which has agreed to complete and operate an electric car line from Hollywood to the center of the city, running through the beautiful Westlake section, connecting at First st. and Vermont ave. with the present terminal of the Traction Westlake line. The road is to be completed and operated by September 1, 1903.

With the completion of this line, our tract will be bounded on three sides with electric car lines.

SURROUNDINGS AND COMPARATIVE PRICES.

About four blocks to the north is Sunset boulevard, one of the finest roadways in Los Angeles county, and a part of the proposed Hollywood boulevard system.

Lots on the boulevard are selling for $15 to $25 per front foot, and acreage for $1000 up.

About two blocks further north is Prospect ave. and the electric car line; magnificent homes and beautifully improved grounds border on this thoroughfare and acreage and lots command large prices.

Two blocks west along Prospect ave. is the magnificent home of Paul de Longpre, the famous artist. Near here also are the stores and postoffice of Hollywood.

REASONS WHY THE INVESTMENT IS GOOD.

Because the location is healthful.

Because the land is comparatively level and ready to build on.

Because the car service will soon be of the very best.

Because it is only twenty-five minutes' ride to town.

Because the lots are selling for proportionately less money than you can buy acreage, unimproved, in the same vicinity.

Because the terms are such that any man or woman can secure a lot.

Because the investment is safe and a profit is sure.

REMEMBER,
NEARLY ONE-HALF OF THEM SOLD. ONLY TEN DOLLARS IS REQUIRED DOWN.
YOU PAY NO INTEREST, NO TAXES.

FOR SALE—

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL RESIDENCE SECTION OF LOS ANGELES.

COMPRISING
AND WESTMORELAND HEIGHTS

We are agents for both of these tracts and can offer you some of the best bargains in home sites to be had in the city.

When you consider the high, sightly location; the extensive improvements already in, the building restrictions, such as to insure the very highest class of residences; with all apartment-houses, flats and the like prohibited; you will certainly agree with us that the prices are far below the usual prices asked for this class of residence property. Following are a few of the good buys we have in West Adams Heights:

$1350—60x143, east front on Oxford ave.
$1500—60x130, west front on Western ave.
$2000—75x160, west front on Hobart blvd.
$2500—75x220, east front on Hobart blvd.
$2500—57x160, west front on Harvard blvd.
$2850—75x160, west front on Hobart blvd.
$3000—75x150, east front on Hobart blvd.
$2500—75x160, east front on Harvard blvd.
$5000—100x160, east front on Harvard blvd.

$900—100x60, west front on Church st.
$875—50x117, east front on Harvard blvd.
$825—50x117, east front on Church st.
$800—50x117, west front on Hobart blvd.
$800—50x117, west front on Harvard blvd.

Both these tracts are beautifully laid out with winding boulevards, streets graded and graveled, with palms and black acacias planted between the curb and sidewalks and with massive stone gateways at each entrance. If you want a fine home site, call and see us.

FOR SALE—

——HARVARD HEIGHTS——

ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY-FOUR LOTS AT PRICES FROM $600 TO $1350.

HARVARD HEIGHTS is bounded on the south by Washington st. and the West Adams Heights tract; on the west by Western ave. and the Harvard School (from which the tract takes its name;) and on the north by Pico st. and the Country Club.

The improvements now being made will cost over $25,000.

The surfacing of the streets will be of disintegrated granite in place of gravel.

The sidewalks will be cemented five feet wide with cement curbs.

Mountain water will be carried into the tract in four-inch pipes.

Only individual two-story homes may be built; the same to be placed not less than twenty feet from the front line of the lot, and to cost not less than $2000.

Two weeks ago we called attention for the first time to the fifty-foot lots on Oxford ave., which were priced at $700 for east fronts and $650 for west fronts, and suggested that intending buyers in the West Adams Heights country compare them with the prices for other lots in their vicinity. We have received since that time substantial evidences that those who took the trouble to investigate did not buy the other lots. We still have a few of these lots left.

WE HAVE ONE LOT IN THE TRACT—A NORTH FRONT, OVER FIFTY-SEVEN FEET WIDE, THAT IS PRICED AT SEVEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY DOLLARS. THIS LOT LIES ABOUT THIRTY-SIX INCHES ABOVE THE LEVEL OF THE STREET AND FRONTS A SUPERB MOUNTAIN VIEW.

Over one-half of the One Hundred and Twenty-five lots in this beautiful Tract sold out in less than Ten Days. Those left are equally as choice as those sold, as there is not a key lot in the Tract. Without a question they are the cheapest lots and the best bargains in the swell residence section of the Southwest. Cement walks, cement curb, street grading, mountain water and electricity included in the price of each lot.

If you are looking for a home site or an investment do not fail to inspect these properties. Two car lines give unexcelled car service.

FOR SALE—HERE'S A MONEY-MAKER for $12,000; there's $15,000 profit in it, too. Yesterday it was $11,500. Owner raised price today and notified us price would be $13,000 after April 1. He's justified doing this, as we can prove, if you will call on us. It's the best located, and cheapest 13 acres in Los Angeles. Where, did you ask? Why, corner of Figueroa st. and Vernon ave. Close on this bargain quick and save $1000 on the purchase price. You lost $500 by not buying yesterday. Terms, did you ask? Call, and we'll surprise you on that point. We'll also show you a dandy scheme for making $15,000 quick with the 60 lots, 50x150, this tract will subdivide into. Take warning; we're only the agents. We must obey owner's orders. Remember, today $12,000; April 1, $13,000. Don't forget; there's $15,000 in this proposition for you. THE BOWMAN REAL ESTATE & MINING EXCHANGE, 230½ S. Broadway. 15

FOR SALE— Business Property

FOR SALE—BUSINESS PROPERTY—
SPRING STREET.
SPRING STREET.

If you are thinking of making an investment, why not buy the best? While it will require more cash to buy in the vicinity of our office (which is and will be the center,) but the satisfaction it will give you, knowing you have invested where you are absolutely safe and sure winner for the future will more than overbalance the extra amount of cash required.

WE WANT TO CALL
Your attention to
SPRING STREET.

We have "one," "two," "three," "four," "five" pieces of Spring street frontage. All within two blocks of the corner of Third and Spring st., with improvements paying on old leases a percentage worthy of the investments. We will be pleased to go into full details of this valuable Spring st. property and the price we will quote we assure will be such that the similar Gilded-Edge Spring st. property cannot be duplicated at prices we will quote.

MAIN STREET.
MAIN STREET.

The best large corner, highly improved, with monthly income of $850 a month, the building on portion is new, up-to-date and the remaining portion with other buildings could be remodeled to make pay a larger monthly revenue than at present, by far, we consider this the best buy. Location considered on Main st.

OLIVE STREET.
OLIVE STREET.

We have two fine corners on Olive st., both large, with improvements on one, the other unimproved. The last-named is the largest corner on Olive.

NEAR BROADWAY AND SECOND STS.
NEAR BROADWAY AND SECOND STS.

$50,000—Will buy a business block, almost new, with frontage 50x150, with a monthly income paying about 8 per cent. on the investment of $50,000.

MAPLE AVENUE.

The best little buy east of Main, 70x120, with two good cottages, renting at $50 a month, on Maple ave., right near Fifth st., where propery is selling at $400 per foot. "If it is a bargain you want, investigate this."

FIFTH STREET.
FIFTH STREET.

The only 82½x100 to alley on Fifth st.; fine large frontage; ripe for business block or rooming-house; the price is $50 cheaper than adjoining properties.

CENTRAL AVE. CENTRAL AVE.
CENTRAL AVE. CENTRAL AVE.

Why do you overlook Central ave.? It is a strictly business thoroughfare and not like ¾ of our other business streets, as the city is, will be widened. Central ave. is 80 feet wide and runs direct to the ocean, with hardly a crook or turn; all improvements now on street except paving, which will soon be to Adams.

$3500—Think of that 50x100 on the east side of Central ave., between Fifth and Sixth sts., with two small stores on same, renting at $50 a month, the cheapest frontage on street.

$1650—A little further south on the east side of Central ave., 80x120, which we consider a good buy.

$65 PER FOOT, ONLY $65 PER FOOT.

Takes that fine large frontage on the west side of Central ave., just north of Ninth st.; 104x170; "note the size and location;" both Central and Ninth sts. coming business sts.; both to be payed at once, and the corner of Ninth and Central is a busy corner; as an investment or quick turn, we advise this frontage.

$50 per foot, only $50 per foot, that nice frontage on east side of Central ave., just south of Ninth st., 80x120, and the price cannot be duplicated; looking directly down 10th st.

$40 per foot, $40 per foot on the west side of Central ave., a little farther south from the above, 100x170; fine large piece of frontage; a building or buildings would pay handsomely on this property.

A SOUTHWEST CORNER.
A SOUTHWEST CORNER.

We can direct you to the finest large improved business corner in the southwest, income from business block, paying a good dividend now, and could be made to double by a little expenditure; 4 electric car lines; car every 2 or 3 minutes. For an investment of $12,000, this is highly recommended.

TRIANGULAR LOTS,
IN LOS ANGELES ARE SCARCE.

There is just such a lot at the junction of Main and Broadway; it faces on both streets; you get the benefit of the traffic on all our three principal streets,

BROADWAY, SPRING, MAIN.

You might say they all converge at this point; such a lot is bound to be valuable. In fact, if it were improved today with a three-story brick building (we have plans and figures,) it would pay 7½ per cent. net on a total investment of $51,600; this sound good.

We can prove it.
It's a gilt-edge investment.
It's sure to advance in value.

Very few big tenants forget it!
The lot adjoins Barker Bros.' store.
The price is only $3600 per foot!
IT'S A "CINCH" FOR "CENTER!"

Surrounded by sky-scrapers that secure your investment and insure your profits.

"Spring and Fourth" property is the best in Los Angeles, because it will be THE CENTER of the BUSINESS CENTER of Greater Los Angeles!

Property in the business center of Greater Los Angeles will be worth from $5000 to $10,000 per front foot from the year 1910 to 1920!

Why don't I keep it? I am going to keep the mate to it, but can't keep both! Absolutely the only reason.

You can pay $100,000 down and leave $80,000 on it, at 4½ per cent., or, you can pay $50,000 down, give me $50,000 worth of other Spring street property lower down, the street at its full value (and I know and appreciate what that is,) and leave $80,000 on this at 4½ per cent.

This property is only 160 feet south of the 12-story building, corner of Fourth.

FOR SALE—
A BIG BARGAIN.
425 COURT ST.
Owing to serious illness, I will sell this property at less than the lot is worth. The lot is 61x130½, with furnished house of 13 large rooms, besides bathroom, closets, halls and basement, with laundry, outbuildings, etc. It is on the everlasting hills, the highest point in the city, near the Bradbury mansion, and only two blocks from First and Broadway. Commands a magnificent view of the mountains and a flood of sunshine always. With a little improvements, a family could occupy the first floor and rent the upper rooms for 18 per cent. on the investment. Would pay big as a boarding or rooming-house or make an elegant home. FOR SALE—CALIFORNIA SCHOOL LANDS; Remember, California school lands are the cheapest, safest and easiest lands to acquire in America; no conditions on them, and some of the finest oil properties are on California school lands; as an investment or for a farm or ranch to men and women alike they far excel ordinary speculations.
The lands abound in all counties in the State; a few localities will convince you:
100 acres near Chatsworth Park, $5 acre.
640 acres near Palmdale, $2.50 acre.
640 acres near Mojave Station, $2.
480 acres near Tehachepi, $2.
320 acres near San Emelio, $3.
160 acres near Sunset wells, $3.
240 acres in Cuyuma Valley, $2.
160 acres, Santa Maria River, $20.
320 acres near San Luis Obispo, $2.50.
640 acres near Creston, $3.
640 acres near San Ardo, $4.
320 acres near San Simeon, $3.
On the Victor and Hiawatha oil and water districts we have yet some rare opportunities; some convincing proofs, viz.—
Section 16, twp. 5 N., R. 5 W., $5 acre, near the famous "Victor" artesian well.
Section 26, twp. 9 N., R. 5 W., $2.50 acre, near the Hiawatha Oil Company lands.
Down in the Indio water (artesian) belt district some very choice reasonable sections, where a hundred wells abound.
320 acres, section 2, twp. 6 S., 7 E., $5 acre; two miles south of Indio and near wells.
Section 16, twp. 7 S., 10 E., $2.50 acre; near Watters.
In the Imperial and East Side districts a few snaps yet to be had—
Section 16, twp. 15 S., 14 E., $3.50 acre.
Section 16, twp. 15 S., 13 E., $5 acre.
Section 16, twp. 14 S., 16 E., $2.50 acre.
In the central and northern counties choice ranches and timber lands, and secure investments; don't delay; send stamp for land book. WISEMAN'S LAND BUREAU (established 1881,) 105 S. Broadway. 15

FOR SALE—
WHITTIER.
In the growing foothill town, 12 miles east of Los Angeles, on the S. P. Ry., and soon to have the Huntington electric road, I have for sale 10 acres within 5 blocks of the business center, containing a good two-story house with fireplace and mantels, both up and down stairs, bath, screens, etc. The time is ripe for subdividing this tract, and an excellent opportunity is afforded for some one to make a handsome profit. It is owned by a non-resident, who cannot look after it, and I can sell it for less than it is worth. Owner might assume or pay cash difference up to $5000 for first-class walnut grove or income city property. Address AGENT, D, box 29, TIMES OFFICE. 15

FOR SALE—EDGECLIFF.

W. H. TOWNSEND & CO., Hollywood, Cal.

This beautiful property is located on Franklin ave., midway between Homer Laughlin's beautiful place and J. H. Rapp's world-wide renowned pineapple ranch. The land is worth all we will ask you for the place, to say nothing of the $8000 worth of improvements on the land.

This place contains 10 acres of land, 8 of which have been brought under a high state of cultivation. The balance is terraced, and with a bright display of flowers can be made the most beautiful place in Hollywood. The house contains 12 large rooms commanding a magnificent sweeping view of the whole valley from mountains to sea. There is a large barn, also pumping plant, with independent water right. You can never appreciate this property until you see it, and take in its manifold attractions. It is worth a trip across the continent to see the wonderful vista opened up before you from Edgecliff.

Beach Property.

FOR SALE—

"If WE advertise it, it's so."

REDONDO BEACH.

WE WISH TO STRONGLY URGE UPON PROSPECTIVE PURCHASERS OF SEASIDE PROPERTY THE NECESSITY OF MAKING THEIR PURCHASES AND SELECTING THEIR LOTS BEFORE THE GREAT SPRING RUSH COMMENCES.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PURCHASE REDONDO PROPERTY, AND FOR THE FOLLOWING REASONS;

THE PRICES AT WHICH IT IS OFFERED ARE VERY MUCH BELOW THOSE QUOTED AT OTHER BEACH RESORTS.

THE THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS BEING SPENT IN IMPROVEMENTS ARE RESULTING IN BEAUTIFUL BROAD STREETS, CEMENT WALKS AND CURBS, AND PAVED GUTTERS, PLACING THE STREETS OF REDONDO IN THE VERY FRONT RANK OF MUNICIPAL IMPROVEMENTS.

ON THE BEACH FRONT THE UNSIGHTLY SMALL COTTAGES ARE FAST BEING REMOVED AND THEIR PLACES RAPIDLY FILLED WITH UP-TO-DATE MODERN SEASIDE COTTAGES; WHEN A FEW OF THESE HAVE BEEN COMPLETED IT WILL ADD VERY MATERIALLY TO THE APPEARANCE OF THE OCEAN BEACH ADDITION, AND PRICES OF PROPERTY ARE BOUND TO ADVANCE VERY RAPIDLY.

THE OPENING OF THE SURF LINE OF ELECTRIC CARS FROM SANTA MONICA SOUTH TO REDONDO, TOGETHER WITH THE SPLENDID SERVICE BEING GIVEN BY THE LOS ANGELES AND REDONDO R. R., INSURES RAPID AND FREQUENT TRANSPORTATION.

DURING THE PAST TWO WEEKS A LARGE AMOUNT OF PROPERTY HAS CHANGED HANDS IN REDONDO, AND MANY SUBSTANTIAL IMPROVEMENTS ARE ALREADY IN COURSE OF CONSTRUCTION AND CONTEMPLATED.

THERE IS NOT A VACANT HOUSE IN REDONDO, IN FACT, THE WHOLE TOWN IS IMBUED WITH AN AIR OF BUSTLING ACTIVITY, WHICH IS A FORERUNNER OF THE BUSY AND PROSPEROUS SUMMER THAT IS BEFORE US.

THE MORAL OF ALL THIS IS VISIT REDONDO, ASK OUR AGENTS, HINMAN & CAVANAH, TO SHOW YOU THE PROPERTY, THEN BUY A LOT. OUR WORD FOR IT, IT WILL PROVE A MOST PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

I KNOW BETTER NOW.

When I began to sell trusses 16 years ago, I carried a stock of hand-me-downs—honestly thought that they could be used with satisfaction. I soon learned better, and have devoted the best part of that 16 years to finding out just how to make a truss to fit each particular case as it comes before me for scientific examination.

If you have ever worn a hand-me-down you know what I mean—know that it has done you more hurt than good. Now come to me and find out the right thing to do.

KINGMAN MINERS STAMPEDE.

Report of Rich Strike Starts Them Going—Local Capital in New Mexico. Oro Blanco Active.

There is excitement in Kingman, Ariz., over a fabulously rich strike reported to have been made in the El Dorado country, about forty miles from Kingman.

The new find was made by Mexicans, who had been prospecting in the country along the Colorado River. Last week they discovered a ledge of quartz, much of the rock carrying free gold. A few shots were put in, and the ore grew richer with every foot.

Work was kept up for a few days until one of the Mexicans had to go to Kingman for supplies. He showed some of the ore, and there was a stampede of mining men headed for the new field. The rush began Wednesday of last week, and many are leaving Kingman daily.

LOCAL PEOPLE IN IT.

The Steeple Rock Development Company of Steeple Rock district, N. M., after failing to work its properties, is now leasing some of them, says the El Paso Herald. The Summit mine has been leased to James T. and Andrey Tong. The Jim Crow is likely to be leased to Los Angeles people, and some Tucson people may get the tailings pile.

ACTIVITY IN ORO BLANCO.

In the Oro Blanco district of Arizona much activity prevails. The Oceanic, which recently changed hands, has been equipped with a Merralls mill and is making good clean-ups regularly.

The Old Glory mine has been sold by McIsh to the Baker syndicate of Philadelphia. New machinery has been ordered, the mine thoroughly overhauled and further development work actively pushed.

In the Santa Catalina Mountains, McAdale has struck a large body of copper ore, from eighteen to twenty feet in width, carrying 10 per cent. copper, fifteen to fifty ounces silver and some gold a ton. Recently 600 tons were taken out by three men in thirty days. The distance from railroad precludes hauling, but with plenty of wood and water, the ore could be handled on the spot. An English expert visited the property and closed a bond on the same. Figures at present are not made public.

SANTA MONICA.
CITY HALL OPENING.

SANTA MONICA, March 14.—The committee appointed to arrange for the formal opening of the new City Hall met Thursday evening. A. R. Fraser presided and J. C. Hemingway was secretary. It was arranged to have the opening on next Thursday evening. A large number of invitations will be sent to other cities.

The Santa Monica Investment Company is about to commence the construction of four houses.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Holmes and Miss Holmes have gone to Loma Linda.

The book rooms of the Santa Monica Public Library will be closed until next Saturday, during which period the library will be removed to the new City Hall. The reading rooms will be kept open most of the time.

Mrs. M. H. Ovevrton and family of Memphis, Tenn.; C. T. Montgomery and J. M. Plant of San Francisco, O. C. Davidson of Iron Mountain, Mich., and P. W. Allen of Virginia City, Mont., are staying at the Arcadia.

The Delano Guitar and Mandolin Club gave an entertainment at the Lincoln School auditorium Friday evening under the auspices of the High School.

"Ask and ye shall receive," if you put a "Liner" in The Times. Telephone your wants to Main 95 and our Santa Monica agency will take your ad and send it to the main office.

The Most Extensive Stock of Women's Tailor-made Garments in the City.

While we have not received our full stock yet, tomorrow our showing of women's tailor-made garments is by far the largest in the city. Any woman who visits our department and gives it a moment's glance will be convinced of this truth. You will be impressed by the extreme exclusiveness of every suit, skirt, and jacket. No one can deny the brilliant novelty, the rich dignity, and the charming becomingness of our modes which have been selected with the greatest personal care by our own buyer. No woman would make the error of purchasing a single item in the way of tailor made garments without visiting this big department which has become the headquarters for correct style.

New Spring Suits.

Our stock embraces all the latest novelties in twines, etamine, broadcloth, camel's hair, wool albatros, lansdown, Venetians, voile and crepe de chene. All the newest ideas in style, all sorts of colorings. Prices $12.50 to $75.00.

Spring Suits $19.50

At this price we shall sell the swellest styles in etamine, Venetian cloth, voile, broad cloth, and novelty mixtures. Come with the latest shoulder cape effects, also the new collarless eton with postillion backs, skirts with nine gore flare, in plain or fancy effects, lined or unlined. A splendid value for $25.00.

Swell Suit $27.50.

At this price you may choose from camel's hair, basket weave, or changeable effects in electric blue, black, red brown, grey mixtures, black and grey, or black and white effects. Suits that would easily enough sell at $35. They come trimmed with plain silk or plaid effects in rich colorings to harmonize with the materials, piped with silk and finished with silk covered buttons.

$5.00 Silk Waists $3.75.

This waist is made of beautiful peau de chene, in rose, pink, blue, cream, ivory white, black, and other colorings. Comes with the newest puff sleeves, in the most winsome new designs. A regular $5.00 value at $3.75.

Silk Monte Carlos $13.50.

We mention this garment because it would retail ordinarily at $20.00. It is charmingly designed of nice silk with lace collar of black and white lace; the newest puff sleeves, trimmed with silk ornaments and lace.

Silk Monte Carlos.

We cannot speak of our suit departmet without a word about silk monte carlos, our stock is so large and including, as it does, every new and fashionable mode that has been produced in New York. They come richly trimmed, lined with the daintiest satins, and range in price from $12.50 to $50.00.

New Spring Skirts.

Both for street wear and dress occasions our skirt stock is complete with every new idea. We doubt if any two stores together show more skirts, and certainly no store offers so wide a selection of strictly new and select styles. Prices are here to suit every purse and styles to please every taste. Prices range from $4.50 to $27.50.

Grand Opening of Suit Department Thursday, March 19th. Watch for later announcement.

Preliminary Showing in Our New Millinery Department. Correct and Most Fetching Styles in Hats.

Tomorrow we direct attention to our preliminary showing of millinery. In inaugurating this new department we have been most careful to select only the most fashionable, modish and becoming hats. While our opening will not be made until Thursday, yet the preliminary showing gives an idea of what may be expected, and in itself rivals many an opening that would win applause. Our present variety of hats presents the most select and pleasing stock in the city. Prices will be invariably moderate.

Grand Millinery Opening, Thursday, March 19th. Watch for announcement to be made later.

HOUSE AND LOT.

Buy to Improve.

A noticeable fact in connection with present developments is that the major portion of the low-priced unimproved lots that are being picked up here and there, are bought for improvement with homes. The report of sales of this class by Croake & McCann during the past fortnight, harmonizes with this statement. It includes the following: For W. H. Workman to Daniel W. Walsh, 50x161 feet, east side of Chicago street, 210 feet south of Fourth street, $600, and purchaser is now erecting a $2000 six-room modern cottage, according to plans previously published in this department; for Samuel Strohm to Eugene S. Platt, 50x221 feet, west side of Lakeshore avenue, between Montana and Scott streets, $400, and a six-room cottage will be built; for W. C. Hooker to George B. Gordon, 40x130 feet, south side of Seventh, forty feet east of Mateo street, $800, and buyer will build a frame bakery; for E. R. Fox to John Thorson and Gotfred Hanson, each, a lot, 46x128 feet, on Dewey avenue, between San Marino and Tenth streets, $400 apiece, and purchasers will both improve with modern cottages; and to various other parties, most of whom buy to improve, similar priced lots aggregating about $16,000.

An Exchange.

Mrs. Lizzie B. Cecil has sold to Mrs. Rebecca S. Albain, through the Erkenbrecher syndicate, 50x127 feet, on the west side of Grand avenue, between California street and Bellevue avenue, with a twelve-room frame dwelling, and received in payment a lot, 46x131 feet, with six-room cottage, No. 923 Judson street, and the stated sum of $2800.

In the Bell Tract.

Purchases in the Bell tract continue brisk. Grider & Hamilton report the sale of twelve unimproved lots during the first four days of the week, at prices ranging from $250 to $1750, and aggregating $5662. Among them are a five-acre lot on the north side of Bell avenue, between California and Bear avenues, to H. A. Slayton, $1750; 100x190 feet, west side of Corona, between Baker and Bell avenues, to Charles Stafford, $250; 171x600 feet, northwest corner of Florence and Bernal avenues, to W. R. Cooper, $750. Among the other purchasers are: L. S. Hunter, Mrs. C. C. Bruington, John Graft, Julia Wright, W. H. Dudley and Emily McDonald.

Real Estate Notes.

Frank A. Bowles has purchased of R. Verch, through C. W. Nicklin, 100x120 feet, unimproved, on the north side of Arnold street, between Bixel and Lucas streets; consideration named, $3100, and will erect a substantial residence on the premises for a home for himself and family.

E. B. Conklin has purchased of C. C. Case, through the agencies of Cortelyou & Whitcomb and Goodenow & McClung, 50x155 feet, on the east side of Bonnie Brae, fifty feet north of Fifth street, unimproved; consideration named, $1750, and will build a home on premises.

Mrs. L. Simonsen has purchased of Frank Schmitz 75x190 feet on the west side of Main street, 200 feet south of Fortieth street, unimproved, and 40x175 feet, unimproved, on the north side of Forty-first west of Main and forming an L with the first lot; consideration named, $1200. The purchaser owns a lot on Main street just north of the one first described, and her recent purchase gives her a frontage of 250 feet on that thoroughfare, which she intends to improve with substantial buildings in the near future.

A. C. Leighton has purchased of J. D. Newman a portion of lots 28 and 29 in Grider & Dow's Adams-street tract, 50x150 feet each, on the south side of Adams street, fifty feet west of Stanford avenue, with a substantial frame dwelling; consideration named, $3500.

Ida Betz sells to W. G. Buffinger, who buys for a home, through Lang & Co., 50x117½ feet, with six-room cottage, No. 1317 Vermont avenue; consideration named, $2250. Same firm sells for William J. Anderson to Sarah Dillon, for a home, 46x120 feet, on the east side of New Hampshire between Twelfth and Pico streets, with a new six-room cottage; consideration named, $3200. Also for other properties during past ten days small properties aggregating about $20,600.

Bert Fisher has sold to Charles Hoffman, through J. R. Kirkpatrick, 46x128 feet, unimproved, west side Hobson between Twelfth and Pico streets; consideration named, $750. Purchaser will build a modern cottage on property for a home.

DOINGS OF BUILDERS AND ARCHITECTS.

NORMALLY ACTIVE CONDITIONS PREVAIL IN THIS LINE.

Buildings Begun and Completed in Various Parts of the City—Important Manufacturing Buildings Included in List of New Structures.

First Ward	8
Second Ward	3
Third Ward	1
Fourth Ward	12
Fifth Ward	9
Sixth Ward	20
Seventh Ward	2
Ninth Ward	4

Of these, fifty-one were dwellings and eight business buildings.

The number of buildings begun was one hundred, eleven of them being business buildings and the remainder dwellings, distributed as follows:

First Ward	11
Second Ward	8
Third Ward	8
Fourth Ward	10
Fifth Ward	20
Sixth Ward	50
Seventh Ward	4
Eighth Ward	4
Ninth Ward	5

Work in the building line continues active, and the houses of all kinds that are being erected seem to be substantial, well-built structures.

The number of permits issued last week by Julius W. Krause, City Superintendent of Buildings, was 125. The improvements authorized amounted to $216,241, and were divided as follows:

Ward—	No. permits.	Valuations.
First	14	$19,480
Second	10	10,300
Third	9	38,285
Fourth	14	41,405
Fifth	21	36,435
Sixth	35	36,645
Seventh	10	22,066
Eighth	5	3,875
Ninth	7	7,750

The number of permits issued so far this month is 256, and the improvements authorized aggregate $468,516.

An Organ Factory.

Elsewhere in this department is shown a sketch of the new organ factory that is to be erected for the Murray M. Harris Organ Company, on a lot, 150x300 feet, on the northeast corner of Alameda and Seventh streets. It will be a two and three-story brick structure, which will front 110 feet on Alameda and 280 feet on Seventh street, and cost about $55,000. When completed it will be the largest organ factory in the United States, and also one of the best equipped.

The necessity for this building is caused by the steady growth and expansion of the business of the company. Eight years ago Mr. Harris secured a small single-story building on New High street and began making organs. Four years thereafter his growing business necessitated larger quarters, and he moved to the building at Nos. 754-760 San Fernando street, which he now occupies. Four years ago Mr. Harris employed twelve men; now the company which bears his name employs sixty men, and has work for many more. One of the orders that will be filled in the new building is that for the famous organ that is to be for the permanent use of the Kansas City Convention Hall, and which next year is to be on exhibition at the World's Fair at St. Louis.

The company is now shipping organs to several Eastern States, and when the machinery of its new factory is put in operation it expects to ship a still greater number.

The central portion of that building, which is 60x120 feet, is to be three stories high; the rest two stories. In the central portion of the house will be the offices of the company and the "setting-up" room. The offices will be finished in oak, with trimmings of dull brass, and glass work of heavy plate and fine art glass. The building will also contain a millroom, machinery-room, caseroom, case-finishing-room, metal-piperoom, voicing-room, bellows and chestroom and stockroom. It will be supplied with modern conveniences and the finest machinery and equipment that can be had. The machinery will all be run by electricity, and in the dry kiln, which will be provided, a carload of lumber can be steamed and kiln dried without taxing its capacity.

The plans of the improvements were prepared by Architect John C. Austin, and they will be put up under his supervision. It is expected that the building will be ready for delivery to the company in about ninety days.

A Convention Hall.

The enactment of the Convention Hall Bill into a law seems to be assured. The committee on selection of a site and on preparation of an ordinance calling for an election to provide for the issuance of the necessary bonds has been appointed, and it seems that the day for the undertaking of this much-needed improvement is drawing near.

In the Nevin Tract.

Architect John P. Krempel is preparing the plans for a residence that is to be erected for G. A. Olshausen on a lot of the Nevin tract, located on the southeast corner of St. Andrews Place and Dorchester street. It will be a decidedly handsome building, of modern design and finish, and it will cost between $15,000 and $20,000.

For a Builders' Association.

A number of the leading builders and contractors of the city met at the rooms of the Builders' Exchange, in the Stimson Block, in the early part of the week, and canvassed the question of forming a Master Builders' Association. A committee, consisting of J. S. Hall, S. T. Eldridge, E. C. Shipley, W. S. Daubenspech and A. W. Morrison, was appointed to formulate a general plan of organization, and to report at a subsequent meeting to be held at the same place next Tuesday. At that time it is expected that an organization will be effected.

For South Hill Street.

H. Lechler has had plans prepared by Architect A. L. Haley for a four-story brick building, which he intends erecting on the east side of Hill street, 87½ south of Third street. It will be a batchelors' apartment house, and will cost about $37,000. Arrangements are already made for leasing the building from date of completion.

For the California Club.

The work of excavating for the foundation of the California Club building was begun last week, and the erection of the handsome five-story brick structure, which is to be put up for the use of the club on the northwest corner of Fifth and Hill streets, will now proceed without unnecessary delay. It was designed by Architect John Parkinson, will be erected under his supervision, and will cost about $200,000. The funds were raised by the sale of stock to the members of the club, many of whom are among the wealthy men of the city.

Figueroa, Between Seventh and Eighth.

S. H. Tolhurst is having plans prepared for a three-story frame and brick apartment house, which he will erect on the east side of Figueroa, between Seventh and Eighth streets. It will contain six six-room flats, will cost about $15,000, and will be put up under the supervision of Architect A. L. Haley.

Building Notes.

Architects Garrett & Bixby have prepared plans, taken out a permit and awarded the contract for a two-story frame apartment house that is to be put up for Frank L. Geyer at Nos. 740 to 744 South Figueroa street. It will contain four six-room flats. The principal contract has been awarded to C. C. Durkee and calls for an expenditure of $7000.

Architect A. L. Haley has prepared for David Ammann of Hollywood plans for a twenty-four room, two-story frame apartment house, terraced, which he will have erected on the south side of Third street between Figueroa and Fremont streets, at a cost of about $6000.

Same architect has prepared plans for a ten-room, two-story frame residence for William Ferguson. It will be erected on the northeast corner of Rampart and Eighth streets, and will cost $6000.

Following are among the plans for new buildings taken from the Builder and Contractor:

Architect F. Parmentier has prepared plans for F. H. Westfeldt for a two-story, eight-room residence, frame and cobblestone masonry, to be built in Edmond's Adams-street tract.

Architect C. F. Shilling has prepared plans for F. U. Nofziger for a nine-room bungalow, to be located on the corner of Michigan avenue and Breed street.

Also, for W. G. Bradshaw for two two-story, seven-room residences to be built in the Westlake district.

Architect F. R. Dorn has prepared plans for Mrs. Katrina Williams of two flats, one of five and one of six rooms, to be built on Bond street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth.

Architect R. B. Young has prepared plans for J. G. Rounevan for a nine-room, two-story and basement frame residence, to be built on the corner of Twenty-second and Western avenue.

Architect C. E. Wolfe has prepared plans for E. R. Ravis of a six-room cottage with bath, cooler, pantry, china closet and other conveniences, to be built on Fifth and Hamilton streets, Pomona. It will have stone foundation and inside finish of Oregon pine.

Building Permits.

Following are among the permits for new buildings issued by the City Superintendent of Buildings:

For E. L. Hopper, at No. 2718 Kenwood street, an eight-room residence, to cost $3500.

Voting for a Husband.

M. Raymond Bayle has hit upon a novel scheme for securing the support of the voters of Valence at the forthcoming Parliamentary election. He has circulated the following notice to the constituency:

"My Dear Fellow-citizens: I am a bachelor. Should you have the good fortune to elect me as your representative, I will choose my wife from the community which gives me the most votes. I will also give a bachelor dinner to all my electors. In the case of two different communities plumping for me equally, I will give the dinner to the one and marry a girl from the other."—[London Express.

ROCKEFELLER BUBBLES NOT.

How the Richest Man Spends His Days in Pasadena.

Talks to the Handsomest Woman Recently Introduced.

Comes Down to Breakfast Early and Eats Like a Healthy Man.

If America has a moneyed aristocracy John D. Rockefeller must be pretty well up in the peerage; but there is absolutely nothing in his appearance, manner or conduct at Hotel Green to distinguish him from the common herd unless it be his preternaturally bald head, upon which he does not wear a diamond tiara, neither a wig.

As for diamonds, he doesn't sport any at all.

He and Mrs. Rockefeller come into breakfast at an unfashionably early hour—the Standard Oil magnate well ahead, and stepping with solemn mein as if he felt the soft pile of the church aisle carpet under his feet. He wears a plain coat and an expression of content, and his wife isn't given to gewgaws.

There may be joy in his heart; but if being the richest man in the world is a cause for bubbling satisfaction, John D. Rockefeller doesn't bubble worth a cent.

A little later, Dr. Biggar, Mr. Rockefeller's private physician, hurries in, just brim full of kindly feeling and exuberant with the joy of living. Miss Spelman and Miss Prentiss join the family party later, at a table in the center of the hotel dining-room—a simple, unpretentious group—the cynosure of all eyes.

Necks are stretched, lorgnettes go up and gold bowed glasses are given an extra polish that a clear glimpse of the royalty of riches may be obtained.

In spite of the reports concerning the state of Mr. Rockefeller's stomach, he seems to be on pretty good terms with it; makes a hearty breakfast of cereals, sirloin steak, creamed potatoes, soft boiled eggs, hot rolls and other "fixins'"—anything on the bill that suits his fancy. Tea and coffee he takes very weak, but buttermilk and lacteal fluid in any form he drinks ad libitum.

Every morning with the exception of Sunday since their arrival, Mr. Rockefeller and Dr. Biggar have spent on the golf links and part of every afternoon in their rooms, resting. Directly after breakfast the men (and often the ladies, as Mrs. Rockefeller also is a golfer) start for the Country Club links, where they are pursued by camera fiends. Mr. Rockefeller considers the course sporty. It suits him, and he hasn't tried any other. He wears, when engaged in the royal and ancient game, a strikingly shabby hat of straw, and his golf clothes are not dudish, being just "shirt and long pants."

Mr. Rockefeller makes the nine holes in the high fifties and Dr. Biggar in the [illegible] sixties—a variation of about two strokes in favor of the oil magnate.

All day interviewers turn up and—are turned down. Patent medicine men send up their cards; promoters of every known object under the sun don't see Mr. Rockefeller and melt away under Dr. Biggar's genial smile. Mr. Rockefeller, if caught, won't talk, and Dr. Biggar talks so much and so delightfully he doesn't say anything harmful.

One sprightly "lady correspondent"—Mr. Rockefeller is very fond of the ladies—got so far as to have made him three times say "no," and with an effort to warily work up to things she asked:

"What do you think of Orange Grove avenue?"

"Orange avenue?" queried the Croesus, "is it on the way to the golf links?" and then she knew he was hopeless. Won't even talk golf, just plays.

But it is at dinner time that John D. shines. He comes down in his evening dress with its Tuxedo just glistening, and after a full course dinner he sits about the drawingrooms (while his wife chats with friends) and always beside the finest looking woman who has "got introduced." An occasional smile flits over the passivity of his countenance. He jokes in a proper and dignified manner, and now and then Mr. Rockefeller "converses;" his voice is heard in fluent speech as he dilates upon the value of anti-toxine as a remedial agent or upon the latest scientific discoveries, while the flattered but often mystified listener breathlessly bends an ear with half attention distracted with inaccurate feminine calculations as to how much to the good she would stand if she could transmute these valuable moments into assets.

The "society act" politely and prettily performed, Mr. and Mrs. Rockefeller, escorted by their friends, depart quietly to their private apartments in the west building, the possession of which they owe to the courtesy of Mr. Harkness, who left the hotel for a while for their accommodation.

And every day is like unto another—spent without pomp or ceremony—no splurge, no retinue, no appearance of particular enjoyment, no enthusiasm about the country, no indication of abundant prosperity.

When Mr. Rockefeller, before he retires, wants a pitcher of water, he presses the button just like any man, and the bell boy carries up the draught; when his valet, from flights above, gets a thirst, he performes the same trick and gets the same attention. The valet tips the boy ten cents—that's the only difference.

The Rockefeller party have as yet expressed no intention of an immediate departure from the Green, but if they are enjoying this stay it is with no clash of cymbals.

FALL OF CALABASAS.

They Want To Sell Town Jail for Chicken Coop.

Shades of the murdered men of Calabasas, what do you think of this?

The one-time toughest town in California has grown so peaceful that they can't remember up there what the jail was made for.

Supervisor Patterson returned yesterday from a trip through the Calabasas district. While he was in the new haven of rest and peace, an old rancher known as "Dad," wanted to know what the Supervisors would take to sell him the jail for a chicken corral.

Mr. Patterson said he could remember when Calabasas needed a jail pretty badly, and he guessed the Supervisors would hang to it for a while.

A few years ago, everybody in Calabasas carried a gun. The way you told a man you didn't agree with him, was to take a pot shot at him. When a month passed without a shooting, they used to feel lonesome.

SMALL BOY PEEKED WHEN SHOW WENT OUT.

'TWAS ALL HE COULD DO, AFTER MAW HAD SAID "NO."

Camels, Elephants and Dreadful Beasts Went by, Small Boy Whistled, Dogs Barked, and Then His Maw Waked Up—Only One Crumb of Comfort.

There's nothing doing on the vacant lot at the southwest corner of Eleventh and Flower streets. Sweet Auburn, loveliest village of the plain, isn't in it with that particular section when it comes to disconsolate solitude. That line about the Arabs and the tents that got folded is too threadbare by overworked quotation to be here employed with propriety, but it fits. There's nothing to it; Norris & Rowe "have went." Yet, as Tom Moore said, "You may break, you may shatter the show if you will, but the smell of the circus will hang round it still." That's the one crumb of comfort to the Small Boy.

Lend the Small Boy your sympathy. He needs it. He had a hard time last night. He wanted to stay up till 'way late and watch the show quit town, but Mother wouldn't stand for it. She said such things were demoralizing to Youth. Dad would have been very decent about it, but Maw turned him down. She had to, to keep in practice. Small Boy hadn't done the Saturday front-porch scrubbing, 'cause he'd been fooling away his time at the show—got in s'reptitiously by carrying buckets of water tor the beautiful ponies. And when he slunk home 'bout supper time, with his little brain in a whirl over the wonderful things he had seen, and his heart jumping ecstatically at memory of how the bad-natured South American baboon had clutched his hand through the bars in resentment for teasing, Maw sat down 'pon him, sure it was tough; but what could the Small Boy do?

To bed went he, but not to sleep. Somewhere along about 2 o'clock a.m. a diminutive, white-nightgowned form stealthily raised the front window, knelt in shivering intensity and watched the "show go by." He checked the creaking procession. The dozens of sleek Shetland ponies, that had looked so beautiful in daytime and done such marvelously human tricks, minced slowly by on foot, herded by a shadowy youth or two, to change places with whom the Small Boy would have sold his Sunday-school teacehr into Cochin-China.

"That's Sue—an' Buck!" whispered Small Boy under his breath, as two unshaped, heaving Siberian camels undulated past the house. "Oh gee! there's Dutch an' Fargo—an Hero," he murmured, as the three trained elephants shuffled ponderously by. Rather five minutes' ride on their huge gray backs than a million years in heaven!

Small Boy held his breath when the gaudily-painted cage wagons passed. He speculated with palpitating heart upon their probable contents. In this big one must be Wallace, the terrible African lion, that once broke out of Huber's, in New York, ran through Fourteenth street with brave policemen following with drawn revolvers and terrified men and women fleeing on every side—Wallace, the dreadful lion that, after the mad flight, took hiding in a livery stable and for twenty-four hours defined capture, in the meantime killing one man and devouring part of a horse! Name of entrancing horrors! If only that cage-wagon were open and he could see for himself! Small Boy shivered and gulped. Probably in this colored van now passing, Bosco, the policeman-baboon, Jim Robinson, the horse-riding monkey, and Tobin, the violin-playing ape, were lying fast asleep. And now come the dogs! The wonderful dogs. Small Boy knows that by stifled barks that mount to his open window. The temptation is too strong—he whistles, a long, low, coaxing whistle, that no well-bred dog would ignore. Small Boy's salute is answered. On the still night air breaks the forbidden music of answering sleepy yelps. Small Boy, leaning far out of the window with shining eyes and tight-clenched fists, harks in excess of glee.

Then, just as the tail of the procession wabbles creakingly out of sight, ten fingers close about the flapping tail of Small Boy's "nightie."

"Gee!" he gasps, "them dogs has wakened Maw."

INSURANCE MEN'S DINNER.

A banquet was given last night at the Hollenbeck Café at the instance of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York to its Los Angeles district staff, as a celebration of the fact that this body of agents wrote more business for the company during February than any other Pacific Coast staff, which includes five States. There are about sixty of the company's agents here, against 600 others on the Coast. There were present from the office in San Francisco Thornton R. Richardson, assistant secretary and Pacific Coast manager; Thomas L. Miller, superintendent of agencies; Horace M. Walton, supervisor ordinary department; Walter R. Quick, Pacific Coast cashier; Everett V. Thomas, inspector. A dainty repast, music and impromptu toasts made an enjoyable evening for all present.

AMES ON WAY HOME.

MANCHESTER (N. H.) March 14.—Dr. A. A. Ames, former Mayor of Minneapolis, left here today on his voluntary return to Minnesota to answer charges of bribery. Sheriff Dreger of Minneapolis and Deputy Sheriff Doane of Manchester accompanied the doctor. Mrs. Ames and daughter also were in the party. They will perhaps stop in Boston.

URGES JUSTICE FOR MEXICANS.

Gen. Andrade at Capital of Sister Republic.

Peons' Cause May Become an International Affair.

United States to Be Called on to Pay Indemnity for the Death of Lopez.

Diplomats of Mexico and the United States soon may be called upon to use their offices in adjusting questions of international importance that have arisen in Los Angeles, and that have been taken before the Mexican government for consideration.

One of these questions is the killing of Francisco Lopez, a Mexican subject, by Policeman Sherman Baker; the other, the alleged injustice suffered by several hundred Mexican peons, who are employed in railroad construction in this city and throughout Southern California.

Gen. Andrade, Mexican Consul at Los Angeles, is now at the City of Mexico, and, while his errand is said to be of a private nature, he will lay before his government the questions that now are the chief interest of his countrymen in the United States.

One thing that Gen. Andrade will advocate is the placing of a fund at his disposal to be used in assisting Mexican subjects, who become involved in difficulty, either through ignorance of the laws of this country, or through mistaken arrest or accusation of crime.

Friends of the family of Lopez, who was mortally wounded while fleeing from an officer, have taken the matter up with the Mexican government, through Gen. Andrade, and the Minister of Foreign Relations of Mexico will be urged to present a claim for indemnity to the State Department at Washington. Their claim will be based on the allegation that the man's life was taken without cause, and that the United States should compensate his family for the loss they have suffered. In this respect the case resembles that in which the Italian government collected a large amount from the United States for the death of a number of subjects of Italy in the "Mafia" riots at New Orleans several years ago.

The manner in which the alleged ill treatment of peons will be handled is not so plain, but those who have interested themselves in this case, say it probably will result in a request from the Mexican government upon the State Department to investigate the method in which the large body of Mexicans was brought across the border. An effort to have the hundreds of men, women and children deported, may be made, on the ground that they are in this country through violation of the immigration laws.

In this connection it is likely that considerable attention will be paid to the case of one Gonzales, who was convicted of the murder of Charles Underwood, a railroad man, and sentenced to life imprisonment. The claim is made that Gonzales is wrongfully deprived of his liberty. Whether or not the Mexican government takes any action in behalf of Gonzales, his case will be carried to the Supreme Court by Los Angeles friends, who believe he could not defend himself properly in court, and was practically railroaded to prison through his ignorance of the language, and the customs of the United States. Gonzales is one of the recently-imported peons.

The condition of the large number of peons now here is one of the questions to which the greatest attention will be paid. It is represented that they have been brought across the border by a clever evasion of the contract-labor laws and that they are in a situation not far different from slavery. Abuses are heaped on them, it is alleged, because of their helpless condition, and many of them who would return to Mexico, if they could, are prevented from doing so through their ignorance of the terms on which they came into the country.

There are probably 2500 of these peons, including their families, who have come into the United States in the past year. More than half the number are supposed to be in Los Angeles, while the others are scattered along the railroad lines of the entire Southwest. The men work as laborers on the railroad and are paid, it is said, $1 a day. Many of them live in box cars and tents near their place of work, while large numbers are scattered in camps in different parts of Los Angeles.

The assertion is made that agents of contractors who supply railroad companies with help, have visited Mexico, going in some cases to the very interior of the country, and making lavish promises of abundant work at high wages in the United States. In order to evade the contract-labor laws, however, it is said the agents gave employment for a few days to the laborers at a point in Mexico, not far from the international boundary and then told them that by walking ten or fifteen miles to El Paso or some other convenient point, they would find all the work they wanted. A promise that is said to have been made to the men was that, after working six months, they might return on free transportation to their homes in Mexico.

Plunged into the heart of civilization, among people with whom they have nothing in common, the aliens have been subjected to criticism for their primitive manner of living; their unsanitary surroundings (for which their friends claim they are not responsible,) and in addition they are charged with many crimes.

Some of the peons represent that they want to go back to their homes, but that they have not the means to do so. They find, it is said, that they cannot take advantage of the six months' agreement, through their failure to purchase all their supplies at the "company stores" that are maintained by the contractors. No matter if they have worked nearly a year, they say they get no credit for it unless they can show that they have bought their supplies for six months at the "company stores." They claim also that they are charged outrageous prices for the necessities of life at these places—10 cents per pound for sugar being cited as an imposition that is practiced. Monthly bills for supplies are among the exhibits that will be made in the case presented to the Mexican government.

That the matters will be thrashed out thoroughly by the governments of the United States and Mexico is the firm belief of those who have taken up the questions in which the aliens are involved, and the international complications that may arise may form an important chapter in history.

WORST "KID" OF THE LOT.

Los Angeles Talent Suspected of Trying to Jump Prison.

Kid Thompson, the most desperate criminal ever convicted in the Los Angeles courts, is suspected of plotting an escape from the penitentiary. He is at San Quentin, serving a life sentence imposed by Judge Smith as punishment for the Roscoe train robbery.

Word has come that the lines are being drawn tight about Thompson, because of his suspicious actions.

A few days ago one of the guards saw the Kid working in a half-hearted manner and looking furtively at the big stone wall.

He had been caught at that sort of thing so often that the guard went up to him and said bluntly, "Kid, next time I see you looking at that wall that way I am going to shoot."

The desperado lost interest in the wall and went to work.

CROWN HILLS DEVELOPMENT.

Citizens of the Western Heights Form Association to Push Public and Private Improvements.

The Crown Hills residents held an enthusiastic meeting last night in the rooms of the Ruskin Art Club, Blanchard building, and formed an organization, to be known as the Crown Hills District Improvement Association.

H. C. Witmer was elected president; Allison Barlow, secretary, and S. R. Henderson, treasurer. The president is to appoint an Executive Committee of seven members, to include himself and the secretary. The territory included in the bounds of the new association lies between Bunker Hill and Union avenues, and First and Sixth streets.

The association put itself on record as favoring the sale of the electric railway franchise on Fifth and Figueroa streets, now being asked for by Mr. Huntington, and it was voted to so notify each member of the City Council.

The delay in building the Crown Hills section of the Belt Line was discussed, and the matter is to be investigated by a special committee, to ascertain whether the company intends to comply with the terms of its franchise.

Another matter that will be taken up by the new organization is that of securing more lights in the Third-street tunnel, and at its entrances, and the beautifying of its walls and approaches. It also wants the sidewalk in the tunnel widened and raised to a greater height from the driveway, so as to protect pedestrians.

A plan that receives the indorsement of the association is the improvement of Hope street in a unique style. At present Hope street in that section is a steep side hill. The plan is to divide it in the center with a wall of masonry, and grade the street to two levels, one on a line with the highest sections, and the other with the lowest sections. It will be urged that the city undertake this as a general public work.

The association has also set itself about getting the boundary lines of Second and Third street straightened out, so that permanent street improvements may be made.

EXCHANGE COMPLIMENTS.

John D. Rockefeller Invited to Preside at Murphy's Gospel Temperance Meeting—Autograph Letter to Orator.

Francis Murphy and John D. Rockefeller, the latter now spending a vacation at Pasadena, are old personal friends. Mr. Murphy, having invited Mr. Rockefeller to preside at his Sunday-evening meeting, yesterday received a note in response, in which the oil magnate said, addressing him as "my dear friend:"

"It is with regret that I find myself unable to attend the meeting at Blanchard Hall on next Sunday evening. I appreciate your kindness in asking me to preside, and should much enjoy the enthusiasm of the meetings under your leadership, as I recall them in the good old days. Please acept my sincere thanks and best wishes for God's richest blessing on your work."

Mr. Rockefeller is said to have never tasted intoxicants, never served wine at his table and never tasted tobacco.

SENTNORMAN HURT.

Jammed Against the Controller of an Electric Car at Sherman—Spine Was Injured.

W. Sentnorman, a machinist recently from Illinois, was seriously hurt at Sherman last night while standing on the rear platform of a Los Angeles-Pacific electric car. Sentnorman stood with his back against the rear controller box and several men were in front of him. A sudden lurch of the car threw their combined weight against him, and he was jammed backward with his back bent over the controller. He was removed to the Receiving Hospital, where examination showed that his spine had been injured.

OFFICE-BUILDING SOUVENIR.

"Souvenir Office Buildings' Directory" is the title of an interesting and valuable publication just issued by Howes & Le Berthon of this city. It is illustrated with excellent half-tones of many of the principal office structures of Los Angeles, including those in course of erection, and reflects the business activity of the city in the number of offices represented. The front cover is embellished with views of the Courthouse and City Hall. The book contains a well-arranged directory of each building; also a directory of the streets of the business section.

CASHED BOGUS CHECK.

W. H. Clark, a painter, was arrested last night charged with having uttered a fictitious check for $21. Mrs. M. Howe, proprietor of a West Seventh-street lodging-house, swore to the complaint a week ago. She alleges that Clark was rooming at her house and proffered the check as part payment for his bill.

HOOK'S FOES ARE BEATEN.

The Traction's Santa Monica Franchise Sustained.

Attorney-General Rules Against Protesting Parties.

Streets of the City by the Sea Opened to New Trolley Lines.

The efforts of certain property holders at Santa Monica to prevent W. S. Hook and his associates from profiting by the terms of an ordinance passed by the Town Trustees of the city by the sea, have been unsuccessful.

In September last the Trustees passed an ordinance granting to Mr. Hook, president of the Los Angeles Traction Company, the right and privilege to construct a "railroad" along and across certain streets of the town of Santa Monica, and to maintain and operate it for a period of fifty years, as a part and extension of a line of railroad proposed to be constructed between the city of Los Angeles and the town of Santa Monica.

Some of the objecting property owners, represented in the persons of A. B. Hotchkiss and his wife, made application to the Attorney-General of the State of California, through the medium of the Superior Court of this county, to bring action against the Town Trustees and Mr. Hook, to annul all proceedings in the granting of the franchise, as it had been done without advertising for bids or without notice to the public.

Yesterday the attorneys of Mr. Hook received notice from the Attorney-General that the application for the privilege of beginning suit had been denied.

The complainants cited the law of 1901, which provides for the sale of "franchises for street railroads and other franchises in municipalities."

A perusal of the ordinance, however, shows that the use of the words "street railroad" has been studiously avoided, the simple word "railroad" having been used in every instance.

Atty.-Gen. U. S. Webb, in rendering his opinion, calls particular attention to this fact, and says:

"The relator (A. B. Hotchkiss) contends that the right so granted is a franchise to operate a 'street railroad,' as contradistinguished from an ordinary 'railroad.' It does not appear that the defendant, W. S. Hook, is at the present tim operating, within the limits of the town of Santa Monica, any railroad, whether the ordinary 'railroad' or a 'street railroad.'

"The defendants claim this franchise to be merely a permit to the defendant to run a 'railroad' from a point in Los Angeles to a point in Santa Monica; the business of a railroad and not its motive power is to be considered in construing the act.

"I am satisfied that the ordinance in question is at least a permit for an ordinary railroad; as to whether it is more than this, is a question I think need not be considered until such excessive power is exercised. The defendant, W. S. Hook, has presented to me his affidavit in which he sets forth that he and his associates are not intending to operate a street railway; that they expect to operate an ordinary railroad.

"For the foregoing reasons, I cannot say at this time that this action should be commenced, and the leave to sue will, for the present, be denied, without prejudice to the renewal of the application, if it transpires that the defense made was not made in good faith."

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

[The Times freely publishes the views of correspondents, without holding itself responsible for writers' opinions. Be brief, write plainly, state clearly. The space of 250 words, on the average, is sufficient for the expression of an idea.]

Crime and the Hobo.

TUSTIN, March 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] There are many reasons why California is infested with criminals, bums and hobos. First, you will find by questioning the hobo, that he has been a member of some labor union, where anarchy was preached to him; then he was ordered out on a "strike;" the result was that he lost his job forever; then he became a "Wandering Willie," and made his way to the Pacific Coast on brakebeams, and box cars. He has been taught not to work unless he is paid three prices, and given all kinds of concessions. Consequently, when he reaches this country he is starved out, and when the sun shines he tucks himself away in the shade and sleeps soundly until dark overspreads the land, then he commences his pilgrimage of crime and plunder.

There is another class which we find, every one of them carrying a stock of ten-cent novels of the most trashy kind to be found. We find them carrying such stuff as the so-called work of the James boys of Missouri. If we had a few more such Governors as T. T. Crittenden, then we would have less crime in California and Missouri. A single act of Gov. Crittenden's did more good and brought more peace and prosperity to the State of Missouri than any other thing which was ever done in that State.

WALTER S. JAMERSON.

DESERTER SURRENDERS.

Remorse led C. J. Murrell, a deserter from the U.S.S. Machias, now lying at San Francisco, to give himself up to an officer last night. Murrell obtained leave of absence ten days ago and has been visiting his parents in Santa Ana. When time came for him to rejoin his ship he was given return fare by his father and some more besides. Instead of going back to his ship he spent nearly all the money here and rioted around in his uniform.

PASTOR'S RESIGNATION.

Rev. Dr. C. P. Dorland, who has been pastor of the East Los Angeles Congregational Church for six years, has tendered his resignation to take effect in June. Dr. Dorland has been deservedly popular, and his congregation regret his determination; but impaired health makes it imperative that he take a rest. During his pastorate the congregation has increased from 125 to 300 members.

The Louisville and Nashville Jellico and Corbin train was wrecked by the splitting of a switch while entering the Corbin (Ky.) yards. Walter Graves, a merchant of Woodbine, Ky., was instantly killed, and Mrs. Tom Hudson and her twelve-year-old daughter of Jellico were fatally injured.

EVENTS IN SOCIETY.

LENT—and the fifteenth of March! Surely January and February sped on the wings of thought, for it seems but yesterday, that the New Year was ushered in with appropriate ceremonial and rejoicing. Many pretty affairs, with some most elaborate, are recorded for 1903, with a deep substratum of the always charming and informal smaller affairs, which, the hostesses claim, are "really too quiet to be mentioned, don't you know?" until Lent brought some small measure of surcease from the social whirl.

But when the world emerged from chaos, when bounds were set for the encroachment of the sea on the land, when the seasons were appointed to their respective places, and everything else made subservient to law and order, one small matter was overlooked. Perhaps at that time, Love was so small he did not count, but he has certainly grown since, for he spells his name with a capital, claims all times and seasons for his, practically owns the wide, wide world, and rules the year round.

This month and next will see many a pretty wedding in Los Angeles, for which the brides have been preparing smart trosseaux, their friends meanwhile having been equally busy selecting or making some dainty offering to emphasize their congratulations.

The marriage of Miss Maria C. Fleck and Dr. Philip Newmark, which is to take place today, at the home of the bride's father, Maximilian J. Fleck, on Grand avenue, is of interest to a wide circle of friends, and will add a most charming member to the ranks of the city's matrons.

Rev. and Mrs. T. N. Lord of Alhambra announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Louler Mary, and Charles A. Bishop. The marriage will take place early in the spring. Miss Lord, who is a young woman of unusual charm of manner, and who boasts more friends than falls to the lot of most people, has been for four years connected with the office of the Young Women's Christian Association, two years of which she has served as membership secretary. She is a High School graduate, and a member of the Lambda Theta Phi sorority.

Rev. Mr. Lord is pastor of the Baptist Church in Alhambra. Mr. Bishop is the son or Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Bishop of Alhambra, and is employed with the Alhambra Water Company, where his father is superintendent. Both families are prominent in their home town, and the engagement will interest many friends.

Another engagement that is announced today, is that of Miss Florence Maude Hill, daughter of Mrs. Mary Hill of West Third street, and William Hardy Magee of Pasadena. The marriage, which will be witnessed by relatives and a few intimate friends, will take place April 7, at the bride's home. Mr. Magee is the son of Hon. and Mrs. Harvey Magee. He occupies a position with the San Gabriel Valley Bank in Pasadena, and will take his bride to a new home just being completed on Lake street.

The marriage of Miss Julia Mercereau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Mercereau, and Erwin Herron will be solemnized April 27, in Immanuel Church, and will be followed by a reception at the Woman's Club House. Miss Mercereau has selected her attendants, and besides her sister, Miss Clara, who will be maid of honor, her suite will include Miss Edith Herron, Miss Maud Newell, Miss Dorothy Gross, Miss May Stewart, Miss Kate Landt, Miss Allvy Easton. Dr. Edwards of Pittsburgh, Pa., will come to act as best man. The ushers are Messrs. William Rice, Karl Klokke, Charles Bunnell, Charles Seyler, Joseph Easton. Mr. Herron is in business with his father, Rufus H. Herron & Co., oil-well supply house, in this city, and the young people will reside here.

The wedding of Miss Edith Pansy Williams, and Lanier Bartlett, that is to be solemnized March 14, is to take place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Augusta Williams, No. 2805 Grand avenue, and the bride has elected to have few attendants. Her maid of honor will be Miss Mathilde Bartlett, sister of the groom, and little Marie McCoy and Master Gordon Bartlett will act as flower girl and ring bearer. Standing with Mr. Bartlett will be his best man. Charles B. Monaghan of Santa Ana, and William J. Hogg of San Francisco, well known in business, club and social circles in that city.

Mr. Bartlett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bartlett on West Twenty-seventh street. Mr. Bartlett, Sr., is president of the Union Bank of Savings in this city, and the family is prominent socially. The groom is a young newspaper man, and with his bride will occupy a home just completed on Cimarren street.

The wedding of Miss Georgia Knight and Dr. Ray Smith, that is to take place in April, will furnish another event of social interest, and there are others of equal interest to be announced soon, and the next few weeks promise much in the way of pleasant doings for the brides-elect.

Bowling Party.

Mrs. J. Crampton Anderson delightfully entertained the Merry Wives' Matinée Club at bowling Tuesday at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. L. Doheny, No. 8 Chester Place. Business, Games and Music.

The regular monthly meeting of the Manzanita Club was held Monday evening at the home of Lynn Ryder. After a short business session, the skill and ingenuity of those present were tested in a unique and amusing guessing contest. Miss Wagner carried off first prize, while Miss Durr and Mr. Seelye received the consolations. Several vocal selections by Mr. Walker added much to the pleasure of the evening. Other games and music occupied the attention of the guests untill the announcement of supper, which was served in the dining-rooms. Those present were Misses Celista Burch, Zuva Tyler, La Delpha Durr, Julia Wagner, Juanita Norton, Lucille Baugh, Pearl Ryder; Messrs. John Swanfeldt, Harry Hopkins, Frank Lothrop, Bert Lewis, John McLellan, Clarence Weber, Glenn Seelye, Lynn Ryder and Mr. Walker.

For Miss Champagne.

A reception was given at No. 121 South Bunker Hill avenue by Lysbelle B. Murphy for Miss D. M. Champagne of Boston, Mass. The rooms were prettily decorated with pepper berries and callas. A hard-time luncheon was served, tied up in bandana handkerchiefs. Miss H. M. Gordon served punch from a tin punch bowl in little tin dippers. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Keniston, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Davies; Misses Grace Woodward, Gusie Haley, Mary Henry, Jessie Gibbs, Lottie Cohn, Jennie Snyder; Messrs. Frank Wilhite, George Marcher, Frank Sawyer, W. A. Fisher, Herbert Griswell, Shirley Williams. The evening was pleasantly spent with music and games. Mr. Triswell took a flashlight of the guests before departing.

Evening Series.

The Halcyon Whist Club was entertained Friday night, by Miss Alderete, at her home, No. 518 South Workman street. An enjoyable evening was spent at cards, Mr. and Mrs. Short winning first prizes, while Miss Croft and Mr. Peters received the consolations. Birthday Anniversary.

Harry E. Dean, manager of the small goods and sheet music departments of the Fitzgerald Music Company was tendered a banquet at the Imperial Café Thursday evening, in honor of his birthday anniversary. The banquet room was beautifully decorated in green and palms, and represented a scene of gayety. The guests were Mrs. H. E. Dean and daughter, Mr. Shoening of New York City, R. L. Larkins, Clarence Abel, K. H. Smeby, J. G. Stamm, and the members of the small-goods department, A. H. Smeby, L. B. Graves, M. A. Frazier, E. A. Tappe. During the evening the Imperial Orchestra rendered, "For He is a Jolly Good Fellow," which was generally conceded. Mr. Dean was presented with a silver loving cup, the presentation being made by A. H. Smeby.

College Reunion.

Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Hanna gave a reception Friday evening at their residence, No. 812 West Tenth street, to the resident and visiting alumni of Washington and Jefferson College. Rev. J. D. Moffat, D.D., LL.D., president of that noted institution, who has been sojourning at Redlands the past few weeks, was to have been the guest of honor, but at a late hour, much to the regret of all present, a telegram was received stating that it was impossible for him to attend. There were present as visiting alumni, Rev. John M. Barnett of Markleton, Pa.; J. M. Logan, an attorney of Waterloo, Iowa, and W. H. Kirk, M.D., of Doylestown, Pa., the first two named being classmates of Mr. Hanna—class of 1849. The resident alumni in attendance were Revs. J. A. Hanna, J. H. Stewart, Dr. J. M. Newell and I. B. Hamilton, M.D. Other alumni invited were W. B. Herriott, Prof. D. W. Hanna and Dr. H. A. Newell. The complimentary guests invited were Drs. Hugh K. Walker, Guy W. Wadsworth, Preston McKinney and D. R. Colmery, all of whom were present except Dr. Walker. The recital of reminiscences of college days occupied most of the evening, to the great delight of all. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Hanna, assisted by Dr. Mrs. McKinney. Rev. J. H. Stuart and I. B. Hamilton were appointed a committee to arrange time and place for a similar meeting, when Dr. Moffatt can eb present.

Hollywood by Tallyho.

Tau Gamma Phi Fraternity of the University of Southern California gave a jolly tallyho ride to the home of Frank Wade in Hollywood Friday evening. The function was given in honor of the Lambda Beta Sigma Sorority. Other guests of the fraternity were Miss Hatch and Luther Wilson. Mrs. Murdock, the patroness of the sorority, chaperoned the affair. The decorations of the Wade home were in the colors of the two societies. Elaborate refreshments were served. About twenty young people enjoyed the ride.

Delta Phi.

The Delta Phi Fraternity members were entertained Friday evening at the home of Ross Bennett. After business had been transacted the members were entertained with games. Later an elaborate supper was served, the fraternity colors of black and gold being successfully carried out in the dainties. The rooms were artistically decorated with the fraternity banners and colors. Those present were Greg. Layne, Otto Melzer, John Cocke, Walter A. Bonynge, Jr., R. G. Van Cleve, G. Widmeyre, Milton Baruch, Bob Levy, Frank Stephens, August Martz and Ross Bennett.

Buxton-Burlingham.

Miss Pearl Burlingham and Bert A. Buxton were married Tuesday afternoon by Rev. George A. Hough, pastor of Vincent Methodist Episcopal Church. The bride was attired in a pretty tailor gown, with hat to match, and carried violets. The wedding was a quiet one, only immediate relatives witnessing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Buxton left immediately for a short trip, and will be at home after April 1 at No. 518 Maple avenue.

Drill, Cards and Dancing.

Poinsettia Circle, No. 448, W.O.W., held its regular monthly ball at Brent's Hall Friday evening. Mrs. Daisy Ehret acted as chairman of the Entertainment Committee. Preceding the ball the drill team of Los Angeles Camp, No. 402, gave a military drill. The grand march, in which 117 couples participated, headed by the degree team of Los Angeles Camp and the guards of Poinsettia Circle, was led by Capts. Augustine and Anna Smith of Los Angeles Camp and Poinsettia circles, respectively. The cardroom was under the direction of Mrs. Bibb. Punch was served at a cosy booth presided over by Mrs. Cross.

For the Ladies.

Santa Barbara.

ADMIRAL AND MRS. WINFIELD SCOTT SCHLEY, who arrived in the city Monday, have been the central figures in social movements during the week. On Monday and Tuesday there were luncheons and dinners at the Country Club and at the Arlington Hotel, interspersed with drives into the mountains for appetizers and general enjoyment, the party being entertained by Admiral and Mrs. Casey and T. D. Wood on these occasions. On Wednesday every member of Admiral Schley's party with the exception of the admiral himself, took a trip to the summit of San Marcus Pass over the old-time stage line. The admiral decided not to make the trip because of a cold from which he was suffering, and he spent the day in lounging about upon the veranda of the hotel, where he received many callers in an informal way. Thursday, in response to an invitation from the school children of the city, the admiral made two addresses—one at the Washington School and the other at the High School. It was a great occasion for the pupils and Admiral Schley evidently enjoyed it, for, in his addresses, he spoke feelingly of the duties and obligations that would fall upon the shoulders of the generation of which those who were before him were a factor in behalf of the country of their birth. A somewhat elaborate programme had been arranged, and the affair will be a memorable one in the history of Santa Barbara. Col. A. K. McClure, the pioneer journalist of the United States, and publisher of the magazine which bears his name, joined the admiral in the exercises. The admiral and his party left today (Saturday) for Monterey, where they will remain a short time, and then proceed to San Francisco and from there to Portland on their way to Washington.

The first regular meeting of the newly-organized Good iTmes Club was held in the clubrooms of the new Aiken Block Tuesday night. Fifty were present, and the evening was spent at progressive euchre. After the games had been finished Judge Aiken entertained the club at a fine supper.

The Arlington Social Club gave an enjoyable masquerade ball at Armory Hall last Thursday night, several hundred persons participating as maskers and spectators. Some costumes were very elegant, and the humorous and grotesque varieties were in evidence as usual in such functions. Prizes were awarded to Miss Gertrude Cunningham and J. P. Wier for the best-sustained characters; to Miss Josie Martinez and Jesse Mayre for the finest costume, and to Miss F. N. Cunningham and Earl Rooney as the best waltzers.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Peabody of Chicago and their daughter, Miss Rachel, have gone to Monterey, after a six weeks' sojourn here.

Mrs. R. A. Douglas and Miss Anna Marshall of Ironwood, Mich., are visiting their sister, Mrs. E. E. Calster. They will remain in Santa Barbara for an indefinite period.

For seashore, country, city and society wear.

Our opening line in Spring Garments was a success—and we are daily adding more new styles for we are bound to lead in catering to the ladies of Los Angeles in Suits, Skirts, Waists and Jackets.

Our store is really a corner of Paris filled with original creations and exclusive novelties with chic, striking, refined tones, while many of our novelties are to be duplicated nowhere else on the Coast.

Whether your purchase be from our fine or medium garments, the price will be from 20 to 35 per cent. less than similar goods are marked at other stores. The reason for this lies in the fact that we desire your patronage at this, the opening of our first season, in business.

Here are a few of our prices—but they do not tell the excellent qualities of the goods.

Imported Demi Costumes.......... $65.00 to $150.00
Smart Tailored Suits .... $15.00 to $50.00
Rich Silk Monte Carlos .... $12.50 to $50.00
Dashingly Stylish Golf Skirts .... $5.00 to $18.00
Swell Dress Skirts .... $7.50 to $75.00
Handsome Wash Waists .... $1.00 to $15.00
Sumptuous Silk Waists .... $5.00 to $40.00

Our Alteration Department is under the direction of an expert, who has spent more than thirty years working on ladies' garments.

You are cordially invited to call and examine our splendid goods.

Muslin Underwear

The display of Muslin Underwear is now complete in the minutest detail, comprising all of those dainty forms of lingerie that appeal to the feminine heart. Moreover every piece of fine underwear in our assortment is made under the most favorable conditions and by the best manufacturers. We make it a special point to carry an unusually wide assortment of styles and qualities and name very low prices in each grade.

We are showing a line of Night Gowns at 50c, different styles to select from, that are actually worth more.

Our line of $1.00 Gowns is very extensive, we have never seen their equal at the price. From $1.50 to $5.00 is a wide range of prices, but we show hundreds of styles between these prices.

We make a specialty of large or extra sizes and have good assortments to select from.

First Floor.

Half Wool Challies

An exquisite composition of wool and cotton, so deftly handled as to be as effective as the silk and wool fabric of the same name, being overlaid with delicate satin stripes and embellished with graceful printed designs in dainty and effective color combinations, 30-in. wide, price 35c per yard.

New Vestings

There is nothing so deservedly popular and up-to-date as a heavy shirt waist and there is nothing so appropriate as the Vesting. It is of weighty appearance and great durability and appropriate for summer wear. We are showing it in white, black and white and other dainty colors. 27-in. to 36-in. wide and 75c to $1.50 per yard.

Bate's Seersuckers

We have on display over a hundred styles in this well known and popular fabric. 27-in. wide and 12½c the yard.

OPENING DAY

In Our Art and Novelty Department

Third Floor Front Take Elevator.

Many new lines have been added in the Art Department and the lines with which you are familiar are more fully represented than usual. Therefore we have arranged for a special opening day and cordially invite you to visit the Art and Novelty Department on Monday. There is no part of the store so informing—no department where you can pick up so many useful ideas in the way of fancy and decorative work and we shall be pleased to have you spend a little time here quite irrespective of whether you are buying or not.

An Exceptional Showing of Real Laces.

This season we have quite outdone ourselves in the display of real laces which we have brought together. Centers, Doilies and Tray Cloths in Duchess Point; Torchon, Irish Point, Italian Fillet, and Slavian Laces. On all of these laces you will find the prices far below what is usually asked.

We also have all of the Embroidery Linens in colors and white, which are so much used for embroidering shirt waists.

36-in. Centers stamped on gray linen to be finished with button hole edge, $1.50.

In plain Hemstitched Linens we are showing every size from 6x6 to 54x54 from 15c to $2.00 each.

24-inch Raffia Pillows, front and back, ready to work in colors or plain, $2.00.

36-inch Centers, Raffia Centers, stamped ready to work. $1.00.

Our assortment of Chain and Embroidery Beads is very complete, comprising many new shapes and colorings.

Embroidered Pillow Covers at Fractional Prices.

Monday morning we place on special sale as an opening day inducement 100 of our very finest Pillow Covers embroidered in wash silks; ruffled, corded or trimmed with ribbons. These pillows are sold regularly at $10 or $12, but the Monday morning price is $2.90 to $5 each.

Ostrich Feather Boas.

These are strictly first quality boas—they are made of extra long, full feathers in the popular 3 and 4 row stole effect and are 72 inches long. All white, all black and black and white. If bought in the regular way and sold as ordinarily these boas would be priced at $25.00 to $45.00 each.
Special Sale Price $12.00 and $18.00.

French Coque Feather Boas. We have decided to close out the line which embraces boas in all lengths and colors. In each case the price has been reduced a full 1-3 and the special selling begins Monday morning.

First Floor.

Royal Worcester Corsets.

In order to keep the name "Royal Worcester" constantly before the public, the manufacturers authorize us, from time to time, to place an assortment of these corsets on special sale at a very low figure.

We have arranged for one of these special sales of Royal Worcester Corsets for Monday morning and offer you 150 dozen corsets in pink, blue, cream and drab with straight front and either long or short hips and with high or low bust. The top and the bottom are trimmed with lace and it is altogether a very satisfactory corset. Price 45c.

Second Floor.

First Floor.

Bedford Cord

This high class novelty has elicited great admiration and we feel a pride in presenting it to your notice. It is a medium weight fabric with the Bedford cord effect and dainty woven figure work that relieves the setness of the plain Bedford cord. They come only in the cream white, 48-in wide and 60c to 75c per yard.

Drap du Japon

This material is a fine tissue cloth woven from mercerized yarns, which gives it a decidedly silky appearance. The texture is peculiarly soft and flexible and is especially appropriate for fluffy evening dresses. We are showing it in all the latest and fashionable plain shades. 28-in. wide and 25c per yard.

Belfast Dimity

The collection we offer embraces the latest designs and colorings. A fine sheer weave of perfect finish. 40-inch wide and 25c the yard.

Hosiery Ladies'—Children's

The unusual values which we offer in Ladies' and Children's Hoisery are explained by the fact that most of our lines are bought directly from the manufacturer, thus saving you at least one profit and giving you either lower prices or better values.

At 25c you will find the best value that is shown in either plain Maco Cotton, drop stitch lisles or cottons. At 35c we have a great bargain in fine Ingrain Cotton Lisle Hose, these are really 50c goods.

Our 50c line of Fancy Embroidered Lace Lisles and fancy clocked Hoisery would be good values at 75c. Novelties of exclusive designs are to be found at $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50 the pair.

Our line of pure Silk Hoisery in both plain and embroidered effects is very extensive at present.

Misses' and Boys' School Hose, excellent values at 12 1-2c the pair. Derby rib for boys and fine rib for Misses absolutely fast black, double heels, toes and knees. 12 1-2c the pair.

3 pairs for 50c. - Your choice of medium, light or heavy weight hose, regular made feet, double heels, toes and knees, regular 25c value. 3 for 50c.

A full line of Lace and Fancy Hoisery for Misses and Children, both in black and colors.

First Floor.

MET DEATH IN PLUNGE.

C. C. Boyle, an Aged Retired Lumber Dealer of Allegheny, Pa., Expires Suddenly at Coronado.

The remains of C. C. Boyle, a wealthy retired lumber dealer of Allegheny, Pa., were started East for interment on the Santa Fé Limited last evening. Accompanying the body were Mrs. C. A. Boyle of Hollywood, daughter-in-law of the deceased, and William M. Boyle, his grandson. C. A. Boyle, son of the deceased, is at present in the East.

The tragic fate of the elder Boyle was a great shock to the many friends of the family in various parts of Southern California. Mr. Boyle, his wife and daughter had spent the past six weeks in Los Angeles as the guests of his daughter-in-law at Hollywood. Wednesday the trio went to San Diego for a two weeks' stay, accompanied by Boyle's grandson, William M. Boyle. On Thursday the party entered the Coronado plunge, and very soon after entering the water the aged man was seen to be floating on the surface with his face downward. Though taken from the tank within a few seconds, Mr. Boyle was past all human aid.

Mr. Boyle was 77 years of age, but apparently in perfect health and vigor. A Coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental drowning, the result of heart failure.

ANOTHER NEW BANK.

"Commercial National" to Be Started on Spring Street, Near Hotel Angelus. Stock Subscribed.

Los Angeles is to have a new financial institution to be known as the Commercial National Bank, with a capital of $200,000. BUSINESS.

Following the lead set last week of clearings in the sum of $6,098,726.75, the aggregate for the week ending yesterday again runs over the six-million-dollar mark and does not stop till $6,362,950.10 is reached, as compared with $4,934,342.42 for the corresponding period a year ago. For the day yesterday the clearings were $934,054.26; same day a year ago, $505,733.53. The figures are evidence of an active money market. Several large real estate deals were closed the past week.

By reducing loans over $15,000,000 during the week the New York clearing-house banks succeeded in checking inroads on the legal reserve requirements, but the surplus at the end of the week was barely $1,000,000. Recovery from this low point will probably be slow, but the banks seem to have the situation under control. The New York stock market closed dull and easier yesterday, with the monetary demand exhausted.

A SPLENDIDLY-INDIGNANT PROTEST.

The Times is in receipt of the following communication, which furnishes its own explanation:

MENTONE (Cal.) March 9, 1903.—[To the Editor of The Times:] If anything were needed to show the alarming tendency toward degeneracy and cowardice in our race and time, an incident occurring in Chicago during the late coal strike furnishes the "missing link."

It is found in an injunction issued, not by a Federal judge, nor even by a State court, but by a Jehu—a teamster—just a teamster; and the commerce of that mighty city, its politics, its wealth and its business, listened with bated breath and folded hands to the plebeian edict, and slavishly acquiesced therein. And, as if that were not sufficient humiliation, an officer of the United States was seen hurrying from his frigid office to hunt up and supplicate the mushroom mountebank, whose mandate was freezing the city's inhabitants and paralyzing its industries.

Could more pitiful cowardice be imagined than that characterizing such a hunt and such a plea? Could submission be more abject, or humiliation deeper? Yes; decidedly, yes.

It came when the teamster-autocrat announced that he would permit arbitration, if he named the arbiters. To this dictum the nation's representative, and the commerce, and the politics, and the wealth of the city, cried, in instant and humble unanimity, "Amen! so be it."

Practically the usurper donned the judicial ermine, judged his own case, and no doubt dictated the verdict. The sight was enough to "make men and angels weep." In the absence of such demonstrations it seems safe to conclude that both are strangers to Chicago, and that Patrick Henry's "Give me liberty or give me death" wakes no responsive echo there.

J. L. TOMLINSON.

The "tendency toward degeneracy and cowardice," of which the correspondent speaks, is, unfortunately, too familiar to all observers, whether in Chicago or elsewhere. If it is more strongly developed in some places than in others, it is because in those places there has been less resistance to unreasonable demands and unspeakable tyrannies, until many well-meaning but weak-willed persons have been persuaded that to resist oppression is useless when the oppressor appears in the form of a labor agitator. This weak yielding to oppression begets increasing weakness and moral cowardice. The more abjectly a community submits to the dictatorship of the agitator, the more complete will be its ultimate humiliation, for there is no limit to the demands of these would-be despots who prey upon the industrial world.

Little sympathy, perhaps, should be wasted upon the union-ridden city of Chicago. The people of that city, like those of San Francisco, have forged their own chains. Of all the union-ridden communities in the country, those of Chicago and San Francisco are probably the farthest advanced on the road to complete subjugation. They have themselves to thank for their humiliation. This humiliation, though great, is destined to be even greater, in all probability, before the people of those cities will awaken to the fact that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."

Organized industrial brigandage must be fought to a finish, or it will finish the prosperity and the liberty of any community where it is permitted to gain a foothold. The spectacle of the Chicago teamster in the role of a dictator is not unfamiliar. We have seen this dictator before, in other guises, but always with the same objects in view—the enforcement of unjust demands by brute force, the securing of special privileges for those whom he represents (to the detriment of the community in general,) the defiance of law, and the disregard of citizenship rights. To yield weakly to the unjust demands of industrial brigandage is to invite other demands even more unjust; for, as we have said, there is no limit to the demands which the agitator is prepared to make. The less resistance he encounters the more is he encouraged in the policy and plan of brigandage by which he is enabled to extort tribute from the community.

The people of Chicago are so bound with the shackles of industrial despotism (which their own supineness has forged) that they will not be able to regain their freedom without a long and bitter and blighting struggle. If they had made, from the beginning, a courageous fight for their industrial freedom, they could have maintained it at a far smaller aggregate sacrifice than that to which they are destined. The struggle will come in serious earnest, sooner or later; for no community can exist for any great length of time under the intolerable conditions which unopposed unionism would impose.

AGAINST SOCIETY.

In discussing the labor union methods of the present day, the Philadelphia Record, a newspaper which has "the courage of its convictions," points out the fact that the victims of boycotts "are a large part of the community, and usually a great majority, for the strikers are generally a small part of the population in which they live." The Record further says:

"The process is savage and utterly indefensible. Most of the victims are not parties to the controversy in any sense. A grocer is threatened with the loss of business, or damage to his property, or personal violence, for selling food to a doctor who has attended the child of a 'scab.' A milk dealer who supplies food to the children of a man who is working when there is a strike is hung in effigy, and all of his customers are threatened if they do not cease buying of him. A workman rides in a street car and his employers are threatened if they do not discharge him, and the workman himself is probably stoned, his wife and children insulted and his home may be destroyed.

"These are not the methods of the old trade unionism, where the controversy was with the employer, and the subject was wages or hours. They are the methods of the newer labor unionism, which is socialistic, which seeks to array wage-earners in the mass against the rest of the community, and in whose controversies wages and hours are merely incidental; the real purpose being the solidification of the wage-earners into one body, to be wielded by a dictator against society as a whole."

These conclusions are strictly in line with the view which The Times has steadily maintained, that the warfare waged by modern trade-unionism is in effect a warfare against the general public, or against "society as a whole." This warfare is confessedly directed against non-unionists. In the nature of things, the vast majority of the people are non-unionists, and must always remain so. If everybody belonged to a trade union, there would be no chance for trade unionists to obtain the special advantages and privileges which they now seek at the expense of the community at large. In other words, there would be no community at large upon which organized unionists could prey, for everybody would be in the organization.

Again, all forms of lawlessness are against society—against the common weal. Most of the trade union leaders are professional fomentors of strife, and lawlessness is an almost certain accompaniment of industrial strife. The constant recurrence of violence and lawlessness, in various forms, which have come to be recognized as an almost inseparable feature of strikes, tends to cause disrespect for the laws so persistently violated. The only way to insure respect for the law is to enforce it. And it will not be respected as it ought to be until it is enforced with entire impartiality.

There is undoubtedly a growing disrespect for law in this country, and it is clearly traceable, in a large degree, to the industrial broils which are almost constantly in progress, and in the course of which the law is habitually violated, while punishment is the exception rather than the rule. This is indeed a deplorable state of affairs, and in the tendency which it fosters there is grave danger to society.

THE COUNTRY IS ALL RIGHT.

According to a New York dispatch the rolling mills of the country are so crowded with orders that it is going to become necessary to import steel rails, by such railroads as have underestimated their requirements for the current year. If this be a correct statement of the conditions existing in the steel business, it is safe to presume that the present healthful economic conditions in this country are to be maintained for some time yet, despite the croakings of Jim Hill, and other Cassandras. So long as the steel mills are busy turning out rails for the construction and betterment of the railroads of the United States, there is not likely to be any very marked let-up in the prosperity which pervades the land from ocean to ocean, and from the lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. But for the failure of Congress to cooperate in the financial scheme of Senator Aldrich, there would not be a cloud upon the business horizon of the land of Brother Jonathan. But that cloud is so diaphanous that the man with even an ordinary amount of confidence cannot see it without the aid of a telescope; therefore we would suggest that he carefully refrain from putting the glass to his eye, and that he go on about his business. The country is all right.

California does not need longer legislative sessions as much as it needs more directness in business. We are short on patriotism and efficiency in our legislative halls in this country, and long on spell-binding and rainbow-chasing legislation. If the time wasted in attempting feats of legislation at Sacramento looking to the favoring of classes and to the amelioration of the condition of jawsmiths and walking delegates had been saved, the recent session would have been ample in length. The demand of the times is for curtailment of legislation, and not for expansion in that particular direction.

There is always this about a money stringency—there are some people who cannot tell the difference between the latest issue and the one that they have been bucking against all along.

A QUESTIONABLE BILL.

A bill has been passed, in the closing days of the Legislature, which appears to be objectionable, or at least questionable. It is Senate Bill No. 634, introduced by Senator Shortridge, and abolishes the present Horticultural Commission.

At present the State Board of Horticulture consists of nine members, seven representing the seven horticultural districts into which the State is divided, two being appointed for the State at large. The members are supposed to be representative fruit growers. They serve without compensation, other than their actual traveling expenses for attending two meetings each year. The board has the selection of two officers, the secretary and the chief quarantine officer, the latter position being at present efficiently filled by Alexander Craw, formerly of Los Angeles, who has the confidence of the horticulturists of the State.

The bill provides for one chief horticultural officer, with a clerk, whose headquarters are to be at Sacramento, and a deputy, with headquarters in San Francisco. Most of the work of the board has hitherto been done in San Francisco, consisting of quarantining infested fruit, trees, plants, etc., and preventing the introduction of diseased stock. Moreover, this work requires the constant services of more than one man, if it is to be effective. The bill requires the quarantine officer to secure the approval of the Governor of all rules and regulations necessary to prevent the introduction of infested stock into the State. This might be inconvenient, where quick action is necessary. It would be necessary for the quarantine officer at San Francisco to obtain the consent of the Governor before he could prevent the landing of any infested plants and trees, and meantime, such stock might find entrance and be widely distributed.

Unless the Governor has good reasons for doing otherwise, it would seem to be the part of wisdom for him to refuse to sign this bill. Or, in case he should sign it, a horticultural officer should be appointed immediately, as from the moment the bill becomes a law the horticultural interests of the State are deprived of protection from insect and other pests, until a new official is appointed.

CAUSES OF CRIME.

A few days ago, under the heading "Whither Are We Drifting," The Times commented upon the alarming increase in crimes of all kinds that has been witnessed in the United States of late. Even a model community like Los Angeles has not by any means been free from this epidemic of lawbreaking, due, undoubtedly, in great measure to the fact that this is an attractive resort, not only for good citizens, but for those who prey upon the public. The question is certainly a most serious one, and should engage the earnest attention of all patriotic citizens.

When we come to inquire as to the reason for this unpleasant prevalence of crime, it is difficult for the close observer of social conditions to avoid the conclusion that it is, as The Times has previously suggested, largely due to the lack of proper training received by the youthful American. We have schools and colleges of all kinds galore, some of them paid for by the State, and others established by private munificence. These institutions are more or less successful in training the brains of young people, and usually less successful in preparing them for the battle of life, but how much attention is paid therein to the training of the moral faculties, the cultivation of which is indispensable, if the young man is to grow up as a good and useful citizen of the republic? It might be said that such training should properly be given in the family, but here again we are confronted by the fact that, in a large majority of cases, American parents are too much occupied with business or social cares to find time to devote to the proper training of the children whom they have brought into the world. Even when they do attempt something in this line there is usually too much tendency in this country to overlook the necessity of instilling into the young mind the duty of respect and obedience to elders and superiors, while traits that would more properly be characterized as impudence are referred to with an indulgent smile as amusing examples of youthful independence and "cuteness." Hence the average young American grows up and goes out into the world without any conception of the qualities of respect and obedience. Never having been taught how to obey, he finds it difficult, when responsibilities are placed upon him, to properly command. Thus he makes a failure all along the line, adding one more to the large crowd of dissatisfied who rail at society, because they have never been properly fitted to take their places in the social organization, where it must always be a question of give or take, unless we are to revert tot the condition of savagery, and the rule of might—

"The good old rule, the simple plan,
That he shall keep who has the power;
That he shall get who can."

The moral of this is that it would be wise for us to devote a little less attention to children's heads, and a little more to their hearts.

Another cause for the alarming prevalence of crime may be found in the feverish anxiety of everybody nowadays in this country to get rich, at whatever cost. The advice given by that white sepulchre, Lord Chesterfield, to his son, "Get money my son, honestly if you can, but get money," is taken as the rule of life by far too many people nowadays. "The accursed thirst for gold" threatens to undermine our social fabric, unless some reasonable check can be placed thereon.

It is not merely the praiseworthy desire to obtain a competence, so that one's closing days may be devoid of care, and one's family reasonably provided for, but to pile up an immense fortune, such as was unheard of by our fathers. No articles in the papers are more greedily read than those which describe how some man has made an immense sum of money by a lucky stroke on the stock market, in gambling, in a lottery, or something of that kind. No glittering bait attracts so many suckers as the advertisements of the "get-rich-quick" swindlers, who hold out the prospect of impossible profits on a small investment. The man who plods on from day to day, and makes a comfortable living, is regarded with something akin to contempt, while the swindler who accumulates millions at the expense of widows and orphans and other credulous victims is looked at by far too many people with concealed envy and admiration, that is to say, if he is successful. Should he make a failure of it, and go to jail, he is the object of nothing but abuse and contempt.

This brings us, again, to the subject of success. The present is an age in which we worship success. A praiseworthy monthly publication was recently started, under that name, which it has justified as being financially appropriate. It is a good thing to hold up successful men as models to the young, provided always that their success has been attained through legitimate channels. Better, however, far, to sing the praises of a man who, though unsuccessful, has preserved his honesty and his integrity, rather than to emblazon the doings and sayings of one who has ridden rough-shod over the rights of his fellows, in acquiring a large fortune. Let us not fall into the error of supposing that only he is guilty who is found out, or who fails.

Yet another cause of the great prevalence of crime nowadays may undoubtedly be found in the lax enforcement of our laws, and in the faulty systems of punishment for crime. There are too many tricks and devices known to shrewd lawyers by which the sword of justice may be averted, or blunted, when it threatens the neck of a wealthy lawbreaker. This, again, naturally leads to an increasing contempt for the law and all that it implies. Again, after a man has been sentenced for crime—perhaps a first offense, committed in the heat of passion—the chances are that he is incarcerated among a lot of hardened criminals, where no attempt is made at reform, so that at the end of his term he is likely to come out of the penitentiary a worse man and a greater danger to society that he went in.

This question is certainly one deserving of the most serious and thoughtful consideration on the part of all who would see their country continue to be great and prosperous. It is far more important than the questions of the liquor traffic, the social evil, or the trusts. Not that they are trivial, by any means, but they are only phases of the greater evil of lawbreaking in general, which appears to threaten this country just now with something of the virulence of the bubonic plague.

LET'S PLANT TREES.

This would have been an ideal season for bringing off an arbor day, or a succession of them, in Los Angeles and throughout Southern California. The bountiful wetness which has been blessing the country south of the Tehachepi would have given newly-planted trees an excellent and healthful start. Other sections of California have taken up this matter of tree planting with enthusiasm and zeal, but in this portion of the commonwealth this worthy enterprise is permitted to lag. It takes time to grow trees, and every year that their planting is deferred prolongs by just so much the era of comforting and picturesque shade that should be a characteristic of this sunny land. While we as a people are doing many worthy things and much hard work along utilitarian lines, it is to be regretted that we are not paying more attention to the beautifying of our already beautiful surroundings. The planting of trees is a beneficent and becoming work for any people; and nowhere should more attention be paid to that work than in this section, to which we are inviting the people of the world to spend their holidays and breathing spells. By all means, let's plant trees.

A distinguished official of the Santa Fé road, having become convinced that Southern California has a summer climate that is only second to her winter climate, will endeavor to spread the information among the people beyond the mighty hills who suffer quite as much from the heat in the dog days, but inversely, as they do from the blizzard when Boreas scourges the world with his angry blasts. The Times has been shouting this fact into the ears of the easterners for lo! these many years. When they awaken to a realization of the conditions that obtain, out here by the sunset sea, we may anticipate a flood of travel that will tax the railways all the year round, and not merely for a few brief months in midwinter. One may readily understand why our winter visitors should presume, because the winter season is so mild and winsome, that our summers must be intolerably hot. But that is precisely where they err. Southern California has a summer climate that is fully as superior to the midsummer torridity and humidity of the Eastern States as our winter weather is superior to the trying and impossible season of sleet, snow and slush that prevails thereabouts. We shall be pleased to exhibit samples upon application.

Another pile shortly to be erected in Los Angeles, thanks to the sagacity and verve of her citizens, and the Legislature of the State of California, will be a convention hall in all ways adequate to the needs of a city that promises to become the mecca for all the organizations and large bodies of this country who desire to hold their sessions amid the most pleasant surroundings. It is the way of Los Angeles to discover a method of accomplishing results—if not by one method, then by another. The Angel City, needing a convention hall, has been placed in position to secure such a structure by taxing the entire people of the city to that end. But in doing this it has been made possible for any other enterprising city in the State to secure a like addition to its list of public buildings. Any city not caring to go to the expense of building such a structure need not do so, but as for the zenith city that is forging to the front in the salubrious Southwest, it proposes to have a hall as soon as bonds can be voted and printed. Gentlemen, prepare your ballots.

The New Jersey young woman who had fragments of skin from one hundred of her relatives grafted on her person is probably one of the most cosmopolitan, and cuticly speaking, one of the most versatile persons outside of the museums. Her performance was not entirely a new one, however, as there have been a great many previous instances where people have grafted off their relatives, and left them in a somewhat skinned condition. There is really nothing new under the sun, after all.

There's trouble in Wisconsin. The ladies of Neenah were about to have some doings in the dramatic line, but through an oversight, one of the ladies found that her name was printed in the cast of the play below the name of another lady in the cast, consequently the curtain did not go up at Neenah. This should serve as a warning to all promoters of "sassiety" dramatics not to permit programmes to get into the hands of performers until the play has been brought off. There was more reason for this row, though, than there is for most ructions in "sassiety." The lady who felt aggrieved because her name was not properly located, lived in Oshkosh. It is a well-established fact that Oshkosh and her inhabitants must always have precedence in all matters that come up in Wisconsin—in fact, Oshkosh demands right of way even beyond the State line. Great care should be taken not to offend Oshkosh.

The long, lingering, never-ending and tumultuous continuation of prosperity is giving the Democracy of the nation no end of concern. It is sad, indeed, that calamity should not possess the land, in order that the pie counter may be getatable by the hungry horde that has been browsing upon willow shoots and birch sprouts for the past eight years of horrible suffering among the unterrified. Senator Vest of Missouri is frank enough to acknowledge that there is not the slightest show to defeat a Republican candidate for the Presidency so long as the present era of prosperity continues. Mr. Vest is talking through a hat taken from a very level head. There is no reason to swap horses; therefore, the country won't swap.

The trouble with "the decaying end" of Los Angeles seems to be that there is so much building going on in it that the pedestrian is in danger of falling into an excavation, blundering into a pile of mortar, or being hit on the head "mit a brickstine." If this decay continues at the rate it is now devastating the district, the populace will shortly be called upon to secure the use of flying machines, in order to get across the busy streets.

It isn't so long ago that Collis P. Huntington was being accused of robbing the Central Pacific in order to build and equip the Southern Pacific, and now Jim Keene alleges that Mr. Harriman is robbing the Southern Pacific in order to make the Central something more substantial than two streaks of rust and a right of way. Possibly the old C. P. is coming to her own. Who knows?

Mr. Schwab is on the bounding billow, en route to the lair of the steel trust, fully restored to health and with sufficient strength to draw one of the lustiest of salaries. This information comes not a moment too soon. The American people have been waiting for news of Schwab for several anxious weeks. The tension is now removed. Let us give thanks.

A Ventura citizen is suing another man because a herd of cattle belonging to the latter scattered "ticks" around over the farm of the former, which he cannot now get rid of. Both of the litigants are liable to conclude, before they are through with the law, that they could better have withstood the ravages of the ticks than they can the work of the "leeches."

Now that the Czar has issued a decree favoring religious toleration in Russia, the press of that country may begin to hope that it will, sooner or later, be enabled to do business without the annex of a censor. We have no doubt that the able editors of our esteemed Russian contemporaries will appreciate this immensely.

Now that a convention hall and numerous boulevards are believed to be in sight it might be a good idea to commence to prepare for a succession of arbor days. "The good old summertime" will soon be upon us, and shade will be a long felt want, the same as heretofore. Los Angeles needs, of all things, to plant trees.

Secretary Cortelyou's new Department of Commerce is located on Thirteenth street, Washington, D. C. If the Secretary succeeds in getting Congress to appropriate that nine million dollars for him, the people will doubtless feel convinced that there is certainly something in that number 13 hoodoo after all.

In addition to a convention hall in Los Angeles, Los Angeles county soon expects to be in position to point with pride to a series of boulevards throughout the territory adjacent to the city that will lure more tourists to this lovely land than have heretofore been seen in our midst. We are still moving to the front.

The establishment of a rock pile and an adequate hammer supply in Los Angeles may reduce the census considerably, but we shall never feel aggrieved because of the ensmallment so long as it is confined to that class which preys and refuses to work, excepting under compulsion.

When a Russian editor can print an able editorial without seeing the censor go over his choicest paragraphs with a pot of black paint (and a marking brush) it will be a great day for the newspaper man in Russia.

Dr. Flower, the New York magnetic healer, is under arrest, charged with grand larceny. The doctor may be a daisy in his business, but it looks as if he had got nipped in the bud, and will probably wilt.

Congressmen are now wriggling around for fear the President is going to send for them to come back to Washington and toy with the climate and the Cuban reciprocity treaty at one fell swoop.

Jim Keene has made a demonstration which goes to prove that the injunction will hold against a railroad as well as against strikers. It is a mighty poor law that won't work both ways.

The next Legislature will have to elect a United States Senator, and that is when there will be something doing besides paving the way for convention halls and boulevards.

Bryan is imploring Democrats not to despair. They probably wouldn't if William would be kind enough to go away back and sit down.

The strait-jacket has not been abolished in California, and the poll tax still has us under the cinch, all right enough.

If Col. Mazuma did reach Sacramento he got on the ground a little too late to do any large amount of business.

We will excuse Ella Wheeler Wilcox for her "Poems of Passion," if, as she says, she felt that way.

He Never Smiled Again.

"What," asked the would-be funny man, "is the difference between me and a groundhog?"

"Not much," replied the snake editor, at whom the query had been fired, "only in speaking of you I'd cut out the 'ground.'"—[Chicago News.

"TWEENTIMES."

THE SHIP O' DREAMS.

The Ship o' Dreams, it sails afar
Where moonlit isles of lotus are,
And 'round its prow the soft seas break
And croon and whisper in its wake,
And all the guides its sailors see
Are stars of faith and memory.

Bound outward, with the gentle wind,
The shores of care are left behind,
The mart's loud, jarring noises die,
Faint falls its challenge and its cry;
The moan of pain, the drip of tears,
They fail and falter on our ears.

Starboard and lee, from rail to rail,
'Tis with our heart's best loved we sail;
The wanderers from the roof-tree fled,
The lost ones whom we mourned as dead,
They crowd the decks, and, unafraid,
We watch the golden anchors weighed.

Forth fare we then, with lute and lyre,
By lands of hope and heart's desire,
By blossomed slope and flowered plain
Where rise our castles built in Spain;
And peace is there, and o'er us gleams
The sky that folds the Ship o' Dreams.

OUR OLD COLLEGE CHUMS.

King Edward's new automobile is the finest yet seen in England. It is of twenty-two horse-power, paneled in walnut and maple, and provided with special boxes for spare ammunition. The King is now in splendid health, and has just celebrated the fortieth anniversary of his marriage.

Henrik Ibsen, the Norwegian author, has a fashion of keeping his hair in wild disorder, and it has lately been found out that he carries a mirror and comb with him for the purpose of knowing when his locks lack the proper confusion.

Oom Paul Kruger is still vainly importuning the British government for permission to return to South Africa. The poor old exile's heart is hungering for the veldt and the graves of his dead.

Senator Foraker of Ohio has a huge dislike for society functions in which he is included. His wife and daughters find it difficult to lure him into the social whirl of the Capitol, where they are among the most popular notables.

Emperor William's forty-first birthday found His Majesty in excellent health. At the recent celebration of that event the fast fading reverence of the Berliners for ceremonials was made manifest. They gathered around the Schloss when the guests arrived and poked fun at the calves and powdered wigs of the footmen.

James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern, is on a vacation in Europe. His two sons have the big railway so well in hand that the senior can run off to the woods for a few days now without worrying.

Charles T. Yerkes, who headed Morgan off on the London underground franchises, is in New York. He estimates that the tubular subways in the English metropolis will cost $80,000,000. The tracks will be from 40 to 100 feet beneath the surface.

Charles M. Schwab continues in public notice, although still quietly engaged in the pursuit of health abroad. Among the things not generally known about him is the fact that he is a good singer and an accomplished pianist. When a boy he sang in the choir of the little country church in his native village, long before dreams of wealth and greatness ever entered his brain.

George Kennan, who made himself famous by his startling Russian letters, some years ago, and who is a man of many honors, has received a new decoration at the hands of the Addicks legislators in Delaware. They have denounced him as "a dirty, low and incomprehensible liar."

STATE SNAPSHOTS.

San José's chances for pulling the capital away from Sacramento having gone glimmering, the pretty metropolis of the Santa Clara Valley is turning its attention to factories and things. Its new $50,000 fruit cannery, with a pay roll the same size, is one of the latest.

California potatoes have been tried as seed in Ireland and proved so superior to the original "Murphies" that they are now all the rage in the shamrock country. It seems funny to hear a man ask for "Irish" potatoes here, while over in Dublin they say to the waiter: "Some roast beef and mashed Californias, please."

"Fertilize with sense" is the headline to an agricultural article in a Riverside paper. This may be all right, but it must be remembered that there is a great shortage of that kind of fertilizer in the market.

In Happy Valley, up in Shasta county, there is a poor woman who imagines she is being chased by the devil. Perhaps it is not all a hallucination. The Old Boy is said to have been so puffed up by his success with Eve that he is following the game ever since.

Santa Barbara proposes to bond itself for a million in order to build a waterworks and boulevards. There is some opposition to the scheme, but this is a poor year for moss backs and progress spokers.

Maybe it is because there is so much wind up there, but it does beat all how many airships are under construction on the shores of San Francisco Bay. An Oakland man by the name of Porter (or was it beer?) is now constructing a sure winner. He calls it a "Motair." Well, let's see it mote.

Rev. Luther D. Mahone, an Oakland pastor, recently delivered a sermon to the young ladies of his church, in which he stated that he had received four proposals of marriage during the past year. The parson is either an all-fired good-looking man or there are a lot of desperate old maids in his congregation.

The war between the saloon men and the bartenders in Bakersfield has been carried to such bitter lengths that the union cards have been taken out of the saloons and the places declared "unfair." Up to date, however, no reports have been received of people foundering to death on drinking water.

THE Eagle Bird sat up here in the sunshine Saturday week, and witnessed you Chamber of Commerce [illegible] climbing hilariously upon Mr. [illegible]'s lovely cars for a ride through the valley of the beautiful and blest that reaches out toward Mount San Jacinto, and other points hither and yon, as it were. You made a goodly show of the men of Los Angeles who do things, and as you flitted across the [illegible], and through the cuts, and around the rolling hills, and past the [illegible] that stretch out an almost unbroken line of beauty to Pomona and beyond, the Eagle Bird waved an off wing at you in the enthusiasm of his admiration of the things you all are doing, and that other people who have faith in this land by the western sea who don't live here yet are helping you to do.

[illegible] fellows, you are great performers, and I sort of glory in you and your [illegible].

—o—

The Eagle Bird has had a sight of [illegible] of your birth, or adoption, for more years than he would care to [illegible] in public print—for reasons. [illegible] situated as I am on a more or less [illegible] outlook, seen that Pomona [illegible] country worked through [the wa]ding trough of the years, and [the mir]acle has been simply im[illegible].

[It is] but a short time ago that my [illegible] and supple friend, the jackrabbit, monarch of the chaparral, [held s]way. There were miles, and miles of sage brush and tar [weed where] he was wont to scamper [till the] man gave him a fright. [Where] are those tar weeds and [sage] brush now? Gone a glimmering, plowed under in a reckless and [illegible] manner by the industrious [illegible] things who achieve things right [along]. Where the paisano was wont [to go] with his pair of genuine Mexican [illegible], driven with rope lines, to [haul a] load of greasewood roots [illegible], there are now stretches of [illegible] that are so lovely as to make [illegible] eyes and mouth water. [Where] the wily and discreet jackrabbit formerly hiked across the land, [there is] nothing but the high places, [and] new roses blooming by the [illegible] homes that are smothered in [a wealth] of honeysuckle blooms.

[illegible] the other way toward the [sea, wh]ere the sails are set against [the rim] of the horizon as they drift [into the] mystery beyond the sky line, [and in] the melting distance, there are [things doing] that astonish even a fellow who has been right here all the [time].

[Trolley] cars are flying like shuttles [through] the bloomful land—trolley cars [full of] people, and the most of them [hanging] onto straps and hankering for [a chance] to sit down. It isn't any time [at all] ago that there were sheep grazing [on the] plains that lie betwixt Los [Angeles] and the sea—just miles, and [miles] and miles of sheep; but where [are the] sheep now? Muttonized, by [illegible].

[All] along the shore line where the [waves] boom, and sigh, and moan, [and make] melancholy murmurings to [illegible] at night, I beg you to note [the mi]les and miles and miles [of beach] where so recently there was [nothing], stretches of humanity, winter [and sum]mer, parading in peace and [comfort] along the shingle; golf [links la]id out for the multitudinous [who] has both time to play the [game and] money to pay for brassies [and] tennis courts wherein [youth and] beauty show their agility; [and] everywhere enjoying the [good th]ings give them, and glorying [in them].

[Down] sou'west by sou' you may [see in] the making—a harbor [for the] ships that float the commerce [of the] continents, fleets of [ships to] bring comfort to the children [of men]. I sit here in shade and [illegible] as the Weather Bureau [on its] daily schedule, and watch [the edge] of the sea dumping trainloads of rocks into the drink, [to make a] harbor, and it rejoices the [illegible] muchly, for there were [only a] few years back, when that [harbor w]as as dubious as some people [illegible] for immortality. But it is [coming] steadily and surely, and [will be] a safe refuge for the [ships] who hunt for smooth water [when the] billows begin to roll higher [than an]y call for.

[But the] harbor is but an incident [in the] doings of God's country that [you and] the Eagle Bird, are dwellers [in, and] hardly appreciating our [good luck] in being on the spot.

—o—

[It is ev]ident, that's all. For I am [telling y]ou fellows, you who ride on excursions, and you other fellows [who] think you never have the [time for] a day off and enjoy yourselves [like] other fellows, that [there] is hardly a circumstance [in the] doings booked for the [future] in this land beside the sea, [and] the poppy beds. To be [Los] Angeles and vicinage is [right] peart," as they say in [illegible]. I am giving you a guess [that the] development has but just commenced. [We] seem to be waking up [to the] purple peaks remote," to [the fact that] there is only just about [so much of] kind of country on the [face of this] beautiful earth, and that [those who w]ant some of it they must [get it, for it] will all be "took up."

—o—

[And now] about you fellows who [never] take a day off and [illegible] and your troubles; [illegible] that business of working yourselves to death, as the Eagle Bird has been pleading with you time and again. Some of these fine days you are going to go dead, every last one of you fellows, and when you do, fellows, you will be dead for keeps.

Therefore, does it seem to most any old bird with a thinker hitched onto him, that you ought to get out of the ruts and the furrows of the life of toil you live in and take a day off whenever there is the slightest excuse for it. Some people seem to act as if life were made wholly for work, instead of for the fun of living. They become possessed of the notion that every moment spared from work, of one sort or another, is money squandered. But, by gracious, fellows, there is something in the business down there in the push and the pull of human existence besides playing tag with figures, year in and year out, and growing as gray as badgers trying to get a balance.

It is the experience of people in the Eagle country that the chap who can take the time to go excursioning around the country, at times, is a heap sight better worker than the other fellows who never let go of the hot end of business long enough to spit on their hands. Say, there are a mighty big lot of things yet to be done in this country about the Eagle Bird's perch before you contractors are ready to turn it over for acceptance as finished in all detail; but if some of you carpenters of real estate and stone masons of national banks, don't let go and have a little fun when the wiser bunch is going on an excursion, some place, you won't be here to get final payment on the job.

—o—

Yes, fellows, there is plenty to be done around here before the flowers are blooming where they ought to be, and before the lawns are laid out according to the demands of the situation. There are several months of arbor days to be had; a few hundred more hotels to be built; several hundred miles more of trolley roads to be fixed up for travel; more miles than that of pavement to be constructed of asphalt; a big convention hall to be raised to the roofing over of the conventionizing multitudes; boulevards leading through the leafy places to be made smooth enough for automobiles to flee over, like birds to the mountain; storm drains to be prepared for the deluges of winter; farms to be laid out along the pathway of new railroads that are coming to the front—all these things and hundreds of other things will have to be done here before this country is as charming in all detail as it will be when it is pounded into shape by the myriad mauls of toil.

Well, say, fellows, that Chamber of Commerce bunch of you is a goodly lot, and as you are doing the major part of the hard work, looking to the glorification and beautification of the sunny south, I want to see you lingering in these Elysian fields as long as possible. Don't work yourselves to frazzles and go home at night so tired that the spirits of you are sore to the bone. Don't act as if there would never be another day in which to hustle, if you don't hustle today. Quit that worrying and look pleasant. Get out in the running, when there is any chance to run, and kick up your heels. Observe the lambkins on the mead, they are wise enough to get gay while they are young, for when they get old they can't. You all who plan, and build, and equip, and accomplish and achieve gloriously, and almost without ceasing, ought certainly to be as wise as any blamed lamb that ever went cavorting through a cañon in the exuberance of gayety and joy.

Rest up a bit, then, fellows, and live as you go along. After a while you will get a rest that will last until the stars are cold, and the leaves of the judgment book are unrolled, to the last blooming page. So long.

THE EAGLE.

WHEN MY SHIP COMES HOME.

Oh, a golden comb for golden hair,
And milk-white pearls for a neck as fair;
And silver chains, and all for me,
The day my ship comes home from sea!

Oh, silken 'broideries, green and blue,
And wrought with crimson thro' and thro',
With coral and amber; all for me,
The day my ship comes home from sea!

And where is the good ship sailing from
That brings these brave things safely home?
And by what name do you hail her free,
And who is her captain on the sea?

My ship comes sailing from the West,
And her name is called the Sailor's Rest;
And the bravest man of all her crew,
Her captain, is my lover true.

Oh, never will that ship come home,
Wherever she be sailing from;
I warmed my hands beneath the stars
By a fire made of her broken spars.

And three days dead the captain lay,
But how he died no man may say;
I laid him out by the pale moonrise,
And made a shroud of the 'broideries

With coral and gold I weighted him,
And still he was light enough to swim,
With silver chains I bound him down,
There was never a corpse so hard to drown.

His black hair lines an eagle's nest
On a sea-girt cliff in the lonesome West;
Now jet for coral there must be,
And instead of amber, ebony.

—[J. L. Kipling, in New York Tribune.

Do Cigarettes Harm You?

"There is an easy way, if you are a cigarette smoker, to tell whether or not the habit injures you," said a physician. "Do you feel, after inhaling the smoke, a languor, a sinking and a great depression? Do you feel melancholy, hopeless, weak? If you do, you should abandon smoking at once.

"The tendency of tobacco is to weaken the action of the heart. But in very strong, robust persons this weakening effect is very slight; it is not felt at all, and in these persons tobacco cannot be said to injure. But in persons whose hearts and constitutions are frail the effect is strongly felt, the symptoms being those that I have just described, and such persons ought not to smoke.

"The director of the physical laboratory at Yale has tabulated the records of all the smoking and non-smoking students for a period of nine years. He has found that the smokers are shorter in stature than the non-smokers, and that they do not develop as well. During their four years' course at Yale non-smokers gain 24 per cent. more in height and 26 per cent. more in chest girth than the smokers. The former, too, are quicker than the latter. They learn quicker, walk quicker—excell in speed and all the physical and mental acts."—[Philadelphia Record.

Spring Opening
Silks and Dress Goods

We take pleasure in announcing to our many patrons and the public generally that we are now prepared to show the most exclusive dress fabrics that has ever been our good fortune to place on our counters. The different materials have been carefully selected direct from the European manufacturers and consequently are strictly no duplicates—they comprise a wider range and greater variety to select from than we have ever shown before. The thin sheer fabrics are much in evidence this season and in the tailor suitings a choice assortment of light weight Scotch material in Flamme effects are shown—in the novelty class the collection is too extensive to single out any one particular favorite. We will therefore enumerate a few of the leading weaves.

GOING EAST?

Our reputation for doing first-class work is not unknown in Eastern cities. We have built vehicles for such men as Mr. A. G. Spaulding, the well-known baseball man and dealer in sporting goods, and Mr. Henry Timken, inventor of the famous Timken Spring and Timken Roller Bearing Axles, who is an expert on vehicles. Both were highly pleased with the jobs. We have pleased many others. We know we can please you.

LOS ANGELES FURNITURE CO.

It is the come-again-and-again customer that has made this the largest fine furniture business in the Southwest.

SUBSTANTIAL FURNITURE

The necessity for inspection of furniture before buying was never so strong as it is in this city today. Ours is the kind that courts inspection—and the more rigid you make it the better we like it. We have none of the flimsily constructed trash that depends upon "showiness" of design and cheapness (?) of price for its sale.

Every piece is of carefully selected and thoroughly seasoned woods, solidly built and properly finished—the kind that a person likes better and better every year they live with it. An equal variety of artistic designs will be found nowhere else in town.

ORANGE BUSINESS IS RATHER YELLOW.

TOTAL SHIPMENTS BEHIND THOSE OF LAST YEAR.

Fruit Must Be Moved in Large Bunches for the Balance of the Season—Room for Improvement in Prices—Grape Fruit Selling First Rate.

Some darkness is to be discerned in the future of the orange market, as far as the coming months of the active shipping season are concerned. Cheap apples throughout the East, with at least half of the orange crop here still to move, are the discouraging elements.

The total shipments of citrus fruit out of Southern California, up till Friday night, were 8350, of which amount 7373 carloads were oranges and 977 carloads were lemons. For the same period last year a few more than 8338 carloads had been moved, of which amount 626 carloads were lemons.

From the above figures, it will be observed that the shipments this season are less than 400 carloads behind last year's output for the same period. If the crop is to be more than 20,000 carloads—some estimate it at 22,000—there remains an immense amount of fruit to be moved during the next three months. Unless this fruit is moved promptly, it will go to waste, as it cannot be kept prime here indefinitely, whereas, if it is moved rapidly, there will be overstocking of the eastern market, on top of cheap apples.

Such are the arguments of those who take a gloomy view of the orange situation, and maintain that the general outlook for better prices is bad. It is reported that already some shippers have iced a few cars, and as the warm weather comes on this will be more and more necessary, adding to the expense account.

Shipments of the past week have been rather light, averaging about 100 cars daily, with the eastern market responding fairly well, but not altogether satisfactorily. The forwardings will be heavier from now on. No more than the usual spring decay is reported. Further reports of damage from the last cold spell show that the loss is exceedingly light for oranges. Lemons are in good demand. Grape fruit is bringing good prices in the East. Seedlings have been very slow.

As to the outlook for good prices, there are a few optimists who maintain that the chances for better prices on oranges during the rest of the season are not so doubtful after all.

CALLED BY WASHINGTON.

Miss Grace Harrison of This City is Appointed Teacher at Tuskegee Institute, Alabama.

While Booker T. Washington was in Los Angeles, President Pierce of the State Normal School had an interview with him in the interest of Miss Grace Harrison, the only colored girl who has been graduated from the school. As a result of the interview, Miss Harrison has received an appointment as teacher in the academic department of the Tuskegee Institute. She leaves Monday evening to begin her work.

Miss Harrison entered the Normal three years ago, her credentials being the diploma of the San Bernardino High School, and graduated with honor June, 1902. Her object in taking the Normal School course was to prepare herself for the work of teaching among her people. Her call to the leading educational institution of her race is not only a great honor to her, but also a compliment to the State Normal School.

RAILROAD NOTES.

E. M. Pomeroy, Pacific Coast agent of the Pennsylvania lines, is down from San Francisco.

Milton Knight, second vice-president of the Wabash, arrived in the city from the East yesterday, accompanied by his family. He is here on pleasure bent.

C. P. Ensign, formerly with the Union Pacific here, but now city passenger agent in San Francisco, is in town over Sunday.

G. R. Griffitts, advertising agent of the Burlington, is expected to arrive from Chicago next Thursday.

F. M. Frye, commercial agent of the Southern Pacific at San Diego, was in town yesterday.

Beginning tomorrow, the Burlington will run a daily tourist car through to Chicago, via Southern Pacific and Denver and Rio Grande.

The Los Angeles division of the Pacific Coast Traffic Agents' Association enjoyed an outing to Long Beach last night.

CLOSING THE SEMESTER.

The intermediate class of the Cumnock School of Expression closed the half year of work last night with a somewhat ambitious recital, presenting the following programme:

"Julius Caesar," Act IV, scene 3, Miss Orra Gardner; "Merchant of Venice," Act I, scene 2, Mrs. Helen Steckel, Miss Edna Reed; "King John," Act VI, scene 1, Miss Cecily Praeger; "Romeo and Juliet, "Act II, scene 5, Mrs. Helen M. Field, Miss Edith Law; "Two Gentlemen of Verona," Act I, scene 2, Miss Fern Palmer; "Midsummer Night's Dream," Pyramus and Thisbee scenes. Quince, Scrug, Bottom, Flute, Snout, Starveling.

Wednesday afternoon the senior class gave Howell's "Mouse-Trap" before an audience of friends, and Thursday afternoon an open meeting was given by the pupils in physical culture and fencing.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, had placed in his hands by an East Indian missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections; also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints. Having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, and desiring to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who wish it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail, by addressing, with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 847 Powers Block, Rochester, N. Y.

WHOLESALE AGENTS

The most provokingly pretty suit styles in Los Angeles.

In addition to our big stock of suits recently received, another new lot of exclusive ideas have arrived the past week—one hundred suits—which enables us to offer a variety for your inspection tomorrow which will be unequalled in the city.

From this assortment you cannot fail to find a suit that will more than fulfill every desire. Our prices are invariably just a little lower than you will be likely to find elsewhere.

All our suits are personally selected in New York. Each costume bears the evidence of study, skill, and tailor charm.

We guarantee our fit, and no amount of trouble is considered too great if it results in satisfaction to our patrons.

We cordially invite the ladies of Los Angeles to inspect.

Quick Chances for Profit in Long Beach Property.

It's the Best Property to Buy Because It's the Easiest Property to Sell—the Demand for Homes is Unprecedented.

14 SPLENDID LOTS WITH SEVEN ROOM MODERN HOUSE—$6,600.00.

To illustrate what we mean by selling property at a figure that permits the buyer to make his own quick profit we mention 14 elegant lots located on American Avenue, with a seven-room modern house, the entire tract and house to be sold by us at $6,600.00 (terms ½ cash, balance on time.) This tract is only three minutes' ride on the electric car line from the city and is close to the high school, and surrounded by fine residences. We know positively that no such value in real estate has been offered in Long Beach nor do we believe that such a value can be duplicated.

For the individual who seeks a rock solid investment either to hold or to resell at a handsome profit this tract is unequalled. We shall be pleased to show this property to anyone interested, but we mention it not because we are particularly desirous of selling it, but as an illustration of the sort of values we are able to give in this favorite resort.

Some Acre Tracts, $200 to $300 Per Acre.

We have a limited number of exceptionally good acre tracts which we shall sell at $200.00 to $300.00 per acre. These are located on car line and are considerably below the present market worth of such property. No better investment is possible.

A LITTLE LOGIC FOR INVESTORS.

Property at Long Beach is growing daily of more value because the demand for residence property is growing at a still faster rate. This beautiful city is rapidly filling up with residents from Riverside, San Bernardino, Santa Ana, Redlands, Pomona, Santa Barbara, Arizona cities, as well as by Los Angeles people, and new settlers from the east.

Without seeing Long Beach no person can form any idea of the marvelous improvements and growth of this important place. Lovely homes are being built almost as quickly as property is secured, and these homes are immediately filled by families who become permanent citizens. The amount of desirable property at Long Beach is limited, and by good fortune we control a large part of such property. Ocean Frontage and property adjoining will never again be procurable at the prices we are quoting. The larger Long Beach becomes the more eager must be the demand for property along this magnificent stretch of Ocean.

Our business success is the result of selling property at prices which permit of profit by the purchasers, and we will say that never before have we offered such unusual values in real estate as we now quote.

BEAUTIFUL OCEAN FRONT LOTS ON BOULEVARD—EVERY IMPROVEMENT.

The last available Ocean Frontage at Long Beach has been secured by us; the most valuable property in this chief superb of Los Angeles. These lots are faced by a broad boulevard, the work on which is now being pushed ahead with the utmost speed. From the boulevard to the Ocean will be a beautiful terrace. The view from these lots not only embraces the Pacific, but gives a view of Catalina Island; and the location is unquestionably the finest of any beach in California. This boulevard and this property will form the best residence section of any beach.

Built up with fine residences, the surrounding property is also the most valuable residence land in the city.

Electric car lines will run from the tract to the center of Long Beach; the streets will be curved, graded, and sidewalks laid. The tract has abundance of water, and will be supplied with gas, electricity, etc. No convenience shall be lacking.

WE INVITE INVESTIGATION.

We invite individuals who desire to make a legitimate and profitable investment, or those who seek the pleasantest, healthiest, and prettiest spot for a home, to visit our office at Long Beach, and we shall be pleased to drive them to the property and give them detailed information. We are confident that no one acquainted with value of real estate can help investing in this property after an investigation. Property is sold on easy terms.

WHY TOMMY ADOPTED THE BABY.

Say, I've got a little sister,
She's a regular little twister,
Gosh, she squirms, an' squeaks, an' wiggles
Like an angle worm or frog;
All the folks that call they whisper,
—Makes me awful mad, too, mister—
Then they ask me with a giggle,
"Would you trade her for a dog?"

Would I trade her? Well I'd snicker,
Bet your life! I'd do it quicker
Than a minute—for a spaniel,
Or a spotted guinea pig;
Or a colt, to paw an' nicker;
Do you s'pose pa'd let me dicker
Off that squirmin' bunch of flannel,
That's so bald it needs a wig?

Cook, she says my nose is broken!
—Sounds just like a frog a-croakin'
When it rains, an' sun's a-shining',
In the summer time, you know—
Says that sister is a token,
That a small boy—name unspoken—
For small girls will be a-pinin';
Say, but that would be a show.

Aunt Jeanet says "she's a rosy,
An' she's auntie's little posy,
Come an' kiss her little brother?"
Gee, it makes my hair stand straight;
"Come an' kiss her?" nixie, NEVER,
Stay away from home forever
If it wasn't that my mother
Hates to have me stay out late.

Uncle Jim says "Here, you lazy
Little Jack-a-nips, you're crazy;
Don't you want to rock the baby?
Don't you like to hear her sing?"
Sing! Gee whiz! His brains are hazy
If he thinks that girl a daisy;
Bach, like him, don't know much, maybe,
Always think themselves The Thing.

Gran'ma says she's such a blessing,
Never cries except when dressing;
Gran'ma's heart is warm an' tender,
She'd be sure to say things nice;
Gran'ma's ways are so caressing,
An' she never keeps you guessing
If it's nouns, or common gender,
Always gives the best advice.

Nobody's quite like my mother,
When she whispers "Little brother,
God has sent this little sister
For your constant love and care;
You're such a comfort to your mother;
I can trust you, little brother;
So, I'll have to 'dopt her, mister,
'Cause my mother speaks so fair.

OUR System of Removable Bridge Teeth

Does away entirely with the large suction plate. Any number of teeth can be put in without extracting any good teeth you may have, and no plate in the roof of the mouth. They are firmer than a plate and cannot be laughed, coughed or sneezed out. The teeth are anchored in the mouth, yet are removable and take up very little room—only a narrow ridge around the edge of the gums.

This method is especially adapted where all the lower back teeth are out, and it is well known that the dental profession have nothing successful to offer in its place; and, furthermore, partial lower plates have not been, and cannot be, successfully made by any known method. The bridge is comfortable, and the wearer soon becomes unconscious of its presence. INVESTIGATE THIS BEFORE HAVING ANY TEETH EXTRACTED OR BEFORE GETTING BRIDGE WORK OR A PLATE.

On account of some unfortunate experience I had in the extraction of my teeth I become a great coward in this respect. Today Dr. Schiffman extracted one of my very refractory teeth without causing me one particle of pain.
D. K. TRASK,
Judge Superior Court, Los Angeles.

Dr. Schiffman pulled two of my wisdom teeth today, and it didn't hurt a bit; on the contrary, the sensation was pleasant.
GUY L. HARDISON,
Vice-Pres. Herald Pub. Co.

The dread of my life has been to get a tooth pulled, but since Dr. Schiffman has pulled three teeth for me. I will never dread it again.
A. J. ROSS,
2011 Central Ave.

I certainly can recommend Dr. Schiffman's methods of extracting teeth. I have just had my upper and lower teeth extracted without pain. I advise any one needing dentistry done to come to the Schiffman Dental Co.
MRS. M. E. CULP,
1641 St. James St.

Dr. Schiffman extracted a tooth for me absolutely without pain. His advertising phrase, "Didn't Hurt a Bit," is literally true.
R. D. HOLABIRD,
1921 Ocean View Ave.

Dr. Schiffman made me an upper and lower set of teeth five years ago. During that time they have been perfectly satisfactory and I feel that they could not be better. I can eat with them as well, if not better, as with my natural teeth.
MRS. MARY HANSEN,
215 N. Hill St.

Dr. Schiffman has just filled a tooth for me, and he also put in a crown and a bridge about five months ago; all of which has given me complete satisfaction. My work was all done painlessly.
S. E. MILLS,
No. 530 Avenue 20.

I wish to state that Dr. Schiffman has extracted my teeth without the slightest pain or unpleasant after-results, and has since fitted me with a full set of teeth, which are just splendid, satisfactory in every way, and I can use them as well as I could my natural ones.
MARY E. BROWN,
615 Crocker St.

I had my upper and lower teeth extracted by Dr. Schiffman without any pain. I have since had an upper and lower set made and they fit fine. They fit so tight that it is with difficulty that I can remove them. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Schiffman and his work; and advise every one needing work done to patronize him.
MRS. E. J. KELLOGG,
146 W. 14th st.

I take pleasure in saying that I have had twenty teeth extracted by Dr. Schiffman with out pain, and a full plate made which is perfectly satisfactory.
W. H. LAYNE,
West Saticoy, Cal.

The plate made for me by Dr. Schiffman fits fine, it being much pleasanter to use them than any I ever used before.
H. D. BRIGGS,
Azusa, Cal.

I cheerfully recommend Dr. Schiffman's method of painless dentistry. He has extracted teeth and replaced them by bridge work, which was absolutely painless and satisfactory in every way.
MRS. ANNA HOLLEN,

It is with great pleasure that I recommend Dr. Schiffman's method of painless dentistry, he having removed a number of my teeth and replaced them by bridge work, which is satisfactory in every respect.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Tomorrow the Council will caucus to decide the date for the sale of the $2,180,000 bond issue.

Property owners organized for the improvement of West Sixth street and choose J. H. Spires president.

Three street-car franchise applications were made yesterday which affect the Ninth Ward.

Albert Modena and Dan McMahon, two of the suspected highwaymen, were yesterday held for trial by Justice Chambers.

Hansler was found guilty of wife-murder yesterday and the penalty was fixed at imprisonment for life.

Dave Kidson, a big rancher, appealed to the court to make his wife leave him alone.

AT THE CITY HALL.

WILL SET DATE FOR SALE OF BOND ISSUE.

COUNCIL TO CAUCUS ON IMPORTANT MATTER TOMORROW.

Eastern Financial Market not in Best Condition for the Marketing of the Bond Issue—Premium Essential Because of Advance in Cost of Construction.

Tomorrow the Council will meet in caucus to determine the date on which the $2,180,000 issue of bonds will be sold.

Yesterday afternoon the bond ordinance was typewritten and May 1 has been fixed, tentatively, as the day for the sale of the big issue. It will remain for the Council to finally decide the time of marketing the big issue at the session tomorrow.

Originally, it was the intention of the City Fathers to dispose of the bonds March 1. Financial conditions in the eastern market were not such as to warrant a sale at that time, and action was deferred a month. Advices from the money centers indicate that a good sale of the securities cannot be effected before May 1, and possibly not until a later date.

Bonds of this issue bear interest at the rate of 3¾ per cent., whereas, call money in New York ruled firm at near 6 per cent. last week.

Dillon & Hubbard, the bond attorneys of New York, and the United States Mortgage and Trust Company of Gotham are watching the eastern bond market in the interest of the city.

This big issue is almost entirely for construction work, and as prices have materially advanced on all kinds of material and labor that will be required the Councilmen are particularly anxious to sell the bonds for a premium. The issue is divided as follows: Common schools, $480,000; High School, $200,000; storm drains, $400,000; bridges, $100,000, and outfall sewer, $1,000,000. City Engineer Stafford estimates that the bridges will cost at least 25 per cent. more than the estimates, and all the other improvements will cost much more than was thought at the time the bonds were voted.

There is great necessity to sell the bonds as early as possible, as many important improvements are being held back until the issue is marketed. The paving of Hill street will not be commenced, it is said, until the storm drain has been put down, and other improvements are awaiting the completion of sewers and storm drains.

It will take four weeks to have the bonds prepared and the necessary advertising done, consequently there is slight chance that a date earlier than May 1 will be chosen by the Councilmen for the sale of the bonds.

BOYLE HEIGHTS LINES.

FRANCHISE APPLICATIONS.

M. T. Collins, Lee A. McConnell and City Treasurer W. H. Workman have applied to the Council for the sale of three franchises as follows:

"Commencing at the intersection of Stephenson and Boyle avenues, thence easterly along Stephenson avenue to the easterly city limits.

"Also commencing at the intersection of Euclid street and Stephenson avenue, thence north on Euclid street to Fourth street.

"Also commencing at the intersection of Hill and Seventh street; thence on Seventh street to Boyle avenue; thence north on Boyle avenue to Stephenson avenue."

From the route outlined in the application it is surmised that the Los Angeles Traction Company is desirous of securing the franchise. It was stated yesterday, authoritatively, that the application is presented in entire good faith, and has backing that will build the road.

SIXTH STREET.

PROPERTY OWNERS MEET.

A large number of property owners on West Sixth street met yesterday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce and organized an improvement association for the purpose of carrying to completion the ambitious plans for the opening and widening of the street.

J. H. Spires was chosen chairman and J. T. Saunders secretary. The chairman was authorized to appoint a committee of nine upon whom will devolve the duty of outlining an assessment district for the improvement.

It is proposed to make Sixth street ninety feet wide from Hill street to the west city limits. To do this it will be necessary to take twenty feet off the Creede property just west of Figueroa and to make a very deep cut between Lucas and Bixel streets.

Rough estimates of contractors place the cost of the improvement at between $150,000 and $200,000.

Over Sixth street from Bixel street to the west city limits the Los Angeles Railway Company has applied for a franchise, and it is probable that the Council will recommend that the concession be advertised for sale at the session tomorrow. If the street is opened as planned a very direct route to the center of the city will be open to cars run over this line.

Repairing the Roadways.

In accordance with a request from Street Superintendent Werdin the Los Angeles Traction Company is repairing the roadway between its tracks on Third street and in various other sections of the city. The tracks of the Los Angeles-Pacific Company on Hill and Sixteenth streets are undergoing similar repairs.

Mayor Gets Invitations.

Mayor Snyder is much in demand as an after-dinner speaker. Yesterday he received an invitation to respond to a toast at the banquet of the Ancient Order of Hibernians at Levy's Café on the Seventeenth of Ireland, commonly known as St. Patrick's Day. Mayor Snyder has also been asked to participate in the ceremonies attendant upon the laying of the corner-stone of the City Hall at Santa Monica on the 19th inst.

Pass a Resolution.

After deciding by a vote of 3 to 2, yesterday morning, to grant a permit to conduct a livery stable, at No. 326 East Second street, to Nat B. Morse, and by unanimous vote to deny a laundry permit to Yee Yeng, at No. 2271 South Main street, the Fire Commission passed the following resolution without debate:

"Resolved, That the Board of Fire Commissioners, believing in the principles underlying the existence of civil service in office, and because of some possible legal complications which might be construed as placing the fire department without the operation of the civil-service provisions, as set forth in the recently-adopted amendments to the city charter, hereby declare that the said fire department be and the same is hereby placed, in so far as said commissioners have the power so to do, under the rules of the Civil Service Commission of this city and that the clerk of this commission forward a copy of this resolution to the Board of Civil Service Commissioners."

More Smallpox.

Last Friday there were three cases of smallpox in the City Hall. All three of the afflicted persons sought the health office. Despite the frequent recurrence of this state of things, no action has been taken by the Council to provide suitable quarters for the health department. Criticism has also been caused by the fact that while the Finance Committee and the Board of Health are figuring over the purchase of a crematory to protect garbage contractors from loss, the city remains without the detention hospital which the present Council practically pledged itself to provide. With the municipal funds over $25,000 behind, it is not probable that the city will acquire either a hospital or a crematory.

San Pedro Street.

It is expected that the property owners in the assessment district for the opening of San Pedro street from Fifth to Aliso street will appear before the Council tomorrow morning and secure the final abandonment of the proceedings. Expenses, amounting to over $1000 incurred in the preliminary work, will be paid into the treasury.

AT THE COURT HOUSE

HANSLER FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER.

WILL BE IMPRISONED FOR BALANCE OF HIS LIFE.

Wife Murderer Could not Flim-flam the Jury into Thinking Him Insane—Verdict Returned in a Few Minutes After Case Was Submitted.

It took the jury about ten minutes to find George Hansler guilty of wife murder yesterday. The crime was fixed at murder in the first degree, but the jury provided that the penalty should be imprisonment for life.

Hansler seemed indifferent. He told the bailiff going back to court that he didn't care. He said that he didn't know what he was doing when he killed the woman, but he didn't seem to think it a matter of much consequence.

Hansler's trial for the murder of the woman who was deceived into a contract marriage and left him when she learned the truth, came to an end at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The arguments presented were unusually terse and to the point. Mr. Hunter spoke in the morning and Judge Morris and Dist.-Atty. Fredericks both finished their speeches in the afternoon. The District-Attorney spoke only a very short time.

Hansler behaved most curiously while these arguments were going on. It may have been a studied effect to make the jury believe him crazy.

He held his black hat up before his face, and turned it around and around, examining every spot with the utmost care. All the time his head was jerking and twisting. He kept this up all day long.

Hansler's lawyers have tried his case without pay, out of courtesy to the court who appointed them. It is said that they have spent considerable sums of money out of their own pockets in working up the defense.

LIVED IN GARBAGE PEN.

KIDSON'S WIFE KICKED.

Dave Kidson, a husky rancher, cried aloud yesterday to be rescued from a pestering woman. He appealed to Judge York to make her let him alone. He was pained because she objected to his keeping their children in a foul garbage corral.

It was another of these mixed-up matrimonial affairs with a woman and two husbands and a progeny scattered around.

Kidson claims that his divorced wife hangs around his house and interferes with the children, which were awarded to him by the court; also that she tells the children that he is a good-for-nothing cur.

The woman, on the other hand, claims that Kidson is keeping the children in a bunkhouse back of a livery stable, the bunkhouse opening on a corral, where garbage wagons are kept. The neighbors are prostitutes.

The woman came up yesterday on citation before Judge York to show cause why she should not be ordered to let Kidson and the children alone.

Kidson caught a Tartar. Before the proceeding was through, it was he who was on trial.

Judge York called Kidson to the stand. Kidson was compelled to admit that he keeps the four children in a shack in the back of a San Pedro-street livery stable. On one side of the place, garbage wagons are kept; on another side is a livery stable; on a third side is a big fruit store, which is constantly throwing out offal; on the fourth side is a shanty inhabited by negro hostlers and lewd characters.

Kidson also admitted that the children sleep in beds which have no sheets or pillow cases, and that he has violated the order of the Health Officer to change the plumbing.

Judge York said that under the circumstances, it was quite natural that the mother should want to hang around the place where her children were kept amid such surroundings.

Kidson, seeing the court going against him, promised to take the children away from the shack, and consented to allow the mother to see them every Saturday afternoon. Kidson acknowledged that he was not obliged to keep the children in such circumstances, as he makes $10 a day from a line of gravel wagons that he runs. At the time this woman got a divorce from him, they lived on a lonely ranch in Antelope Valley. She had to work like a man.

One of her duties was to dip up water from a low spring for a herd of stock. She had to lift the water, pail by pail over her head. It splashed over and at the end of the watering, she would be wetted to the skin.

After the divorce, she ran a ranch at Toluca single-handed, plowing and cultivating and attending to her housekeeping and her children as well. But work as she would, she lost the ranch on a mortgage.

She afterward married a man who came along the road asking for work. He got a divorce from her on the ground of adultery, Kidson, the former husband, being named as co-respondent.

LONG SESSION.

OF THE COURT.

If there were a judges' union, a walking delegate would be getting after Superior Judge Trask, who has been working overtime.

To clean up a crowded calendar, Judge Trask sat on the bench nine hours Friday. He tried three cases in one afternoon. He went on the bench at 10 a.m., and held court until 1 o'clock. Court convened again at 2 and remained in session until 8 p.m.

Yesterday, Judge Trask went to Ventura to try a case. He will go on from there to the North. He will be away three weeks.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

BANK SUES CITY. The Farmers' and Merchants' Bank has sued the City of Los Angeles for $4235.96, alleged to have been overpaid for taxes. The bank claims that at the time of the last assessment the money on hand was $200,492.70. In the vaults, however, was $352,997.30 belonging to the city. Wherefore, the City Assessor assessed for $553,490.

DAMAGE SUIT. Adelia A. Thompson has sued the Los Angeles Railroad Company for $25,000 on account of the death of her husband, who was killed at Broadway and Second street by the sudden starting of a car from which he was alighting.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

JUMPED QUARANTINE AND LANDED IN JAIL.

JUSTICE AUSTIN MAKES EXAMPLE OF JOHN DOHERTY.

Two Highwaymen Held for Trial for Robbing a Chinaman—Oliver H. Heap is Held as a Suspect and Given a Sweat.

John Doherty is serving as an "awful example" to people who think it a trifling and really funny thing to dodge the quarantine officer, and get out of an infected building by hook or by crook. John thought it was really amusing on Friday, when he had his hearing; he was convulsed with laughter most of the time, as if the whole thing was a huge joke. His humor was all gone yesterday at the end of the first round. Prior to the announcement of the sentence, he chuckled a smile or two at the court, but not afterward.

"You left that building," said Justice Austin, "got on a railroad train and went to Riverside, exposing probably a great number of people to the contagion, and the sentence of the court is that you pay a fine of $40 or be imprisoned for a period of forty days in the City Jail."

You could have knocked the old man down with a feather.

"Oi've no money, yer honor; Oi had to borrow th' twinty Oi put up fer bail; Oi've got no——"

"You ought to have thought of that before you disobeyed the officer," was the chilly reply of the court, and the old man looked very blue as he took his seat in the dock.

The full penalty for the offense of evading quarantine, is $200 fine and six months' imprisonment.

Suspected Heap.

Oliver H. Heap, a young fellow, who has made a habit of hanging around the saloons at the corner of Fifth and Spring streets, and the disreputable joints on Alameda and Los Angeles streets, has been locked up since Monday last, with a charge of vagrancy lodged against him. Yesterday, on the witness stand, he let it leak out that he has been held on suspicion and has been subjected to numerous "sweatings" by the detectives, ni the effort to connect him with some of the recent crimes that have been committed on the streets of the city.

He was subjected to a severe cross-examination, and failed to acquit himself to the satisfaction of Justice Austin. He was ordered to appear on Monday afternoon, meanwhile being held in jail.

Brevities from the Dock.

Albert Modena and Dan McMahon were yesterday held in $1000 bail each, to answer in the Superior Court to the charge of robbing a Chinaman, some days since. The Chinaman was very positive in his identification of the two men, and said he thought they had the same clothes on yesterday that they wore when they held him up.

The hearing of U. W. Stapp, charged with burglarizing a barber ship, went over till Tuesday.

J. L. Morris got twenty days for his first racket with the police, since his return from the Philippines. He was "bad," and when gobbled up for being drunk on Friday night, he wanted to "lick" the town. Among his effects was a razor, and he almost tore the clothes from the arresting officer, while it took two more to help hold him while his pockets were being searched. He was tame enough yesterday.

Mike Durkin's tongue got him into trouble. His was a mild case of drunk, but he used such vile language to the cop and to people on the streets, that he was given twenty days to repent.

All Marked Down.

"Oh, yes, he's saved a good many lives."

"Then, I suppose he has saved a good deal of money, too."

"No. He's poor."

"That's strange. How about the rewards from the grateful people he has pulled out of the water?"

"Oh, the trouble with them is that they put their own valuation on the goods saved."—[Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ENLARGING.
Our Business Demands More Space

While scarcely more than a year old, our business has so far out-grown its original quarters that we have secured a large store South of our present location. These will be united, making one of the largest clothing houses in the City. The store will be a brilliant work of art in every particular—a fitting place for the high class of clothing which we have been so successful in introducing.

Our Alfred Benjamin clothing has more than fulfilled every claim, and our extra room will enable us to show a more complete variety of this favorite clothing than ever before.

No other clothing approaches the Alfred Benjamin garments in real style and general excellence.

Mr. James Smith has been associated with the clothing business in Los Angeles for fifteen years, a period during which his judgment in selecting clothing and his dealings with patrons give assurance that every statement issuing from James Smith & Co. is an indisputable fact.

A lively lot of news will be ready each day—watch for it.

The New Novel.

"What we want for the fall trade," said the great publisher to the historical novelist, "is a corking good story which shall combine the elements of mythology with modern dialectic humor together with a touch of oriental mysticism. And, above all, it must have a title that will at once catch the attention of the public and give it an idea as to the general theme of the romance. Can you do it?"

"Sure," replied the historical novelist. One month later he sent the publisher a bale of manuscript, the first page of which bore this title:

"Diana in an Indiana Inn in India."—[What to Eat.

Of course profits are small on Radcliffe Shoes, but the sales are large. They are sold all over the country and most of all where they've been sold longest. That means they please women who wear them.

Radcliffe SHOES $2.50

You can depend on the honesty of the dealer who sells the Radcliffe Shoes, because they cost him more than any ordinary shoe which he could sell at the same price. CARROLL TRACT

In East Long Beach

Overlooking the Ocean

This is the most rapidly growing portion of the city. Thousands of Dollars are now being expended by the property owners in improvements.

Thousands of Dollars are now being expended by H. E. Huntington in constructing street car lines.

Thousands of Dollars are now being expended for public buildings.

There is no place in Southern California that offers so good an opportunity to investors and homeseekers as does the Carroll tract.

The necessary investment is small and lots are cheap, and will double in value within six months. This is no idle talk. The improvements now being made will be sure to double values in this vicinity within that time.

Present price $250; $25 cash and $5 per month.

Have You Got $25?

If so, invest it in a lot in the Carroll Tract on Monday, March 16, 1903.

Pay $25 down, $5 per month for six months; total paid, $55; sell your lot at end of six months for $500; profit, $250, or over 450 per cent. on investment. Thousands of people have made this profit on lots in Long Beach and are doing it now, and you can do the same if you have $25.

There are only fifty of these lots to be sold Monday.

EASTERN GROCER TALKS OF FRUITS AND NUTS.

CANDID STATEMENT OF HOW OUR PRODUCTS ARE RECEIVED.

J. A. Seel of Rochester, N. Y., Tells of Conquering March of Output of the Southland and Suggests Remedies for Weak Points.

Appetizing facts bearing on California products, and the reception they are actually accorded by the consumer of the East, are told by J. A. Seel, a grocer of Rochester, N. Y. Speaking from personal observation of the whims of the housewife and the varying likes and dislikes of many other patrons, Mr. Seel presents a pleasing statement of what has been accomplished by the producers of California as a result of their efforts to create in the East a demand for the output of their ranches. A few weak points in the situation are pointed out, and remedies are suggested.

Mr. Seel, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Mrs. A. F. Crittenden and child, is occupying his vacation with a tour of the Coast. They are at present quartered at Hotel Arcadia, Santa Monica.

"The outlook for California products in the markets of the East is very bright," said Mr. Seel. "Speaking from my own experience and from a long period of dealing directly with the consumers, I can say with considerable emphasis that the eastern people take kindly to California fruits and nuts, and are rapidly acquiring such a taste as to demand them very largely to the exclusion of the imported articles.

"The quantity of Southern California almonds and English walnuts sold in the East, as compared with foreign nuts of those kinds, has increased wonderfully within the past few years. Not long ago the situation was the reverse, and we were handling the imported English walnuts in bags containing about 250 pounds each. Now it is far from my mind to offer any unjust criticism, but I am firm in the belief that the bleaching of English walnuts as is done with the fumes of burning sulphur, is not necessary. It is true that a bleached nut appeals somewhat more to the eye, but I believe the retail trade has not so far lost its appreciation of actual merit as to fail to observe the difference in flavors of bleached and unbleached nuts. Only the other day, Dr. Adams of Rochester, N. Y., told me that he was supplying considerable quantities of unbleached nuts from his ranch near Orange to families in Rochester who preferred the unsulphured nuts because of their superior flavor. It is my intention to introduce unbleached nuts in my Rochester stores next winter. It may not be generally known in Southern California that in the East nuts are bought much more freely during the winter months.

"Considerable progress can be reported on the introduction of your California olives and olive products to the Eastern consumer. When I came to California two years ago I did not like California pickled olives as well as the imported ones, but I have since acquired a taste for the California olives and, for my own use, much prefer them to the foreign article. You should remember, however, that the people who constitute what we call the retail trade are generally slow to acquire tastes so it may be that the liking for California olives will not be firmly established with them for several years yet. Most of the imported pickled olives are very large as compared with the California article and to the consumer—who is the autocrat of the situation—the color is superior. I refer more particularly to green olives. The ripe pickled olives which you produce are rapidly growing in favor, their richness in oil making them very pleasing to the cultivated palate.

"Your California raisins have made nearly a clean sweep of the Eastern States. About the only imported raisins sold in the East now are the layers or table raisins. For the cream of the fancy trade the imported table raisins are preferred to the Californias because they are larger and therefore more meaty and present a somewhat better appearance. For cooking purposes, the California raisins are very much preferred to the imported ones. The major part of the raisins sold in the East for cooking purposes is of the seeded ones. That kind has come into favor mostly within the past two or three years. I have no serious criticism to offer against the methods of packing California raisins. That art is so well developed that the California raisins, when opened in the stores of the Eeast, present a very good appearance.

"As with raisins, so with prunes. California has conquered the Eastern field, and with the exception of an occasional old customer who clings tenaciously to the French product, it is almost entirely the California prune that is sold in our markets.

"I believe that some of the California orange growers are making a serious mistake in sending their fruit east when it is not thoroughly ripe. Such fruit may look very well, but the consumer is almost certain to note its pronounced acidity. The oranges which come into the eastern markets from Florida and from our insular possessions are comparatively sweeter, and it is likely in such a case that the patron will declare that he will not buy any more California oranges. As the season advances no matter how high the quality of the California oranges we have in stock that patron will not buy them, and in that instance alone the sale of perhaps several boxes of California oranges for the season is needlessly lost.

"My personal experience with Western New York trade has not been favorable to California lemons as compared with lemons from the Mediterranean and from Florida. The California lemon seems to have too thick a skin and it flavor does not appear to please the trade so well as does the flavor of the imported fruit. My experience with California grape fruit is that it finds a readier sale late in the season as the people prefer the grapefruit of Florida. I think, however, that in time by culling out certain varieties and shipping only the best the California grape-fruit producers will find a better market.

"I speak candidly and with none but the kindest feeling for the California producers who have made marvelous strides in the production of fruits and nuts within a very few years. When industrial activities in connection with those products are so new as they are in Southern California there must be a good deal of experimenting before any of the lines are firmly established. Californians, however, are quick to learn and profit by their failures, and a few more years, I confidently believe, will witness a vast improvement along lines where there is now weakness. I think that Southern California is still in its infancy and that a great future lies before it."

Dr. McLaughlin's Enthusiasm.

He Believes That Prof. Loeb's Discovery Is Going to Make a Stronger Race of Men and Women.

Tells of Interesting Experience.

HOW ELECTRICITY RESTORES YOUTH.

"YOU cannot possibly estimate the true import of this discovery of Professor Loeb," said Dr. McLaughlin yesterday, in discussing the scientific announcement that "Electricity is Life." "It means more happiness to the civilized race than has followed an ydiscovery for years. It will bring about the general recognition of the great possibilities which exist in the application of electricity for the preservation of the vigor of youth.

"I have for years contended that old age was nothing but the freezing of the blood when there was no longer sufficient vital heat in the body to keep the blood warm and the organs active. I have said that years did not cause decay, and proven it by citing cases where some men have been made vigorous under my rejuvenating treatment at 80; while you have examples all about you of men who are old and decrepit at 60.

"Now, Professor Loeb says that the animal heat is Electricity. That I know to be true. We get that heat from the chemical action of the acids and juices of the stomach upon our food. That is combustion. This combustion produces carbonic heat, and carbonic heat is Electricity. That is the basis of life in every vital organ. As long as the stomach is able to generate enough of this heat to replenish the wear and tear upon our vital energies we are strong and active. It is when the stomach finds the strain too heavy that we grow old and begin to decay.

"This is upon the same principle that an engine pulls a train of cars up hill. On level road it goes easily, but when it goes up hill the strain is heavy, and your engine, making power from the burning coal, just as your stomach makes it from burning your food, is taxed beyond its limit, is unable to go farthr, and exhausting all its steam in the effort, breaks down.

"The human body is just like that engine. It breaks down when the physical energy is overtaxed. That energy is electricity. I have here a means of replenishing the electricity of the body, and that is the basis of my treatment.

"Decay in old men is similar to general debility in younger men. Years have nothing to do with it. In each case it is the failure of the stomach to generate sufficient energy to supply the demands made by the vital organs.

"How quickly we fail when the stomach fails to digest the food! That shuts off the supply of energy.

"I have on record hundreds of instances where men of 75 to 90 have returned to the hard labor of their youth with a vim after having worn my appliance three months.

"One decrepit old man of 75 had in youth been a blacksmith. After using my appliance he took up his tools and says he can work as hard as he did at 35. He says he is an old man made young.

"Another man of 72 said he had been crippled with rheumatism for 45 years. He pronounces himself cured and as vigorous as he ever was in youth.

"Another, who was a wreck at 49 and said that he had been so for twenty years, was cured and three years later undertook the severe hardships of a trip to the Klondike. He returned a few months ago and said that he had stood the terrible privations better than hundreds of young men.

"I could cite thousands of similar incidents. When you see that I have fifty thousand voluntary testimonials and that there is not a hamlet in this country without one or more cures by my appliances you will understand that my experience has been broad.

"My treatment is a success in any case where strength is lacking, whether in the nerves, stomach, heart, kidneys, liver or any other part. My appliance gives a soothing, constant electric glow, which is taken by the body just as a sponge takes up water. It cures rheumatism in any guise, as well as every other form of pain.

"I am an enthusiast, you say! Why should I not be? I have the gratitude of thousands of people who have been cured by my Electric Belts after the failure of the best physicians. I am enthusiastic, because I know that I offer suffering humanity the surest cure for ahe least expenditure of money that is known today.

"I have gained my success by learning how to treat my patients and then curing them. I know how, others do not. I charge nothing for my knowledge, knowing that it helps my business to do all I can for every patient. My patients are my friends. They are building m success.

"I want every person interested in my treatment to read my beautifully illustrated book. It tells truths plainly, and is full of things a man likes to read when he wants to be strong and healthy. I send it, sealed, free. It gives the price of m Electric Belts."

CAUTION—I have to caution you against advertisements offering "an electric belt free." Of course it is a snare intended to deceive persons wishing to secure health. Instead of the free belt they send a box of medicine C. O. D. when you write. Write me today and I will expose the fraud. Address

PRESBYTERIANS AND POPE.

Beautiful Tribute of a Protestant Journal to Leo—Says His Life Will Do Much for Unity.

[Presbyterian Banner:] A remarkable old man sits in the chair of St. Peter at Rome. Length is not the only mark that distinguishes his reign. He has displayed great ability of administration and a progressive spirit that has done great things for the Roman church. He may be said to be the first modern man in the papacy. While he has not modified any of the doctrines of his church or reversed any of the deliverances of his predecessors, yet he has in some degree recognized and adapted the papacy to the changed conditions of the modern world.

In the political sphere he has submitted to the Italian government with less futile friction and fretting than Pius IX, has recognized and worked in harmony with the French republic, and had the foresight to accept gracefully the transfer of Cuba and the Philippines from Spanish to our own control. In the sphere of scholarship he has taken a great forward step in appointing a commission to consider the subject of biblical criticism and study, declaring that "none of the recent discoveries which the human mind has made is foreign to the purpose of their work," and expressly providing that they shall avail themselves "even of the assistance of non-Catholic scholars." Leo XIII has also issued an encyclical relating to "the improvement of the education of the clergy", that breathes the modern spirit. These and other acts of his administration have brought the Roman church into distinctly smoother relations with the times.

He is universally regarded as a man of singular purity and beauty of character. His plain manner of living in the midst of his luxurious surroundings, his evident sincerity and unselfishness, his benevolent disposition and kindly, winning manner, have attracted to him the respect of the world. Under his administration the Roman church wears a less forbidding aspect to Protestants, and much of the old asperity is gone. It still holds to articles and acts that are intolerable to the Protestant mind and heart, but it is a great church of Christ, and we should rejoice in any change that brings the Roman church and the Protestant church closer together. It would surely be an unbrotherly heart and ungracious hand that would want to put any drops of bitterness into the cup of sweetness that Leo XIII is now enjoying, and we rejoice that the aged pontiff has earned and is receiving the devotion of his subjects and the esteem or the Christian world.

The Costliest Battleship.

Very rapid progress is now being made witht the building of the King Edward VII, Britain's greatest warship, at the Western Dockyard, Devonport.

Her keel plate was laid by the King last March, and already the hull is virtually complete, over 4000 tons dead weight of steel-plating and armor having been built into her.

So quickly has this superb warship been brought forward that, although the original specifications did not allow for her being ready for the pennant before March, 1905, it is now officially stated that she will be completed many months earlier than this.

The King Edward VII will be the most costly warship ever yet constructed.

The original estimates were for a million and a half of money, and, although they have been cut down, it is authoritatively stated by prominent officials at Devonport yard that the total expenditure will amount to well over £1,400,000.

This outlay on a fabric which a well-directed torpedo would annihilate makes one realize how costly the game of modern naval war would prove.

Two more battleships of the same class have been laid down—the Dominion and the Commonwealth.—[Philadelphia Record.

Some Cures

That I make of chronic conditions, those diseases and tions for which you have treated long and earnestly and to receive permanent relief. These are the conditions yield to my "EXACT CAUSE" treatment, personally plied. I treat by a direct method not in common others. During 20 years' practice I have acquired termed a thorough and practical knowledge of cause, and cure of the diseases which under ordinary treatment come chronic and complicated. I have made it a point guess, but to know why and for what I treat any condi In this way I may say, with positive assurance, that I been successful in effecting some cures that are above erage, and not accomplished by other means. When I seen you and examined your case I will know just what and how to do it to give you the quickest results. This will at once perceive from my manner of examination, is very searching and which reveals to me what others experience guess at.

By Mail? No! I do not guess at any condition, neither do you want any one else to speculate on your trouble. Have you ever been cured by this unreliable mail treatment? It's a good way to make a simple trouble chronic and complicated. Then you must have thorough treatment, and for the "EXACT CAUSE" a few days is all I ask for these conditions.

I wait for my fee until you are cured

Why My Treatment Cures.

It is local and direct; it is for the "Exact Cause" and condition, and is personally given in my office so I may know the results as they tained and note changes, adapting the treatment to the actual condition, thus doing away with guess work. A treatment may help days, then stop, and it is by noting these changes that conditions are made better each time. This is why you are not cured by mail because there is too much guessing at the condition to be treated.

Functional Decline
Fagging of Strength

I believe the treatment I employ in the cure of this derangement is the only scientific, rational and absolutely certain method whereby functional activity of the parts can be fully restored to normal. I do not excite temporary activity. This would be followed by reaction. Instead, I remove the local cause, "EXACT CAUSE" producing the derangement, and restore normal physiological conditions throughout the organic system; as the congestion or inflammation is removed, circulation is increased, and the parts take on a healthy, strong and vigorous action, the effect of which is felt throughout the entire body. Men suffering from general debility will find the cause directly traceable to these conditions.

Varicocele 4 to 6 Days

To all who have treated for this condition and failed to obtain satisfactory results, I wish to say I offer an absolute cure in 4 to 6 days, devoid of any painful, harsh measures. The cure I offer is especially thorough and permanent. There are no evil after effects to undermine the health and power. My treatment shows an improvement from the first application. All pain ceases, soreness subsides, and a normal physiological condition is brought about without surgery, caustic or pain. The circulation is complete with increased strength and renewed vitality. In the cure of varicocele I offer a service superior to any you have ever had—absolute and permanent cure.

Contracted Diseases

To but partially cure is worse than no treatment at all. Chronic complications are sure to follow. My treatment is thorough, prompt and effective.

STRICTURE.

I have devoted years of study and practice in genito-urinary diseases, and know the formation and what is required for the complete eradication of urethral obstruction. My treatment cures in 10 to 15 days, and with no evil after effects.

PILES.

I cure without any operation whatever; they are a condition which may be treated unsuccessfully for years. I cure by direct contact, and by restoring tone to the hemorrhoidal veins. The cure is absolute, and no return will occur.

Contagious Blood Dis

May be inherited or contracted. system becomes tainted with the may manifest itself in many ways sores, scrofula, eczema, stiff joints, eruption, copper-colored the body, little ulcers in the swollen and inflamed tonsils, decay of flesh and bone. The sections to be restored, reaching across the desert approximately from Mojave, north of here, to Needles on the Colorado River, are said to embrace land largely agricultural in quality, though there is supposed to be great mineral wealth in the district also.

The land coming under the national irrigation provisions can be taken up only under the homestead land laws, in tracts not exceeding 160 acres. It lies along the river south from Needles.

Though the acreage to be restored is practically all termed desert land, a great part of it is rich in soil, its only drawback being scarcity of water, which may be developed in course of time, now that the district has been placed open for settlement.

The exact date of the opening has not been decided, but the event will probably take place about the middle of June. The announcement will be advertised for sixty days prior to the opening.

with an incident fraught with even greater possibilities was of a dark and dangerous stretch of rails close to a great terminus. It was guarded by every mechanical safeguard that ingenuity could devise, for its evident perils have had costly demonstration. Engineers there, it was whispered, through long immunity come to regard this as about the safest part of the whole long line because of the appliance, and at times when they have a dinner engagement or other personal reason for hurrying away from their labor, they have been known to leave the train in charge of their fireman and wash up at the tender tank. They had a bad wreck there once, and it cost much money and many human lives.

A grizzled engineer, who has spent the greater part of his life at the lever, put the proposition this way:

"By law it is required that every ferryboat shall carry two men in her pilot house. The law is obeyed, too, except in emergencies. River pilots come cheaper than locomotive engineers, but is it not strange that the great transportation companies do not find it to their own best interests, in the light of so much past experience to urge the passage of a measure providing that on all fast passenger trains there shall be a pilot engineer? What comparison can be drawn between the horrible possibilities of a wild steamboat and a runaway engine? The pilot engineer would have nothing to do with the operation of the locomotive's mechanism. His function would be to watch the track, to report signals, and to watch the other engineer."

WOMAN SUFFRAGE LEAGUE.

The Los Angeles Woman Suffrage League met in the parlors of Unity Church Saturday at 3 p.m. An interesting programme of music, speaking and discussion was enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. De Witt, who was educated at one of the first schools for the higher education of women in this country, gave some very pleasant reminiscences of the middle of the last century, and traced the progress of woman from that time, when few women enjoyed even the advantages of a common-school education, to the present, when practically all occupations and professions are open to her and where, in several States she enjoys even political privileges with her brother.

She was followed by Mme. Severance in a few words along the same line.

An interesting discussion concerning the relation of women's club work to the woman suffrage cause, brought out quite a diversity of opinion.

These meetings are to be held hereafter on the second Saturday of each month at No. 131 West Thirty-fifth street.

Of Recent Occurrence.

The Sunday-school teacher asked a big boy: "Sam, who made you?"

Sam replied: "I don't know."

Turning to little Johnny, who was 6 years old, the teacher said: "Who made you, Johnny?"

"God made me," he replied.

The teacher then asked Sam why he did not know that as well as little Johnny.

"Well," replied Sam, "Johnny wasn't born long enough to forget it."—[Little Chronicle.

Dr. O. C. Joslen, Specialist in Men's Diseases

I do not treat symptoms. I treat to cure the disease behind the symptoms. If the case presents even the slightest feature upon which I have doubt, or if I recognize incurable complications, I positively refuse treatment. I would rather give up my practice than indulge in either guess-work or make-believe cures. I have devoted sixteen years of earnest and conscientious endeavor to the unravelment of some of the most perplexing problems that ever confronted the profession, and believe that I have attained the limit of medical possibilities in my particular branch of practice. I have brought to light the true nature of men's diseases and the causes of the symptoms they present. In addition, I have, by the scientific blending of drugs, produced remedies that meet every condition that it seems possible to cure. Even the slightest relief, under my treatment, is genuine improvement—a part of the permanent cure that is to follow. There is no cause to hesitate. Consultation costs nothing, and I will not offer my services unless I can cure you.

DR. O. C. JOSLEN, The Leading Specialist.

Contracted Disorders
Soundly and Permanently Cured.

If men but realized the danger attending such ailments, they would not think of intrusting their cases in unskilled hands. Unless every particle of inflammation is removed, a chronic stage follows just as surely as though the disease had received no treatment at all. I cure thoroughly. I will not dismiss a patient until every possibility of relapse is past. I treat contracted diseases as no other physician treats them, and I cure thoroughly in less than the usual time required.

Stricture.

I do no cutting or dilating. No other physician employs my method of overcoming this disorder, so the service I offer you is original and distinctive. Do not give up hope because others have failed. I I will cure you and the cure will be a prompt and painless one.

You are at liberty to call upon me in personal consultation, or to write regarding your case. I will gladly render such assistance as I can in the way of helpful advice.

I Thoroughly and Completely Cure
Weakness

To produce temporary activity of the functions in cases of so-called weakness is a simple matter, but to permanently restore strength and vigor is a problem that but few physicians have solved. I never treat for temporary effects. Under my system of treatment every bit of improvement is a part of a permanent cure. Though other physicians have, through my success in effecting permanent cures, been convinced of the fact that prematureness, loss of power, etc., are but symptoms resulting from chronic inflammation or congestion in the prostate gland, none have as yet been able to duplicate my cures. My system of local treatment is the only effective means yet known for restoring the prostate to its normal state, which always results in full and complete return of strength and vigor. Such a cure is absolutely permanent, because the condition responsible for the functional disorder is entirely removed. It is the only kind of a cure a patient desires, and is the only kind of a cure I will treat for.

Varicocele
Cured Without Surgery.

Varicocele interferes with local circulation and the process of waste and repair throughout the organs involved. When neglected, it brings total or partial loss of power, and may even result in a wasting away of the organs themselves. I cure varicocele in one week. My method is absolutely painless, no surgical operation is involved and there need be no detention from business.

Specific Blood Poison.

The idea that specific or contagious blood poison is incurable still exists in the minds of thousands of physicians, who continue to salivate their patients with potash, mercury and other dangerous minerals. Such treatment can only drive the disease deeper into the system, where it lies dormant for a time, then manifests itself in the form of bone decay or frightful eruptions. I positively cure this disease, never to return, in 60 to 90 days, and I use only vegetable remedies that can have no harmful effects.

I want every man to send for my interesting pamphlet, "Live All Your Years a Man," a thorough treatise of the ailments of men.

Read what Mrs. George Bredow, 1047 South Main St., has to say about the cure of a fibroid tumor which has been treated four months by the X-Ray

To the Ladies of Los Angeles and vicinity:

I wish to state on Sept. 4, 1902, that I applied to Dr. Randall & Co., 206½ S. Broadway, for consultation in reference to a Fibroid Tumor, which was estimated to weigh about 35 pounds, which, to my knowledge, had been growing for five years, and had caused me a great deal of suffering and anxiety. When I commenced treating I was greatly emaciated and nervous. Dr. Randall informed me that he would have me cured in 12 months, but to my great surprise, after having been exposed to the Roentgen X-Rays twice per week for four months, I am reduced to normal size, and am comparatively cured of the terrible tumor, which treatments have been absolutely void of pain. I have gained during the month of December seven pounds in flesh, besides having passed away several pounds of the tumor. I can truthfully say that I feel like another woman, and believe that Dr. Randall has saved my life. Very respectfully,

MRS. GEO. BREDOW.

P. S. — Mrs. George Bredow, in permitting her name to be used, does it only with the hope that ladies who are afflicted may apply to Dr. Randall & Co., and be benefited as she has been.

They will Give Free X-Ray and Static Demonstrations Daily from 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

That everybody may become familiar with their system of treatment, which consists of Medicine Cataphoresis, Static X-Ray, and every known form of Electricity, together with Osteopathy and their new system of Vibratory Treatment. They cure all forms of chronic diseases for both male and female, and they have the most complete office in the West, and can guarantee cures where other doctors make failures. They are the oldest X-Ray operators on the Coast to use the X-Ray for therapeutic purposes. Those living outside the city may write for free consultation and full particulars. They are sending people home almost daily cured by the wonderful X-Ray and Static Frequency Currents, of the following diseases:

Cancers, Consumption, Deafness, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Asthma, Piles, Fistula, Skin and Blood Diseases, Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia, all kinds of Tumors and Prostatic Troubles, including all Diseases of Men and Women.

Read What Mrs. R. J. Hixon of No. 1726 West Twenty-Fourth Says of Dr. Randall & Co.'s Treatment.

I sincerely desire to thank Dr. Randall & Co. for the interest and painstaking treatment they administered to me. When I returned from my Eastern visit I had two slight strokes of paralysis, the last one to such an extent that I could not talk for some time, which was caused in my opinion, from my sore throat, which I was led to believe was of a cancerous nature.

Dr. Randall promised me that he would abort the third attack of paralysis, which he has done by the X-Ray treatments on my throat, which is now almost well.

The electrical treatment (static) has almost cured me of a bad case of nervous trouble. I am now able to do my own housework, which I have not been able to do for five years.

MRS. R. J. HIXON.

Leading Specialist for Men on the Pacific Coast

Honest Work. Scientific Treatment. Permanent Cures.

Our phenomenal success in curing ailing men comes from the fact that for 20 years we have confined our work and practice exclusively to the treatment and curing Diseases of Men.

STRICTLY RELIABLE

Our methods of Treating diseases of men are the results of our experience of 20 years' work of actual practice following six years of preparatory work in Medical College and Hospitals.

Honest work, scientific treatment, skillful management of each and every case that comes under our care is bringing us great numbers of patients. Our business is now larger than ever before in the history of our office—of this fact we are justly proud. It proves without a doubt the phenomenal success that attends our methods of treatment. Why should we not be successful? We have given many years of hard, unremitting study and work to this class of diseases. To begin with, we laid the foundation for good work by acquiring a thorough medical education in the leading and best medical colleges of America. After receiving our diploma, we took special courses in genito urinary troubles, thus perfecting ourselves as thoroughly as possible for the special work in which we have since been engaged. Since beginning our work, we have added to our knowledge by experience. Thousands of ailing men have been treated and cured by us. Our methods have proven so superior to all others that failure to cure a disease we treat never occurs. We have become known and recognized as the physicians who know and thoroughly understand their business, who make no promises they do not religiously make good. Men know us to be just what we claim to be. Honest, conscientious, able, thorough and exceptionally skillful. When we examine a man—carefully and thoroughly as we always do in each and every case that we accept for treatment—and assure him that we can cure his trouble, that man knows he is to be cured; no doubt exists. If we find on examination that his trouble is incurable, we frankly tell him so and explain why we can do nothing for him. In many cases we find complications that would stagger the ordinary physician. He would be unable to even comprehend the existing conditions—to us, who for so many years have made just these complicated conditions our special study and work—the trouble is perfectly plain. We understand cause and effect the trouble so skillfully treated that a cure is certain; there is no guesswork, no experimenting; the work is so plain to us from our knowledge and experience that relief and permanent cure is sure to follow. Men who have wasted time and money in a vain endeavor to get relief from incompetent, unreliable so-called specialists, we especially invite you to call at our office and judge us by our consultation, examination and advice. We will prove to you our ability by referring you to dozens of Los Angeles' leading business men whom we have successfully treated.

We Can Cure Every Case of Varicocele

Thousands of men are afflicted with Varicocele. Most of them have tried unsuccessful treatments and are of course prejudiced against any and all who pretend to cure a case of varicocele.

When we say we can cure every case of Varicocele without failure and do it without pain or use of the knife, it, of course, sounds just like thousands of other statements made in advertisements, and for that reason we go further than any one else and say that we will show any number of cured cases among the best, most reliable men in Los Angeles. Any man who earnestly desires relief from this annoying and grave condition, which continually saps his vitality, can, by calling at our office, secure a list of names of prominent men in this city who have been cured of Varicocele by our treatment. He can also get a free examination and description of how we cure Varicocele in FIVE DAYS, never to return.

Weakness, Its Cause and Cure

Nearly every man suffering from so-called vital weakness has a curable cause which is at the bottom of the trouble. The main causes are stricture, varicocele, enlarged, inflamed prostate, results of abuses and excesses, badly-treated disorders, etc., which obstruct the functional centers. When a man applies to us suffering from weakness we find and remove the cause, just the same as an expert engineer or electrician finds and removes the cause when machinery fails to do its work. We have no difficulty in curing these cases; we have cured them by the thousands. We have the necessary knowledge, skill and experience to find the cause and give the proper treatment, thus putting the organs in a normal condition, when the weakness disappears, which was only a symptom of the real trouble.

Our book and colored plates will give you some valuable information on this subject. They will be mailed to you free.

Contagious Blood Poison

Contagious blood poison is commonly called the king of all venereal diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted. Once the system is tainted with it, the disease may manifest itself in the form of scrofula, eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, eruptions or copper spots on the face or body, little ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, swollen tonsils, falling out of the hair or eyebrows, and finally a leprous-like decay of the flesh and bone. If you have any of these or similar symptoms, you are cordially invited to consult me immediately. If I find your fears are unfounded, I will quickly unburden your mind. But if your constitution is infected with the virus I will tell you so frankly and show you how to get rid of it. My special treatment for contagious blood poison is practically the result of my life work, and is indorsed by the best physicians of America and Europe. It contains no dangerous drugs or injurious medicines of any kind. It goes to the very bottom of the disease, and forces every particle of impurity. Soon every sign and symptom of blood poison disappears completely and forever. The blood, the tissues, the flesh, bones and the whole system are cleansed, purified and restored to perfect health, and the patient prepared anew for the duties and pleasures of life.

Disorders of the Prostate Gland

We have found in the practice of seventeen years devoted exclusively to Nervous Disorders of the Male, the most frequent cause of a Chronic Inflammation of the Prostate Gland, the center of the reproductive system, which is very rich in nerves. When the termination of these nerves is kept in a constant state of excitement by a chronic inflammatory process, it is very clear that by transmission of this irritation to other nerves, the patient may be subject to nervous phenomena of the most varied character. They are not WEAKNESSES, but symptoms of the inflammation.

The most frequent cause of this inflammatory condition is contracted disorders or early dissipation and excesses. The main object is to reduce the swollen or inflamed gland.

By our improved method we remove pathological products, stimulate the tissue and cause absorption of the inflammatory exudations by means of the increased circulation in the vessels and glands.

The Best 65c Damask Marked This Week 50c.

We are greatly in earnest when we state that our entire Linen Department is full of the most extraordinary values. We don't wish you to accept our word, but we do want you to come here and examine our linens and satisfy yourselves. Furthermore, we don't expect the public to make this trip of inspection without just remuneration, and so we offer as a special inducement a beautiful quality in 65c unbleached damask at 50c the yard. This comes 64 inches wide. Bear in mind that this unusual reduction on a standard quality of linen is made solely to emphasize the fact that in all sorts of tablecloths, napkins, towels, crash and other linen goods Hale's has been supreme. We sell linens to most all the big hotels, and more linens to housekeepers than any single store in Los Angeles. That's proof enough.

THE NEW
..White House Piano..
The Splendid. Gift of Steinway & Sons to the Nation.

In the newly decorated Red Room of the Executive Mansion in Washington stands a beautiful fifteen thousand dollar piano, which was recently presented to President Roosevelt as the representative of the United States of America.

In form and decoration the piano is distinctly American. It adheres to no foreign epoch, but is like America herself—organized into independent life by the genius of its creators. The introduction of the American eagle is in harmony with the movement apparent in our public buildings by which the eagle is becoming the decorative form of our national architecture.

The entire instrument is overlaid with gold. It is mounted upon three eagles, half regardent, with outspread wings and standing upon square pedestals draped with laurel wreaths.

Around the piano, in scroll effect, upon shields of dull maroon, appear the arms of the original thirteen colonies, beginning at the right, in the order in which these states adopted the Federal constitution.

The pillars which support the piano are ribbed with four square pilasters, which give a sinewy strength to the ensemble, heightened by the grasping talons of the eagles. The poise of the heads is extremely restful, and the grace and dignity of the entire support, with the fine decorations on the side above, constitute a new departure in piano making.

A kingly gift to the greatest nation on earth, from the world's foremost makers of pianofortes—to commemorate the completion of the one hundred thousandth instrument made by the house of Steinway.

AWFUL BARBARITY.

Most Shocking Blot on Civilization. Details Published for the First Time of the Terrible Atrocities in the Congo Free State.

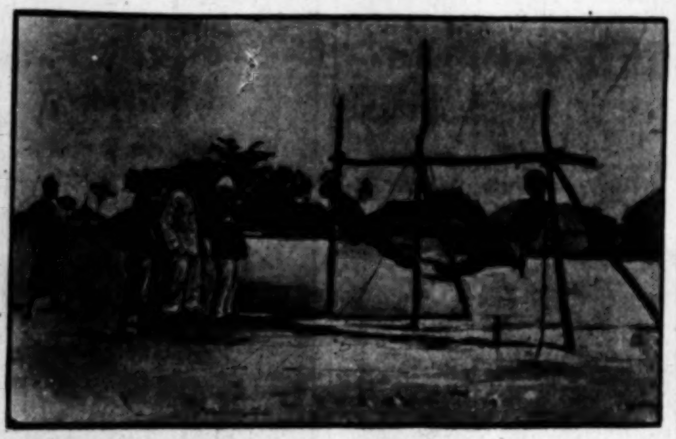
By Curtis Brown.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 5.—Every once in awhile for the last five years the black veil of mystery that is drawn so tightly over the Congo Free State by the Belgian authorities who control it has been lifted long enough to give the public a glimpse of the atrocities that have been going on steadily behind that veil—atrocities so horrible that the average man was rather inclined at first to think they were too bad to be true and had been invented by discharged officials who wanted to "get even."

But circumstantial evidence destroyed that theory some time ago, and now an overwhelming mass of testimony is about to be made public by an Englishman named Guy Burrows, who was for six years in the employ of the company. He left the Congo about a year ago, and on his return to London gave some hints of what he had seen—enough to stir up the Belgian officials considerably. He reserved his most startling information, however, until he could collate it, illustrate it with actual photographs and present it in its most convincing form. This he has now done, and it is stated that when the evidence is published—as it soon will be—the inevitable result must be a reassembling of the Berlin convention by which the Congo State was given to Belgium and that country's certain deprivation of its lucrative but ill-used property.

Through the courtesy of R. A. Everett & Company the London publishers who are going to bring out this important book, some of the facts can be made public for the first time, together with photographs taken on the spot. Much of the material gathered by Mr. Burrows is, however, too horrible for print except in a semi-official volume.



ONE FORM OF BARBARITY.

The terrible punishment inflicted by representatives of the Congo government on two native chiefs who declined to supply rubber. The men were suspended in the air by cords attached to their necks and feet, and, after being scalped and having their noses and ears cut off, were left all day in the glare of the tropical sun. This picture is reproduced from an actual photograph.

VIOLENCE BREEDS VIOLENCE.

Capt. Burrows is a former British officer, about 46 years old, and was originally attached to the Seventh Fusiliers. He was recommended to the Congo government by Sir Henry M. Stanley, the explorer, to whom he was well known. In the Congo, Burrows was in charge of the Belgian government's business of "gathering" rubber—that is to say, making the natives supply it—in the Aruwimi district, a section northwest of the Congo River.

Burrows was in absolute command in his district, and had slaves and native soldiers under him. His business was to get rubber, and the Englishman does not assert that his methods for obliging the blacks to produce it were more humane than those of commandants elsewhere. There were "atrocities" in his district. He says that it is now impossible to carry on the rubber business in the Congo without an occasional tragedy. This fact he discovered after he reached the scene of his new duties, for which he set out under the impression that he would be able to get what he wanted done without violence. He found, however, that the Belgians, by ill-treating the natives, enslaving them and forcing them to work at the point of the pistol, had made the white man's rule hated so that it was impossible for a European to get anything done except by harsh measures. For the apparently heartless treatment of the blacks in Congoland at the present time this Englishman is much more disposed to blame the system existing there than the men who are obliged to enforce it.

OFFERED HUSH MONEY.

Of course, this does not mean that Capt. Burrows excuses the instances of horrible and useless brutality toward natives of which he tells in his book for the first time. There are sufficient, and perhaps obvious, reasons why in this article the names of the Belgian officers by whom specific acts of inhumanity were practiced are omitted, but it will be noticed that in most instances the exact date and place of the affair are set down.

The captain left the Congo Free State because of illness close upon the end of his six years' contract. His book is now being published, not through malice, but that the world may know the truth of what is happening in the Free State. And yet few of the Europeans who have been in the Belgian service have much reason for good will toward their former employers. There is a rather ugly tradition that, just as a foreign employé's term of service in Congoland is on the point of coming to a close, he is liable to be transferred to a section of the country in which trouble is so rife that there is about one chance in a hundred of his getting out of it. For instance, of fourteen Americans enlisted at Washington for Congo service several years ago, only three are now alive.

Perhaps it was Capt. Burrows's illness that saved him. At any rate, it may be remarked as an evidence of how "dangerous" the Belgian authorities considered him that, when Capt. Burrows was on the point of coming home, he was offered two years' further employment at full salary and with no obligation to return to Africa. In other words, he was offered "hush money."

RUBBER OR BULLETS.

Capt. Burrows's detailed description of the method in which the blacks of the Congo Free State are forced to collect rubber for both the Belgian government and the great private companies who have "concessions" there are so illuminating that perhaps something may be said about them before going on to what he has to say about the fiendish cruelties perpetrated by the men in charge of the "industry."

The reason which the Belgians give to the natives for obliging them to gather the rubber is that by supplying it they are paying a tax which the paternal government has a perfect right to inflict in return for the "protection" which it affords them. But what enrages the native is that, in order to collect what the government considers a sufficient amount of rubber for the payment of each individual tax, he has to spend every bit of his time working as hard as he can at the business.

From the first, any individual native or tribe of them who refused to collect rubber for the Belgians got into trouble. Says Burrows: "They have no option—rubber or bullets, ivory or cold steel are the alternatives." A tribe which declines to enter into absolute slavery as rubber gatherers is marched against immediately with a strong force, and the white man in charge of that force has orders to be able to show upon his return definite evidence that those who have refused to work have been killed.

BASKETSFUL OF HANDS.

Men, women and children are slaughtered ruthlessly. It used to be the custom for the leader of a "punitive" expedition to bring back to "civilization" the right hands of the recalcitrants—just as the Indians of the West brought back those of their victims—but the many cases in which whole basketsful of hands were brought in have made so much stir, even in the outside world, that this practice exists no longer. Instead, commanders are obliged to produce the shield and spear of each man killed, and one white stick for every woman and child slaughtered. And often, after a punitive expedition the bundles of little white sticks in particular are quite fat!

When first the natives of the Congo were obliged to "gather" rubber, it was not so difficult as it is today. Then the giant vines which have to be tapped for the sap that is drawn off into pails, were plentiful. But years of hacking at them have dried up whole tracks of once rich "rubber land" and now, the natives who collect the sap have to seek it far and wide. Sometimes bloody wars between tribes break out through one tribe's having invaded the other's land in search of healthy vines, all those in their own district having been literally "worked out."

"LA CHICOTTE."

The natives have to bring in their rubber twice a month. A whole village comes to the government post at a time, men, women and children carrying their baskets of rubber. Then the whole tribe is drawn up in a convenient open space, and the delivery of the rubber begins. Every native wears a brass tag with his number. There are full lists of the "hands" on the ledgers of the post, and as each native delivers his rubber he is "checked off."

It stands a native well in hand to have his basket filled, for those who don't are flogged. This word, however, scarcely gives an idea of the barbarous performance. The victims—men and women—are stretched on the ground before the eyes of all their companions, and whaled with a heavy, thick whip, made of hippopotamus hide, and called by the Belgians "la chicotte." Generally the number of lashes is twenty-five, but sometimes fifty or a hundred blows are rained down on an unhappy wretch. Says Burrows: "I have seen men die as the result of thrashing, and seen blood drawn from women's backs."

After such "indolent" natives have been duly flogged as a lesson to them and an example to the rest, commences the wretched farce of "rewarding" those who had paid their full tax. Each one receives a little piece of brass wire, about six inches long. The joke of it is that the blacks don't want the wire—they don't esteem it as they might cloth or beads or other gewgaws—and they have to be forced to take it. Burrows estimates that these bits of wire are worth at the most a cent each—whereas the market value of the rubber which each native brings in is about 75 cents. The total half-monthly "yield" of a tribe is about 1000 pounds, and it costs the Belgian government in brass wire about $20.

THOUSANDS SLAUGHTERED.

It is in connection with this rubber trade that all the atrocities take place which are carried out either at the orders or with the consent of the officers, nearly all of them Belgians, who are in charge of affairs at the Congo State. The chiefs of tribes who refuse to gather rubber are captured and tortured. Men, women and children, who have committed comparatively trifling offenses, either are slaughtered or hideously maimed. Others are literally worked to death. The only excuse that can be given for such deeds as those of which Capt. Burrows tells is the necessity, as the Englishman calls it, of ruling the blacks by absolute terror, and the often-repeated theory that Europeans in the tropics are inflamed to acts of which they would never dream in their own climate.

However this may be, the fact remains that in Central Africa today men and women with black skins are being slaughtered like animals in order that Belgian potentates may get rich out of the profits on rubber. Burrows says: "One of the oldest agents in the concession laughed heartily when I suggested that 10,000 natives must have been slaughtered under government rule. He declared that double that number would be nearer the mark."

FRIGHTFUL BARBARITY

Many of the cases of inhuman treatment of natives of which Capt. Burrows tells are so loathsome that they cannot be printed. But of the others, perhaps the punishment of a young native woman at the Post of Uerre, on the 30th of November, 1895, will indicate the lengths to which the officers were willing to go. The girl had been made a prisoner in a punitive expedition, and her crime was trying to escape and get back to her kindred.

In the presence of the officers and men of the post, the girl was stripped and flogged with "la chicotte," the terrible hippopotamus-hide whip. A giant black was wielding the lash, but soon the sight of the girl's agonies became too much even for him, and he refused to strike another blow. The commandant of the post held a revolver to his head and threatened him with instant death until he went on. When the girl's flesh was literally cut in ribbons she was dragged to the center of the public square and there chained to the flagpole. Then the demon who was in authority, having sent for some native honey, with his own hands smeared it over the girl's body—his object being to attract insects to her—after which she was left there in the full glare of the broiling sun. When she had been there nearly a day, a sergeant came to the commandant and told him that unless the girl was given something to eat and drink she would die. The officer refused permission. Next day, however, the girl was taken down and carried to the native quarters, where she died almost immediately. Soon after, a Belgian doctor who had arrived at the post, saw the girl's body, and heard the story of her execution—but he thought it of not sufficient importance to report.

Cases of such cruelty to women are comparatively common. One, who had a child with her, was captured in the bush, also near Uerre. The pair were brought into camp, and taken before the Belgian Commandant who was accompanied by two officers and a sergeant. The terrorized woman, whose child had been taken from her by a black soldier, fell on her knees before the commandant, begging for mercy, when the black, who was holding the infant by the leg, at a sign from his officer disemboweled it and cut its throat before its mother's eyes. After this, the woman was shot.

A DEMONIAC INGENUITY.

An especially horrible punishment was meted out to two natives charged with cannabalism by the Belgian commandant at Stanley Falls. A corpse had been discovered in the bush near the place where the two men were captured. The men were "wild" natives, who were captured in the bush. Near the place where they had been taken, the corpse of a friendly black was found, and, though there were no marks whatever on the body, the two strangers were accused instantly of being murderers and of having killed the man in order to eat him. So they were bound, and then the legs of the corpse were cut off and tied around their necks. This being done, the two men with their ghastly decorations were taken out where the sun was hottest and forced to remain there for two whole days, while the stench from the decomposing limbs ascended to their nostrils. The accompanying photographs of them with the limbs around their necks were taken by a Belgian officer. After having been taught this awful lesson, the two men, both of them in a state of collapse, were released.

When the chief of a revolted tribe is captured, the ingenuity at devising new forms of torture is marvelous. At Luseum, on October 7, 1895, the government troops were on the trail of such a tribe. All at once, four hundred men, women and children from the enemy's ranks came into the Belgian camp to place themselves under their protection.

Of these, four chiefs and twenty-six men were murdered, two of the leaders being tortured in a fashion that seemed almost incredible. A cross pole was run along on three upright posts driven into the ground, after which the two victims were suspended to the cross bar by cords attached to their necks and feet, orders being given that they be left in this position. While this suspended, a European doctor amused himself, the commandant and the spectators by removing the scalps of the men, while his black servants sawed through their shin-bones and cut off their noses and ears. Other villanies practiced upon them cannot be printed. At the end of the day the two men, who were in a dying condition, were shot through the head and flung into the bush.

BAKED ALIVE.

Near the Belgian post at Yambaya was encamped a native tribe whose members declined to have anything whatever to do with the rubber business. So a Belgian commander with a strong force set out up the river resolved to bully the chief of the tribe into subjection. When they arrived at the encampment, however, the chief refused to accept an invitation to come on board for a pow-wow, until told by the Belgian commander that his (the chief's) blood brother was with them. Then he rather doubtfully came over the side, to be instantly captured. Nude as he was, except for his breechcloth, the unfortunate man was placed on the metal-plated roof of the steamer and chained to the smokestack—the Belgian commander holding a revolver to his head during the operation. Then the steamer's head was turned down the river again. During the trip back to Basako, which lasted all day long, the black man, guarded by two native soldiers, was left there bound to the stack, and when, at the end of the journey, he was freed, his face and the greater part of his body was baked by contact with the hot iron. He died in great agony two days later.

OFFICERS NOMINALLY PUNISHED

It was soon after this occurrence that another Belgian officer had fun by shooting holes through the ears of natives with his revolver. At another post in the same district there was a little black child—hardly more than an infant—who made a little trouble one night. Near by roared some particularly nasty rapids, and the Belgian commander ordered that the child should be thrown into them. When he was told that his order was on the point of being carried out, the officer got up and started down to the river bank, calling to his subordinates to come along and "see if the little devil could swim." The child was drowned.

Capt. Burrows unreservedly indorses the statement that has been made so often that the Belgian government is fully aware of the frequent occurrence of atrocities such as have just been described. In rare cases, the officer by whom outrages are perpetrated is punished, but even then the punishment is such only in name. Says the Englishman: "If the culprit happens to be a Belgian officer, he is 'whitewashed,' if a sergeant or a clerk, he will be prosecuted, to show that the government takes cognizance of these things, and sentenced to a certain term of imprisonment with 'hard labor.' But 'hard labor' consists merely in being confined in the fort near Boma, the capital of the Congo Free State, doing practically nothing. In this way a sentence of 'ten years' penal servitude' really means from eighteen months to two years' nominal imprisonment. Those who can serve as clerks are employed in the government's offices and, their luncheon hour being free, they are permitted to take their meals in the same hotel as the other officers and officials."

He soon received an offer of $4000 for it and finally sold it to the Kensington Museum, London, for $20,000.

DATES AT IMPERIAL.

Plants For Large Orchard to be Imported.

Government Expert Advises the Undertaking.

Says He Has Found in Africa Just the Variety of Date Needed. —Big Profits.

[Imperial Press:] Steps are now being taken to establish the largest date orchard in America near the town of Imperial, to consist of 160 acres, and the dates are to be of the Negiet Noor variety, the finest date known—a desert date that retails at 50 cents per pound—the highest price paid for a dried fruit in America.

Prof. Walter T. Swingle, the government date expert, who has spent several years searching Africa for the best varieties of dates that can be had for importation into the United States, is indorsing this enterprise and advising his intimate friends to invest in the industry. Prof. Swingle is at present in Italy, and from a letter from him to A. H. Heber, president of the California Development Company, we are allowed to take the following extracts:

"For nearly a year I have been engaged in preparing a bulletin on the date palm, which at last I have sent to the Department of Agriculture, which will shortly issue it as a bulletin (90 pp., 40 plates.) I have taken much trouble to go to the bottom of the matter, and have proved beyond all doubt the truth of the facts I asserted last year, that the Negiet Noor date can mature in the Imperial Valley, and that this plant can withstand more alkali than any other profitable crop. These facts will shortly be demonstrated in a manner that will attract the attention of the public.

"It it is now clear that the Negiet Noor date cannot be counted on to mature regularly, and may not ripen at all in the Salt River Valley, Arizona—the only considerable region now under irrigation that can rival the Imperial Valley in date production. This choice variety—the most expensive dried fruit that reaches the American market—will become a monopoly of the Imperial Valley, and all danger from foreign competition is obviated because of the insufficiency of the Sahara crop to meet even the European demands, and furthermore by the fact that the Imperial Valley crop will be placed on the market long before the imported article, and before instead of after Christmas, besides being fresh and in better shape.

"At San Francisco, I was told by Goldberg, Bowen & Co., leading grocers, that any quantity of Negiet Noor dates could be sold at 35 cents for a ten-ounce box (50 cents a pound,) if only they could be had before the holidays. At the same time, selected Smyrna figs were selling for 30 cents a pound in one-pound boxes.

"The yield of this variety is large—135 pounds on the average in the Sahara, where the soil is less fertile and the water much more alkaline than in the Salton Basin. No other fruit culture offers the same promise for the region, and the date palm, far from being a last resort for land useless for anything, will repay planting in the very best land as a staple crop. . . .

"The composition of the alkali of the Imperial Valley is such that it is a valuable fertilizer to a plant like the date palm, which is a highly alkali resistant. It is therefore positively advantageous to the date palm to have a moderate amount of alkali in the soil, of a nature of that found in the Imperial Valley. . . .

"The amount of labor required is less than for other fruit trees, and the fruit, when it ripens, does not demand immediate attention, but will keep for weeks, can be harvested by cutting off a whole bunch at a time, and does not require any curing process, as do less valuable dates.

"The Imperial Valley will have the monopoly of this—one of the most lucrative and facile fruit cultures known, and one which, instead of being harmed by the unusual conditions prevailing in the region, is, on the contrary, benefited thereby. I would not be surprised to see an export trade grow up in the first hand-picked dates which can be shipped for Thanksgiving, and which will reach London markets at least two weeks before the earliest Sahara shipments. The control of the American markets is assured.

"I do not hesitate to assert that the practical establishment of this culture in the Imperial Valley is of the very greatest importance, and will mark an epoch in American agricultural advance. . . .

"My large shipment (of dates) for the government reached Arizona July 17, 1900, and 80 per cent. of the suckers grew which were shipped by my new method. In 1902—only two years after planting—eighteen of these palms flowered and bore fruit, and many more have already produced new offshoots.

"It is the intention of this company to import Negiet Noor suckers for sale, rendering it possible for settlers all through the basin to begin planting as soon as they desire, thereby rendering possible the rapid establishment of date culture, as soon as its demonstration culture gives an object lesson in methods of propagating, planting and caring for this unusual plant.

"Nursery stock cannot be propagated rapidly as with fruit trees that can be grafted or budded, so the establishment of such an import trade in Saharan suckers will greatly facilitate the utilization of the date palm in the Salton Basin."

Balaam Was Irish.

Matthew J. Donohue, a Tammany district leader, tells this story of an Englishman and an Irishman who were discussing the old race question:

"When England wants a really good man she's got to go to Ireland to get him," said the Irishman. "Look at Roberts. Look at Kitchener. Both Irish."

"I suppose you think Wellington was an Irishman," said the Englishman.

"Sure!"

"And Nelson."

"Sure!"

"I guess you'd claim Caesar if you had a chance."

"Sure. All good fighting men are Irish."

"Well," said the Englishman, as a clincher. "To go back further, what would you do with Balaam."

"Oh, that's all right," retorted the Irishman. "Balaam was Irish, but the ass was English."—[New York Times.

AT THE THEATERS.

Los Angeles Theater.

THE attraction at the Los Angeles Theater on Thursday and Friday evenings and Saturday matinée, will be Ouida's "Strathmore." "Strathmore" is a powerful drama with a dual theme of love and revenge. It is a society play, dealing with life among the British nobility. Ouida's great gift is the power to seize on extreme phases of passion and present them with a turgid eloquence and a glamour that charms though it fails to deceive. "Strathmore" is considered one of the strongest of her works, and like "Moths" and "Under Two Flags," is full of dramatic scenes and incidents. Virginia Drew Trescott, who was leading woman in tragic plays with Warde two seasons ago, is the star of the Strathmore company, and from all accounts is a bright and glowing one. In Marion, Marchioness of Strathmore, she has a fine role for an emotional actress. She depicts a woman of evil predilection ruined through a base revenge, but redeemed at length through a great love. Miss Trescott, a beautiful woman of the Nethersole dramatic type, has received remarkable critiques on her work in this par.

On Saturday and Sunday evenings Miss Trescott and her company will present a dramatization of Tolstoy's "Resurrection"—a story of intense interest.

The central figure of the drama is a Russian girl named Katusha. The opening of the drama finds her a servant in the household of the noble family of Nekiudov, where, being a young and pretty girl, she attracts the notice of the prince of that title, who has just finished his education at school, and received his appointment in the Russian army. Visiting the home of his aunt, he is naturally thrown in close association with the girl, wins her love and then betrays her. She is expelled from the household. She finally drifts into the life of the fast set becomes exceedingly popular with people in high authority and the power in the half-world, where she lives under the name of Maslova.

She is arrested and found guilty of murder. By a strange coincidence, the Prince who betrayed her is drawn as one of the jurors, and assists in finding her guilty. She does not recognize him, but he recognizes her. He is filled with remorse and contrition and resolves to give up his landed interest, forswear his friends and spend the rest of his life in restitution to the girl he has wronged, and, if possible, to make atonement for his villainy. By the time he can bring about this change in himself, to endeavor to secure her release, she has become a physical and mental wreck, owing to the hardships of the Siberian journey, but she refuses to allow her repentant lover to sacrifice himself for her sake.

On March 16, 17 and 18, "The Fatal Wedding," a sensational melodrama, will be the bill at the Los Angeles. The story tells of two adventurers, an unscrupulous man and woman, who are represented as endeavoring to wreck the lives of a happy married couple. They work divers schemes, and for a time succeed. Howard Wilson and his wife are the happy couple—Robert Curtis and Cora Williams are the adventurers. Cora Williams wants Howard Wilson for her husband, and Curtis is secretly in love with Mrs. Wilson. Between them they hatch a plot to arouse suspicion in Howard's breast as to the fidelity of his wife. The last act, however, sees everyone happy again, save the wicked ones, who are utterly confounded—or dumfounded, whichever you please.

Burbank.

Ralph Stuart and his company, who are making themselves so popular at the Burbank, will stage "The Three Musketeers" this evening and for the rest of the week. Mr. Stuart will play D'Artagnan, a type of hero for which his personality and attainments suit him. Matinée on Saturday.

Orpheum.

The Orpheum offers a novel and unknown attraction this week, in Le Quatuor Besque, singers of merit, who sing bits from "Carmen," give the prison scene from "Faust," selections from "Martha," and other famous operas. They have met with great success in San Francisco and New Orleans, the only towns where they have appeared. Other features are the De Forrests, whirlwind dancers; Andraessen Brothers, hand-to-hand acrobats; and the following from last week: Florence Bindley, with her diamond dress; Louise, Montrose, Reno and Richards, comedy acrobats; and Ryan and Richfield. The biograph will complete the bill.

Chutes.

The Chutes offers Hamilton and Miss Edith Fuller in a balloon ascension and parachute jump. A ten-act vaudeville show, concluding with a sketch entitled, "A Broken Part of Faust." On the Midway are the Ferris wheel, roller skating rink, bowling alleys, Capt. Webb's school of educated seals and Mme. Schell, lion tamer. The Chutes has secured a herd of fine elk due to arrive on March 24. The Catalina Band will be on hand this afternoon and evening.

When the recent act of Congress becomes effective the navy will have almost 30,000 officers and men.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Hanford in The Shrew.

Charles B. Hanford, once of the Booth-Barrett company, and an actor with a sterling reputation in Shakespearean dramas, will open a brief engagement at the Los Angeles Theater on March 23, presenting "Taming of the Shrew" and "Much Ado About Nothing." It is not generally known that Hanford's appearance in California this season will not be in the nature of a home-coming, for Hanford has preferred to stand squarely on his art, and not offer any sentimental appeals to hs auditors for consideration as a "favorite son." He is this season at the height of a success which has never ebbed below the prosperity mark, whether he appeared as sole star or in conjunction with other celebrities. And it cannot fail to be a matter of peculiar pride to him to return under such circumstances to the State where he was born.

It was not until he was pretty well advanced in boyhood that Hanford reversed the usual order of things, and went East to grow up with the country. Levi Hanford, his father, went to California in 1849 in a sailing vessel and was for twenty years interested in mining and mercantile enterprises on the Coast. He was in business in Amador county, at Volcano, Sutter Creek and Amador City. It was at Sutter Creek that the infant Charles first gave vent to the lusty yawps which gave so little promise of his future elocutionary graces.

It was in 1869 that he journeyed East, making the trip while the Pacific Railway was in the first year of its eventful history.

Mr. Hanford visited California for the first time as an actor with Edwin Booth. Later he appeared in the cast of the Booth-Barrett company and later with the James-Kidder-Hanford all-star productions. His visits to the Coast may be regarded as milestones in his upward career. This season he comes as an independent star, with the prestige of a success that leaves no doubt either of his merits as a Shakespearean scholar or his power to vitalize and awaken popular sympathy with the great characters who tread the boards in immortal glory from generation to generation.

"The Bishop's Move."

The play of the hour in New York is "The Bishop's Move," by Mrs. Craigie (John Oliver Hobbes,) in which W. H. Thompson, so happily remembered here for his delicious interpretation of the Cardinal in "A Royal Family," is starring under James Hackett's management. William Winter says of the play and performers:

"In the pleasing comedy of 'The Bishop's Move' which was successfully produced last night at the Manhattan Theater, a sagacious, humorous, gentle, potential, ecclesiastic is opposed to a clever woman of the world, in the management of an affair of the heart, and, after a considerable period of contention, the ecclesiastic is made victorious, because of his intimate knowledge of human nature and his superior tact and ingenuity. This is an old dramatic posture, but it is an exceptionally good one, and it has been, in this instance, adroitly used. The scene is laid in France, and pictures are provided of the refined, ordely dignified domestic life of cultivated, interesting, reputable French people. The principal characters are the Bishop of Rance, the Duchess of St. Quenten (an English woman who has long lived in Paris, and is a widow,) the bishop's nephew, Francis Hericourt, and that nephew's possible sweetheart, Barbara Arreton. The observer sees that Francis and Barbara, who are prime objects of the bishop's affection, would, in the natural course of events, be happy lovers, but that the sparkling Duchess of St. Quenten, who, with a mischievous widow's caprice, has taken a fancy to beguile Francis, comes between them and bewilders the young man with her beauty and her coquettish spirit. This is the chessboard of circumstance on which the bishop must play his wise far-seeing game and make his kindly, adroit 'move,' to defeat a clever foe and to ··in happiness for the young people, whom he loves. The trend of the action is prettily prefigured by a chess encounter between the bishop and the Duchess, in which the bishop suddenly snatches an impending victory from the Queen, while, later, the difficulty of the tangle is denoted by the bishop's scrupulous and attentive care in dismembering and readjusting the intricate fabric of an organ. The comedy, as may be inferred from these intimations, appertains to the good old fashion of Scribe, at his best, being a comedy of manners and of innocent, humorous, subtle social intrigue. It needs, however, a little ginger. It is languid in movement and sometimes insipid in incident; but it possesses the conspicuous merit of good dialogue, and it is felicitous in the discriminative portraiture of character and in moments of deep feeling, suggested rather than fully expressed. Sympathy goes with the Duchess. If the young lover were a man worth having she ought to have him, but he is not, and her loss of him is her advantage—a fact that gives emphasis to the bishop's remark, when told that he does not know women: 'Perhaps not,' he says, 'but I know life, which, possibly, is much more important.' The character of the Duchess, in the artistic grasp of such an actress as Ada Rehan, or as the Rose Coghlan of an earlier day, would be fully as potential as that of the Bishop and even more alluring. Miss Dorothy Dorr invested the part with opulent physical beauty and at one point, toward the close, struck a note of pathos; but she seemed not yet to have formed a definite ideal of it, and her execution, therefore, was crude. Miss Mayo has great need of vocal training.

W. H. Thompson appeared as the Bishop and gave substantially the same performance that was so sympathetic and winning in "A Royal Family"—a performance that would be perfect but for that occasional gleam of satiric jocularity and saturnine shrewdness with which this actor is pleased somewhat to depress his ideal. Mr. Thompson, however, has repose, dignity, humor, sweetness, latent power, and fluent ease of execution and speech, and he holds his auditors and keeps them deeply interested and continuously enthralled. The sweet, protective air of age and virtuous power, softened by past suffering and mellowed by long experience, protecting youth and guarding and guiding innocence, "amid the storms and dangers of the world," is perfectly assumed by him, and this is the secret of his success and his charm in this character. Acting of this kind—right in spirit, earnest in purpose, delicate in method and finish, showing clear knowledge of mankind and firm grasp of the resources of expressive art—is seldom seen on the stage of the present day. Mr. Thompson's manner is distinctly individual; he is not a copyist; but certainly he prompts remembrance of old and distant days, when Henry Placide incarnated Grandfather Whitehead or Farmer Ashfield, when Blake was Jesse Rural, when John Gilbert acted Dornton, and when Mark Smith won every heart with his noble and gentle image of age and virtue and love, as Jacques Fauvel. It is good to think that the old style yet lingers and that the embers of ambitious emulation are not yet cold.

Verna Woods's Career Ended.

A Sacramento dispatch, March 5, informed the public that the clever California dramatist, Miss Verna Woods, had died that night of pneumonia. She had gone to San Francisco to witness the production by Virginia Drew Trescott of "Strathmore" at the Theater Republic. This play made from Ouida's powerful novel of that title was Miss Woods's latest work. In the bay city the dramatist caught cold which developed into pneumonia, of which she died three days later. The Chronicle gives the following account of her career as a writer:

"Although Miss Woods's latest and most successful literary work has been in the dramatic field, her first literary reputation was gained in the field of descriptive verse. Since 1886 she has written for the Midland, the Chautauquan, the Youth's Companion, Chambers's Journal, the Overland and other periodicals. She won the first prize for a sonnet on "Life," offered by the Magazine of Poetry. In 1891 she published a lyrical drama entitled 'The Amazons,' of which Gladstone wrote: 'I admire both its poetic force and its Hellenic spirit.' Edmund C. Stedman, the New York critic, said: 'No one can deny that the author has a very fine ear for rhythm, plenty of classical feeling and color, and a mastery of her special technique.'

"Miss Woods's first play, 'Horatius,' is a Roman tragedy in blank verse, based on Levy's tale of the three Horatii and the three Curiatii. It was written for and played by Frederick Warde in the season of 1901 and 1902, and was much praised and well reviewed by critics. The beauty of the language and the smoothness and strength of the verse place it in the same category as Stephen Phillip's tragedies. The dramatic force of 'Horatius' resulted in an order from Mr. Warde's manager, Mr. Traitel, for a play on 'Strathmore,' Ouida's novel.

"'Lord Strathmore' is an intense modern tragedy, showing the evils rather than the quiet pleasures of English life; it closely follows the story written by Ouida and contains some of the elements of interest that are included in 'Camille.'

"A play recently completed by Miss Woods is 'Charles IX,' which will be staged next season. The scene is laid in Paris and the time is 1572, a famous period in French history, when the influence of Catherine de Medici dominated the court. The part of Charles IX is an exceptionally strong one in dramatic action, and emotional opportunities.

"Miss Woods wrote three novels, 'A Modern Magdalen,' 'Jason Hildreth's Identity,' and 'An Elusive Lover.'"

Sothern Like Cromwell.

William Ordway Partridge, the man who says that Boston must accept the fact that she is no longer the intellectual or art center of the country, and that an artist, to make a living there, must live in the atmosphere of afternoon teas, is now engaged on a life-size statue called "Thought," which he is to exhibit in Paris next year. His model is E. H. Sothern, in the character and costume of Hamlet. Mr. Sothern submitted to the operation of having a mask of his face taken, to facilitate the work, and Daniel Frohman, when the mask was made, remarked at once on its resemblance to Oliver Cromwell. Frohman says that he is going to ask Justin Huntly McCarthy to write a play for Sothern, with Cromwell as the hero. If this is done, Partridge's influence on the drama will be assured.

Prize for American Playwrights.

Down in Baltimore George Fawcett has offered a prize for the best play by an American author. The competition closes shortly, and it is understood that more than three hundred plays have been submitted. Arthur Hornblow, editor of the Theater, also announces a competition for an American-made play—the prize being a metropolitan production by Charles Frohman next November. An interesting fact to be noted in connection with these offers of prizes for playwrights is that Martha Morton won a competition organized by the World a dozen years ago—the prize play being "The Merchant." Mr. Hornblow was for several years chief adviser for Mr. Frohman, in the acceptance of manuscripts, and has written several plays himself. He is best known, however, as the translator of D'Annunzio's "Triumph of Death."

Stuart Robson is Sixty-seven.

Stuart Robson, who had to cancel some of his New England engagements on account of an attack of asthma, celebrated his sixty-seventh birthday last week, in his apartments at the Holyoke, No. 758 West End avenue. He received many telegrams of congratulation, some of them being from Grover Cleveland, Joe Jefferson, Arthur Pue Gorman and John D. Long.

Mr. Robson said he was especially pleased at being remembered by Senator Gorman. He and Senator Gorman were playmates in Baltimore and when quite young ran away to Washington. Senator Gorman got a job as page in the Senate, and Mr. Robson became a page in the House.

It is expected that Mr. Robson will be able to keep his engagement at Providence on March 19.

QUIPS AND CUES.

Sarah Bernhardt has been hissed in "Andromaque." The Latin Quarter is disconsolate over her ruthless treatment of Racine. Nightly the students hoot her and there is fear that the play will be shelved.

American playgoers will remember M. Courtés, the old French actor who played with so much skill and feeling in the pantomime "L'Enfants Prodigue," which Ed. Cleary produced—without popular approval—at Daly's Theater a decade ago. M. Courtés was the father in this sonata of gestures. He died recently in Paris and was buried in the costume he wore as Maitre Blanchet in Dernières Cartouches. He was 70 years of age. The entire company that made so much talk in the pantomime with Wormser's effective music is scattered, the only one remaining in America being Pilar-Morin.

Aimé Lachaume's wife, whom that sensitive French pianist desires to divorce because (so he says) her personality does not inspire him to the great works which he believes he could compose with another sweet bride by his side. Both Lachaume and his wife are well known in California.

Still another play by Maxim Gorky, "The Lower Depths." It has met with a big reception, critically and publicly, at the Artist's Theater, Moscow.

Mrs. Brown-Potter has been served with an injunction by Novello, Ewer & Company, London, from performing "Hiawatha," with Coleridge-Taylor's music. What will Frau Cosima Wagner do when she learns that the divine Cora is giving recitations of "Tristan and Isolde" with musical interludes? The Empress of Bayreuth even objects to the humming of her late husband's tunes on the byways.

When two Winston Churchi ls bobbed up over the public horizon, both "doing" something, there were exclamations because of the coincidence. But what is that when compared to the news of another Harding Davis! An actor! The Harding Davises are now touring in "The Prince of Rogues" in England. Mrs. Davis was Elaine Verner and is a favorite. This beats "The Taming of Helen"—which, by the way, is doing well with Henry Miller at the Garick, Philadelphia. Two Harding Davises—incroyable!

In Munich "Der Dusle und das Babell" is said to be a pleasing novelty. Can't you hear them uttering these sibilants with hissing emphasis on Irving Place! In Berlin a sketch has been produced at the Carl Weiss Theater called "Wie denken Sie uber Dreyfus?" Such a title would start a large riot, with bloodshed and barricades in Paris.

A. B. Walky, the brilliant dramatic critic of the London Times, has been barred at the Garrick Theater, London. Now, who is the loser, Henry Arthur Jones and his "Whitewashing of Julia"—there's a sweet title for you!—or the theater? Most certainly Mr. Walkly and the Times are not the sufferers in this most silly of imbroglios.

"I hope," said a veteran actor the other day, "that they won't rebuild that Pike Opera House down at Cincinnati. Ever since 1866 that place has been looked upon as more or less of a hoodoo. In that year, as old-timers remember, the whole building was entirely destroyed by fire. I was playing there at the time. In the upper stories over the theater were located the studios of Hiram Powers, the sculptor, and several artists, and I remember seeing, during the fire, a lot of oil paintings go flying through the air and alight on the roofs of the adjacent structures. One of them I remember, was a life-sized portrait of Abraham Lincoln, and I understand that painting, or what is left of it, is still in existence.

"Actors, you know, are a superstitious lot, and, although there were no lives lost in that fire, the Pike Opera House was afterward looked upon in 'the profesh' as a place to be avoided. Half a dozen times, I believe, since then embryo fires have been discovered in the building. The last one was in March, 1902, when fire was discovered during a matinée performance."

Anna Held is to be seen next season in a new musical play, for which Jean Richepin is writing the book and lyrics. The scenes are laid in France during the empire. The heroine is a prominent woman of the time, and the role will give opportunity for a display of histrionic talent of a high order.

Manager F. C. Whitney will probably produce an adaptation of Mendelssohn's "Heim Kehr aus der Fremde," by Williard Holcomb, under the title of "The Return of the Roamer."

Mrs. Langtry will produce "Mlle. Mars" during her engagement in Philadelphia. It was written by Paul Kester around certain incidents concerning the well-known French actress and her friendship for Napoleon. Mrs. Langtry first produced the play in London, where it ran over one hundred nights at her Imperial Theater.

E. H. Sothern is just now rehearsing his company nearly every afternoon in a new poetic drama by Percy Mackay, called "The Canterbury Pilgrims."

Measured Gratitude.

"We need eight or ten lines yet to fill out this column," announced the foreman. Thereupon Editor Clugston of the Spiketown Blizzard sat down and began writing:

"Our thanks are due to the Hon.——"

Here he paused.

"Bill," he said, "who's the guy we sent to Congress from this district the last time?"

"Jackson," replied the foreman; "Clem Jackson."

"——Clement Jackson," he proceeded, "who so ably represents our district in Congress, for a package of——"

Here he broke off again.

"Bill, what was that stuff that came from the Agricultural Department the other day?"

"Some kind of seeds, I guess. I fed 'em to the pigeons."

"——valuable garden seeds. We haven't any garden, but we are just as much obliged to him as if we had. Congressman Jackson never forgets his constituents. We predict that he will be elected again without any opposition worth mentioning."

"I reckon," said Editor Clugston, as he stepped up to the case to put the item into type himself, "when he sees this he'll send me a lot of his old speeches, darn him!"—Chicago Tribune.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

The Kilties.

HOOT, mon! The Kilties are coming, hooray, hooray! What a day for transplanted Scotland when the big Gordon Highlander Band, headed by seven feet of Inverness in the person of Drum Major Donald MacCormack, strikes town! It is coming on St. Patrick's Day, too! (Will the Kilkenny cats kindly get off the line?) March 16 and 17 are the dates of the Kilties' concerts at Hazard's Pavilion, and that the building will be packed goes without saying. This band is the favorite organization of all the foreign bands which visit America. It is Canada's pride and triumph. It is a military band in the truest sense of the word, for there is not a man in it who has not seen service and absorbed his fair share of Indian and Kaffir bullets. Several of the pipers wear medals bestowed by Queen Victoria for distinguished service, for Sandy is always fond of an argument, whether it be on theology over his cups or on national questions on the field of battle. In either case he has a wonderful gift for tiring the "other fellow" out.

In their concerts the Kilties aim to please everybody. They render all classes of music, but make a specialty of the weird, the spirited, and the beautiful melodies of Auld Scotland. Besides the band proper and the pipers, there are dances and singers, who perform the national dances, such as the Highland fling, the sword dance and the Shean Trews, and the exquisite ballads and Jacobite songs which tell so much of the real history of Scotland.

The Kilties give a continual performance. Excellent programmes have been arranged for the appearances here on the evenings of March 16 and 17, and the afternoon of March 17. The first programme will be as follows:

Overture, "I Puritani" (Bosquet;) bagpipe solo, "Seventy-ninth's Farewell to Gibraltar," Pipe-Sergt. Ferguson; paraphrase, "Ye Banks and Braes" (Kappey;) dance, Shean Trews, Master Eugene Lockhart; concert waltz, "Geman Songs" (Keler-Bela;) part song, "Annie Laurie" (Lady Scott,) The Kilties' Choir; Scotch reel, in costume, Kilties' famous reel dancers; solo, for cornet, "Killarney" (Wallace,) B. D. Gilliland; three dances, "Nell Gwyn" (German,) (1) Country Dance, (2) Pastoral Dance, (3) Merrymakers' Dance; tenor solo, "Molly Bawn" (Lover,) J. Coates Lockhart; American sketch, "Down South" (Myddleton;) Sword Dance, David Ferguson; March, "Tipperary" (Fulton.)

De Lussan Again.

Zelie de Lussan will give an evening of "Carmen" on Friday, March 20, at Simpson Auditorium. The major part of the programme will be devoted to her favorite role, and she will also give selections from "Mignon," "La Boheme," "Tosti's Partir," other French and Italian songs, and some old-fashioned ballads. This second concert has been arranged at the request of numbers who heard Mlle. De Lussan on Thursday night, when she so charmed a large audience.

Heroic Scottie.

While the Kilties are all soldiers, there is one bandsman whose record reads like a romance. James Russell, who bears a striking resemblance to Lord Roberts, or "Bobs," as the British soldiers fondly call the gallant old general, began his military life as a private in the same regiment of which "Bobs" was a staff lieutenant. Russell served with distinction at the relief of Lucknow, the siege of Cawnpore and various other historical events, for which he wears a special medal. He has fought in no less than thirty-nine battles, and there is not a livelier or more soldierly figure in the band than his, despite his snowy hair. While MacCormack, the seven-foot-tall drum major, will be the object of admiration to many, there are others to whom Russell will be even more interesting.

ed. All the principal performers were new in their parts. Mme. Gadski, most industrious of all the singers at our opera, replaced Mme. Eames; Sig. De Marchi took the hero's part, which had been filled with passionate beauty by M. Saléza, and Edouard de Reszke was a wickeder and less pontifical priest than M. Plancon. The prologue was sung by Mme. Schumann-Heink, to whom it was assigned four years ago, but who was compelled to yield it to Mme. Mantelli at the last moment because of illness. The scenery was the same, with a few added features which improved its beauty, and the composer was again on hand to inspire the performance and receive the admiring plaudits of the audience. These plaudits came after each act, and were genuine and hearty, the [illegible] being heard with sincere pleasure after the tedious first half hour was over.

The sincerity of Mme. Gadski's effort in a role outside of her natural field and the large measure of success which she achieved in it would make criticism of her few shortcomings seem churlish. Even in the charming "Bell Song" of the first act she sang effectively, and when she reached the climax of the opera, unfortunately postponed until the last act, which compasses all that there is of the antique story, her singing was thrillingly effective. Sig. De Marchi also imbued the dramatic portions of his music with real warmth and eloquence, though the most fervid of Mr. Mancinelli's strains could not put beauty into his voice. Both Mme. Schhumann-Heink and Mr. De Reszke poured out their voice plenteously, and the latter gave more vividness to the sinister side of Arisfarne than his predecessor.

Bispham Reads Shakespeare.

When David Bispham gives his second reading of Shapespeare's comedy, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," in Carnegie Hall, New York, he will have the assistance of a chorus of women from the Oratorio Society and Miss [illegible] Chapman and Miss Ethel Crane as soloists. This is somewhat after the order of Shakespeare musical recitals inaugurated by Lawrence Hanley for Los Angeles. By the bye, speaking of Lawrence Hanley, the Elks of this city have arranged to give him a bumper testimonial next month. The motion was put at the meeting last week, and received with applause, for "Larry" Hanley as the exponent of Shakespearean tragedy is irreverently called, is a tremendous favorite in Los Angeles.

Mme. Eames Very Much Better.

Mme. Emma Eames-Story, who went to Newport two weeks ago to recover from the nervous breakdown which compelled her to retire from the company at the Metropolitan Operahouse, is much improved in health. She wrote that she expects to return to France on [illegible] on La Savoie. She will go to her home in Paris, and then to her country house at Vallombrosa for the Princess Musical.

Princess Louise of Saxony, whose flight from the court of Dresden because of the impossible character of her husband, the Crown Prince, is an amateur of music, and has considerable talent for composition. One of her songs was sung with success by Herr Anthes, (who is now in New York) at the performance at Dresden of "Fra Diavolo," and another called "[illegible]" has had success. The text of the latter song ran: "We have crossed the sea, for naught can now console us at home. Father and mother we have deceived, naught have we save our love." The text is interesting in view of her recent flight to Geneva.

Schumann-Heink not Coming With Duss.

Mme. Schumann-Heink has received an offer to star with the Duss orchestral organization in October next, which she has rejected, however, preferring to remain in Euope to fulfill her engagements in Germany and Russia, not returning to America until January next. The Duss orchestra will visit Los Angeles and the rumor was that Schumann-Heink and Eduard de Reszke were to be the soloists.

Aged Artiste.

Marie Wieck, sister of the late Clara Schumann, recently performed a Schumann programme at Dresden, and played, among other works, the A minor Concerto "with remarkable freshness of style." The artist, who is now more than 70 years of age, was in her day an active witness of a glorious epoch in German musical life. She was received with favor by a large audience, and the press treated her with distinguished and reverential courtesy.

ON A MAHOGANY RANCH.

How the Valuable Wood is Shipped From Mexico—The Care Taken When The Trees are Cut.

[Chicago Chronicle:] Mahogany is probably more popular and extensively used than any other high-class cabinet wood. It is to be seen in the interior finishe of nearly all our modern office buildings, private residences, railway coaches, in pianos, furniture, musical instruments, etc. It is purely a tropical wood. It is obtained in Mexico, Cuba, San Domingo, Central America, South America and Africa. The mahogany from San Domingo and Cuba is as a rule close-grained and darker in color than other varieties of the wood. While Africa produces some of the finest specimens of mahogany timber as to size, it is inferior in texture and lacks some qualities of high-grade wood.

While there are many millions of feet of this beautiful and durable wood used annually in this country, no one in a thousand knows just where it comes from and how it is obtained, nor one in a million who has seen it in its full maturity standing in its native fastnesses—the true king of the tropical forest, sublime in its grandeur, a veritable giant among pigmies, in many instances so vine-laden as to appear in a gigantic physical contest for supremacy over the rest of the arboreal world, its enormous branches clothed with bright green foliage and so far-reaching as to overshadow much of the surrounding forest, challenging its lesser rivals to compete with it in beauty, symmetry and strength.

Mahogany is found on very fertile land, generally of a rolling nature, and well drained. It does not grow in swampy or sterile land. The timber cut for export ranges in diamater from eighteen inches to six feet, the greater part being hewed square by the natives, many of whom are very expert axmen. Great care is taken in the felling to avoid splitting. After felling the trunk is cleared of vines and other clinging vegetation and made ready for hewing. Immense blocks are knocked off, one of which would give enough good mahogany to make an ordinary dining-table. These large pieces are rarely utilized.

The reason for squaring these logs is to secure the maximum of heart timber. With all the care taken there is still a waste of fully 15 per cent. of the best heart wood, which in the many millions of feet exported amounts annually to an enormous loss to the producer. Within a few years this wasteful system will be a thing of the past.

Getting the timber to the streams, where it can be floated to a shipping point is a most expensive and arduous task. Transportations from forest to stream is done at night by means of trained oxen, light being obtained by means of torches. The work is done at night on account of the swarms of flies and other insects that torture the animals by day. The number of oxen employed in this work varies according to the size of the log and the kind of roads to be traveled. Some logs require as many as twenty-five yoke of oxen. To diminish friction saplings about four inches in diameter are felled, cut into four-foot lengths and laid tranversely on the road at distances of a few feet.

Because of the mahogany tree being top-heavy natuer has provided it with braces, or what are known to the timber men as spurs, which on large timber project from the base of the tree often a distance of fifteen feet, reaching deeply into the earth. These braces much resemble in form a ship's rudder. They are used in Mexico for round table tops and cart wheels, there being many that make table tops six feet in diameter, the grain running in all directions.

In Mexico, as in some other mahogany-producing countries, this timber has been depleted from the forests along nearly all of the streams deep enough to float the logs, but there remains an immense supply lying some distance from these highways that can be marketed at a profit only by the investment of large capital in logging railways and other modern methods. This is now being done by several strong companies of Chicago, Pennsylvania and Iowa, that have purchased large tracts of timber lands in the State of Campeche, ranging from 300,000 to 600,000 acres each.

WONDER OF THE CABLES.

Will Soon be Possible to Telegraph Around the World in Ten, Minutes. All on American Wires.

[New York World:] More than ten thousand nautical miles of cable have been laid in the bed of the Pacific Ocean.

Within a year this will be increased to 18,000 miles.

It will then be possible to send messages almost completely around the earth by wire over two different routes.

A message sent westward from New York can then be received in New York again from London ten minutes later, having been transmitted across the American continent, through the depths of the Pacific, over Australia or the Orient, across India, the Indian Ocean, the Mediterranean; around Spain, under the Atlantic to England, and thence by Atlantic cable back to New York.

The cost of Pacific cables that will be laid by the end of the present year will be about $20,000,000.

There will be two separate and complete cables, one all British and the other all American.

The laying of these great stretches of wire involves engineering achievements of a high order. A 3240-mile span, such as the one between Vancouver, B. C., and Fanning Island, would have been an impossible thing a few years ago.

Rather more than [illegible]y years ago the first submarine cable for commercial use was laid in the Straits of Dover. Since then 200,000 miles of cable have been laid at a cost of $275,000,000.

Great as this sum is, it is said to pay a good profit.

Great Britain has an all-British line encircling the globe. Its Pacific cable, subsidized by Canada, Australia and Great Britain at a ratio of 39, 33 and 28 per cent., respectively, was completed a few months ago.

The cable route of this globe-encircling line is: From Vancouver to Fanning Island, 3240 nautical miles; Fanning Island to Fiji, 2093 miles; Fiji to Norfolk Island, 901 miles; Norfolk Island to Brisbane, Queensland, 834 miles, and to New Zealand, 537 miles.

In the stretch of 3240 nautical miles—equal to 4000 statute miles—1000 tons of copper wire were used. In places the cable was sunk 16,000 feet below the surface. Parts of the cable weighed 21 tons to the mile.

The all-American line is being built without government assistance, by the Commercial Cable Company, of which Clarence H. Mackay and George Gray are the active heads.

The great enterprise was started by Cyrus W. Field, but to the late John W. Mackay much of the credit must be given for its early consummation.

That part of the line running from San Francisco to Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, 2412 nautical miles, is completed. This section cost $2,500,000. From Honolulu the line will run to Manila, 5890 miles, touching en route Guam and Midway Island. From Manila the line will be laid to Shanghai.

The cable rate to Honolulu is 50 cents a word, and this will be cut to 25 cents in a couple of years. The rate to China will be $1 a word.

These are the rates given out at present by the cable company. It is by no means impossible, however, that the competition afforded by wireless telegraphy will before long force the cable rates down to a much lower figure.

ON SHIPBOARD.

Two bells: 'Tis 5 o'clock; we rise
And tub; and view the early skies;
And take our ante-breakfast stroll,
And watch the surges leap and roll.

Four bells: 'Tis six; the ship's astir—
"Good morning, ma'am," "Good morning, sir"—
As sea-dogs bravely tumble up,
All ready for a steaming cup.

Six bells: 'Tis seven, and the air
Has proved a tonic past compare.
Our heads are clear, our hearts are light,
We have a monstrous appetite.

Eight bells: The steward soon appears
And toots his call to willing ears;
And down we flock, to eat and joke.
Anon we read or yarn or smoke.

But, ah! One belle! Be not forgot
This special favorite, I wot!
What golden dreams will spread their hue
O'er memories one belle, of you!

One belle—at whose alluring beck
We promenade along the deck,
Or snugly chat—and softly tell
Our sweetest tales—delicious belle!—

mountain, where the situated, is a shallow shaft, and above it a hand windlass that has withstood the onslaught of the elements for several years. It is the discovery shaft of the property that measures its workings by the miles. That windlass never strains under the burden of hoisting ore, for there is a warm corner for it in the hearts of the two living discoverers of the property, and it stands as a monument to their early struggles.

It recalls the hours of fruitless search; long days when the desert heat and blinding glare grew almost unbearable; days when the little pack train, enveloped in a blinding dust that clung like a pall, picked its way slowly over the fiery desolation of those southern mountains; nights with never a breath to stir the desert shrubs or relieve the weary seekers.

Only those who have suffered can appreciate the sublime moment when they "struck it rich."

The strike is but the beginning of greater endeavor. The ledge is found, but to keep it often taxes the keenest of intelligence and even the most competent of engineers fail in this task.

Here fickle fortune smiles or frowns, and in a night a ledge of fabulous richness will disappear, leaving not the slightest trace behind it.

On the north side of the Randsburg camp is the Wedge mine, that in the boom days of the district was considered one of the richest properties in the West. From the surface the ore milled hundreds to the ton. Owners of the property awoke one morning to find themselves wealthy, and for a while they were the most gorgeous beings on the Mojave Desert. Thousands were wagered on the turn of a card, and while their luck and the wonderful pay streak lasted they painted only in carmine. One day their superintendent reported the rich ore chute had disappeared, and after a vain effort to recover the lost lead, it was given up and the property was abandoned. Only ashes of past glories and a barren hole in the ground less than 200 feet in depth remained.

Thousands of dollars were spent after the locators had given up, for in mining there is always one chance left. The Consolidated Mines Company, a Los Angeles corporation, has taken up the search. Its main shaft is now 500 feet in depth and numerous drifts and winzes have been sent in to prospect the property. As depth is attained better values are found, and there are the best of indications that the lost ore chute will be recovered. Thousands of dollars are risked on the gamble, for a digger for gold who is without hope is no miner.

A party of local business men was lowered to the lowest working of the Wedge last week. They groped their way in the feeble light of candles in the ragged cavern 500 feet below the surface. The silence was as intense as the inky blackness. A whisper echoed like a roar, and the crunching of the gravel under foot sounded with ominous forebodings.

Away at the end of the drift they found a miner crouched in a narrow niche, drilling with might and main in the face of the rock. Great beads of sweat stood on a brow yellow for the want of sunlight, and the muscles of his arm were as knotted cords. One side of the cavern was as smooth as polished marble. It was the hanging wall of the ledge, and the ledge matter was being separated without an ounce of waste. It was being taken out as clean as ham from a sandwich. The ore was loaded in large iron buckets and sent to the surface, where it was sacked and shipped for milling.

The Yellow Aster has passed that stage of development. In its tunnels, which are wide and high enough for six to walk abreast, two narrow tracks give passage to ore cars. A system of electric lights pierces the blackness at frequent intervals. Over 500 feet from the sunlight a great cavern has been hollowed out of the living rock, and a hoisting plant installed. Cars piled high with ore are hoisted from the workings, 500 feet below, and are sent sliding to the tunnel's mouth. Ten or a dozen, with old Jack, the raw-boned mule, at their head, go skimming along to the rock crusher above the mill. There the ore is dumped in great bins. After the crushers have broken the largest pieces, the ore is again loaded into cars, and sent by gravity to feed the mill, a couple of hundred feet away.

With a ceaseless roar, a hundred stamps crunch and grind the ore to powder, and then the gold and the waste part company.

As one looks back on the hill that a few years ago was as brown and barren as any that now reflect the sun on all sides of it, he sees the result of the lucky strike and intelligent engineering. Scores of tunnels pierce the mountain side, mills nestle half way to the summit, and in the valley below lie great beds of bleached tailings, the rock of the mountain's heart, that has been robbed of its precious metal.

V.—THE BOOK-KEEPER.

THE POSITION AND OPPORTUNITIES—WHAT HE DOES AND WHAT HE IS MADE OF.

[SPECIALLY CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.]

THE book-keeper is, as his name implies, the keeper of the books of business.

While book-keeping requires the exercise of intelligence, the book-keeper's work is to a considerable extent clerical, and to some extent mechanical. His mind by no means remains at a standstill, but he does not have the opportunity of using the better parts of it, which is generally given to those who come in closer contact with men and things, and who have the chance to develop their ingenuity and higher mental qualities.

The rank and file of book-keepers are, and will remain, clerks. Unless they are head book-keepers, their position is subordinate, and they have little opportunity for exercising discipline or management.

Understand, I am speaking wholly of book-keepers who do nothing but keep books—book-keepers exclusively—not of those who do something else besides book-keeping, who are office managers, and who are superintending book-keepers or head book-keepers, or occupy in connection with book-keeping, executive or advisory positions.

Two business branches seem to spring from office-boyship—one toward the selling, or active side, the other toward the book-keeping, or office, or clerical side.

Unusual talent is sure to show; no matter how it starts, it will develop into success anyway; but the ordinary boy with only ordinary ability is very dependent upon his start; he is likely to follow for life the road he begins upon.

If he starts in as a book-keeper, a book-keeper he is likely to be forever, subject to limited advancement.

If he chooses the selling or active side, he, undoubtedly, if he has much of anything in him, will rise higher and accomplish more than he will along purely clerical lines; but a knowledge of book-keeping, and a few months' or years' training in this department, may not injure the boy, and may do him good, even if he does not intend to remain a book-keeper. If be starts in this way, wholly for the experience, he must keep his true object in life constantly before him, and practice book-keeping simply as a means to another end.

The good book-keeper has a natural as well as experienced head for figures. Unless he is a good mathematician, he never can rise from the lower book-keeping ranks. He must be methodical, exact, with a strong, well-in-hand memory, and a good penman.

General business ability and capacity for financiering and salesmanship are not essential qualifications. If the boy or young man possesses them, he will not remain a book-keeper exclusively.

Book-keepers' salaries vary very materially. Comparatively few book-keepers are paid less than $5 or $6 a week, while a good, all-around, experienced book-keeper in the large city office or store receives from $500 to $1200 a year, and from 25 to 50 per cent. less in the smaller places.

First-class head book-keepers sometimes command salaries in excess of $2000 a year, but these sums are paid only to the highest grade, and to men who are able to manage book-keeping departments.

A few top-notch book-keepers may enjoy salaries up to $4000 or $5000 a year. The expert book-keepers or accountants who travel from office to office and from store to store examining books and correcting mistakes of the regular book-keepers, may be classed as auditors, and their incomes frequently run into several thousand dollars a year, but these men are exceptions.

Not one book-keeper in ten thousand can ever become an expert accountant, and there is not a very heavy demand for their services, only the largest concerns employing them.

The rank and file of book-keepers are given little opportunity for promotion. Their uprising is slow, and their probable top not highly remunerative. They have little chance to exercise more than correctness and faithfulness; they are for the most part away from the active lines; therefore they bring little business to their employers, and consequently their services are not always appreciated.

Book-keepers more, perhaps, than any other class of business employés, have the least opportunity for advancement. Occasionally a book-keeper becomes a partner; sometimes he combines his ability with that of an expert salesman, and if he be a good financier, his firm is likely to succeed; but he then becomes something besides a book-keeper; he is a manager, a financier, and a partner.

The better grade of book-keepers occasionally attain well-paid positions of trust in banks or other corporations, and receive good and permanent salaries.

The boy of good habits, who is quick at figures, of sound memory, and who is methodically correct, will make a good book-keeper, and it may be well for him to turn in this direction, provided he is not more than ordinarily ambitious, and does not possess the energy and ability for more aggressive work.

Book-keeping, then, is a good thing and a bad thing—good for the boy or man fitted for it, and who is apparently not adapted for anything else; and it is a very bad thing for those who are capable of meeting the world, of successfully struggling against opposition and competition, and who are able to aggressively handle responsibility.

As a stepping-stone to better things, book-keeping has its place, because a knowledge of the fundamentals of book-keeping is of advantage to any business man, but book-keeping as a rule does not lift one above itself. The book-keeper generally remains a book-keeper, and his chances of advancement are considerably less than the opportunities afforded those in the more active sides of business; but the book-keeper worries less, meets with less obstacles, and probably leads a more contented life than those who choose more aggressive callings.

THEIR GAME OF HEARTS.

BY ELSIE CARMICHAEL.

"I AM awfully sorry," he said meekly, but his eyes belied his words. "I really wouldn't have come if I had known I had to inflict myself on you in this way." He offered his arm, looking at her downcast, piquant little face with a world of pity in his eyes. "Don't take it so hard, dear," he whispered.

She raised her head and flashed him a defiant look. "You forget," she said icily. "Don't take advantage of our having to sit next one another through a long dinner to treat me so. I don't see what Mrs. Clarke was thinking of."

Don's eyes twinkled. "Well, really," he said, "I don't see that Mrs. Clarke can be blamed. How could she know that you had refused me last evening? If you don't want to talk to me, you can talk to your other neighbor."

Nan looked at the fat, stupid old gentleman on her other side and made a little moue. "He is certainly the lesser of two evils," she said, and turned her round, white shoulder to Don.

The latter with seeming eagerness talked to a gay young widow on his other side, and Nan listened with wandering attention to the dissertation of the elderly gourmand on the delights of pate de foie gras.

The conversation between the widow and Don waxed most frivolous. Nan felt the angry tears coming to her eyes. It was not fair to treat her so. Never since she had known him had he deliberately turned his back on her. Everyone would notice it. She hated that widow.

"Ah, that will be glorious," cried the latter. "Will you come for me at 3 and may I really drive those grays of yours all the way out to the club? I long to feel the reins in my hands again, I haven't driven good horses for so long. Most people are afraid to let me try, but you know I can drive, don't you, Don? Do you remember long ago in those good old days how we used to go spinning out to the Country Club and——" Then her voice dropped and Nan heard no more.

Oh, if only Archie or Dick or Malcolm were next her she wouldn't she show Don how little she cared, but this stupid old Mr. Jones could hardly be induced to take his attention from his plate for a moment. She talked excitedly, the color mounted into her cheeks, and Don, who watched her surreptitiously, thought he had never seen her so charming. It was a bitter-sweet thing just to sit next her this way, even if she would not speak to him.

He listened only half mechanically to what Mrs. Wright was saying. His mind would wander back to that last evening, when he had finished that delicious waltz with her, and they had strolled into the conservatory. He could still hear the last strains of the music die away, sobbing sweet. She was radiant in her filmy rose-colored gown that he told her looked like a bit of sunset cloud. She had seemed happy and content until he had made the mistake of telling her he loved her, and then the whole radiant world was suddenly turned to cold gray tones, as when the evening colors in the sky fade into the twilight.

The hostess rose, and he stood back to let Nan pass. She had never a look for him, but chatted gayly with Madge Trelawney, as they left the room. Then he threw himself back in his chair and smoked in silence, not listening to the talk about him.

When he strolled into the drawing-room half an hour later, Mrs. Clarke, who was near the door, held out a detaining hand. "I want you to take Nan into the library to play ping-pong," she said.

"But perhaps she won't want to," objected Don. Mrs. Clarke looked at him shrewdly.

"Don't you think I know that you and Nan have quarreled?" she asked. "Am I blind? Be a good boy and make it up."

"I am willing enough to, Mrs. Clarke," he said so earnestly that his hostess felt as though he had taken her into his confidence, and led him up to a low couch, near the fire, where Nan was still talking to Madge Trelawney. The color had gone from her face now, and she looked tired and listless.

"Take Mr. Prentice into the library and make him play ping-pong, Nan," begged Mrs. Clarke. "Things are going very dully tonight, and I want someone to start things up a bit."

Nan was surprised to find herself a moment later alone in the dimly-lit library with Prentice. She had not intended to come. Now that she was there, however, she longed to sit down on the low seat before the flickering fire and have him tell her again how he loved her. If she could hear those words now she thought her answer would be different. He had taken her by surprise last night; he had taken her love too much for granted and hurt her pride. But all that was over. She dared not yield to the spell of the firelight. She picked up a racquet and tried the delicate little celluloid ball on the table.

"Come on," she said, "we might as well play a set, to please Mrs Clarke."

They played a game absent-mindedly. "Love one,' he said, when they had finished.

"But it isn't," pouted Nan. "It's no fun to play with you. You never keep score right. You won that game."

"Oh, did I?' he inquired. "I am surprised. "You always win."

"What?' asked Nan scornfully. "What game do I ever win, Don? I am stupid at most games, and you know it."

"Oh, hearts," he said.

"But this isn't hearts," she cried, wilfully misunderstanding him. "It's ping-pong, and it isn't love one."

"But it always is for me," he said. She went on playing and ignored the subject.

"I think this will probably be the last game we will have together for a long time," he said mournfully, after they had played in silence for a few minutes.

Nan missed the ball. "Why?" she asked. The color left her face and then surged back again.

"I am going to start for South Africa next week," he said. "Some busines interests call me there, and if all goes well I may decide to stay—forever."

Nan picked up the ball. "Oh," she said after a moment. "South Africa must be—a—er—very interesting place, but rather—er—hot, is it not?"

"Yes," he said, pensively. "It's a very unhealthy climate where I am going. Marsh fever, cholera—all those things kill people off rather fast."

He sent the ball back so wildly that it landed on top of the bookcase. "The game is mine," he said, throwing down his racquet.

"But it isn't," she said, "I won it fairly and squarely."

Her lips were trembling, and there were bright tears in her eyes as she went over to the fireplace and looked down into the leaping flames. There was something so pathetic and lonely about the little figure in the firelight, that he went to her quickly.

"Please say the game is mine," he begged, and held out his hands.

She swayed for a moment, as though she would fall, and then turned and put both little hands in his.

"Well, yes," she said, smiling through her tears. "You have won, Don. Only please don't go to South Africa."

Buyers' Association's First Annual Dinner.

N. H. MURPHY, Vice-President. H. D. PERRY, Secretary. F. P. WINNE, President.

One of the pleasant events of the week in local business life was the first annual dinner of Hamburger's Buyer's Association at Levy's Tuesday evening. The banquet was tendered by A. Hamburger & Sons in celebration of the anniversary and the successful first year's work of the association, and all the firm's local buyers and managers were present, and M. A. Hamburger was host. The close relations existing between the firm and its managers made the affair doubly enjoyable.

The main dining-room presented a pretty appearance, the large table in the center at which the guests were seated, being decorated with floral pieces and cut-glass candelabra, and brilliantly lighted. An elaborate menu had been provided, as follows:

Manhattan Cocktail.

Eastern Oysters on Shell.

Chicken Consommé, en Tasse.
Cresta Blanca, Sauterne.

Celery. Olives. Salted Almonds.

Fillet of Striped Bass, Cardinal,
Pommes a la Conde.
Mont Rouge Bergundy.

Roast Lamb with Mint Sauce.
Asparagus,
Green Peas.
New Potatoes.
Mumm's Champagne.

Chicken Livers with Fresh Mushrooms, en Case.

Vegetable Salad, a la Macedoine.

Rum Omelette.

Ice Cream Assorted Cake.
Assorted Cheese Crackers.
Fruit, Cigars
Café Noir.

The active membership of the association consists of the officers whose portraits appear above, and Messrs. D. Offutt, E. H. Dart, C. Besselman, W. C. Heffelfinger, A. P. Neilsen, J. Dreyfus, H. A. Koll, H. M. Snodgrass, A. L. Johnson, C. Kalt, J. F. Kitchen, W. H. Gerber and F. J. Gunther. The passive members are M. A. Hamburger, president, Yokohama; S. A. Hamburger, first vice-president, New York; D. A. Hamburger, third vice-president, Paris; C. S. Holzwasser, resident buyer, New York; Otto Sweet, secretary and treasurer, A. Hamburger & Sons; Fred L. POWER OF PERSONAL MAGNETISM

How Men and Women Are Fascinated and Held Spell-Bound By This Strange, Mysterious Force.

The Long-Lost Secrets of the Magic Power of the Wise Men of Old Fully and Completely Revealed at Last.

Prof. Robertson, President of the Columbia Scientific Academy of the city of New York, is an adept in the science of personal magnetism. He probably knows more about the subtle art of personal influence than any living man. He has just written a new book, entitled the "Secret of Power," the copyright of which he has given away on condition that 25,000 copies of the first edition be distributed to the public absolutely free of charge. Within recent years hundreds of persons have purchased advertised courses in hypnotism for the purpose of learning how to influence others and get along in life. Hypnotism is not personal magnetism. Prof. Robertson has determined to put a stop to what he considers a gross imposition on the public by having his new book distributed throughout the country absolutely free of charge, thus giving all persons who really want to master the real secrets of personal magnetism an opportunity to do so.

Prof. Robertson's book covers the power of personal magnetism, the art of fascination, magnetic healing, the wonders of scientific character, reading from the hand, face, head and handwriting, scientific second sight, the development of the mysterious X-Ray faculty, and Prof. Robertson's original secret method of quick physical development. It is the most comprehensive and exhaustive work on personal influence that has ever been published. It is the only book that we have ever seen that really starts the student out on a scientific basis, that puts him on the right road. Prof. Robertson's methods require no subjects on which to practice, no long weary hours of study in which to learn. The moment you read his instructions you can apply them; you can wield a wonderful influence over a man even a thousand miles away. This may seem incredible, but we have tested it for ourselves and can vouch for its truthfulness. You can read the secret natures of people at a glance; you can cure diseases and bad habits without drugs or medicines; you win and hold friends as if by some magic, irresistible force; gain the love and affections of others; become a great social or business leader; you can acquire wealth and influence if you will but develop your hidden powers and master nature's secret laws. But do not confound Prof. Robertson's great work with advertised courses on hypnotism. Prof. Robertson can tell you all about hypnotic power. He knows it from A to Z. But what you want is something that you can use without the knowledge of any one else, something that you can learn without a lot of subjects on which to practice; something that will develop in you that subtle, unseen force that controls, charms and fascinates; that makes you supreme master of every situation. Prof. Robertson's free book describes your wants better than you know them yourself. It is highly indorsed by prominent ministers of the gospel, lawyers and business men. It is intensely interesting from start to finish.

If you want a copy, write at once to the Columbia Scientific Academy, Dept. 315N, 1931 Broadway, New York. The books are going very rapidly. A cablegram has just been received from Russia, asking for one of these great works; so highly are they prized by scientists all over the world.

THE SALE OF VOLCANO.

Mexican Sulphur Mine the Highest in the World—Its Interesting Story is Now Related.

[New York Sun:] A dispatch to the Sun from Mexico on last Wednesday announced the sale by Gen. Ochoa of the famous Popocatepetl volcano, which has been his private property since his early manhood. The purchase price is said to have been $5,000,000, which is rather a large price to pay for a sulphur mine. Possibly the price was less than this figure, though Gen. Ochoa doubtless received a large sum for his property, because its supplies of sulphur are inexhaustible. The most of his large fortune has been made by mining this sulphur.

The story of his acquisition of these sulphur deposits reads like a romance. We seldom hear that a private individual is the owner of a great and famous mountain. It is not exactly true to say that Gen. Ochoa owns the whole of Popocatepetl, for he has no title to a large part of the mountain.

The part of it that was conceded to him by the Mexican government is the entire higher portion rising above the zone of vegetation. All the bare, rocky surface of the mountain areas covered by eternal snow fields, the two peaks at the summit, and the yawning crater, with its sulphur deposits, have for many years been the property of this gentleman, but no part of the mountain on which a tree, a blade of grass or a bit of scrub finds lodgment has been transferred to the new owners by Gen. Ochoa, because it was not his to sell.

Gen. Gaspar Sanchez Ochoa, for years past the Chief of the Engineer Corps of the Mexican army, was a student many years ago in a military school at the City of Mexico. He was a favorite pupil of Señor Andres del Rio, one of the instructors in the school.

One day Señor del Rio told the boy that he met the great Alexander von Humboldt when that famous naturalist visited Mexico, and that Humboldt called his attention to the large deposits of sulphur on the crater of Popocatepetl, and expressed the opinion that though they were difficult of access, they would some day be worked, and would yield a fortune to those who took the enterprise in hand.

Not long afterward young Ochoa was graduated from the school. He was a young man of good family, and had friends who were very influential in public affairs. He also had the assistance of Señor del Rio in carrying out the project he had formed of obtaining from the government a concession giving to him the entire upper part of the mountain. His plan succeeded, and the upper part of the mountain above the zone of vegetation became his private property.

For years past he has worked this source of wealth. The methods he employed were somewhat crude, but as the price of labor is very low in Mexico, Gen. Ochoa was able to extract the sulphur at a large profit.

He was the owner of the highest mine in the world, for the top of Popocatepetl is 17,520 feet above the sea, and the crater, a cavity over half a mile in circumference, is only 250 feet deep. Above the crater rise the two chief summits, the Pico Mayor and the Espinazo del Diablo.

Visitors always climb one of these subbmits to get the view stretching on one side to the hot lands far below, and on the other to see the yawning crater half filled with snow and covered here and there with patches of yellow gold color, which indicate the position of the sulphur deposits.

Gen. Ochoa's Indian laborers, for many years past, have been almost daily let down to the bottom of the crater in large baskets lowered and raised by means of a windlass erected on the brim of the chasm. The annual yield has been about one hundred tons and the mineral is supposed to accumulate in the crater at the rate of a ton a day. However this may be, the sulphur deposits in the crater are certainly known to be much larger than they were when Gen. Ochoa began to remove them.

The mineral is brought from the depths of the earth by the ebullitions which are almost continually coming from the crater mouth; so this volcano is a source of sulphur which is constantly being replenished and the new owners will have to remove the mineral in far larger quantities than has heretofore been done in order to keep pace with the fresh supplies that are constantly coming to the outer air.

It is likely that the American syndicate which has bought the property will mine the sulphur as fast as it accumulates or faster, for it is said that it intends to build a cogwheel railroad up the mountain and to operate the deposit on an extensive scale. It will take a long time to remove the sulphur that has been accumulating in the crater.

Uricsol cures rheumatism whether you have it in sunny California or high and pleasant Colorado— severe you may have rheumatism you can be cured by Uricsol. Uricsol dissolves uric acid and urates and from the system—Uricsol tones up the digestive functions and gives health to rheumatic sufferers.

Mrs. J. P. Williams of Sawpit, Colorado, was a sufferer from rheumatism—suffered severely until she took here is what she says of her experience:

I have been suffering from rheumatism in my ankles and feet for several years and when your medicine reached me, ing quite a severe attack; in fact, had not been able to wear my shoes for a couple of months. I have taken medicine liniments with only temporary relief. Now I have taken nearly three bottles of Uricsol and never have taken anything me as much good. I have no rheumatism now and think, from all existing conditions, will not have any too. Another thing—I have suffered for years with a torpid liver, but Uricsol has started my sluggish liver to working now as though life was worth living. If it benefits all cases as it has mine, it is a boon and blessing to mankind. Yours

TONOPAH GOLD

This Fabulously Rich District The Greatest On Earth.

Poor Prospectors Made Wealthy In a Day Is the History of This "Wonderland" In Nevada.

UNQUESTIONABLY the richest mining district on the face of the earth is the great Tonopah of Nevada, which has beyond doubt contributed more wealth to the present supply in the United States than any other camp in the world within the same short period. From a howling wilderness two years ago it has developed a thriving city of 4000 prosperous souls, and is growing rapidly every day.

Following the world famous discovery of that matchless Mizpah mine by the poor but lucky prospector, James L. Butler, who fairly leaped from the ranks of the poor to a position of wealth and power almost in a day, come hundreds of other rich strikes in the same mineral belt, each one of which contributes its share to the happiness of the world.

Of the very first to follow Discoverer Butler into the wilderness of wealth now known as Tonopah, Nev., were a party of honest prospectors, headed by George Grims, who had the courage and the endurance to brave the discomforts and hardships of a mining camp miles from a railroad and civilization.

Arriving on the grounds early, they of course had the choicest claims in the district to select from, and that they improved the opportunity is evidenced by the fact that they were the locators of the only other group of claims in the district yet discovered where the rich ore crops out of the lava-covered surface of the earth; all the subsequent mines discovered were found after the lava covering had been penetrated, some of them to a depth of several hundred feet.

Of course this rich group was not the only location they made, by any means. The others, however, were parted with without much reluctance at a fair price to secure the necessaries of life. These claims, however, they concluded to hold until the necessary capital could be secured to aid in their development, being entirely satisfied to take their pay for this valuable property out of the profits of the rich ore bodies, after their mineral treasure had been subjected to development and dividends were declared.

This property includes five claims, of nearly 120 acres in all, and it is situated within four miles of the greatest gold mine in the world, the "Tonopah Mizpah," and in the same mineral district, showing the same ore croppings, and the same mineral formation as the celebrated Mizpah; and there are three veins on

PROVEN ORANGE & OLIVE LANDS
NO FROST NO SCALE BLIGHT OR OTHER PESTS
WATER FOR IRRIGATION AT LOW RATES RICH AND PRODUCTIVE SOIL
LOW PRICES

A 10-Acre Orange or Olive Orchard Costs Less Than a Los Angeles 50-Foot Lot in a Desirable Location.

Highly desirable orange and olive orchards with water at the lowest price quoted anywhere in California for equal advantages.

Maclay Rancho Water Company

FREDERICK H. RINDGE, President GEO. I. COCHRAN, Vice-President and Treasurer

Ve sell the land planted to trees and care for both the land and trees until orchards are bearing, at the lowest ossible price. There are 4000 acres in this tract, about 1000 acres of which are already improved with orange nd olive orchards. Rich and productive soil, water for irrigation at low rates, a district free from frosts, scale, blight and other pests, delightful climate, pure water, warm days of sunshine, cool sleepy nights, splendid schools and churches, 40 minutes from Los Angeles, water for all domestic purposes and land and improvements at the cost of bare land in other districts, are the inducements we offer to home-seekers and investors.

Location of Tract.

The greater portion of this tract is located at or near the town of Fernando and is within less than an hour's ride by rail from the city of Los Angeles. There is a rumor that one of the three electric belt lines connecting other suburban towns with Los Angeles may be extended to the San Fernando Valley and afford a half hour service to and from Los Angeles. This, however, is only rumor and may, or may not, become a fact. The improvements in San Fernando Valley justify the building of an electric road and sooner or later someone will build it and it must pass through this tract to reach the productive part of the valley.

Healthful Climate.

The average temperature is about 62 degrees with an average-minimum temperature of 47 degrees and an average maximum temperature of 90 degrees. Excessively hot days are few and the nights are always cool and pleasant. Pure water, high elevation, warm days of sunshine, cool and pleasant nights when anyone can sleep and entire freedom from malaria and everything that causes it, is sufficient guarantee for good health.

Soil Is Proven.

The first orange and olive trees were planted in this tract years ago and today some of the most valuable and largest orange and olive orchards in the state are in and adjoining this tract. The fruit grown here is as good and brings as good a price as in any district in the state. The soil is rich and productive and the district is absolutely free from pests. There is an incomparably smaller percentage of acres of bearing orchards for sale in this district than in any other district in the state. All the land in this tract has been carefully classified and only first-class orange and olive land will be planted to trees.

Water Improvements.

During the past two years and a half the Water Company has devoted itself almost exclusively to the development of water and the improvement and enlargement of its plant; and at the present time we have over 30 miles of pipe lines and cement ditches; also pumps, power plants, etc. The water rates are as low as any district in the State, and the total cost of water is included in these rates — there being no extra costs in the way of water rights, pipe or ditch stock, and no assessments to pay.

COST OF WATER — For orange orchards water will be delivered free for irrigation purposes for two years after the trees are set out. After that the cost of water will be about $9.00 per acre, increasing a little each year as the trees require more water. For olive orchards the water is free for three years. After that the cost of water will be between $5.00 and $10.00 per year to the acre, olive trees requiring less water than orange trees.

Plan of Selling.

The improvement of this land is taken up with the belief that the land can be improved on a large scale, with better improvements and cheaper than it can be improved in small tracts, and that there are many people who want orange and olive orchards if they can have them without bothering with their care until they come into bearing and without paying the prices obtained for bearing orchards. We will plant these lands to trees and care for them until they are profit-earning, and thus afford investors and home-seekers the opportunity of improving orchards and owning them without their care or without paying the cost of improved orchards.

Price of Orange Orchards.

The orange land in this tract with water piped or ditched to it, set out in orange trees with 3 year old roots and 1 year old buds, 80 trees to the acre, with 2 years' water for irrigation, and with all the care of the trees and the land for 2 years after planting, will be sold at from $250 to $275 per acre, according to the land selected. Orange orchards in this tract have averaged in the past about 10 boxes of oranges per acre the 3rd year after planting the trees, about 1 box to the tree the 4th year, about a box and a half to the tree the 5th year, with an increase of a little over half a box to a tree each year until they are 14 years old. This is as far as this district has been fairly tested. The price received by the growers for the oranges in this tract has averaged just about $1 per box each year since the organizing of the Fernando Fruit Growers' Association in 1894.

Price of Olive Orchards.

The olive land in this tract with water delivered to it and set out in trees will be sold at $175 to $200 per acre, and the land and trees will be irrigated and cared for for 3 years without additional cost. Olive trees do not come into bearing as young as oranges, but their life is almost unlimited, and when they once come into profitable bearing, each year increases their average production. California is practically the only State in the Union producing olives; and the future of the California olive seems unlimited. The fruit is rich and large, and makes an excellent oil and ripe or green pickles, and the demand for them is increasing each year.

nvestment in out-lying property, especially when it is improved and has every advantage is one of the safest nd most practical uses to which money can be put. A 10-acre olive or orange orchard will support a family in omfort, and if held simply as an investment will pay a good profit on the money invested. Full particulars regarding terms, also any additional information you may desire can be had at our office.

GOOD STORIES FOR CHILDREN---By Walt McDougall

The Wonderful Story of Elves, a Peculiar Baby, a Dog and a Boy With X-Ray Eyes and Their Many Very Strange Adventures

Harry Manheim, a Blind Boy, Learne From a Hermit Lessons Which R stored His Lost Sister and Mad Him a Man of Enormous Wealth

LOTS of stories have been written about elves and the changelings which they leave instead of babies in cradles, but nobody has ever told why they ceased this unpleasant practice. I didn't know the reason myself until I heard the story of Harry Manheim and his baby sister Dorothy.

Harry was a blind boy, blind from birth, and, like all who are born without sight, he was accustomed to going about alone, and could find his way so easily as to astonish all who saw him. His mother was a poor woman, who was obliged to do sewing to support her two children, and so Harry was left to take care of his sister all day. He had a dog named Tatters, a very intelligent skye terrier, who perhaps watched more closely over the infant than her brother, for he rarely left her side for more than a minute when he went to investigate any strange noise. Harry, although he was a boy of good disposition, had many sad and gloomy moments, and was often sad and disheartened, and at these times he used to visit an old hermit who lived in a cave in the forest near his home. The hermit cheered him with tales of the past, and many were the wonderful things the blind boy learned from the ancient man, who rarely spoke to any one else. He told the lad all about the elves, the fairies, dragons and wood nymphs that frequented the forest shades, and Harry was as well posted regarding such matters as I am myself. When he was minding Dorothy he would ponder upon what he had learned from the hermit and wonder if he would ever see any of the things he knew all about, but this was far beyond his hopes, as the doctors had said that he would never be able to see. The old hermit, however, denied this, and, as he took a pinch of snuff, would shake his head and say:

"Wait, my boy, wait. I'll discover something yet that will enable you to see as well as any of them." But as time passed on and nothing came of his prediction Harry had long forgotten it, and never expected to be aught but a sightless man when he grew up.

One summer day he was sitting in the shade near the house, and Dorothy was playing with Tatters on the grass, when the thing happened that changed everything. He had been pondering, and was suddenly aroused by hearing Tatters bark in a peculiar manner, a bark that said as plain as words that something was wrong. Harry sprang up, calling Dorothy, but when she did not reply he began to move about in the garden in search of the baby, Tatters wildly rushing here and there, with excited barks. The search was vain, for Dorothy had disappeared.

Harry was almost overcome with grief, but when he went into the house and heard a strange gurgling sound in Dorothy's cradle he was relieved, for he thought that she had crept into it. A moment later, when he heard Tatters growl, he ran his fingers over the face of the infant, as the blind do when they wish to identify anybody, and discovered that the child in the cradle was not his own sister, but a cold, clammy thing like a doll made of putty, and he shuddered, for he remembered all that the old hermit had related about the elves and changelings. He knew instantly what had happened, and so, I suppose, did Tatters.

HERMIT HELPED HIM

When he thought of his mother's grief his heart failed him, and he determined to go at once to the hermit and ask his advice, for he could not remember what was usually done when a changeling comes into the house. He stopped on the way to the hermit's cave to buy an ounce of snuff, for that always put the old man into the very best humor, and then he went on.

The hermit said he was not at all surprised at what had happened, for he had been expecting it.

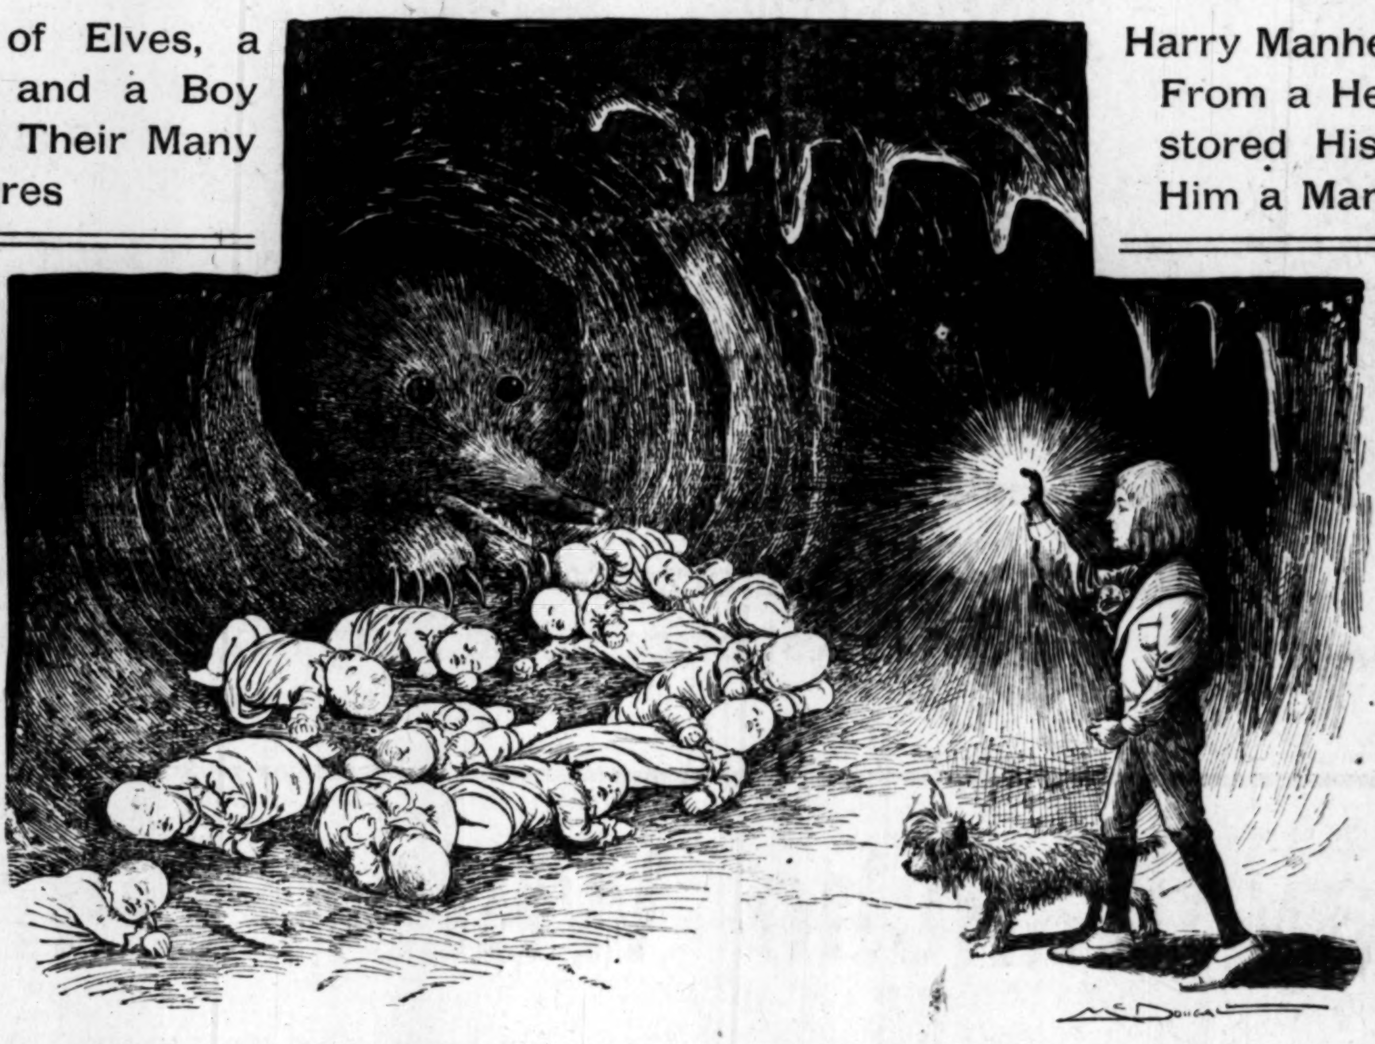
"You did right in coming to me," said he, "for perhaps I may be able to help you." Then he took a big pinch of snuff and added: "There is only one way known that will compel the elves to return the baby, and that is to get a duck's egg, blow out the inside and run a green ribbon through it. Then hang it around the changeling's neck. This has been tried many times in ancient days, and is said to be a never-failing method."

"I'll do it right away!" cried Harry, and he ran off so quickly that he forgot all about the hermit's snuff, which was in his pocket. He knew just where a duck was sitting on six eggs, and it took him only ten minutes to get one, and five minutes more to blow out its contents. Then he stopped short in dismay, for he suddenly remembered that he couldn't tell a green ribbon from a red one. However, he knew where there were lots of ribbons in a bag in the closet, and, taking them one by one and passing them over the puttylike changeling until it suddenly screamed in rage, he soon came to the conclusion that the one that offended it must be green. Then he strung the duck's egg upon it, and tied it around the putty baby's neck, although it wriggled and squirmed like an eel on a hook.

Its struggles ceased, however, as soon as the ribbon was around its neck, and it lay so still that he thought he had choked it, but after a long silence the putty baby spoke and said:

"Well, you have beaten me. I have lived a thousand years, but never have I heard of a human discovering this secret. Now, what will you do to me?"

"That depends," replied Harry. "If you will bring my sister back, I'll let you go; but if you don't, I'll put you in the oven and roast you, and Tatters will eat you."



THE TERRABILIS GUARDING THE BABIES

The putty-baby squealed: "Ugh! Don't speak of it! You shall have her back as soon as you can get her, but you must do it yourself, for I am helpless here until the time comes for me to be a full-grown elf."

"And when will that be?" asked the boy.

"You may have heard," replied the putty-child, "that all elves are babies shapeless and hideous as myself for a time (it was fully a thousand years in my case) until a chance is found to exchange them for human babies. Then the changeling elf remains in the house until the Terrabilis sneezes, when it is immediately taken home to Elfland and thereafter is a full-grown elf."

"What on earth is a Terrabilis?" inquired Harry. "I've heard of a lot of funny ones, but never of a Terrabilis."

"It's the great earth-animal, half-mole, half-worm and the rest weasel," replied the putty-baby. "It dwells far under ground, where the elves live and it guards the human babies caught by the elves, but when it sneezes that's the signal that they must be immediately exchanged again, and all the elves are very glad, for then their own babies can come home and be men or women. The Terrabilis has not sneezed for over a year, and twelve babies are waiting and twelve elves who are very tired, I assure you, of listening to the nonsensical talk they are hearing in human houses.

"You must find the entrance to the elfin land, and that is under a rock in the forest. I will show it to you if you'll take me there."

"We will go at once, for my mother must not be grieved when she returns by finding that Dorothy has been absent from home at all," said Harry. "I'll carry you." He picked up the clammy thing and slung it over his shoulder, then started for the forest and went where the putty-baby directed him. When they arrived at the rock Harry soon found that the elves entered through an opening which was far too small for him to crawl through, and he said:

"Is there no other way to get in?"

"Yes," said the putty-baby. "There is an old hollow tree yonder by which you may be able to enter."

DOWN INTO THE ELVES' HOME

Harry went to the tree and found a great hole in its trunk. Through this he crawled at once, followed by Tatters, who seemed to be aware that they were on the track of the lost child. In the great hollow of the tree he found a flight of worn stone steps which once in ancient times were perhaps the steps of some ruined castle or temple upon which the tree had taken root and grown. A dark hole yawned at the foot of these steps, but the blind boy, to whom both daylight and darkness were alike, went down the steps without hesitating. Feeling his way along the side of the wall he went down a slanting gallery slowly until he came to a moss-covered door which yielded to a strong push. Once beyond the door the gallery widened into a lofty grotto, all sparkling with points of many colored crystal and with specks of gold and silver flecking it everywhere, but he saw it not.

"It's a great pity that I can't see," said Harry, "for I would like to be able to tell mother all about it. Are we near the Terrabilis now?"

"Oh, we have still far to go before we reach the spot where he keeps guard," said the putty-baby. "I am not as certain as I was a little while ago that even I can guide you to the place. The various passages are so mixed up that one has to be here a long time before he knows them all, and I am only a thousand years old, a mere infant, you know."

"What do elves eat?" asked Harry, seeking for information.

"All sorts of things," said the putty-baby. "Everything that grows or lives underground is our meat—carrots, parsnips, potatoes, turnips and other roots, and we serve them with earthworms, roasted, boiled or stewed, which are very fine in the right season. Then we have ant-pie and scrambled ant's-eggs, turtle-eggs, sometimes, when we are lucky, and also snake-eggs, which are delicious. We grow splendid mushrooms down here, too, and from them we make a very exquisite wine, also; but they have never let me taste it. I'm too young. Once in a while we catch and kill a small mole and then we have a real feast. But we do not eat as often as you do, I suppose. We have breakfast in January, lunch in April and dinner, a grand affair, indeed, in September. I am speaking of the grown-up elves, you know, for the babies don't eat at all. Not until the elf-salve is rubbed on them."

A VALUABLE SECRET

"What is elf-salve?" asked the boy.

"That's a magic ointment that makes an elf complete and perfect. When it is rubbed on me all over I will be able to do anything an elf can do. I will be able to see through the hardest rocks and tell just what is inside, or discover the contents of an iron chest or anything hidden away. I will be able to hear the slightest sound, such as the noise grass makes in growing. I will be able to smell anything a mile or so away, see in the darkest night and remember everything I've learned forever."

Harry determined that if he came within reach of that salve he would have his fingers in it in a twinkling.

"What's the use of elves, anyway?" he inquired.

"Dear me, what a question!" cried the putty-baby. "I never thought anything about it, but I suppose we have our uses. We burrow far down in the earth and bring up gold to places where men can find it, but generally we fix it so that they always have to work mighty hard to get it, or else it would not be valued, you see. If gold was as common as other things, say salt, for instance, nobody would want it at all. It's because it's so very rare and men have to work hard to get it, usually, that it is so precious."

"It's a great pity, as you have said, that you can't see all this splendor," remarked the putty-baby, "for it is even in my eyes truly magnificent. We have dozens of such halls as this, but I like this one the best."

Beyond this room they came to a submarine lake, the water of which was a lovely pink, like circus-lemonade, and a strange, mysterious light shone up from the bottom. At the shore of this opal pond a boat made of mother-of-pearl with ivory oars was floating, and into it the putty-baby directed Harry to step.

"This is the only kind of boat that an elf can cross water in," said the putty-baby. "In no other way can we get over even a tiny stream."

"I have heard the hermit say the same thing," said Harry. "But I can't see what would keep the elves from burrowing under the stream, making a tunnel beneath it," he added.

"We do that all the time," replied the infant. "But sometimes we like to take a sail, and this is how we do it."

Harry took the oars, and although he did not know how to row at all, they seemed to propel the pretty craft through the water very well. At the other side of the lake a waterfall came dashing down from a high cascade that made music that was very sweet, and this the blind boy could appreciate very well. He sat there listening to the water-music as if in a trance while the pearly boat rocked on the tiny waves.

"This is worth coming for, isn't it?" asked the putty-baby.

"It certainly is, and it almost made me forget all about my sister Dorothy," replied Harry. "We must not waste time here!" He rowed to the shore and got out of the boat hastily. "Now show me where she is," he demanded.

"I will do my best; indeed I will," cried the baby, for Harry was squeezing it in his excitement. "We must follow this path and you must walk along straight ahead, for there is no wall here to guide you. The roof is very high and the sides are very far off."

Harry boldly walked up the path, over what seemed to him to be a very lofty hill and then down again on the other side. The music came faintly to his ears from far away, but soon another sound, at first indistinct and then quite loud, a sound of hammers and picks at work, broke upon the underground silence.

"What's that noise?" he asked.

"That's the elves at work making a new passage to the cellar of an ancient castle belonging to the ogre Gatorico, which once stood immediately over this spot ages ago. There is a treasure there that would make a king jump for joy to find."

"I wouldn't hurt them, that is, if they'll give up my sister."

"They won't do that unless you compel them by threatening to roast me in an oven."

"I'll do it, and I'll say that I'll cut you up first and maybe stew you beside."

The putty-baby shivered and trembled.

"I will beg them to restore her at once," it said in a faint voice. "I guess you'd better hurry up and see if you can speak to them at once."

Harry hurried along, and as he walked he heard the elves throwing down their tools and scurrying away into distant passages in great alarm. He was in a circular room a moment later, and he ran against a sort of chest and stumbled over it.

He hurriedly opened the chest and felt within, and instantly his hand came in contact with a diamond box, which he lifted.

HE FOUND THE INFANTS

He raised its lid, and feeling a moist, sticky substance within, he took some of it upon his forefinger and then rubbed it upon his sightless eyes. It was the elves' magic salve and instantly its effect was apparent, for he saw everything around him at once. His delight was so great that he trembled as he took in for the first time the meaning of light and color. For a few minutes he stared at the shining walls, all studded with glittering gems and sparkling like so many tiny stars, and then he looked at the hideous putty-baby.

"Rub some on me," said the infant.

"Not yet," he replied. "I am too foxy. I'll do it when I get my sister back, but not before."

"It will be easy enough now," said the putty-baby. "You can now see far into the rocks if you wish and discover where the Terrabilis is hidden. Try it."

Harry peered at the wall, and to his amazement he found he could see far, far into it. He looked in every direction hastily, not stopping to study any of the wonders he saw until not very far off, in a sort of circular pocket all lined with fleecy moss he saw a number of human babies asleep. Just beyond them lay the Terrabilis, its red eyes glinting in the darkness of its own cave and watchi the sleeping infants. A narrow passage babies' resting place or prison, and Harry along this. He could see the frightened very plainly hiding behind clumps of and in crannies, but he did not stop.

"Be careful!" said the putty-baby, "or get too close and the Terrabilis will grab do you intend to do?"

Harry stopped suddenly.

"I never thought about the danger. All I my sister lying there beside that monster."

"You can't rescue her all alone," said baby. "Remember, the children will up by him until the time comes for him

"Then the time has come right now!" suddenly remembering the package of very strongest kind, that he had forgot to the hermit. "I'll make him sneeze if I can get near him!" He thought a then began to gather up a number of the liant glow-worms from the mossy floor.

"What are you doing that for?" asked baby.

"I'll dazzle him with them, and as light sometimes makes people sneeze, even may do the business, but if I can approa make sure." He took the package of hand and the glow-worms in the other, posed of the putty-baby by tucking it into front, and then he stole up to the monster

The glow-worms shone like a headlight them aloft, and they shone into the eyes beyond in the darkness, and the Terrab and snuffled, but he did not sneeze. was dazzled and blinded by the glare so crept close to him, and then the animal He opened his great red nostrils to disc was approaching him, and Harry tossed of the snuff into the yawning cavities. bilis drew a deep breath and then a mighty rang out, a sneeze that shook the very walls above them and made echoes go ringing passages into the remotest depths, alarmi elves who had not heard or seen the intr filling them with joy. Now they could own babies back, for the Terrabilis had they dropped their tools and ran for the But the poor Terrabilis had taken so that he could not stop sneezing. He kept on each one louder than the one before, until a great cracking was heard, and he sneezed off.

But before this Harry had grabbed Dorothy as she lay on the moss and held in his arms.

ALL ARE RICH AND HAPP

The elves were very angry when they he had done, for they did not like this intr he threatened to roast and boil and stew the baby if they interfered with him, so they not to harm him. However, when they found had the magic ointment they almost He disclosed this to them by rubbing it putty-baby before he laid it down, and became a fine, pleasant-looking elf, who grateful, but the others were dismayed, now knew that he was as powerful as an elf and they could not harm him. They begged restore their treasured magic salve and give him tons of gold, but he laughed, for could see just where all the gold lay and all he wanted himself. Still he was merely them, and soon one of them, wiser than saw this, and whispered to the former to request Harry to use as much of the wished and return the rest to them.

The putty-baby did this, and Harry refuse him, as he had so wonderfully helped his search, although, to be sure, he had through fear. He rubbed some more salve eyes and on those of Dorothy and also of their bodies, after which he handed the box to the putty-baby. A great outcery arose fact that the putty-baby held the box sort of chief-elf, as only certain old and were ever allowed to touch it or even Harry was rather glad of that, as it made for scaring him so badly.

But they did not make much of an objecti all, as the putty-baby came from a family high rank, and when Harry requested to to the outer world at once, so that he home before his mother did, they conducted another way to the sunlight.

He reached the house just a few minu his mother did, for both of them were her two miles off, and could take their see. Now they are grown up, but still this wondrous power, and they use it poor sick people, for whom they find much even diamonds, sometimes. As to their they got so tired of money that they have it in the house. To them gold is account than clay, for they could have a tain of it if they wished, by simply and going after it. But one good thing plished by Harry's adventure, for, since of the Terrabilis fell off, the elves have to take away any babies at all, as they change them back again. You'll never being done, unless perhaps there is another animals somewhere to be found, which is ful. I certainly hope another can't be an awful thing to have a changeling in the

LATEST PHOTOGRAPH OF POPE LEO XIII.

The programme for the various ceremonies extend to April 28. The greatest and most imposing function will be that of March 3, the anniversary of the Pope's coronation day, when he will descend into St. Peter's, dressed in the full pontifical robes, wearing the new triple crown, presented by the faithful generally, and carried in the "sedia gestatoria," by eight men in red brocade, preceded by a gleaming, jeweled cross, held aloft by a small boy in white, and followed by the historic "flabelli," or feather fans, which have figured in great papal functions for over a thousand years. The ones to be used on this occasion are of special interest to Americans, as they were presented to the Pope by Mrs. Joseph Drexel, who carried off the old ones to be put in the museum of the University of Pennsylvania.

These will be the central points of interest in the procession, the effect being heightened by a concourse of cardinals, high prelates, and the Swiss and Noble Guards, together with members of the Papal Court, in a kind of Elizabethan costume, and many members of the aristocracy. The Pope will give a special blessing after the service.

The last ceremony, that of April 18, will take the form of solemn congratulations and good wishes, as Leo will on that day have attained exactly the years, months, and days, "of St. Peter."

His Holiness, who is as keen as ever on new inventions, expressed so much interest, the other day, in a phonograph containing many improvements on previously existing patterns, that he was deftly persuaded to make a fortune for someone by reciting into it the "Ave Maria" and "Benedicite." The records will be reproduced and exhibited all over the world.

OCEAN PARK.

It Grows Faster, Bigger, Stronger Each Day. Some New Facts Below

Think of this—90 lots at Ocean Park sold in the past 21 days, and many of the purchasers have already been offered a tempting advancement on the price paid.

As an idea of the astonishing growth of this resort we make this plain assertion which we are able and ready to substantiate—that more property has been sold at Ocean Park since January 1st, than at all other beach towns in Southern California put together. But even more important than this, those who are buying property at Ocean Park are improving it. The place grows in population, grows in attractiveness with just the same rapidity that we have spoken of in the sale of property. It is almost impossible to keep pace with the demand for houses and cottages, although in every part of the busy town building is going on with the utmost speed.

Property at Ocean Park brings an income of from 20 to 40 per cent. on the investment, a record held by no other point in the State.

Nearly everyone is thinking, talking and longing for Ocean Park. The explanation of this unusual growth is firstly the superior natural advantages of the resort—its climate, its beautiful beach, its excellent surf, its pure water, its delightful situation. Secondly, the liberal expenditures in improvements, the water system, the gas system, the electric system, the sewer system, the miles of walks, the magnificent pavilion, the beautiful country club. Thirdly, and perhaps most important of all, the Ocean Park Improvement Co. have not endeavored to make all of the profit themselves, but have sold property at such moderate prices that every purchaser finds himself able to make a handsome profit himself, and therefore you find the hundreds of business men who now own their homes at Ocean Park ready to urge their friends to buy at this resort either for an investment or for their own home purposes.

You cannot spend five minutes at Ocean Park or give an hour's consideration to the matter without becoming enthusiastic. We don't ask investors to buy this property blindly, but we urge them to make investigation, knowing with certainty that every individual who investigates will become a warm supporter.

Terms are convenient, ⅓ cash and the balance to suit purchaser.

"No," said I, "we're better off here. We've already had all that can be coming to us in the way of trouble—unless, of course, the house falls. What can I do for you?"

"Have you seen this?" he asked, taking a newspaper clipping from the folds of his garment, and handing it over. "It is a statement made by Baron Munchausen, in his 'Further Recollections,' now being published in the Gehenna Gazette, that I am an old fraud, and that he himself, in a previous state of existence, was Jonah. What is more, he foreshadows the 'Autobiography of Jonah,' a work upon which I am myself engaged, and hope to have finished in time for the next holiday season. He not only libels me by calling me an old fraud, but actually proposes to take the bread out of my mouth, by writing a profitable work which no one but myself is entitled to write."

I glanced over the article complained of, which read as follows:

"Now as to Jonah. I really dislike very much to tread upon this worthy's toes, and I should not do it had he not chosen to clap an injunction upon a volume of 'Tales of the Whales,' which I wrote for children last summer, claiming that I was infringing upon his copyright, and feeling that I, as a self-respecting man, would never claim the discredit of having myself been the person he claims to have been. I will candidly confess that I am not proud of my achievements as Jonah. I was a very oily person before I embarked upon the seas as Lord High Admiral of H.M.S. Leviathan. I was not a pleasant person to know. If I spent the night with a friend, his roof would fall in or his house would burn down. If I bet on a horse, he would lead up to the home stretch and fall down dead an inch from the finish. If I went into a stock speculation, I was invariably caught on a rising or falling market. In my youth I spoiled every yachting party I went on by attracting a gale. When I came out the moon went behind a cloud, and people who began by indorsing my paper ended up in the poorhouse. Society gave me up. Commerce wouldn't have me. Boards of trade everywhere repudiated me, and I gradually sank into that state of despair which finds no solace anywhere but on the sea or in politics, and, as politics was then unknown, I went to sea. The result is known to the world. I was cast overboard, and ingulfed by a whale, which, in his defense let me be generous enough to say, swallowed me inadvertently, and with the usual result. I came back, and life went on. Finally I came here, and when it got to the ears of the authorities that I was in Hades, they sent me back for the fourth time on earth in the person of William Shakespeare.

"This is the whole of the Jonah story. It is a sad story, and I regret it; and I am sorry for the impostor now posing as Jonah, when I reflect that the character he has assumed possesses attractions for him. His real life must have been a fearful thing if he is happy in his impersonation, and for his punishment let us leave him where he is. Having told the truth, I have done my duty. I cheerfully resign my claim to the personality he claims—I relinquish from this time on, all right, title, and interest in the name; but if he ever dares to interfere with me again in the use of my personal recollections concerning the insides of whales, I shall hale him before the authorities."

"Well," said I, as I finished reading Munchausen's strange narrative, "I don't see what I have to do with a case like this. I'm not an attorney, but a detective. What you need is a lawyer."

"There isn't a lawyer in all Hades that will take my case," said Jonah.

"I went to Blackstone and besought him to see that I got justice, and, just because the moment I entered his office, a bookcase fell over on us both and knocked him senseless for a minute, he had me fired out."

"Blackstone's a clever man," said I. "But he isn't the whole bar. Why don't you go to Edmund Burke?"

"I did," sighed Jonah, "and with the same result. At first he said he'd take the case, but just then some rotten beams in his office floor gave way, and we fell through three stories into the cellar—Burke, myself, his office and everybody in it. When we came to, he said he had reconsidered and didn't think that a libel suit for a plaintiff of my peculiar sort was quite in His line."

It was with difficulty that I restrained my desire to laugh. The only thing that saved me from seeming to mock at the poor old chap's misfortunes, I fear, was my own apprehension of what might happen to myself if I laughed as heartily as I should have done. I surely did not wish my own floor to give way, and I avoided any ebulition whatsoever that might bring further trouble upon us.

"Have you tried Cataline?" I asked, referring to the great Roman, who, in criminal practice is doing the most successful law business in Hades.

"Oh Lord!" groaned Jonah. "When I think of Cataline it makes me weary. Of course I tried him, and he actually took the case and we got it started all right. But the moment I entered the courtroom the scales on the statue of Justice, back of Lord Jeffreys' chair, fell off and whacked His Honor so vigorously on the pate that he didn't come to for four hours, and the first thing he did on regaining consciousness was to commit me for contempt of court."

"What had you to do with it, besides being yourself?" I demanded.

"Nothing," Jonah answered. "It was sheer negligence on the part of the court officials that caused it. They ought to have seen to it that the scales were securely fastened. But the judge found me guilty of contributory negligence, and I had to stay in jail until His Honor's head healed up."

"You have luck to burn, haven't you?" I suggested, sympathetically.

"Yes," he sighed, "but it seems to be fireproof. If it weren't, you'd see a lot of it go up in smoke."

"I still don't see how I can help you, Mr. Jonah," I put in, after a pause. "I have no influence with the courts, and am not in any sense a lawyer. What you really ought to do, it seems to me, is to have a trustee appointed for yourself, get a guardian or possibly go into the hands of a receiver and have this person institute a suit on your behalf. For myself, you will pardon my saying it, you are a veritable hoodoo, and I can testify from personal experience—" here I waved my hand over the wreck of my once peaceful office—"that it is practically impossible for you, in propria persona, to leave a pleasant impression behind you, but if you make an assignment of your interests to a second party, it may be that he can help you out."

"I tried it," said Jonah, mournfully. "But it wouldn't work. I got Samson to look after my affairs—went into the hands of a receiver, as you have suggested, and—well, it was the same old story. On his way to court, to qualify, he was run over by a trolley car, and the automobile ambulance that came to take him to the hospital blew up just after he'd been put aboard, and smashed the few ribs he had left when the trolley car had gotten through with him. Then his partner, Demosthenes, took my case up, and while he was dictating the complaint, he swallowed one of the pebbles he keeps in his mouth to overcome his stammering. It lodged in his vermiform appendix, and he had to be operated on within three hours. He won't be out again for six weeks, and meanwhile this beastly libel is going the rounds uncontradicted——"

"Why don't some of your friends come to the front and set you straight? Hadn't you any neighbors in Nineveh who can testify for you, and thus confound old Munchausen?" I asked, for I was torn by conflicting emotions. I was awfully sorry for the old gentleman, whose luck had been so hard as to be described only by the adjective "adamantine," but, on the other hand, I had myself to consider, and when I thought of the woes that had come upon Blackstone, Jeffreys, Samson and Demosethenes for having undertaken to champion Jonah's cause, I was extremely loath to put my own neck in the same noose. I wanted to get free of him with the mere offerance of advice, and I racked my brain to find some semblance of a reasonable scheme to send him forth tolerably content with my good will. But it was without avail. The suggestion merely elicited the fact of a more unhappy condition than I had surmised.

"They actually refuse to have anything to do with me," he said, sadly. "There isn't one of 'em will consent to come within a mile of me, if he can help it. You see they remember the old days when acquaintance with me was enough to send a man into bankruptcy. I don't know why it is, Mr. Homes, but I'm the antipodes of that old jackass, Midas. He doesn't know a blessed thing, but everything he touches turns to gold, whilst I—well, everything I touch turns to Attleboro jewelry in a minute. I frankly believe that if I had the Koh-i-noor diamond in my possession for five minutes, it would turn out to be nothing more than a poor quality of rhine-stone before it left my possession. My neighbors of Nineveh? No, indeed, Mr. Homes, there's no relief there. As a matter of fact, Job himself, who is case-hardened when it comes to suffering, and who loves me like a brother, absolutely refuses to lift his finger to help me out."

My soul was fired by all this misery. I forgot the ruin of my office. I forgot the despoilment of my papers, and the destruction of my clock, and sent him away with a promise of help.

It was the hardest task I had ever undertaken, for there seemed no way out of the situation. Silence on Jonah's part in the public eye appeared to confirm the truth of Munchausen's words, but how could he speak with the ordinary channeds of redress barred? The lawyers were out of it, and after the Jeffreys accident even the courts were morally, if not physically, closed to him. His friends refused to speak, and without them the poor old fellow stood alone in the battle with one of the most ingenious and plausible liars of the age. Fortunately, however, a trip with Dr. Johnson and Sir Walter Raleigh down to Charybdis Rocks a sort of Cimmerian Coney Island, suggested a solution of Jonah's troubles. It so happened that there was a sword-swallower there, who claimed to be the greatest in the business, because for two years his challenge to swallow swords against the world had gone untaken, wherefore he had dubbed himself the "Great and Only." In an instant the solution of Jonah's troubles flashed across my mind.

He must challenge Munchausen to be swallowed by a whale, best three in five, for the title they both claimed.

This surely would be the supreme test, for I reckoned that Baron Munchausen would either decline the challenge, and thus be placed hors de combat in the event of Jonah's successfully surviving the ordeal, or accept, and granting the untruth of his assertions, fail to do the trick with the ease and grace with which the more experienced Jonah would perform it.

Upon my return to Cimmeria, I telephoned my suggestion to Jonah, and was pleased at his ready acceptance.

"Splendid!" he cried. "I'll be glad—"

Just here the telephone switchboard was struck by lightning, and the connection cut off, but I had his approval of my plan, which was all I needed.

In due course, the challenge was sent, and was published by myself in all the newspapers of Hades. It attracted immediate attention as a novel proposition, and Jonah's position began to gather strength. Expectation rose to fever height. The match was the talk of all the clubs, and the betting ran up into the thousands, when, as I expected he would do, Munchausen declined. He had a previous engagement, he said, although no date had been specified. His stock fell a hundred points in a night, but Jonah's battle was only half won. It needed clinching, so I announced publicly that while we regretted our inability to make a match with Munchausen, rather than disappoint the public in the spectacle it had expected to witness, Jonah himself, on the following Saturday evening, at the Aquarium, would plunge into the leviathan tank and permit himself to be "ingulfed." The evening came. The place was packed. My suffering client entered, stepped on the edge of the tank, dove head first into its lucent waters, and then, before ten thousand persons, swam gracefully into the open jaws of Jumbo, the elephant of the sea, as the leviathan was called, and disappeared from view.

The cheers that rent the air were such as well nigh to remove the top of the building, and all night long the streets were thronged by a cheering, howling mob, who hailed Jonah as the Conquering Hero of the Hour, and fleered and jeered at Munchausen to such an extent that he was forced to leave the city and remain in hiding until the storm blew over.

But, alas! There was really no victor, for, in spite of his feat, poor Jonah never enjoyed the fruits of his nerve and courage, for, for some unaccountable reason, he has not returned from the interior, which has vexed me more than I like to say. I am not easily to be deceived, and I seldom make mistakes, but Jonah's failure to emerge from within the capacious person of the Elephant of the Sea, indicates either that the man whose cause I championed was a spurious Jonah, or that I selected the wrong kind of a whale for my experiment.

I am not enlarging upon this point, however, for either horn of my dilemma is an unpleasant one. All the satisfaction I get out of the episode is in the discomfiture of Baron Munchausen, whom I have long suspected to be a prevaricator of the first water.

Meanwhile, if Jonah has any heirs, I wish they would reveal themselves, for I have a bill against his estate for $672 for repairs to my office, $160 for my eight-day clock, $1 for a quart of ink, and $50 for one night's rent of Jumbo, which I paid in advance, marked "Please Remit."

NEXT WEEK—Mr. Homes Acts as an Attorney for Solomon.

BROADWAY COR. FOURTH, LOS ANGELES ARTHUR LETTS, PROPRIETOR

Fashion's Spring Favorites Are All Here for Your Choosin

The Millinery, Suits, Wraps, Silks, Dress Goods and Wash Goods Stocks Are at Their Best.

Modish Trimmed Hats $3.98
Excellent $5.00 Values

Monday we will offer a collection of about 70 modish trimmed hats; some from New York's leading Milliners and some from our own model workroom; these are of chiffons, malines, tulles, and fancy braids in black, white and colors; the designs are those accepted as correct for this season; trimmings and workmanship thoroughly artistic. We offer these Monday for your inspection and choosing at $3.98—though the major portion of them are worth fully $2.00 more.

High Grade Millinery $5.98

This collection consists of just 50 new trimmed hats, magnificently gotten up from the season's choicest braids and materials—best flowers and foliage; rich ornaments; some smart semi-dress hats in the collection; an excellent assortment of colors, including blacks; easily worth $3.00 more. Monday, each, $5.98.

Imported French Shapes 75c
New Styles, Many Worth $6.00

Genuine imported model French shapes, not many of a kind or style. Shapes were imported by a leading American milliner, as models for his spring styles. After he had copied them, our millinery buyer secured them at an almost ridiculous price. Remember, these are genuine imported shapes, for the coming spring and summer season, and would sell regularly at prices ranging upward to $6.00. There is a limited quantity and, at the price, they will not last the day out; so you'd better hurry. Choose from these, while they last, at, each, 75c.

New Chiffon Shapes

Chiffon hat shapes, in all the popular colors, as well as black; half a dozen new, attractive and becoming models; some all chiffon, others in combination, with ribbons and hair braid; swell, exclusive styles, at surprisingly low prices, Monday, each, $1.48, $2.48 and $3.98.

Boycott Letters

Worth from 25c to $50 each

Since making this offer several days ago, a number of these letters have come in; and among others we note a new series sent out by the "Coucil of Labor," signed by one Biddle as Secretary, in the interests of the infamous boycotters, Rogers and Hay and that portion of the Typographical Union they represent. Just why the "Council of Labor" have taken up this contemptible boycott we do not understand, for we have not nor ever had a misunderstanding with the reputable labor organizations of this city, and we have too much confidence in the manhood of the majority of the laboring men of Los Angeles to believe they sanction the present action of Secretary Biddle.

Now we are going to locate as many of these letters as possible; and to show our appreciation of the courtesy of handing them to us by those who receive them; WE WILL ACCEPT THEM AS CASH on goods purchased; and for delivered at this store will compensate you with the following cash values. These letters must be dated on or after March 12, 1903; and no more than one letter will be accepted on any one purchase, and the same conditions apply also to letters received by mail:

Ultra Exclusiveness in New Wash Textiles.

A retrospective viewing of the wash fabrics for several seasons would seem to have left nothing which could be desired either in novelty of weave, newness of colorings or individuality of patterns—yet all the popular ideals in these goods have been shattered, for the manufacturers have made for this season absolutely the finest wash textiles which have ever been produced in any age or country. We particularly pride ourselves on the showing we are able to make of choice imported goods, for as our Mr. D. A. Hamburger is a permanent resident in Paris we are kept in constant touch with the fashion favorites of that gay capitol and as soon as the popularity of a piece of goods is demonstrated, Mr. Hamburger sees to it that no time is lost before it reaches our counters; so the women of Los Angeles may feel satisfied that they are not the least behind their sisters of New York in being able to select the finest of the new goods.

Imported White Silk de Chine—40 in. wide; an exceptionally fine weave and very dainty for party, wedding and confirmation dresses; price per yard $1.50

Timely Chat On New Silks.

In these days of so many social functions nearly every woman belongs to a club and must needs entertain or be entertained a number of times during the season and it is absolutely necessary to have a silk waist or so if not an entire silk costume. From an economical standpoint the lasting quality of silks make them inexpensive when serviceability is considered. We are the silk headquarters of the Coast, do our own importing, saving all middlemen's profits, and can absolutely assure you that the same qualities cannot be matched elsewhere within 10 to 25 per cent. of our prices. We especially direct your attention this week to the following choice lines of new silks:

19-INCH STRIPED AND CHECKED TAFFETAS—Checks in all sizes; colors black, blue brown or green with white combinations; also white grounds with blue or black stripes. These silks are matchless elsewhere under $1.00, but we make them a leader at, per yard 75c

24-INCH STRIPED AND CHECKED TAFFETAS—An almost limitless assortment; colors are blue and white or black and white or changeable hair line stripes; they would not be over-priced at $1.25; we introduce them at, per yard $1.00

44-INCH BLACK SILK GRENADINE—an assortment of 20 pieces both in plain or with satin stripes with scrolls, vines or leaf patterns. The plain is the real iron frame mesh; both are a rich lustrous black, they are made of pure sewing silk and actually worth $2.00. We price them, per yard $1.50

IMPORTED SILK CREPE DE CHENE—25 full pieces in new light and dark shades of popular colorings; they are crepe effect, lustrous finish, strictly pure silk, 24 inches wide and made to sell at $1.25; introductory price, per yard $1.00

20-INCH IMPORTED PEAU DE SOIE—15 pieces of an extra heavy lustrous black peau de soie, satin finish double face, a soft mellow quality, pure dye, all silk, actually worth $1.25; price, per yard $1.00

HOW TO BE HEALTHY AND BEAUTIFUL---By Mrs. Symes

Physical Culture is a Necessity for Women Who Would be Healthy, But it Must Follow a Set of Well-Defined Rules to be Beneficial

PHYSICAL CULTURE is the true and scientific method of overcoming physical defects.

There is no doubt as to the results of properly performed, well selected physical culture exercises.

The great difficulty is to get women to practice the exercises persistently.

The average girl or woman begins a set of exercises with an enthusiasm which reaches a climax with the end of the first week's daily practice. There is often a gradual decline in interest, and the practice that was at first a delightful pastime becomes a dreaded duty, to be slighted a little more each day, until it is finally totally abandoned with a wholesale denunciation of the system.

Every time I hear a woman say she has taken physical culture exercise and received no benefit, I know I am face to face with a shirker.

Of course there is a distinct choice in physical culture movements, but any exercise that will start the blood to circulating freely through the body and will bring into play the various muscles of the subject (if not too severe or performed to the point of exhaustion) is bound to be beneficial.

First of all to women who wish to acquire a good figure:

You must—you positively must learn to stand correctly.

Don't throw the weight of your body forward so that the pressure comes directly upon the vital organs.

Your body should not be supported from the back.

Stand not on your heels, but on the ball of each foot, chest up, shoulders back, abdomen held in. Breathe through your nose, waking and sleeping, with the mouth closed. Open your mouth only when you speak, eat or laugh.

The exercises suggested to-day are especially designed for narrow chested women and those afflicted with protruding stomachs and undeveloped hips.

They will do no good performed listlessly once in a while. They will prove of inestimable value if done regularly and properly, month in and month out.

To reduce a fat stomach, stand erect, hands on the hips. Throw the head back as far as possible. Raise slowly and repeat ten times.

To develop the arms and shoulders, raise the arms, step out forward with the left foot. Alternate raising left arm, stepping outward with right foot. Repeat ten times.

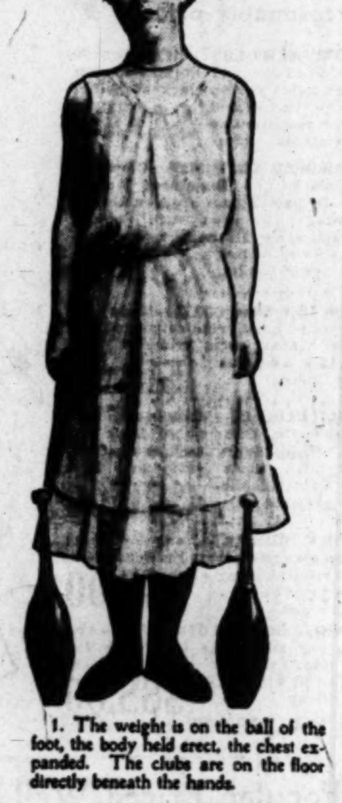
Take this exercise as slowly as possible and keep the mouth closed.

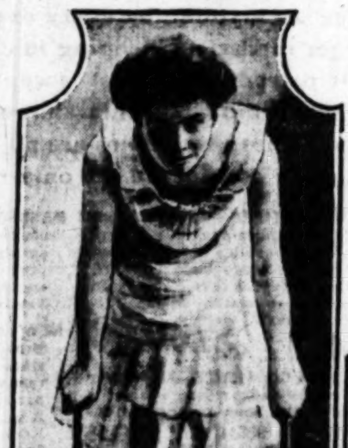
No woman can have a beautiful figure who has not learned to carry herself correctly.

All the physical culture lectures in the universe are a failure if they do not teach the subject how to correctly carry herself in every circumstance.

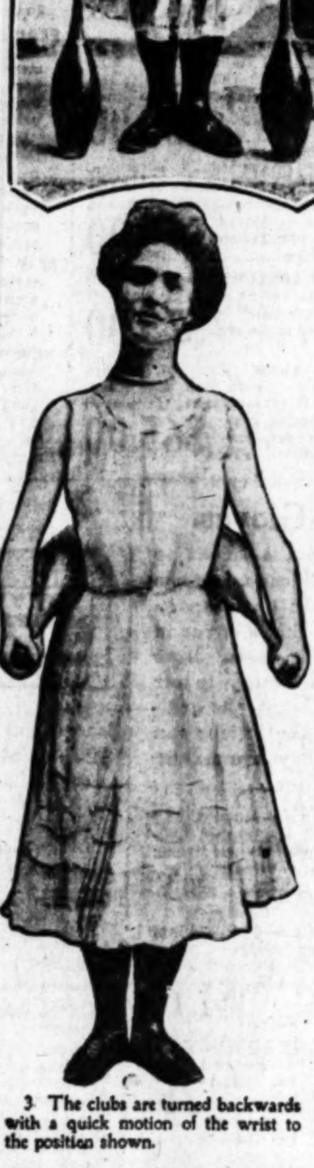
Innumerable women affect a standing posture which they must fancy attractive and graceful, or they would not assiduously cultivate it, but which in fact is positively vicious in its effect upon the figure.



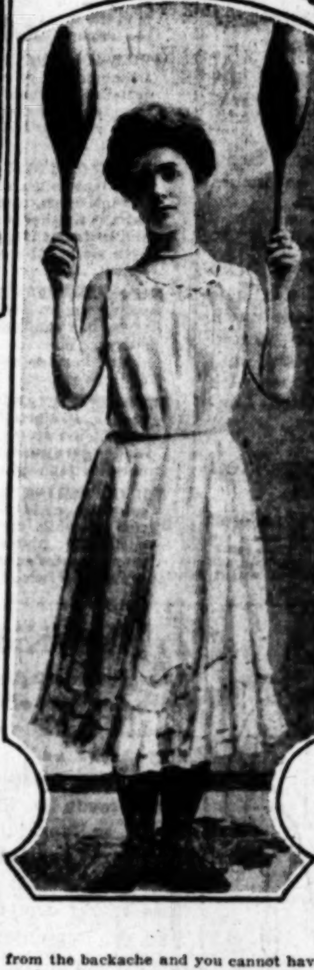
1. The weight is on the ball of the foot, the body held erect, the chest expanded. The clubs are on the floor directly beneath the hands.



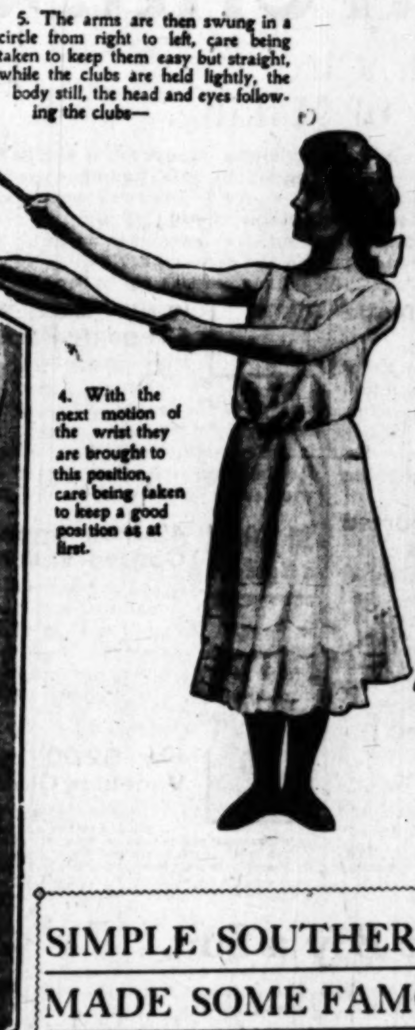
2. Reaching down, the clubs are taken lightly in the hands without bending the knees.



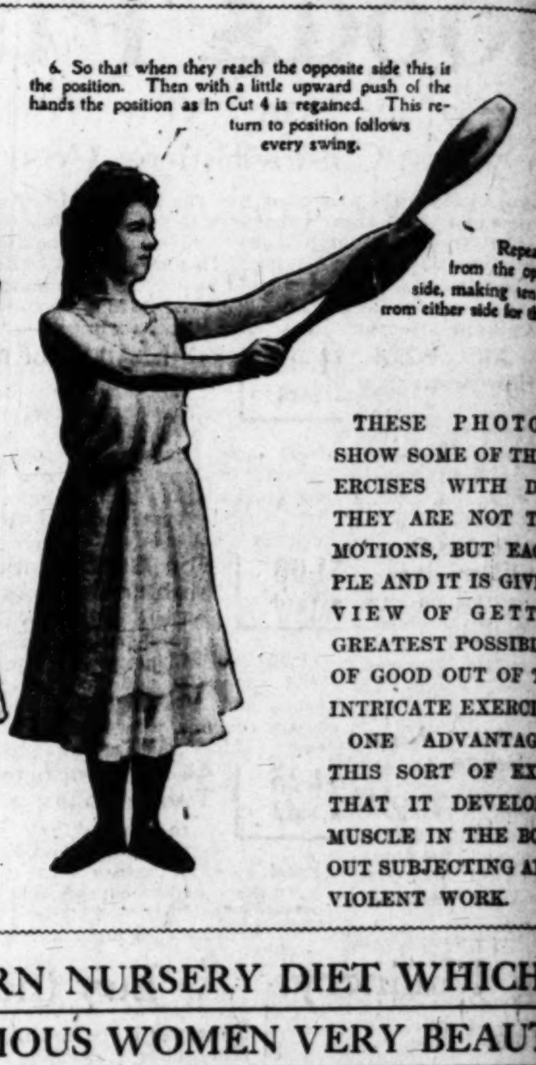
3. The clubs are turned backwards with a quick motion of the wrist to the position shown.



4. With the next motion of the wrist they are brought to this position, care being taken to keep a good position as at first.



5. The arms are then swung in a circle from right to left, care being taken to keep them easy but straight, while the clubs are held lightly, the body still, the head and eyes following the clubs—



6. So that when they reach the opposite side this is the position. Then with a little upward push of the hands the position as in Cut 4 is regained. This return to position follows every swing.

Repeat

side, making ten from either side for the

I call to mind one girl who was supposed by all her friends to be deformed until it was proved that she had formed a habit of standing with all her weight upon one leg, so that she appeared to be suffering from hip disease. Her stomach protruded, her shoulders were uneven, and every one felt so sorry for her until she joined a physical culture class, when it was discovered that she really had a lovely figure and that her appearance of deformity was created by an insufferable trick of lopsided standing.

Now, my dear friends, each woman who wishes to be well and look her best—won't you please "watch out," as the children say, as to your manner of walking, sitting, standing on a level, as well as your way of walking up and down stairs?

You will find that if you walk up and down stairs as you should the exercise will not tire you in the least.

If you breathe correctly and walk upstairs on the balls of your feet, with your figure erect, it will not tire you any more than walking on level ground.

To carry yourself correctly, recollect that there must be no caving in or sagging of the body at the hips.

This position, sitting, standing or walking, throws the body out of equilibrium, stretching the abdominal muscles and causing them to distend and destroy the natural and beautiful curves of the body.

Many women imagine that they are standing correctly if they carry their heads high and throw the chin and shoulders out.

Such an attitude throws the whole figure out of balance and inevitably strains the muscles of the back by bringing unnatural weight upon them.

If you want a beautiful figure you must stand so that all the extensor or stretching muscles are brought into equal action and every part does its work without strain.

When you stand properly your chest should be held so high that a plumb line dropped from it would fall almost even with the toes, just a little in advance of them.

There must be no curving in at the waist, no pushing out of the abdomen.

Small wonder the girl who sits with her back describing a half circle, and her lungs fairly doubled up, should be dissatisfied with her appearance.

My dear girls, you will never recover from the backache and you cannot have good complexions so long as you do not know how to breathe. You do not breathe properly so long as you sit incorrectly. You just give an imitation of a girl supplying her lungs with air. You cannot possibly inflate your lungs fully in such an attitude.

To sit properly, place the hips well back, chest forward and up as in standing. Relax the arms and place the feet a little forward, heels touching.

Walking upstairs correctly will make a real difference in your health, your looks and your spirits. If you don't believe it, try it.

Ninety women out of one hundred walk upstairs with shoulders and knees bent precisely as though they were carrying a hundred pound weight on their backs, and the result is almost as great fatigue and strain.

To walk upstairs without fatigue, you have but to carry yourself correctly and take a free, firm and light step on the ball of the foot, balancing the body alternately upon either hip. Place a book on your head and practice walking up and down stairs, and you will find that when you can go swiftly up and down a flight of stairs without dislodging the book you are walking correctly and without pain or fatigue.

SIMPLE SOUTHERN NURSERY DIET WHICH MADE SOME FAMOUS WOMEN VERY BEAUTI

CONSUELO, Duchess of Marlborough, when in the nursery, ate freely of brown bread and molasses. Not the tempting looking golden syrups, made chiefly of glucose, but good-old fashioned molasses, from New Orleans, boiled over and carefully skimmed. Her careful Southern mother knew that it is one of Dixie's best recipes for beauty, that had helped to make the loveliness of her own and her sister's skin.

The Creole girls of Louisiana eat freely the syrup of the cane known as sirop de butterie that comes near the end of the sugar making. Their spring remedy for sallowness is carrots, raw or plainly boiled, and they eat many fresh figs to make their eyes bright and their voices soft.

Mothers should always have in the nursery, as an aid to preserving the teeth, a bottle of weak lime water, to be used by her children for rinsing the mouth after eating acid fruits or taking acid medicines. If a tendency to decay of the teeth near the gums is shown, it is well at night to rub into them there precipitated chalk.

A persistent tendency to tartar on the teeth, in spite of vigilance, can often be explained by open-mouth breathing. The oxygen taken in in this way decomposes the saliva and causes inflammation of the periosteum, the lining membrane of the teeth and of the pulp, giving rise to abscesses, as well as to the deposit of tartar. Abscess of the gums should be quickly brought to a head, and it can be done with little pain and very quickly by anointing with vaseline, and then adding a tiny bit of powdered alum.

For chronic abscess of the tooth a never-failing remedy is a weak solution of carbolic acid—the toilet strength—two parts to one part of pure glycerine, and five drops of cinnamon oil to every ounce of the lotion. Rub into the gum, and keep on it a bit of absorbent cotton wet with the mixture.

Bank President, But No Voter

OUT in Colorado they have a bank which is presided over by a woman who is the only bank president in the country, so far as known, who has not a vote. This remarkable woman is Mrs. Mary A. Lee, and she is at the head of the Lafayette Bank, in the town of that name. She is practically owner, as well as manager. The offices in the institution are kept in the family, for Mrs. Miller's son George is vice president, her son James cashier, and his wife, Elizabeth, assistant cashier and paying teller.

Mrs. Miller moved into Colorado with her husband in 1868, traveling in an ox team, and taking into the State the first threshing machine. Mr. Miller died in 1878. When coal was discovered on her land in 1887 Mrs. Miller became a rich woman. She leases the mines to the operators, and invests her large revenues through her bank. Mrs. Miller is regarded as the foremost business woman in the State.

BEAUTY RECIPES AND SOME GOOD ADVICE TO CORRESPONDENT

BY MRS. HENRY SYMES

Can you give me a recipe for cold cream that will not produce down on the face, as I am a sufferer? Also my forehead and nose shine and my face peels. Tell me of a good soap. I have no eyelashes, but am troubled with sore eyes, and would not like to make them worse. GRACE.

Cold cream will not produce superfluous hair if it is not used to excess.

I give you a soap cream which is very cleansing. You will have to send me your name and address, with a postage stamp, if you wish me to tell you particularly of a soap.

I cannot give names and commercial addresses in the paper.

The lanolin will soften the skin of your face, and if you use a face powder you will find the formula which I give you will take away the shiny look.

Why do you not get treatment for your eyes? No one can afford to be careless in regard to an ailment of the eyes, upon which we depend so greatly for happiness and pleasure.

SOAP CREAM.

(For cleansing the pores.)

Strained honey, 50 grams; white soap, shaved in thin strips (either of the floating soaps will do for this, or a pure white castile), 40 grams; tincture of benzoin, 10 grams; white wax, 30 grams; storax, 10 grams.

Melt the soap, honey and white wax and mix, then add the benzoin and storax. Use instead of soap to wash the face before retiring. A cold cream or a cucumber cream should be applied after the face has been thoroughly dried.

LOTION TO SOFTEN THE SKIN OF THE FACE.

Mix the three ingredients thoroughly together and rub into the skin at night before going to bed.

WHITE FACE POWDER.

Mix thoroughly and sift through very fine bolting silk; reject all that remains in the bolting silk; sift the second time through another bit of bolting silk; perfume with three drops of oil of rose.

A short time ago I noticed that a correspondent requested a cure for holes in the nose that filled up with a matter that could be pressed out, and that you advised her to get camel's-hair face brush. I think that my case is somewhat similar, the holes, however, covering my nose, cheeks and chin, and almost having the appearance of smallpox pittings, so large are they. I have been in the habit of pressing out, about once a week, the substance with which they are filled. After finishing this operation, and the irritation consequent has passed away, my skin looks about five shades whiter, but before half the week has passed, in spite of careful washing and scrubbing with a camel's-hair brush (and I make it a point also to take a daily bath), these enlarged pores fill up and have the appearance of blackheads, and, of course, my face looks very dirty, even after washing. These holes have, I think, been caused by blackheads and pimples. I still have the blackheads, but have not had very many pimples for some years, until lately, when, thinking that perhaps tincture of green soap, which I noticed you advised another correspondent to use, would help me, I began its use. It has helped me to the extent of giving my face a cleaner appearance, but has been the cause of a plentiful crop of pimples. Do you think that there is any hope that my skin will ever become smooth again? That on the other parts of my body is as smooth and clear as I could wish it, and I have never had a pimple anywhere but on my face. M. W.

You have used too much tincture of green soap.

I dislike always to suggest this well-known but much-abused treatment, because correspondents so often overdo this application. Discontinue the green soap and use the lotion for which I give you formula.

If you are in good physical health and take plenty of outdoor exercise, eat simple food and sleep in a well-ventilated room, and conform to the hygienic laws you should not have blackheads—that is to say, they should not return once you got rid of them.

I certainly do believe in the camel's hair scrubbing brush, but it is only reasonable to consider that when the face is irritated any friction will make matters worse. Green soap contains a great deal of free alkali, and should only be used as a heroic measure in very obstinate cases, where milder treatment for blackheads has failed.

FACE LOTION.

Boric acid, 1 dram; distilled witch hazel, 4 ounces. Apply with a piece of old linen or a bit of absorbent cotton, as often as agreeable.

OINTMENT FOR BLACKHEADS.

Salicylic acid, 50 grams; lard or vaseline, 50 grams.

The substances are thoroughly blended by stirring or beating. Apply at night; wash off in the morning with warm water and a pure soap.

Your ably conducted department has impressed me most favorably. All that you write seems so redolent of good common sense, which, unfortunately, is not the most common characteristic in the usual treatment of such subjects.

Your formula for a "skin food," in last Sunday's issue, sounded so good that I have preserved it, with the intention of making it up as soon as I shall have consulted you as to the advisability of using it in my case, as my skin is very oily. Will you kindly advise me? Although no one appreciates more than I that the secret of a good skin lies in good health—and although I am a great believer in plenty of exercise, bathing and fresh air, still I am thin and sallow, and although I am 40 years of age, I am wondering if any treatment could help to dissipate the very disagreeable and pronounced lines which are creeping into my face. If so, would you deem it advisable for me to take a treatment from some good specialist in order to learn the proper method of face massage, etc., so that I might intelligently treat myself? ALICE.

Your letter has given me a great deal of pleasure. My object is to be of use, and to be, first of all, practical. It is not helpful to women to write to them advising them to do impossible things, and I endeavor as much as I can to make my counsel simple and sensible, and if I have succeeded I am happy.

It depends a good deal upon how you acquired the lines you speak of as to getting rid of them.

If you have lost any back teeth, you should have them replaced. This is easily done nowadays by the aid of cosmetic dentistry.

If you have fallen into the habit of making grimaces (pardon the expression), which form the lines, you must break yourself of this trick, for it is nothing else. Women, particularly vivacious women, are very prone to facial mannerisms.

Massage is intended to stimulate the blood, from which the muscles receive nourishment. Well-nourished muscles are full and elastic, supporting the tissues firmly.

I think you might use the skin food with good effect, but if there is any mental work to be done you should set about it with equal enthusiasm and continue it with persistence.

If you watch this department you will see shortly accurate and clear instructions on the manipulations of the face muscles.

Having become very much interested in your department, I write to know if you will kindly advise on wrinkles, under and extending outward upon the face from corners of the eyes. These are my great trouble. Also, in regard to Dr. Vaucaire's remedy for the breasts. Is it perfectly harmless to the system? My breasts, while quite large, are not nearly as firm as they used to be. This applies to a girl of 25. I shall be greatly obliged for any information received. Thanking you in advance I am, very kindly yours, KATHRYN WEST.

Earlhamton.

In regard to the kind of complexion brushes used, what do you think of rubber complexion and bath brushes? I have been using them and liked them very well, although have never tried any other.

I did so like your little talk on soap and water for the complexion. I think it is every word true as can be. KATHRINE.

Massage the wrinkles, making the movement upward and outward. Are not your lines from laughter? If they are, it will be difficult to eradicate them, but every one understands mirth wrinkles—the effect is not that of age, but rather agreeable, attesting to the cheerful character of the individual.

The Vaucaire remedy will make the breasts firmer. It is, as you very doubtless know, from a physician's prescription, and is entirely harmless. In fact, it is an excellent general tonic.

No; I do not approve of the rubber brush. First of all, because rubber collects germs so quickly, and also because a rubber brush cannot be so searching to the pores of the skin as one made of bristles.

If you do not know where to get the correct brush, send me your personal address. I shall be happy to be of service.

I thank you very much for your kind letter.

Please give a formula for dyeing the eyelashes black; one that will not hurt the hair or burn it, but turn them a dead black. If possible, I wish you would put it in next Sunday's paper. I use the eyelash grower you gave in last Sunday's paper. Please put it under the name H. C.

I give you a recipe for an eyelash stain, or you may find a preparation already made which is used by the best artists in making up, and is imperceptible if properly applied.

If you wish further information in the matter send me your personal address, as I cannot give commercial names and addresses in the paper.

CHINESE EYELASH STAIN.

Powder the ink and gum and triturate small quantities of the powder with the rose water until you get a uniform black liquid in a powder, and add the remainder of the rose water to it. It should be applied with a very tiny camel's-hair brush.

I am a much interested reader of your articles. My face is naturally very oily and pores are hard to clean. I have used three bottles of the "Dr. Vaucaire" remedy and found it all you recommend, with a daily bathing and massage. With cold cream my breasts increased from the first. Since coming here, one month ago, haven't been able to get galega. I want to use more of it, but don't know how to get it. J. H. B.

Thank you very much for your kind letter. It is always a very great satisfaction to know the advice given in this department is really helpful.

I think if you will use the lotion for which I give you recipe you will find that it will be effective in keeping the pores clean, as well as in relieving the oily condition.

The effect of the Vaucaire remedy is very varied—in some cases it immediately benefits, and when used in others there is no perceptible change until six or eight bottles have been taken.

I have a letter from one lady who says that she took the remedy for six months, and while it always acted as a general tonic and built up the system, it was only at the end of that time that she notice the development of the breasts, and then the transformation was really remarkable. She gained eight inches in bust measure.

I think I have already sent you by post the information as to where you can get the Vaucaire remedy put up. If I have not done so, send me your personal address.

It is curious that there is so little galega in this country. In France it is very generally used, but I find that in America there are only two or three places where it can be had, and just one where in my own experience the Vaucaire remedy is put up exactly as Dr. Vaucaire, the originator, ordered it.

Will you kindly tell me where to buy a face brush, if you think I should use one? I have a thin, sensitive skin, as most blondes have, and my face is easily irritated. After using soap and hot water without a brush my face burns for hours. I use two waters, one tepid and one cold, after using hot water and soap. My face is very thin and my cheeks hollow, and I have a few blackheads on my chin and nose, but I have good color. Do you think a face brush would be too irritating to my face? I thought it might help to fill out the hollows, should I follow its use by using cold cream. I am taking a preparation of cod liver oil to increase my weight and ward against hereditary lung trouble.

Would the Vaucaire method develop a small bust? My breasts are not flabby, but have always been undeveloped.

In the summer I suffer from excessive perspiration both of face and body. When I work over a stove or have my hands in hot water I have to turn my head to keep the drops of salty water from falling into the pan. Is not this weakening? It is certainly disagreeable, as my face burns and a rash breaks out under the skin, which looks like the fine rash with which babies are afflicted in hot weather. If I go into a cool place the moisture stops oozing from every pore.

Even when I am sewing my face is covered with moisture if the weather is warm, and my face is too flushed to look well.

I am sorry to trouble you with such a long letter, but I enjoy your column so much and know you have been such an "angel of mercy" to others, I could not resist the temptation to trouble you with woes of my own. One more question: Could I use the Vaucaire prescription with my cod liver oil preparation, which I am taking under the advice of a physician? I dislike asking him about it, so ask your advice. U. R.

I am afraid you are not using the correct soap. A very bland soap made of vegetable oils will not make the face burn.

I think a face brush might be advisable if you would use it with precaution at first. It is always a mistake to try any heroic treatment, and this would be heroic in your case as long as you have such a sensitive skin, except used with caution.

You might use the brush every second or third day until you have become accustomed to it, but in no case should you continue the soap which makes the face burn.

The Vaucaire remedy would not conflict with the cod liver oil. On the contrary, the Vaucaire remedy is an excellent general tonic.

You appear to be in a debilitated condition. I think you should pay your chief attention to building up your system. Do you breathe correctly? Deep breathing will do more toward making weak lungs strong than all the medicines, in my opinion, ever given.

I give you a lotion for your face, and also a cream and a remedy for excessive perspiration.

Thank you very much for your kind appreciation of my attempt to be useful to our readers.

I would be more than grateful to you if you would please tell me if there is any preparation you know of that will really remove freckles without having to have the cuticle removed. If you do, will you please write it out for me? My complexion would be very clear if it were not for the freckles on my nose and cheeks.

I wish I could guarantee any one preparation as a freckle remover, but most unfortunately there are so many varieties of freckles—some are easy to fade and others are impossible apparently to get rid of.

WATER DEVELOPMENT IN SOUTHERN ARIZONA.

AID OF NATIONAL GOVERNMENT BEING SOUGHT.

Many Artesian Wells Spouting Liquid Wealth—Boer Envoys Banqueted at Nogales—Opposition to Southern California Summer Resorts—Notes.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.] TUCSON (Ariz.) March 10.—A number of communities in southern Arizona are following the lead of Phoenix and are seeking assistance from the national government for the development of water-storage plants and the irrigation of the great arid areas of the Southwest. Florence has organized on Phoenix lines, for the irrigation of the Casa Grande Valley, by means of a dam which it is hoped the government will build on the Gila river, near San Carlos. Another organization is being formed by the farmers of the San Pedro Valley, who for the construction of a storage above Fairbank. The boards of supervisors of Pima and Santa Cruz counties have swung into line and adopted resolutions telling that there are many logical sites in Santa and Pima counties "for dams, reservoirs and water catchments for impounding water and where submerged dams can be constructed at minimum cost and which will provide water sufficient to reclaim enough public lands, the proceeds from the of which will be ample to reimburse the government for the construction of such dam." It is also that these small dams can be constructed at much less cost and risk the system of dams now contemplated and the proceeds from the of the land can be much sooner realized. On the basis of these resolutions it is proposed to get together tangible schemes which can be submitted to the hydrographic bureau. The Tucson Chamber of Commerce has had irrigation questions under consideration and has passed resolutions asking the government to the dam on the Gila River at Carlos, for the benefit of the Indians, rather than the one on River, which would benefit only and the whites.

has been received at Fort Huachuca to prepare for the erection of new quarters and stables, for the accommodation of five more troops of cavalry. It is understood that $300,000 will be appropriated for improvements at Huachuca, designed to make the post the largest in the Southwest. It is to be regimental headquarters for the Fifth Cavalry, and, as soon as possible, is to receive the troops from Fort Grant, which is to be abandoned. The citizens of Douglas believe their town presents many attractions for the establishment of an army post, and are petitioning the War Department to that end.

C. E. Donaldson, a captain of the First Territorial Infantry during the Spanish War, has been elected captain of the National Guard company at Yuma.

SPORTING CENTERS.

Naco and Douglas are bidding against each other as sporting centers. Naco, Sonora, already has a bull pen, wherein the national sport of Mexico is exhibited with more or less gory accessories, but Douglas is to build the largest bull pen on the international line. The amphitheater is to have a seating capacity of 10,000, and near by are to be provided cock pits in number and fitness guaranteed to be satisfactory to the most critical Mexican expert. The enterprise has gotten as far as the point of guaranteeing that only the fiercest bulls will be allowed in the arena. Naco is keeping up her end by preparing for rabbit coursing matches, which, the managers hope, will bring crowds even from San Francisco and Los Angeles.

METROPOLITAN AIRS.

Automobiles have become so numerous in Tucson as to be classed as nuisances, and, on the suggestion of the Mayor, the City Council has passed an ordinance regulating the speed of the machine within the city and forbidding a pace of more than seven miles an hour.

Another metropolitan feature in Tucson is the strike of the journeymen gas fitters and water plumbers, who have organized and demanded an eight-hour day at $5 a day. Several firms have acceded to the demand. Julian & Co. decline.

The sale of city lots in Tucson townsite has not been as much of a success as was anticipated. The minimum price for lots was set at $200. This has been exceeded only in a few cases, where as much as $225 has been secured.

Several insurance companies are canceling their risks in Bisbee, owing to the fact that the town is building up rapidly, with very inadequate precautions against fire and with a poor water supply.

The private telephone system in the Gila Valley has raised its rates and at once a new company was started for the purpose of establishing an independent telephone line between Safford and Clifton, by way of Solomonville.

GRETNA GREEN INDUSTRY.

Yuma is fearing that she will lose her distinction as the Gretna Green of the Southwest, through the passage of a late law by the California Legislature, providing that a decree of divorce shall not issue for a year from the time of judgment. This would render unnecessary the trip from Los Angeles to Yuma by those who seek connubial felicity before the year of waiting has elapsed. Marriages are still being conducted, however, at the old stand. The latest are: E. G. Travessy and Beulah Bell, Lawrence P. Draper and Sybil Davis, Fred Cowley and Rowena Hesson, Charles Beard and Tamar Jones, Eugene S. Gannon and Eugenia Marie Blair, Dr. Ruhard Seldon Anthony and Clara M. Eldred, all of Los Angeles; William Joblin and Florence Clark of San Bernardino and Charles Knapp and Susan M. Newman of Pasadena.

At the Yuma Penitentiary last week a heavy adobe wall, fifty feet in length and fifty feet high, fell to the ground. A number of convicts working near by narrowly escaped with their lives.

As an evidence of advancing civilization comes the report from Yuma that an Indian buck visited a dentist and cheerfully paid for having a gold crown put upon a decayed tooth.

Tombstone is to have a second daily newspaper, The American, which is to make its appearance April 1. It will be owned and managed by D. W. Semple and C. E. Bull. The latter was the founder of the Clifton Copper Era.

Vermont's One Drawback.

A number of members gathered about the seat of Representative Foster of Vermont yesterday were discussing cold weather in the New England and other Northern States. Mr. Foster declared that Vermont had sleighing more weeks in the year than any other State in the Union, and to prove his assertion he related the following story:

Hank White, a noted minstrel in his time, who probably was the original end man, was a native of Vermont. One of his jokes used to run something like this:

"So you come from Vermont," the middle man would ask.

"Yes, I am proud to say I was born and raised in the good old State of Vermont," White would answer.

"You make pretty good maple sugar up in Vermont?"

"Yes; our maple sugar is the sweetest on earth."

"Have some pretty good horses up there, too?"

"The Morgan horses bred in Vermont are not excelled anywhere in the world."

"Pretty girls, eh?"

"Vermont has the prettiest girls in America."

"Well, Vermont must be pretty much of a State," the middle man would say in conclusion.

"It's the greatest State in the Union," was White's answer. "There is just one thing about it I don't like. For about six weeks in midsummer when the snow melts off we have to drag around on wheels."—[Washington Post.

Field of Early Berries.

It was about this time of year when the late Eugene Field, of Kansas City, Denver and Chicago, was boarding at a "swell place" in Denver. A few strawberries were on the market at $1 a pair and the landlady invested. Field was a star boarder. She passed a strawberry. He looked at it mournfully, and then replied to her proffer of the vegetable diamond:

"No, thanks, ma'am; I'm afraid it would spoil my taste for prunes!"—[Baltimore News.

Their Days Were Long.

Dr. Cohn, the eminent Breslau oculist, once saw Virchow, then 70 years of age, at a ball at 2 a.m., after a hard day at a medical congress. "It does not trouble me," Virchow explained. "If I can sleep about three hours in an easy chair I feel quite refreshed."

In his youth Max Muller was accustomed to study one night without sleep. The next night he would sleep three hours; the third night as long as he could. The fourth night he recommenced his programme with another vigil.

"I sleep as little as possible," said Napoleon to "Ida St. Elme." "Whatever time is taken from sleep is added to real life." The time was in his case only borrowed. He slept too late before Waterloo. More than half the voyage to St. Helena he passed sleeping.

Another great warrior, Prince Eugene, slept when yound but two hours a night. Years later in Vienna he would drive to make a call. Then might he be seen asleep within the coach, the coachman asleep on the box, the heyduk asleep on the steps, the footman asleep on the "rumble," all oblivious of their errand.

James Russell Lowell was cursed by insomnia. As a cure he made up additional chapters of Caesar's Commentaries and turned them into Latin.—[New York World.

A MIRACLE HEALER.

Restores Health and Strength to Chronic Sufferers by a Mighty Subtle Force of Nature.

Startling Disclosures Relative to the Most Wonderful Power Known to Man—Doctors Puzzled.

THE SICK HELPED FREE.

Professor Adkin Offers to Help the Sick and Afflicted Free of Cost—Hundreds Cured at Their Own Homes.

The Medical World has been startled by the wonderful cures effected by Professor Thomas F. Adkin, a distinguished scientist who is devoting his life to the relief of suffering humanity. People in the last stages of consumption; men and women living in constant dread of death from Bright's Disease, Blood Poisoning, Cancer, Dropsy, Heart Disease and other dangerous ailments, have been restored to health by the treatment of this wonderful man, after every known remedy and scores of eminent specialists had been tried in vain.

Not in the history of Medical Science have so many startling cures been recorded. So marvelous has been his success in healing all kinds of disease, that his patients call him a Miracle Healer, a man of Supernatural Powers, a Physician with the key to the Fountain of Youth; yet Professor Adkin declares there is nothing wonderful about his ability to cure disease, and says that he cures simply because he "understands nature."

A newspaper reporter called upon Professor Adkin a few weeks ago. He found a man of commanding figure, whose personality was masterful and refreshing. His eyes, though full of kindliness, seemed to penetrate ones very thoughts, while his every act and every word spoke of honesty and consideration of others. He is clearly a man of wonderful force of character.

He said: "I cannot attempt to tell you what my treatment is which I call 'Vitaopathy.' In these days of quackery and fakes, every advance in science is imitated by a score of ignorant charlatans who pretend to have mastered its details. Were I to attempt to explain to you for publication the practice of Vitaopathy, without discussing its every phase, which I have not time to do, there would be a dozen unscrupulous persons pretending to understand its use before the publication has been out a week. Vitaopathy is not Christian Science, it is not Hypnotism nor Divine Healing. It is infinitely more thorough and far-reaching than any of them.

"Vitaopathy is a subtle force of nature, regulating the intellectual and spiritual being which controls the physical man. It puts the system in a receptive condition, which enables the body to receive the full benefit of my Vitaopathic vegetable remedies which are used in combination with it.

"It is true that this new treatment is every day making wonderful cures. It has cured the blind, it has made the lame walk, it has cured various organic troubles, which had brought the sufferers to death's door. And here let me ask you to announce to all the readers of your paper that I stand ready at any time to give the benefit of my experience to anyone who is in need of help. I will gladly make a complete diagnosis of the case of anyone who is in poor health free of costs and will tell you how to be cured by a thorough course of home treatment which I guarantee should cure. Especially do I make this offer to those who are afflicted with dangerous diseases, and have been treated by other methods without avail. If there are any who are in the grip of Consumption, Blood Poison, Bright's Diseases, Chronic Kidney Disorder, Nervous Debility, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Heart Disease; if any of your readers are suffering from constant Headache, Dyspepsia, Sleeplessness, Female Troubles, Lost Vitality, Vertigo, or other similar ills, I invite them to write me fully of their condition, and I will give them personal attention, and help them to a complete recovery of health.

"I want no one to send me any money. I am willing to give this service to all who will put themselves in my hands, without a penny of charge, feeling that having been blessed with the ability to cure disease when others fail, it is my duty to help those who cannot help themselves."

Professor Adkin showed the newspaper reporter scores of letters from Doctors, Clergymen, Statesmen, Educators, College Professors, Lawyers and others high in life who have been cured by Vitaopathy, as well as letters from many men and women from all walks of life who availed themselves of his free offer of help, and the reporter left with a strange feeling of encouragement, believing that he had met the most wonderful man of the age.

The following are a few extracts from letters:

"I cannot express my joy in the change your wonderful treatment has made in my health. My stomach troubled me badly. I had catarrh so badly that many times I was kept awake nearly all night expectorating. I was extremely nervous and was also troubled with rheumatism. I am all over my troubles now and am astonished at the result. It does not seem possible; I have not been so well for years. Many thanks to you for your perserverance in writing me to take your treatment and may God's blessing rest upon you and help you in the good work.

"MRS. HATTIE HOPKINS,
"Box 448, Danielson, Ct."

"I cannot express my gratitude for what you have done for my wife. She was on her deathbed; she was paralyzed and had a clot of blood on her brain. Physicians said there was no hope that she could recover, but you have saved her life. She improved from the very first day she commenced your treatment. The clot of blood has disappeared, she sleeps well and has a splendid appetite. Refer any sufferers who doubt your marvelous power to me or let them come to my home and witness the wonderful cure you have performed in my wife's case. My neighbors all know the condition my wife was in when she commenced your treatment, and they were hourly expecting her death. I hope and pray that I may be at your command to help those who suffer, and get them to write you for free help."

Every reader who is sick with any disease should write to this miracle healer, addressing his or her letter to Professor Thomas F. Adkin, President of the Institute of Physicians and Surgeons, office 204B, Rochester, N. Y.

State the leading symptoms of your complaint, and ask Professor Adkin to help you without cost, and you will undoubtedly be able to get cured as so many others have been. Vitaopathy is unquestionably the most wonderful science of the age, and Professor Adkin the greatest miracle healer in the world.

Orientals at Half.

This oriental rug business of ours has grown to tremendous proportions. It necessitates our carrying an immense stock. Occasionally we have a sort of clearance sale. We have to do this in order to keep our stock well balanced. Just now we are making some big reductions on the finest oriental rugs and Kis Khilims. On some rugs the reduction is exactly half. On others the reduction is not quite so much, but there is a saving of from $15.00 to $35.00 on the rugs quoted below.

125 Shervans and Daghestans worth $30.00, cut to $15.00.
100 Persian and Turkish rugs worth $40.00 to $45.00, cut to $20.00.
50 Antique hall and stair runners worth $65.00 to $70.00, cut to $35.00.
40 Kashmire rugs worth $85.00 to $90.00, cut to $55.00.
40 Khiva rugs, carpet sizes, worth $80.00 to $90.00, cut to $57.00.

In addition to the above reductions our entire $60,000.00 stock of oriental rugs and Kis Khilims is reduced in proportion. There is a saving to be made on every rug.

KIS KHILIMS REDUCED.

We have a very fine stock of genuine Kis Khilims. These make most satisfactory hangings and couch covers for halls, libraries and dining rooms. They are very durable, never fade, never wear out, never go out of style. They are most elegant and luxurious in appearance.

$35.00 Kis Khilims reduced to $20.00.
$40.00 Kis Khilims reduced to $25.00.
$50.00 Kis Khilims reduced to $30.00.

Beware of Acid Washed Rugs.

The great demand for antique oriental rugs has tempted many importers and exporters to give new rugs a bath in acid solutions, thus giving them the appearance of age. Such a rug will not wear for any length of time. The color and texture are both injured. We guarantee every rug we sell to be free from doctoring or acid washing. Our Mr. Loftus is an expert judge of oriental rugs, and knows positively that every rug in our store except one has not been subjected to the acid treatment. The one acid washed rug we possess is kept simply for the enlightenment of our customers, and is not for sale.

HATS NEVER SO PRETTY.

Season's New Millinery is Most Fetching.

Artistic Effects Observed at Los Angeles Openings.

Flowers and Small Fruits Appear on Nearly Everything—Where to Go.

Cynthia, pretty, seventeen-year-old Cynthia, found a gray hair yesterday! This tragedy she avows was caused by a week of agonized mental effort—of seven long days spent in frantic endeavor to decide on just the smartest thing with which to crown her Titian locks, and which must blend with the stunning new gown now in the hands of Mme. de la Mode, into a perfect dream of a toilette wherewith she purposes to conquer all hearts on Easter. Surely life holds strenuous moments for us all.

Cynthia has attended several "private views," and has gone to all the "openings," and up to date has decided definitely on seven hats, and as she only needs one, the difficulties of her position are at once apparent. Nor is the dear girl's case an isolated one. At the last meeting of the very exclusive sewing-bee of which she is an admired member, every other girl declared herself in the same predicament.

And no wonder! Such beautiful head coverings, in such delicate tints and such exquisite combinations of colors have never been offered in the memory of this generation, and the mental wrench required to purchase only one is very like the pain incident to tooth pulling.

But there is one preliminary to the ceremonial of acquiring one of these creations. The aspirant must hie her to her hair dresser's and have her crowning glory dressed low over her brows and puffed wide above her ears or all the king's horses and all the king's men cannot impart the correct air, for in these days the art of the hair dresser is great, and she herself walks hand in hand with that autocrat of the chapeau, "My Milliner." But for the woman who has thus prepared herself there are great possibilities in store.

THE CHAMPAGNE TINT.

Dealers prophesy that in colors the new champagne tints will lead, and these are shown in all the shops. Pale tints, especially pink and blue, are also liked. That this is to be a flower season par excellence is already established, and flowers and small fruits appear on nearly everything, and often compose both hat and trimming. Maline, a fine grade of net, is something new, and the folded tulle hats are still favorite sellers because of their durability, as well as correct style. Chiffon, a fine grade of chip and Milan braids are also offered. Entire lace crowns are new and extremely desirable, especially when found in this season's tinted effects, favorites being Irish point, point d'esprit, guipure and oriental. Lace applique is also a leader.

Among the smart dress hats are shown some genuine French toques, and a few, a very few, of the new high crowns, the vanguard of those now obtaining in Paris. One house shows an exceedingly wide-brimmed hat with a tiny crown from two to two and one-half inches high, which is an entirely new style, the duties on which bring the price up to nearly $100. But when one remembers that Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish of New York paid $1650 for her winter hat, a cool hundred does not seem so large.

The plaque shape, very broad and correspondingly flat, is also, in milliner's parlance, "good," and when set up on narrow bandeaus to show the low pompadous and lifted a trifle on the left side, sets well on a low coiffure. Some of the most exquisite effects shown are in these flaring shapes, made entirely of foliage or flowers, and for the few who can wear vivid colors there are the red poppy hats, and others of scarlet geranium blossoms.

THE JETTED PENDANTS.

In contrast to all this brightness the quieter taste can be suited with all black or black and white, made distingué with paillettes. These long jetted pendants, reflecting rays of light, almost like well-cut gems, are new and very smart.

Another shape shown is the Spanish turban, very like the old box turbans of our grandmothers, and which projects well over the face. When developed in pale blue forget-me-nots or the palest of pale pink roses they leave nothing to be desired. These models show a decided dip in the back and hug the hair closely.

Special attention has been paid this season to the needs of the "tailored" woman, and with her severely-made gown she will wear a hat made of one of the strikingly handsome straw weaves, in which this season is so rich. She will buy it—the straw—by the yard and her milliner will shape it to suit her face. The beauty of these very necessary adjuncts to the summer girl's wardrobe depends altogether on the making, while the wearer may use her individual taste as to whether it is smart with ribbons, fruit, quills or birds, while, if she wishes, the straw will lend itself admirably to decorative twists and turns, and the hat will look well with the further addition of a brush aigrette. Blue and burnt straws are well liked, and are quite new, as are also the finely-mixed weaves of Scotch effects.

A few houses are showing the Connelly and Croft hats, and these are sure to suit the woman who is hard to suit. With the outing suits in linen that promise to be so popular, Madras and Sungora hats are indicated. For the decree has gone forth that the hat must match the dress in effect.

This season shows a radical change from the old sailor, which has passed into oblivion, whither the veil drapes are fast following.

Among the ribbons shown are ombre effects and plaids, with, of course, a large line of the old stand-bys, the plain colors. They come in all widths and for trimmings are crushed into rosettes and twists, and will be much used. Handsome cabachons will be worn on the more elaborate hats, and feathers and laces are seen on importations. These dress hats are also most striking when trimmed with rich scarfs, some of which show embroidered ends, some fringed, and some even pearl hangings.

BONNETS NOT POPULAR HERE.

Bonnets are much liked in the East, but the younger women in our Land of Sunshine do not seem inclined to relinquish the slight shade offered the eyes by a projecting brim. Besides, when it is lace draped, as many are this season, there is no question about its being extremely fetching. For the older ladies, the bonnets are either much larger, or decidedly smaller, for the medium shapes have gone out.

A few houses, that make a specialty of children's hats, show the pretty "flop" effects of last year, bent in the back even as are their mamma's, and trimmed with flower wreaths.

At all the openings of last week there were large crowds, and the dealers report heavy sales, and the houses that will show new goods this week have many choice styles to exhibit. Why, these semi-annual displays of latest models, trimmed and untrimmed and of exquisite fabrics, and all their dainty accessories, should be called "openings" the dictionary does not state, and it might puzzle a Philadelphia lawyer to explain, but whether or no, the term is a misnomer, the functions are very satisfactory to the feminine world. Cynthia said she even saw a few admiring, awe-struck men assisting the dearest girl in the world make up her mind. But Cynthia herself will not show her purchase to any one, until Easter morning. Surely Solomon, in all his glory, was not crowned like this young woman or her chums.

MR. DOOLEY

ON THE ACHIEVEMENTS OF CONGRESS.

BY F. P. DUNNE.

[Specially Contributed to The Times.]

"I see," said Mr. Hennessy, "that Congress has knocked off wurruk."

"It has," said Mr. Dooley; "or, to speak more acc-rately, th' House iv Riprisintatives has gone back to wurruk. Th' Sinit is still there with its feet up on th' desk an' its vinrable nose burrid in its chest. It's been a gr-reat session iv Congress. It will live long in th' mim-ry iv th' American people if they don't f-rget. Ivry time I think iv it it makes me proud I'm an almost native iv this counthry where th' meanest citizen can go to Washington an' get his rights, but nobody else can.

"What has it done, says ye? Well, to begin with, it has smashed th' thrusts—well, almost smashed thim—well, give thim a good hearty pat, annyhow. In th' beginnin' it looked as though on'y half-way measures wud be adopted. They was unimportant bills to take th' money away fr'm th' thrusts, to burn thim in ile, to murcher thim, to lock thim up f'r life. But th' leaders iv Congress demanded more dhrastic measures. Me frind Sinitor Aldrich, who riprisints a constitooency that's almost as big as my back yard, was detarmined that no pains shud be spared to bring th' thrusts to their knees in fear or gratichood.

"'Gintlemen,' says he with a chokin' voice, 'th' bills now up do not meet th' case. They are well enough in their way, but what is th' use iv attackin' th' thrusts at their sthrong point, which is their money? They have gr-reat knots iv this, as I have observed, havin' lived in th' house with thim, an' th' best annywan can do is to pick off a little at a time,' he says. 'My idee is to attack thim at their weakest point. An' what is their weakest point, gintlemen? It surely is their binivolence. I propose to assail thim there. I do it with pain, f'r, as ye know, howiver brutal me feelin' to'rd thrusts may be as a pathrite, as a citizen I have a rale affection f'r wan iv thim. Th' bill I am goin' to offer in th' name iv me frind Sinitor Elkins, who is poundin' his ear in th' cloakroom at this minyit, wrings me heart. It is an assault on all that I hold dear in life—an' don't expict to sell till it's a good deal dearer,' he says. 'But,' he says, 'no wan iver knew Erasmus Haitch Aldrich to fail to respond to th' call iv jooty, howiver ad valorem,' he says. 'My counthry calls me, an' I lay aside ivry considheration an' rush to th' bank,' he says. 'Th' still small voice iv jooty as it ticks off th' figures on th' tape is iver in me ear,' he says. 'I am here to belt th' thrusts,' he says, 'an' here I am. I move ye, sir, that we substichoot f'r th' bill entitled a Bill to Murdher Thrusts this here small but fragrant law entitled "A Bill to Give Thim a Hearty Hug." Undher th' terms iv this bill, it will be illagal f'r a thrust to charge annywan f'r its produk more thin it can get, to pay back money to annywan, to divide its profits with th' poor, to burn down its buildin's onless insured, to advance wages, to build churches an' orphan asylums, or to create a fund f'r th' missionaries in Chiny. If caught in anny iv these neefaryous intherprises anny officer iv a thrust will be lible to a fine iv four millyon dollars or imprisonment in a loonytic asylum, or both. As I said, I offer this bill with a sad an' achin' heart,' he says. 'But I have done me jooty an' with that, I mus' be contint. F'rgive th' tears iv a Spartan father-in-law, an', boy,' call up New York an' get twinty-two, twinty Broad,' he says.

"What else has Congress done? says ye. Well, th' House iv Riprisintatives has passed a bill irritatin' th' arid plains iv th' West, an' a bill to relieve th Filipinos iv th' necessity iv askin' f'r relief. It has passed th' chewin' tobacco, th' flask, th' time iv day, th' buck an' th' lie direct. It has sung 'Ol' Lang Syne,' an' it's gone home. That's a good record f'r th' House.

"Th' Sinit with its thraditions grim with age is still goin' on, Hinnissy. Me frind Tiddy Rosenfelt wrote thim a letther sayin' that they had done well. They were a credit to th' counthry an' he was as proud iv thim as he cud be considherin' th' diff'rence in their age. He wud like to pat thim on th' head but he cud on'y pull their whiskers. 'Sinitors,' says he, 'no Sinit since I came iv age has excelled ye. If annywan iv ye want a ricommindation as Sinitor somewheres else, I will write it f'r ye. I have found ye faithful, accomydatin', obligin', industhrees, honest, yes, indeed. I have niver known ye to fail in politeness in showin' me th' dure. Ye have well fulfilled th' best thraditions iv ye'er hon'rable body, but ye haven't done any wurruk, so I mus' call ye in extra sesyon an' ask ye to get busy if ye don't want to be an everlastin' disgrace to th' counthry,' he says.

"An' there ye ar-re. What's th' throuble, says ye? They ain't anny throuble. It's a question iv sinitoryal courtesy. What's that? Well, Hinnissy, ye see, there ain't anny rules in th' Sinit. Ivrybody gets up whin he wants to an' hojlers about annything that comes into his head. Whin Dorgan was in Wash'nton, he wint to hear th' debate on th' naval bill, an' a Sinitor was r-readin' th' Life iv Napolyon to another Sinitor, who was asleep. Sinitoryal courtesy rules th' body. If ye let me talk, I'll let ye sleep. Th' presidin' officer can't come down with his hammer an' bid wan iv thim vin'rable men, grim with thraditions, to chase himself fr'm th' flure. In such a case it wud be parlyminthry f'r th' grim Sinitor to heave an ink well at th' presidin' officer. Undher Sinitoryal courtesy it is proper an' aven affable to call a fellow-Sinitor a 'liar.' It is th' hith iv courtesy to rush over an' push his cigar down his throat, to take him be th' hair an' dhrag him around th' room, or to slap him in th' eye on account iv a diff'rence iv opinyon about collectors iv internal rivinue. Southern Sinitors has been known to use a small case knife in a conthrovarsy. It is etiket to take off ye'er boots in th' heat iv debate. It is courteous f'r a Sinitor to go to sleep an' swallow his teeth, while another Sinitor is makin' a speech. But wanst a Sinitor is on his feet, it is th' hith iv misbehavyor to stop him except f'r th' purpose iv givin' him a poke in th' nose. Afther a rough-an'-tumble fight, th' Sinitor who prevyously had th' flure can get up fr'm it if able an' raysume his spectacles, his wig an' his speech. But while he has wan syllable left in his face, he is th' monarch iv all he surveys. No rules f'r thim ol' boys. Ye can say annything against thim but if ye attack that palajeem iv our liberties, th' sacred right to drool, they rally at wanst. Me frind Sinitor Morgan knew this an' says he, 'Gintlemen, they'se a bill here I don't want to see passed. It's a mischeevous, foul, criminal bill. I didn't inthrojooce it. I don't wish to obsthruct it. If annywan says I do, sinitoryal courtesy will compel me to jam th' libel down his throat with a stove lifter. I will on'y make a speech about it. In th' year fourteen hundherd an' two ——' And so he goes on. He's been talkin' iver since an' he's on'y got down to th' sixteenth cinchry where th' question broadens out. No wan can stop him. Th' air is full iv his wurruds. Sinitors lave Wash'nton an' go home an' spind a week with th' fam'ly an' come back an' that grim ol' yethran is tills there, pourin' out moist an' numerous language. They'se no raison why he shudden't talk f'river. I hope he will. I don't care whether he does or not. I haven't a frind in th' Sinit. As f'r th' Pannyma Canal, 'tis thirty to wan I'll niver take a ride on it. But that's sinitoryal courtesy."

"What's to be done about it?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

"What do I do whin ye and ye'ar aged frinds stay here whin ye ought to be home?" asked Mr. Dooley.

"Ye tur-rn out th' gas," said Mr. Hennessy.

"An' that's what I'd do with th' Sinit," said Mr. Dooley.

Credulity of Malays.

An instance of Malay credulity has lately occurred in Kampong Grisek. One Inchi Itam and his wife I. Manis, both from Singapore, announced that they possessed the secret of making dollars out of earth. The charge was to be $25 for the secret and $15 more for the earth, and sixteen persons were found foolish enough to part with their money. Itam informed these that they must fill a "tampayan" with the earth and bury it for thirty-three days, at the end of which time they would find it full of dollars. After the jars had been buried some twenty days a steamer from Singapore arrived and Itam announced that he had a letter telling him that urgent private affairs required his presence in Singapore, but that the jars should not be touched until his return. On his victims expostulating and threatening to inform the government and have him stopped, he informed them that they might do so, but that if so they would certainly get long terms of imprisonment for coining! This settled the matter; Inchi Itam and wife returned to Singapore with $640, the jars and the earth remaining to comfort the sixteen dupes.—[Shanghai Times.

KING'S SERVANTS KICKING.

Economies Effected at Buckingham and Windsor Castles Cause Reduction in Pay of Those "Downstairs."

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 18.—Mutterings of discontent at the Windsor and Buckingham palaces, which were reported in these columns a few months ago, have increased of late, until there is talk of an organized demonstration to the King in person on behalf of the palace servants. There would have been a strike among the royal domestics before this if it were not for the fact that the honor of being in the royal service so outweighs the alleged poor pay that there would be at once a hundred applicants for the place vacated by a striker. It is understood that the King himself knows nothing about all this stew "downstairs," or the reasons therefor.

Soon after the present reign commenced all the servants of the royal establishments were addressed by the new Master of the Household who said in effect that the Board of Green Cloth—the body that acts as a sort of domestic manager for the royal family—had not liked to restrict Queen Victoria in her expenditures, but they would not be so sensitive in the case of a King. The cutting down process commenced forthwith, and the staff both in pay and numbers suffered.

A few days ago an order was issued that the footmen's wages were to be cut down from $350 a year to $325, and furthermore that they would have to board themselves, whereas the palace tables used to feed the footmen and their families. The servants who remain and who worked on an average ten hours a day during the late Queen's lifetime, are now worked from fourteen to sixteen hours without extra pay. To show the extent to which retrenchment has been carried, an order has been issued that the drippings from joints cooked in the royal kitchens are to be handed over by he deputy comptroller to be sold to servants or others who like to pay the price exacted.

Tradesmen who expected additional orders after Parliament had voted $500,000 extra to the privy purse are sadly disillusioned also.

Catarrh

Appears wherever a mucous surface lies. It may occur in the nasal cavity, the head, ear, nose, throat, stomach, kidneys, bowels, bladder or the pelvic organs. It is all the same kind of catarrh, but the results vary according to the location. S. B. It is for sale by all leading druggists. Don't be persuaded to take something else, accept no substitute. One bottle shows results. Circular on catarrh free. Address Smith Bros., Fresno, Cal.

DANDRUFF CAUSED BY A GERM.

A New Discovery That Kills the Germ and Prevents Baldness.

Pretty nearly all the hair preparations for dandruff have some merit in allaying itching of the scalp, and in being a fairly good dressing for the hair, but there is only one that recognizes what causes dandruff, falling hair, and baldness, and that destroys the cause, a little germ—and that is Newbro's Herpicide. This germ eats its way into the scalp, down to the hair root, where it saps that vitality, causing dandruff as it digs up the scalp into little white scales. Unless it is destroyed there's no permanent stopping of falling hair and cure of dandruff and baldness. Newbro's Herpicide kills the germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Constipation Cured.

MONEY BACK IF IT FAILS.

Constipation causes more suffering than any other disease. It causes kidney, heart and lung troubles. It is the one disease that starts all others. Indigestion, dyspepsia, loss of strength and weight are its symptoms. Piles, appendicitis and fistula are caused by constipation more times than in any other way. Women become confirmed invalids as a result of constipation. Its consequences are known by all physicians, but few sufferers realize their condition until it is too late.

A St. Louis Man is Made Well.

I am pleased to inform you that your Mull's Grape Tonic has done me a great deal of good. I have taken two bottles and am now almost cured. I don't have to worry now about being constipated. I have been troubled with constipation and indigestion for six years and have tried a dozen different doctors, but they have failed to do me much good. Yours truly,

EDWARD A. BEINFORD, 2244½ Howard St., St. Louis, Mo.

Mull's Grape Tonic Cures Constipatio

A CRUSHED FRUIT TONIC-LAXATIVE.

Continual constipation will inevitably result seriously for the sufferer. Whenever the bowels fail to carry the waste food, the food lies in the alimentary canal where it decays and rots. It is just the same as decaying food w exposed to the heat of the sun. The germs thus created are absorbed by the blood which carries them into all pa the system. The result is always quick and positive. The weakest part must give way. It may be the lungs, kidneys, the heart. Rheumatism may come, piles may develop. In any event the patient loses in flesh and stre Thin and watery blood follows. The glow of health on one's cheeks gives place to dull pallidness.

Regular bowels will result in a complete cure when you use Mull's Grape Tonic. Unlike pills and ord cathartics, this remedy is a mild, gentle laxative, in addition to being a greater flesh-builder, blood-maker and stre giver than cod-liver oil or any other preparation recommended for that purpose. Mull's Grape Tonic will perma cure the most obstinate case of constipation, and the numerous afflictions that invariably follow. No matter if piles, liver complaint, kidney disorder, vertigo, palpitation of the heart, diarrhea or the self-poisoning, such as typ and malaria, Mull's Grape Tonic will positively cure. Large sample bottle will be sent free to any address on rece 10 cents to cover postage, by the Lightning Medicine Co., Rock Island, Ill. Send name of your druggist.

GRAPHOLOGY.

[The Los Angeles Sunday Times will print free readings of character, from handwriting, by Mrs. Franklin Hall, the expert graphologist of New York City, to those who will comply with the following rules. All specimens must be written with ink upon unruled paper, and consist of not less than thirty words. A pen name, or initials, will suffice for publication, but the real name must be sent, on a separate sheet, to the editor of The Times, and those who permit their true names to be published will be given consideration in preference to others. The true names will be kept in confidence by The Times, when requested. Aside from this preference each applicant will be answered in regular order and must patiently await his turn. All communications should be addressed to "Graphology Department, Los Angeles Times."]

READINGS.

BY MRS. FRANKLIN HALL.

Nelly Bly: You have a very persistent will and yet there are times when you are more strongly influenced by others than is for your own best good, and it will often prove a hindrance to your advancement. You are observant and critical, but you do not mean to be unkind, even though at times a little thoughtless, and do not take the feelings of others into consideration. You are ambitious and have a desire to advance and make of your life something above the ordinary, but you are in some things too theoretical, and it is difficult for you to apply yourself to tasks which are not congenial. You will have many changes in your life. Would make a very good stenographer or do well in any work of a similar nature.

E. I. You have the sensuous nature which most often belongs to the musician, the artist and the actor, and would do best in some one of these vocations. You have a passionate temper which it is not always easy to control, and a large amount of pride, with aristocratic tendencies. Have a large imagination which colors much that you do and say, and are inclined to be extravagant in your tastes, spend money lavishly when you have it to spend. While you have great intensity of feeling you have the reserve that makes you appear cold and indifferent when you feel most deeply, and there are times when a wave of self-consciousness sweeps over you, even though it may not be apparent to others. Will have an eventful life, and there is the shadow of a tragedy either in the past or yet to come.

...na W.: You have a nature that is gentle, sensitive and easily wounded, and you are strongly swayed by those things which appeal to the senses. You have not a large amount of firmness and would not make a very good disciplinarian. You are apt to threaten more than you execute, and people have learned to take advantage of this. ...nt and systematic in your work, ...e to have things in very good order around you. Have good taste in the arrangement of your belongings. ...ave made an excellent milliner, ...er or decorator. Are fond of ...d its pleasures, and would not ...ely happy if you had to live ...e out alone. Cultivate more ... firmness and power of concentration.

...F. G.: You have courage and ...ty of purpose, and are not easily ...d when you once make up your ... that you are going to accomplish ...ain object. You are very secretive and slightly suspicious of the motives of others, and there are few whom you care to take into your confidence. ...ave a good intellect, and a quaint ...f expressing yourself that is often amusing to your friends. Are in ... ways original and would never be content to be merely a facsimile of some one else. There is much of the ...al in your nature, and you would be devoted to a hobby or a principle, ...are not entirely free from prejudice. Are neat and systematic and in ... ways fastidious. Would do best ...e intellectual pursuit.

...e: You have a gentle and kindly ..., but you like praise and admiration and to be appreciated when you have done your best to please. ...ot always as careful of the details of your work as you ought to be, ...you sometimes throw things ...and forget what you did with .... Are quite susceptible to the influence of your surroundings, and ...with whom you are associated, ...f not watchful your heart will ...ur life more strongly than your .... You have tenacity and considerable self-confidence. Would do well ...e head of some department. Are ... and win friends readily.

...A.: You have a nervous temperament that makes you quick in ...t and action, and sometimes in ... as well, and you often speak ...sharply than you realize. Are a ... talker, curious and inquisitive, ...to learn all that there is to know ...g the things which interest ... you are not always as patient ...e faults of others as you ought .... You are very sensitive ...ly wounded by criticism from .... Are slightly suspicious and ...jealous if given a cause. You ...o best in intellectual pursuits.

...T.: You are largely intuitive, ...ld be able to see at once how ...ould be done, even though you ...t be able to accomplish it at .... Are candid and outspoken to ...t of bluntness, and it is a bit ...for you to keep a secret, for ...apt to betray it by your expression of face, if not in words. Have ... and restless nature, and it is ...impossible for you to remain ... any great length of time. ...at you accomplish is through nervous will power and as a sense of duty rather than strong power of application. You will have to be careful that you do not undertake to do too many things and so overtax your physical strength. While you enjoy the refined luxuries of life you have also a tendency to be economical, and to keep your expenses within your income.

E. R: You have a mental temperament with high ideals and the patience that is not easily ruffled, although when a person has wronged you, you are inclined to be indifferent to him and would be willing to drop him out of your life. Are fond of good books and music, especially those which are realistic and appeal to the heart. You do not like to be hurried in your work, and you are graceful and pleasing in manner and generally at ease under all circumstances. You are devoted to those whom you love and in most ways very unselfish. You could excel in literature or art if you cared to perfect the talents which you possess in this line. Are a trifle sensitive, although you have too much pride to let others know when you are hurt. Are devoted to those whom you love and would do best in something which you could do within the home.

M. L. G: You are very impulsive and apt to act upon the spur of the moment without taking time to reflect what the results may be, and to undertake more than you can well carry through to a successful issue without overlooking many of the minor details. Are somewhat extravagant in your tastes, spending money freely when you have it to spend, and it is very difficult for you to deny yourself those things which you would like to have. Are very generous and enjoy best those things which you can share with others. You are self-reliant and independent in thought and action and resent too much dictation from others in your personal affairs. You need a very active out-of-door life and to be brought into constant competition with others. Will have in many ways an eventful life.

H. W: You are affable and pleasing in manner and win friends readily and are also very practical. If you have a task to do you like to get at it at once and get it off your hands as soon as possible so as to be ready for the next things. You have good business ability and the ability to concentrate your mind upon one subject until you have mastered it. You are apt to expect too much perfectness in others and so are often disappointed, and sometimes lose faith in humanity. You have a good memory and also the faculty of explaining well to others those things which you understand. Would make an excellent teacher or do well in real estate and insurance upon your own responsibility. With a little more shrewdness and diplomacy should prosper financially.

J. E. C: You are romantic, building many castles in the air, and it is not easy for you to bring yourself down to the more practical things of life. You need to cultivate more firmness, for it is difficult for you to say "no" and to mean it. Are gentle and refined in your tastes and not very well fitted to go out into the world and struggle with the masses for existence. Are best fitted for some sedentary employment. Would probably do best in some one of the fine arts. Your heart will be the governing influence in your life. You will probably love and marry more than once. Are reverent and if a church member you would be a great worker in the church. Are often imposed upon because you are to lenient with the faults of others. Your life should be a happy one with comfort and plenty.

L. M. P: You are fairly methodical, but often self-conscious, so that you place yourself at a disadvantage and cannot accomplish all that you otherwise might. You like to do everything by rule and measure, and possess considerable mechanical ability. Have very good judgment and are not easily influenced to do those things which you do not approve. You are not always patient, and sometimes are apt to be irritable when things do not go as you think that they ought. Are not extravagant in your tastes, and if you are careful you ought to be able to make and to save money. Can keep a secret when necessary, even though you may have to tell an untruth to do so. While you enjoy the society of the opposite sex, you are not particularly susceptible.

Nevermore: You are in some things quite selfish and do not always take into consideration the feelings of others. You are hopeful and ambitious, and you do not allow yourself to worry to any great extent over things which may never come into your life. You believe in enjoying as much of life as possible, as you go along, yet do not spend your money lavishly. Are to a large extent imitative, liking to pattern after those with whom you come in contact. You are quick to anger and sometimes a little unjust in your criticisms of others. Are quite strongly influenced by your emotional nature and you must not permit the opposite sex to urge you into indiscretion by causing you to undertake schemes that could only bring disaster. Will have to guard against nervous ailments and stomach troubles.

R. A. J.: You are changeable in your moods, and one is not always quite sure just how they will find you. You have a passionate temper and great intensity of feeling. In the first of your anger you are prone to seek revenge in some way, and you would be very slow to forgive a wrong. Are inclined to be dictatorial, and in domestic affairs you would want to hold the reins of government in your own hand. Are skeptical regarding many things, and a fatalist in some of your views. You could be jealous if given cause, and at such times might display some cruelty. Have a great deal of originality, and would do best in something which would give this a chance to develop. Are intellectual and refined, with the forcefulness that should enable you to make your own way in the world.

Cate J.: You would do well in mechanical drawing, or illustrating and designing, and would also make a very good stenographer. Are observant, with the keen penetration which makes you a very good judge of human nature. A fluent talker, you like to indulge in a bit of gossip now and then, and you like to tease when you know that you can. You have a strong will, are ambitious, and not easily discouraged. Sometimes you are too severe in your judgment of others. You have the versatility that enables you to do many things well, and you will have to exert all the strength of your will that you do not permit yourself to be too strongly influenced by novelty. You have many travel lines, and if you have the means will probably see a great deal of the world. While you like to have everything nice you care little for display.

M. E. H.: The writing destroys many of the prominent characteristics. You are neat and systematic in your work, and would exact the same carefulness from those who are in your employ, and can be very firm when necessity requires it. You like to design new ways of doing things that shall be a little different from those of other people, and you are not particularly imitative; hence the difficulty in learning "new tricks." Are assertive, and will not be imposed upon without resenting it sharply. Sometimes when you feel most deeply is the time when it is hardest for you to express your emotions to others. Would be a trifle difficult to please if you were selecting a companion for life, and can live your life out alone quite comfortably.

Lillian Tutton: You have a very restless and energetic nature, and could not be content to remain quiet for any great length of time. If you had the means you would like to travel and to see the world, and will need to be careful that in your desire for novelty you do not overlook some of the things which lie close around your path. Be a little more careful of the details of your work that you do not forget the things which you ought to do. Are just a trifle fickle, but would be true to one whom you sincerely loved. Are kindly and sympathetic, and cannot see others suffer without trying to do your best to help them. You would probably find your greatest happiness in a home of your own, if you are careful in choosing a congenial companion. Would make a very good milliner or saleswoman, if necessary for you to be self-supporting.

William Frater: Are very positive in your opinions, and not easily convinced that you are in the wrong. You like to argue, and do not like too much dictation from others in your personal affairs, although you are willing to take advice when it is given in the proper spirit. You have good business ability, and would do well in either commerce or manufacturing, and you are not apt to get the worst of a bargain. You do not always take the feelings of others into consideration, and have a tendency to thrust aside all obstacles that may stand in your path. You are thrifty, but you will not deny yourself those things which you feel will be of benefit and interest to you. Are candid and outspoken to the point of bluntness, but could dissimulate to serve a purpose. While you may not gain great wealth, you should attain a competency.

FROM SOUTH AFRICA TO GREAT SOUTHWEST.

SEVERAL THOUSAND BOERS COMING TO THIS COUNTRY.

Exodus from Dark Continent to New Mexico and Texas Said to Be Due in May—Representatives on the Way.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Arrangements which have been proceeding privately for some time for the migration of several thousand Boers from South Africa to Texas and New Mexico, are now so far advanced that it is said the exodus will take place in May. Four men representing the pioneers of the movement, will start for America next week to complete the arrangements. They are now in London, and one of them sketched the plan to the writer.

"Madagascar and the Argentine were first considered," said he, "but we have had such sad experiences of having been driven from pillar to post, that on this occasion we think it necessary to become citizens of a country whose protection we can claim; so we have settled on the United States. Gen. Samuel Pearson of the United States Army will be our agent in America. Through him we mean to obtain about 1,000,000 acres of land in Texas and New Mexico, and pay for it by the issue of bonds secured on the lands, stock, buildings and crops. There appears to be no lack of money."

Chief among the first families to sail will be those of P. de Villiers, Van der Post, De Keck, Steytler, Van Wyk, P. Viljeon, De Wet (a branch of the general's family,) Johann Wessels, Stefan Kruger (nephew of the ex-President,) and De Haas—all of them prominent in the late war.

Santa Monica Does Not

INDULGE in a boom, but the growth is steady. There is scarcely a vacant house in town today and everybody who owns a modern cottage has a good investment. Every season of the year is delightful. People used to think that winter at the seashore was cold and gloomy. Now they are beginning to know that the ocean tempers the atmosphere so that the climate at the beach is as beautiful in March as it is in July. The inland cities are delightful in winter, but Santa Monica is one of the few places in the entire world which has no unpleasant season. Everybody who has lived on the Riviera says that the weather and the flowers there cannot compare with those of Santa Monica. Good citizens are welcome. Come and live with us.

GRAND WALL LEANS.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Feb. 14.—It has just been discovered that one of the most beautiful features of a magnificent and venerable English cathedral, which many Americans visit every year, is in such an unsafe condition that it will have to be patched up immediately if danger to the whole structure is to be averted. This is the famous west front of Exeter Cathedral, the splendor of which has given it a prominent place among the best examples of architecture of Great Britain. This wall, with its magnificent carvings apparently has been gradually forced out for centuries by the weight of the roof. A recent investigation led to its shaky condition being discovered, and, though the cost of restoration will be immense, it has been thought unwise to delay it a single day. So, with great reluctance, the dean and chapter of the cathedral have consented to the "renovation" of the venerable "front."

Exeter Cathedral is not among the largest of English fanes, and its renown is due chiefly to the beauty of its details. The cathedral is 800 years old—dating from the early part of the twelfth century.

The great stained-glass window in the west front of Exeter, as well as the front itself, has been the subject of discussion of late, on account of a proposal to replace the present window with one in memory of the late Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Temple. But the glass in the present window is ancient, and of much historic value, for it was designed by Peckitt of York, the eighteenth century English glass painter, who ranked with the continental masters of the art. So many people think it would be a pity to disturb the window as it stands, no matter for what purpose, and there seems a possibility of the discussion's engendering nearly as much of a row as that now raging over the Wellington monument, in St. Paul's.

There are Exceptions.

"Do you mean to say," she inquired indignantly, "that there never was a woman who could keep a secret?"

"Oh, not at all," he protested earnestly. "To the contrary, there was Lot's wife, who never, up to the present day, has revealed what she saw when she stopped to take a farewell glance at the town she was leaving."—[Syracuse Herald.

ENGLISH AS SHE IS SPOKE.

A NEW DEPARTMENT—WITH AN INTRODUCTORY INTERVIEW BY WILLIAM DEAN HOWELLS.

Novel and Entertaining Ways Suggested for Correcting Common Improprieties of Speech.

FOREWARD.

[Copyright, 1902, by Lawrence J. Anhalt.]

SLIPS of diction are not uncommon among good writers. So says Mr. Howells, and so we shall find if we watch closely. But why not watch ourselves? "English is a large language," and errors grave and slight will surely creep into our utterances if we are not careful. It is not the purpose of this article to expatiate on the desirability of pure English, but rather to point out in interesting and novel ways the most common errors and inelegancies into which many people so frequently fall in speaking and in writing. Only the finer points of correct diction will be discussed in this and future articles, as it is assumed that those interested in this department know the rudimental rules of grammar and rhetoric. Questions are invited, but they must not be frivolous; those of general interest receiving preference. William Dean Howells inaugurates the department today with interesting statements and advice, which, coming from one so high in literature, are authoritative and valuable. Elsewhere on this page you will find sentences containing faulty diction, with money prizes offered for improving the English.

ENTRANCE TO "THE ROYALTY OF LETTERS."

A visit to America's greatest man of letters! It sounds portentous, but it is not so portentous as it sounds. There is no portcullis gate, no drawbridge and moat over which the traveler passes; no long stretches of surf or sod between avenues of pines; no battlemented towers and minareted turrets, and no doors of solid masonry swinging upon hinges of iron. Nor is one asked to cool one's heels like a page in the ante-room of a king impatiently awaiting the royal summons. Entrance to the royalty of letters is much easier and simpler than any of these.

There is an unpretentious mansion on West Fifty-ninth street in the city of New York—some people call it an apartment house. One approaches the place as one approaches any one of a thousand similar houses, pushes a little button, a door clicks, and an everyday maid servant appears and asks one's pleasure. "Is Mr. Howells at home?" "He is, walk in." That is all there is of it. The visitor is ushered into a waiting-room, richly but unobtrusively furnished, tastefully decorated, simple, calm, gentle, and homelike in its appointments. The room is like the man. There is no pretense about it, but it is all there.

Presently one hears footsteps, and a second surprise awaits the uninitiated. Here comes a most distinguished author, a literary lion, but behold his movements. Where are the stately tread, the pensive air, the melancholy look, the thrilling, dreamy glance? A man approaches, whom, so far as concerns dress and looks, the caller might mistake for Mr. Ketchem, who owns a block a few doors away, and who has a seat on the Stock Exchange and an office at umpteen Wall street. It really requires a second look to make us quite sure we haven't invaded the wrong sanctuary. Then Mr. Howells greets his caller with a cheerful "How do you do, Mr. Blank," he smiles affably, his eyes begin to twinkle; those eyes—they are his microscopic and telephonic batteries. Let him beware who thinks his slightest movement escapes those searchlights! Finally and, best of all, conversation opens, and then all questions of Wall-street brokerage melt away like a mist before the morning sun.

GOOD DICTION.

DICTATED BY W. D. HOWELLS.

"What is good diction, and how can it be cultivated and applied?" was asked of Mr. Howells last week when the object of this department was explained to him. "What books do you recommend for the cultivation of pure diction?" he was asked.

"Read good literature," said Mr. Howells. "After studying the books that warn against certain errors of speech, take up good literature, ancient and modern.

"The very best writers are not the most correct. For instance, Thackery's novels are very interesting, and while they have a graceful diction, very effectual and graphic, they are not accurate; not grammatical errors, but certain forms of expression that do not justify themselves. You will find them in the works of almost every good writer. I remember Lowell and I speaking about that some time ago. He said Thackery is charming, but incorrect—inaccurate.

AVOID AFFECTED EXPRESSIONS.

"It seems to me that the things to be avoided by writers are expressions that are unnatural and affected. For a person who wants to cultivate good diction, I should advise reading the best authors. Good diction is a perfectly simple thing; good diction is saying in the clearest, purest way that which is in one's mind. One man's diction may be clear and another man's inaccurate and careless. If you have stated clearly and purely that which is in your mind, then you have expressed yourself in good diction."

"Is there any particular style of classic literature that you would recommend?"

"The eighteenth century style is admirable—Goldsmith's, Addison's and Swift's. Jonathan Swift is one of the best. If you would follow the best example of fine diction, read Defoe. He is almost the best writer of prose because he is very simple; his style is the cut of man."

"It is true that many people who read good literature are slovenly in their speech. How can the reader make practical application in aid of good diction?"

"By forming a habit of eliminating that which is coarse and incorrect in their speech, and, by cultivating the taste, gradually fall into the habit of plain, accurate and graceful expressions. It is a matter to be adjusted individually by people of refinement, after the technical part is acquired."

"Americans are great newspaper readers. This influences their ideas. How far in your opinion does it influence their speech?"

"The best newspaper writing is as good a writing as can be. If a man feels strongly upon some public event or public question about which he writes in a newspaper, he is very apt to write it well. In the lower sense it might not be desirable, and there is a certain "newspaperesque" you can always tell. But newspapers are generally written in very clear and very good English. Often I have read good news in the way of fine expressions, and I have written to the editor commenting upon it. An account of a fire in a New York paper many years ago comes to my mind now as being particularly graphic. Some young fellow was doing his best probably, and I enjoyed commending his work. What was called classical literature one hundred years ago is not so good as many of the present-day newspaper writings. In many of Scott's novels his structure is slovenly—is not so good as the majority of good 'newspaper English.'"

"What, in your opinion, are the comparative merits of speech used in different parts of the United States, and is there such a thing as 'Boston English,' 'New York English,' or 'Chicago English.'"

"The differences are mostly in pronunciation. The respective expressions that are peculiar are so slightly different that they cannot be called distinctions. I dare say that climate might affect pronunciation, and yet I do not know why it should. The English who live up in the cold climate are very nasal, but the Canadians are not nasal at all. The southern women have a very pleasant accent."

"How is it possible for an untraveled man to avoid local peculiarities?"

This question brought forth from Mr. Howells a most emphatic reply:

PROVINCIALISMS NOT TO BE AVOIDED.

"He cannot. It is not important that he should. Why should a man disown his speech—his family speech? No other people but ourselves dream of doing it. The Scotchman speaks with a strong accent; for instance, Carylye. The Irishman is not ashamed of his Irish peculiarities. I think it is most important that we should preserve them and be as characteristic as possible. When you hear a man speak—for instance, a Southerner—and he puts in something which is characteristic of his part of the country. It is rather pleasing. I am speaking of parlance. In writing you bring in something local, something provincial of your own immediate neighborhood. You want to give the reader something of your own assurance."

SLANG—ITS USE.

"Is the use of slang so much to be deplored as some professors of English assert?"

"I do not know of any professor of English who has said that. I should think it very improper if it has been said. Slang is the new thing; it asserts something new and is constantly getting itself adopted into the language. I should think that people who laid down those cast-iron rules about such things as slang were poor scholars and professors of English. Some slang is so practical, so graphic, that you must use it. It forces itself into his language—it becomes a part of us. Of course it is a pity to hear a person talk slang all the time. Nobody does it, unless it becomes a dialect that you hear on the Bowery or on the East Side. It is used simply to spice the diction, and it sometimes accomplishes its purpose, and everybody understands just what you mean because that conveys your meaning when nothing else will. You cannot lay down any strict rules in regard to those matters, but it is not at all deplorable. Great people will use common expressions because it is their nature. There is always something in our slang characteristic of our people; that is why I like it.

NO SUCH THING AS STYLE.

"I should say it is the mark of a good writer to be very clear and have an unpretentious way of saying things. There is no such thing as 'style.' 'Style' is each man's way of saying a thing. You have your way and I have mine. We should always be clear and forcible.

"Those who want to cultivate good diction should read the best literature. If you like it you will in some degree form yourself upon it, or rather, you conform yourself to it, as more or less you conform yourself to the person or thing you admire—it is inevitable."

PRIZES FOR FINDING FAULTY DICTION.

The following sentences contain characteristic examples of inelegancies. Where and what are they? Some sentences contain one fault, others several faults. To the first person who corrects all, or the greatest number of errors, $5 will be given; to the one who first submits the most humorous set of answers, $5 will also be given. To the next ten who send in correct answers smaller prizes will be given. Send in the sentences as you think they should be, numbering each to correspond correctly with the list given below. THE DONEGAL PEDDLERS.

How They Stepped into the Shoes of Dead Men in Georgia—The County Clerk Stood in the Game.

[Washington Post:] Good stories frequently lie fallow, or are suppressed for the reason that the actors are living. Thus it happens that as time rolls along on its course stories are continually cropping out here and there, the scenes of which are laid in a period thirty, forty and fifty years in the past. At present quite a crop of old stories of the South are coming to the front, and among the number is one with which Senator Clay and several other Georgia statesmen are familiar.

The particular yarn has to do with a county court clerk, some Donegal Irish peddlers and an equal number of Polish Jews. The reason, no doubt, why the narrative is just making its début is on account of the fact that the County Clerk has been dead many years, the Donegal Irish have long ago ceased peddling, and are now in politics, while the Polish Jews have in like manner turned the business of peddlery and hawking over to the thrifty Armenians and Syrians. According to Senator Clay the tale runs as follows:

Several years after the Civil War the Georgia Legislature passed an act permitting those who had served in Georgia regiments of the Confederate army to carry on peddling in the State free of license. The object was to encourage home industry and enterprise, and to place in the hands of native Georgians a means of earning a livelihood, which, then, as now, is largely in the hands of foreigners. But, like a great many other wise laws of this character, it failed to produce the results its authors hoped would follow its enactment.

Somehow the American, regardless of whether he comes from the North or the South, is not cut out for a peddler, and instead of the law filling the State with hawkers of small ware of native birth and extraction, less, perhaps, than a half dozen took advantage of the act to lay in a stock of shoe strings and buttons.

At the time of the passage of this act the peddlers throughout the United States were Irishmen from the county of Donegal: "Far Downs," as they were called at home. They had succeeded the Connecticut Yankee as dealers in small wares, just as the Polish Jews eventually took the place of the Irish, to be succeeded in turn by the Armenians and Syrians. It was not long after the passage of the act before these shrewd "Far Downs" began nosing about to see where and how it might be turned to advantage.

LUCK FOR THE "FAR DOWNS."

By a streak of genuine Irish luck there happened at that time to be living in one of the southern counties of Georgia a Donegal Irishman, who held the office of County Clerk, and soon after the enactment of the law above mentioned a number of his countrymen waited upon him, with results that proved a bonanza for the peddlers of Irish extraction in that State. The County Clerk had a record and copies of the muster rolls of every regiment that Georgia had sent into the field during the Civil War, and, consulting this data, he made out bogus certificates for the peddlers who applied to him, setting forth that they had served in Georgia regiments during the Civil War.

The peddler, regardless of what his name may have been—Patrick O'Toole, Terence O'Rourke, or what not—took the name of some Confederate whose surname appeared in the State muster rolls, and, thus equipped wtih a document certifying the bearer was no other than Dink Botts, or Green Hull, Mr. P. O'Flannigan was free to carry on peddling to his heart's content.

In order to prevent detection, the County Clerk bestowed the names of men who served in regiments raised in the southern or western portions of the States on peddlers, who agreed to confine their opertaions to the northern and eastern quarters of Georgia, and vice versa. The scheme worked beautifully. When a peddler wanted to change from the northern to the southern section of the State he had only to apply to the clerk, who would write out a certificate in the name of some person who had served in a North Georgia regiment, and the work was done.

The system brought on some rather amusing complications. At the outset the clerk selected the names of Confederate veterans having an Irish ring, but when Donegal peddlers began flocking from every quarter, these and other surnames of a somewhat Celtic or foreign cast were exhausted. Then Cassidy, McNamara and Murphy were obliged to go fotrh on their commercial errands with credentials certifying they were William Barrington, Jefferson Treadwell and Franklin Walker, names that frequently brought them under suspicion and put them to a deal of trouble.

SCHEME BROUGHT TO LIGHT.

Matters continued quite satisfactorily, however, in spite of these drawbacks. The peddlers relied on their quick Irish wits and ready tongues to avert suspicion and discourage the overcurious, and as a matter of fact, the fraud was not discovered until after the clerk's death. Then it happened that a blundering "Far Down," ignorant of the clerk's demise, entered the office of his successor one day to apply for "wan av thim certifycates," and before he discovered his mistake, had given the snap away. Prosecutions were begun as soon as the matter was discovered, and several Irishmen paid the penalty for sailing under false colors.

Such was the end of the Confederate veterans' fraud in Georgia. A few years later, when the Polish Jews began taking the places of the Irish, they undertook to practice an amusing deception almost as interesting, though by no means so serious, as the first. Although not generally known, it is a fact that the surname Gordon is as common among the Polish Jews as it is among the Scotch and English, and their descendants in this country. It is one of the anomalies of anthropology that the same surname should occur among a people as dissimilar as the Scotch and Jews are. This ethnic curiosity has puzzled the brain of more than one student, but, regardless of how it came about, or the anthropological merits of the case, it is sufficient for the purpose of this story, to call attention to the fact that Gordon is also the name of several Georgia families of high social position and standing, among others being no less a person than Gen. John B. Gordon, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans.

When the Polish Jews began peddling in Georgia, it was not long before those of the name of Gordon discovered that their surname was a word to conjure with, and the way in which certain Moses, Jakey and Ikey Gordons went about among the country people, selling shoestrings and suspenders, and pretending to be kinsmen of the great Gen. Gordon and all the other Georgia Gordons, was a sight for the gods. In some places it passed current easily enough, but in others it did not, and several former citizens of Wilna and Posen were rather roughly handled by irate Georgians who rebelled at the idea of a peddler "claiming kin" with the commander of the United Confederate Veterans.

How They Rose.

The kind-hearted lady missionary was canvassing in the outskirts of Brooklyn, when she came across two tramps lying on a pile of warm furnace slag. One of them was about the worst looking tramp on earth, and the other was an easy second. After the usual preliminaries and offers of some slight assistance, the kind lady said:

"Now, my men, tell me, please, how you came to this state."

"We walker, mum," said the worst looking of the pair.

"You misunderstand me, my good man. I mean, how did you come to the condition in which I find you! Tell me, please, both of you. I want to use the information for object lessons."

"Oh, yes! I understand you now, mum. W-a-l-l, I have no hesitation in sayin' that whatever I am I owe to my mother," responded the one who first acted as spokesman.

"An' as fer me, miss," said the other, I own with a degree of pride and satisfaction that I am entirely a self-made man."—[New York Times.

Dr Gross is so confident of his ability to cure, that if you wish treatment, you may deposit your money with any reliable business firm or bank, to be paid to him when you are cured.

A Few Words About

WEAKNESS

I cure weakness from whatever cause it may have resulted, whether from overwork, dissipation, worry, early abuse or excess. My treatment is original to an extent, yet I have borrowed certain methods from the German School of Physicians. There is no chance of failure. I add rich blood to the system. I make the nerves calm and healthy. I give back the courage, determination, ambition and vivacity of youth. I restore to every organ its normal health. If you are weak, wasted and feel yourself unable to cope with the world or enjoy its pleasures, I will promise you that you will leave my treatment a sound, vigorous man in every respect.

A Moment's Thought on

CONTRACTED DISEASES

I cure contracted diseases because I have remedies which bring instant death to the germs, moreover they drive out every taint of disease from the blood, they take out inflammation. Nor does it require months for my treatment to produce a cure, but I promise that from the first application you will feel the benefits and your daily progress will be noticeable and constant. Should your disease be of a chronic nature or should it have been aggravated by mistreatment I will cure you—not so quickly, to be sure—but nevertheless just as positively as a watchmaker can repair a broken mainspring. And this, without pain, suffering, inconvenience, confinement or absence from home or work.

Easy Drawing Lesson for a Child.

THE TEACHER'S WORK.

DIFFICULTIES HE SHOULD AVOID RATHER THAN TRY TO EXPLAIN—LET THE CHILD DRAW FREELY—INARTISTIC CHILDREN LEARN ONLY BY IMITATION. COMMENT ON ILLUSTRATIONS.

By Frederick Richardson.

in composition in charge of illustrating classes in the Art Institute, Chicago.)

THE time that the child need work with pictures made up of inanimate objects is a question for the teacher's judgment. As the pupil is working for the especial purpose of improving its drawing, but as a and simple outlet for expression the degree of perfection is not the determining point when it may be more complicated forms and animate objects. If it has been able to the forms of trees, houses, etc., freedom, has been able to make pelling medium of what material has so far received, the child's desire for variety and more subjects is to be gratified.

the desire to people the scenes can draw, and give life to its That the human interest of the is reserved for a more advanced step in these lessons (it will be in the next article) is because comparative complexity of the which can be more readily after the child has familiarized the method of expression. of the windmill is no more

It will continue to store of scenic material for story-telling after the human figure is introduced, for it has learned how to reduce objects to its medium, and its courage has grown with the ease in which apparent difficulties were overcome or avoided.

AVOIDING DIFFICULTIES.

The teacher who is following the subjects given, will have noted that in their selection more difficulties have been avoided than overcome, and much of his success in teaching will depend upon his keeping in mind that the main idea consists not in teaching the child to draw and overcome difficulties, but in teaching it to draw something while avoiding them. The interest of the child must be preserved to gain the results desired. With unconscious interest in work problems are solved which if presented as problems would discourage and dissipate interest.

When seeking for material for picture forms, much has to be discarded as impossible, because of complication, perspective or a lack of distinct characterization.

Perspective is a difficulty which for some time will have to be avoided, instead of being explained. No partial explanation would be of use, and the coping with its broader understanding would be a restrainst which would spoil much of the free child-like expression of the work. For this reason the forms so far chosen have been those least effected by perspective, or that quality has been bravely disregarded. Such rounds as trees, apples, houses viewed at right angles, do not suffer from that disregard, but when the interior of a room is to be drawn it is more difficult to show the different planes and not call perspective to aid. At the ordinary point of view the tops of tables, chairs, etc., as well as their side planes, are seen. The teacher who has the ingenuity to steer clear of these problems and their explanation, is saving much for himself and the child. This is not with the intention of shirking a responsibility, but with the idea of weighing the relative value of floundering in the depth of a difficulty or of going around the edge by a quicker and easier path to the point desired.

TODAY'S ILLUSTRATIONS.

In the first illustration three interiors are given, two without considering perspective, and one, the cellar and barrels, showing the tops of the barrels and steps. As simple as the drawing is, the explanation of how to put the steps in perspective is beyond the child's patience or interest. So much good and interesting material is available, that it is not necessary to cope with these difficulties for the sake of surmounting them.

The other drawings in the same illustration show how apparently complicated forms may be constructed with the same simple squares, parallelograms and rounds which have already been used. Their component forms have not been given, but a study of these will serve for the easy management of stores, barns, houses, etc.

The picture of the lake shore, while made up of simple forms, is more complex in the combination of its given symbols. The teacher should give a number of combinations and vary the proportions, as well as reverse the direction of the lines, composing it in tall narrow panels, and in long, low ones, making the lake and bluffs on the right, instead of the left. The child should at all times be made to feel the flexibility of the material forms.

The winter night, with the cabin in the woods, is given with colored forms, the shade being black, half-tone and white. This will suggest other subjects of its kind, where similar treatment can be used. Reference may be made to the arti[illegible]hich color proportion and sh[illegible]poken of. It is suggested [illegible] subject be treated, g[illegible]ne of the forms more [illegible]ntuation, especially th[illegible]. Let the introduction of a [illegible]ade by slight degrees, so that the child may not lose sight of the simple structural form on which it is building the accented form.

MAJORITY LEARN BY IMITATION.

It has been observed in the development of the class how the child of artistic instincts has sought by all the means at its disposal to add beauty to its work—how it instinctively has felt proportions, color or form; how the mere line by which it drew has had more life and inspiration, though it were only the outline of a cube, than the line of the child not similarly endowed. There is no way to make the inartistic nature thus express itself, no way of pointing out to it the subtle difference. For this lack of artistic instinct there is only imitation, only the slow process of observation and acquirement by imitation. These children cannot profit by suggestion, for they have not the ability to use suggestion. They will always use the mechanical forms in the most mechanical way, and the teacher cannot expect that the accented line or the accented form or questions of proportion of color, are for their appreciated use.

They will appeal to them more forcibly after the other children more artistically inclined, have made use of them. The teacher must recognize in suggesting any deviation from the plain form that intelligent appreciation may be expected from only part of the class.

While the school teacher has been addressed more than the parent throughout these articles, it has been supposed that the parent teaching by this method at home would read between the lines, and see that, while the blackboard might be absent, and a classroom of children not among the complications, the working method would be the same. The advantage of comparison of drawings of a number of children would not be available, but its place could be supplied by more drawings on the part of the child, and more combinations prepared by the parent. The idea that it is not an infant artist, but a child given a picture writing, ought to relieve the parent of any too great responsibility as to the effect of such work upon its future artistic training, if that is an end in view for the child.

No preparation could better pave the way to the exacting classrooms of the art school, than the freedom of expression which it is the effort of this method to give. When the young art student meets the plaster cast, it is not with the question of what is the use of art school training, but with a conviction of its reason and necessity.

A Hospital Case

There was a hurry call for the ambulance of the City Hospital. In the course of a few moments a very sick woman was brought in on a stretcher—she was pale as death and evidently suffering keen agony. There was a hasty examination and consultation, and in less than a quarter of an hour the poor creature was on the operating table to undergo an operation for ovaritis.

The above is an accurate account of an incident which occured in New York recently; the young woman in question had warnings enough of her dangerous condition in the terrible pains and burning sensation low down in her left side. She had no one to advise her, and she suffered torture until it was too late for anything to save her life.

Women should remember that if they do not care to tell a doctor their troubles, they should be willing to tell them to a woman, who stands ever ready to advise and help them. Again we state that Mrs. Pinkham's advice is freely and confidentially given to every one who asks for it. Address, Lynn, Mass.

The following letters prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the power to cure, and does cure thousands of cases of inflammation of the ovaries, womb, and all other derangements of the female organism.

MRS. OTTOSON SAVED FROM A SURGICAL OPERATION.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot thank you enough for what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. If it had not been for your medicine, I think I would have died.

"I will tell you how I suffered. I could hardly walk, was unable to sleep or eat. Menstruation was irregular. At last I had to stay in my bed, and flowed so badly that they sent for a doctor, who said I had inflammation of the ovaries, and must go through an operation, as no medicine could help me, but I could not do that.

"I received a little book of yours, and after reading it I concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am now a well woman. I shall praise your medicine as long as I live, and also recommend the same to any one suffering as I was."—MRS. MINNIE OTTOSON, Otho, Iowa. (June 9, 1901.)

Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that these thousands of cures of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Moral—Stick to the medicine that you know is Best. Write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice.

INFLAMMATION OF THE OVARIES CURED WITHOUT THE KNIFE.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to express my gratitude for the restored health and happiness Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought into my life.

"I had suffered for three years with terrible pains at the time of menstruation, and did not know what the trouble was until the doctor pronounced it inflammation of the ovaries, and proposed an operation.

"I felt so weak and sick that I felt sure I could not survive the ordeal, and so I told him that I would not undergo it. The following week I read an advertisement in the paper of your Vegetable Compound in such an emergency, and so I decided to try it. Great was my joy to find that I actually improved after taking two bottles, so I kept taking it for ten weeks, and at the end of that time I was cured. I had gained eighteen pounds and was in excellent health, and am now.

"You surely deserve great success, and you have my very best wishes."—MISS ALICE BAILEY, 80 North Boulevard, Atlanta, Ga., Treasurer St. Francis Benevolent Association.

Cannon's Fly Story.

Congressman Cannon, who is a power in argument and quick at repartee, enjoys displays of similar resourcefulness in others.

During a hot summer campaign in Illinois he sought temporary rest in a hammock stretched under the trees in the yard of a country hotel. From his window the shade looked inviting, but on the spot he found the lawn strewn with tomato cans, potato peelings and other débris. On many of these more or less unsanitary mounds were myriads of flies.

"I had no sooner stretched myself in the hammock," said Mr. Cannon, "than these flies attacked me, seemingly by the million. It was intolerable, and in no pleasant frame of mind I looked up the proprietor.

"'What do you mean,' I demanded, 'by stretching your hammock in that fly-haunted field of torture you call a lawn?'

"'I know the flies are bad out there now,' he answered, 'but Mr. Cannon, you ought to use the hammock during the hammock hours, and you'd have no trouble from the flies.'

"'What are hammock hours?' I inquired.

"'From 12 noon to 2 p.m. daily,' he replied. 'During those hours flies will not attack you in the hammock.'

"I was much interested in the man's Socratic skill in evading the issue, and, wishing to draw him out, I asked:

"'Why are there no flies around the hammock between 12 and 2?'

Greek to Be Dropped.

In all probability the entrance examinations at the two great English universities, Oxford and Cambridge, will be modified after those of the leading American universities. The head masters of the public schools of England recently took steps to bring such a modification about, and they are a strong factor in the conduct of the two famous universities. They held a conference at which the question of the entrance examinations was the chief point of discussion.

The head masters maintain that the retention of both Greek and Latin as compulsory subjects for entrance examinations is distinctly deterimental.

Moving that the retention of two ancient languages was detrimental to the cause of education, the Rev. Dr. H. B. Gray of Bradfield urged that one ancient and one modern language should be substituted, with no set books prescribed, and that algebra and geometry, English composition and history and a fair knowledge of one branch of natural science would be compulsory.

If the two universities were to be the centers of intellectual light and learning, he said, they must no longer be open to the objection that they were the pleasure ground of an exclusive class.

The universities only touched the ornamental fringe of society. In Germany, out of a population of 50,000,000, there were 30,000 young men attending the universities, while in England, from a population of 30,000,000, only 5000 attended.

Greek was the bugbear.—[Kansas City Journal.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

This wonderful medicine will steady the nerves, aid digestion, purify the blood, and stimulate the liver and kidneys. Take a few doses as soon as you notice the first symptoms of a disordered stomach, such as Sick Headache, Belching, Flatulency, Dyspepsia or Indigestion. It will surely cure you.

ECZEMA

Psoriasis, Scalled Head, Milk Crust, Tetter, Ringworm, etc.

Speedily, Permanently and Economically Cured, When All Else Fails, by

Cuticura

The agonizing, itching, and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair, and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurements, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum,—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy have made them the standard skin cures, blood purifiers and humour remedies of the civilized world.

Complete External and Internal Treatment.

Bathe the affected parts with hot water and Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales, and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry, without hard rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment freely, to allay itching, irritation, and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and, lastly, take Cuticura Resolvent to cool and cleanse the blood. This complete treatment affords instant relief, permits rest and sleep in the severest forms of eczema and other itching, burning, and scaly humours of the skin, scalp and blood, and points to a speedy, permanent, and economical cure when all other remedies and the best physicians fail. As evidence of the wonderful curative properties of Cuticura Remedies, and of their world-wide sale, we quote from

The Hon. Mr. Justice Finnemore's Letter.

"I desire to give my voluntary testimony to the beneficial effects of your Cuticura Remedies. I have suffered for some time from an excess of uric acid in the blood; and, since the middle of last year, from a severe attack of Eczema, chiefly on the scalp, face, ears and neck, and on one limb. I was for several months under professional treatment, but the remedies prescribed were of no avail, and I was gradually becoming worse, my face was dreadfully disfigured, and I lost nearly all my hair. At last, my wife prevailed upon me to try the Cuticura Remedies, and I gave them a thorough trial with the most satisfactory results. The disease soon began to disappear, and my hair commenced to grow again. A fresh growth of hair is covering my head, and my limb (although not yet quite cured) is gradually improving. My wife thinks so highly of your remedies that she has been purchasing them in order to make presents to other persons suffering from similar complaints, and, as President of the Bible Women's Society, has told the Bible women to report if any case should come under her notice when a poor person is so afflicted, so that your remedies may be resorted to."

Rev. Schaefle Makes More Astonishing Cures.

"Healed through the vital and healthy life currents of another—is the explanation one might make in referring to Rev. L. Schaefle's patients"—is what a prominent intellectual lady of this city said a few days ago, after taking a beneficial treatment. She further remarked that all disease is merely a misplacement or congestion of the atoms and molecules of the human body. That it is necessary that normal action be induced, then the disease ceases and health is established. This condition of health is brought about through an inherent power of healing possessed by Rev. Schaefle. She concluded by saying that "his sympathetic, generous nature responds at once to the needs of each patient. He intuitively senses to an astonishing degree the mental disturbance of the sufferer, then by the laying on of hands—the affected parts of the body is aroused to action again, and the condition of bodily health is restored."

To have a piece of iron fly into your eye, striking the pupil, is very disagreeable. This happened to Henry Olheim, a grocer of Henrietta, Tex., who, while trying to cut a nail in two with a chisel, was hit in the pupil of his eye by the severed piece, and immediately sent to Fort Worth, Tex., to be operated on by the most prominent eye specialists of the State, who said that the injured member must be cut out in order to save the other eye—as they claimed that the sympathetic nerve would be most seriously affected. Knowing Rev. Schaefle personally, who was at that time treating patients for all kinds of troubles at the Metropolitan Hotel, he told him his troubles—but was advised to wait a few days and remain at the hotel. Rev. Schaefle layed his hands on the injured eye several times a day, instantly relieving the sufferer from pain, and in a few weeks all pain vanished to never return, and the patient did not need go through the terrible operation. This case came under the personal notice of Mr. J. Nuffer, a fruit rancher of Orange, Cal., who resided in Henrietta, Tex., at that time.

A lady, wife of a prominent gentleman in business, whose name and address can be had from Rev. Schaefle—told a representative of the press a few months ago that she had been suffering from a pain in her left side for years, that she had gone to physicians without receiving help, and after a few treatments administered by Rev. Schaefle, the pain entirely disappeared; she also said that her general health, which was in a run-down condition, also improved greatly, and that when afflicted with grippe, rheumatism or any ailment, always went to him, resulting in relief.

During the past three years Rev. Schaefle has been in Los Angeles—he has been doing good to humanity, both spiritually and physically. His offices are not open to the public on Sundays, as his time is then mostly taken up in filling some pulpit, as he is an ordained minister of good standing in his denomination.

People are being benefited and cured daily by his treatments, which are most strongly indorsed by the clergy, and most prominent people of this city. Not a day passes but what some one calls up Red 7122 and makes an appointment. Frequently he is called out to visit those who are unable to come to his offices. Many call on him as a last resort, nearly every one has a different version of his natural power to cure, yet those that have met him are satisfied of the genuineness of his noble work.

Rev. Schaefle now has offices at 1026 West Eight Street, one and a half blocks west of Figueroa street. Reached via West Eighth, West Seventh, West Ninth, University or Washington street cars. 'Phone Red 7122.

About Pricing Goods.

FOR every dollar that comes over our counters we give full equivalent in honest merchandise. We have often been asked why we give no dressmakers' discounts. Our answer is simple and plain. We do not for the reason that if our goods could be sold lower we should give these benefits to the masses, for we will not grant concessions to one class at the expense of all other classes. [illegible] marked at the lowest prices consistent with good business judgment and safety, there are no inflated values and there is no misrepresentation as to quality.

We are satisfied that we can and do sell goods cheaper than elsewhere in Los Angeles for we have a perfected buying organization, and with unlimited finances we are in position to take advantage of every favorable turn in the wholesale market; and manufacturers, jobbers and importers when they have a special drive to offer—which means selling in large quantities at special price concessions for ready money—are only too glad to get an offer from Hamburger's, for ours is a name favorably known to the business world of two continents, and our past success in disposing of enormous quantities of goods through our channels of retail trade extending over Southern California, gives the wholesale world assurance that we can carry out any merchandising effort we undertake.

By purchasing in large quantities as we do, and buying at the right time, we make the greater portion of our profits at the producers' end of the line, and do not let the consumer stand all the burden of furnishing interest on our cash output.

And this is why we can and do sell the highest grades of merchandise cheaply, and is the foundation of our store axiom that, "What Others Advertise We Sell for Less."
